PREFATORY NOTE

The Continental Congress was in session throughout the year 1776. Its formal record is large as compared with the records of 1775, and the number and importance of the subjects coming before it were greater. The army must be maintained and renewed; the Canadian invasion ended in disaster; and the ill effects of the manoeuvres near New York were only in part counteracted by the success of Trenton. As the field of operations widened the cost of the war became heavier, and with the increase of responsibilities the want of good officers was more keenly felt. The continental bills of credit, pure promissory notes with little real foundation of property or resources on which to rest, were already sinking in value, and wherever the British army moved, the bills ceased to circulate or were accepted at rates less than their face value. The first enthusiasm of the people had somewhat cooled, and the prospects of years of war made a better paid and a better disciplined army essential as well as economical. The dependence upon militia, called out for a few months, was radically defective. To obtain a regular army the men must be enlisted for three years or "for the war"; their pay must be more certain, and a better selection of officers must be made. Congress faces these problems, and with them the question of bounties on enlistment and grants of land after service. With this appears an issue destined long to trouble Congress and prevent a true confederation—that of the disposal of the lands to the westward, covered by conflicting claims of two or more States and an object of jealousy on the part of the States which had no such claims to assert.

The year 1776 includes some of the most important acts and papers of the Continental Congress. The Declaration of Independence, the first forms of the Articles of Confederation, and the plan of treaties with foreign Powers were of high moment; and any one of these papers, when measured by results or consequences would be sufficient to distinguish the legislation of this year. The methods of treatment laid down in the former volumes of this issue of the Journals have been continued. Of the Declaration no less than four forms or stages are recorded; of the Articles of Confederation three, and of the plan of treaties two, and a scheme of supplementary instructions for the negotiators. The formal mission of Silas Deane to interest the Court of France on the side of the States, and the sending of commissioners to Europe to solicit recognition, trade and aid, were the beginnings of the diplomatic relations of the United States with foreign Powers.

The earliest advance from the Court of France received no notice in the Journals, and deserves a mention.

Achard Bonvouloir was a French gentleman, connected with the Marquis de Lambert, and claimed to have served as a volunteer in the French army in the West Indies. Contracting disease he left St. Domingo and travelled in the English colonies on the continent of North America. He asserted that he could have had an appointment in the “patriot” army, but declined the offer, and formed connections in the different colonies for obtaining information which might be useful in Europe. Going to London he made a tender of his services to the French Ambassador, Comte de Guines, who recommended to Vergennes that he be employed. He received verbal instructions to report upon the general disposition of the British colonists in North America, to speak of France as a friendly nation, and to endeavor to remove any fear of the French and their possible designs which it might be sought to inspire. September 8, 1775, Bonvouloir left London for Philadelphia, and after a venturesome voyage of one hundred days reached his destination. With Daymon, described as a librarian of the city, as an intermediary, he placed himself in communication with the Committee of Secret Correspondence, and found the ground already prepared for giving credence to his accounts of the friendliness of the French and the probability of obtaining some definite aid, if not recognition from the French Court.¹

His report was sent from Philadelphia under date December 28, 1775. Written at that time his view was favorable to the colonies. Montreal had surrendered and Quebec appeared to be about to fall. The privateers had captured many English vessels, some bearing provisions and munitions of war to the British army, now closely confined within Boston. The colonists needed a navy, engineers, ammunition and money. In quite frank conversations with Franklin and three other members of the Committee of Secret Correspondence, Bonvouloir stated his friendliness and apparently succeeded in winning confidence by leaving an impression of some definite purpose, not unconnected with French State policy, being behind his visit to America. He made no offer of aid beyond what should depend upon himself, and in cautious phrase replied to the somewhat direct and expectant questions of the Committee, which had been reduced to writing;\(^1\) he discouraged the sending of an envoy, but good engineers could be had for the asking. Munitions of war could be had in exchange for the products of the country, but it must be as between merchants, and at the risk of the Congress. This is the only report which appears to have been received from this French agent, and, after the recall of his patron, Comte de Guines, he was not further employed. The Beaumarchais connection was made, fruitful source of trouble to all concerned.

In civil matters the formation of State governments under constitutions prepared the way for a decline in the energy and influence of the Continental Congress. Possessing advisory power only, and acting under no formal instrument defining its functions or manner of performance, addresses and recommendations were the only means of expressing its wishes, its needs and its measure of remedy. In issuing a paper currency of bills of credit, it exercised a certain influence, even control, over the exertions made by the States. So long as the expenses were to be paid by the Continent, the Congress could direct the details and the results; but when the cost was to be paid by the State, recommendations from the Congress carried weight only so far as they fell in with the expediency of the local authorities. A new danger based upon the depreciation of the currency became evident, undermining the authority of the Congress, and certain to become a serious menace to all its operations and even to its very existence. The currency problem is treated in two reports, one of which, prepared by Jefferson, is entirely new. In this year Congress issued two addresses to the People of the Colonies and States. It considered a declaration to General Howe, prepared by Jefferson; a letter to the Canadians, and a report on the conference with Lord Howe. Some letters of Hancock, written by order of Congress, are inserted, as well as Franklin’s notes of a conference with La Jeunesse and Dantermond.

On military matters the number and importance of the reports and conferences is greater than in 1775. New articles of war modeled upon those of Great Britain, were adopted. The papers relating to the conference of Washington, Schuyler, and Gates with a committee of Congress are vital, and can now be studied in detail. The affair of the Cedars, the report on the state of the army at New York, and the various addresses to the Hessian mercenaries also deserve mention. The contest over Schuyler, raised by New England, resulted in his supercession by Gates; and at the close of the year Congress flies from Philadelphia, conferring upon Washington, as a confession of military impotency, the powers of a Dictator. Privateering is regulated and the beginnings of prize courts established. French adventurers troop to Philadelphia and offer their services in the higher ranks of the army.

The notes of debates in Congress by John Adams are supplemented by those of Thomas Jefferson; and a speech of John Witherspoon on the message from Lord Howe is the first of the more full and formal records of opinion expressed in the Congress.

Matter inclosed in parallels, thus ||———|| is taken from the “Corrected Journal”, described in the Prefatory Note to Volume II of this issue. The Washington, Jefferson and Madison manuscripts in the Library of Congress, have been drawn upon for material, but even with this help many reports are wanting to complete the record. The originals have been lost or scattered, and the Library would be grateful for any assistance in locating them, or drafts of them to be found in private collections of historical papers.

The committee to whom the letters from General Washington, and the intercepted letters, were referred, brought in their report, which being taken into consideration, ||the Congress came to the following resolutions||:

Resolved, That the president of the provincial council of North Carolina and Georgia, be requested to procure committees of their several bodies to repair immediately to Charleston, and there to confer with a committee of the council of safety of South Carolina, upon weighty and important matters relative to the defence and security of those colonies.

of the two former colonies, and to the provincial council of the other, by all possible means, to make a vigorous defence and opposition; and that it be farther recommended to the committee of safety of Virginia, and the provincial council of North Carolina, to meet together and confer and conclude upon such operations as they may think most for their mutual interest.

January, 1776

The Congress took into consideration the report of the Committee on the petition of Captains Paddock and Coffin, and after debate,

Resolved, That the prayer of said petition be not granted.¹

The committee on the state of New York brought in their report, which was read.

The report of Captain Motte, with regard to the disposition of the officers taken prisoners at St. John's, was laid before Congress, and read.

The Committee, to whom the Report on Lord Stirling's letters was recommitted, brought in their report, which being taken into consideration, the Congress thereupon came to the following resolutions: was agreed to as follows:

Resolved, That the president acquaint his lordship, that the Congress has provided against the inconvenience of vexatious arrests of the men inlisting in the continental service.

Resolved, That the barracks in the colony of New Jersey be prepared for the reception of such of the battalions as may not be in readiness to proceed to New York, and that the ministerial troops or prisoners at present occupying them, be accommodated in the said colony, in such manner, as the committee of safety for said colony, shall think most prudent and convenient.

That Mr. Lowry, the commissary, be directed to supply the said battalions with stockings, and that the delegates for the colony of New Jersey, transmit to Lord Stirling six dozen printed copies of the articles of war.

That considering not only the defenceless condition of the colony of New Jersey, for want of Ammunition in case of an hostile invasion of that Colony, but the evident want of the assistance of those battalions for the defence of New York, where an attack of the enemy is most probably to be apprehended, a requisition be made by the Congress to the committee of safety of Pensylvania, of four hundred weight of powder for the said battalions.

That the same fire wood, camp equipage, and barrack utensils be allowed to each of the New Jersey battalions as are allowed to the battalion raised in Pensylvania.

That the hundred stand of arms supplied by the colony of New York for the New Jersey battalions, be paid for by the convention of New Jersey; and that in order to enable the said convention to make such payment, as well as to furnish such of the men belonging to the said battalions, as are yet unprovided with arms, the farther sum of 1,000 dollars be advanced to the said convention; and that the price of the arms be deducted out of the wages of the privates belonging to the said battalions.

That Lord Stirling be directed to seize and secure all the ammunition and warlike stores belonging to the enemy, which now are or hereafter may be imported into the colony of New Jersey, and keep them till he shall receive the orders of Congress respecting them: And further, that he do, from time to time, give aid and protection to all the friends of America, who may be employed in importing into the said colony, ammunition, or other commodities not prohibited by the association and resolves of this Congress.

Whereas it has been represented to this Congress, that divers honest and well-meaning, but uninformed people in these colonies, have, by the art and address of ministerial agents, been deceived and drawn into erroneous opinions respecting the American cause, and the probable issue of the present contest:
Resolved, That it be recommended to the different committees, and other friends to American liberty, in the said colonies, to treat all such persons with kindness and attention; to consider them as the inhabitants of a country determined to be free, and to view their errors as proceeding rather from want of information than want of virtue or public spirit; to explain to them the origin, nature and extent of the present controversy; to acquaint them with the fate of the numerous petitions presented to his Majesty, as well by assemblies as Congresses, for reconciliation and redress of grievances: and that the last from this Congress, humbly requesting the single favour of being heard, like all the others, has proved unsuccessful; to unfold to them the various arts of administration to ensnare and enslave us, and the manner in which we have been cruelly driven to defend, by arms, those very rights, liberties and estates, which we and our forefathers had so long enjoyed unmolested in the reigns of his present Majesty's predecessors. And it is hereby recommended to all conventions and assemblies in these colonies, liberally to distribute among the people, the proceedings of this and the former Congress, the late speeches of the great patriots in both houses of parliament relative to American grievances, and such other pamphlets and papers as tend to elucidate the merits of the American cause, the Congress being fully persuaded that the more our right to the enjoyment of our ancient liberties and privileges is examined, the more just and necessary our present opposition to ministerial tyranny will appear.

And, with respect to all such unworthy Americans, as, regardless of their duty to their Creator, their country and their posterity, have taken part with our oppressors, and, influenced by the hope or possession of ignominious rewards, strive to recommend themselves to the bounty of administration, by misrepresenting and traducing the conduct and principles of the friends of American liberty, and opposing every measure formed for its preservation and security,

Resolved, That it be recommended to the different Assemblies, conventions and committees or councils of safety in the United Colonies, by the most speedy and effectual measures, to frustrate the mischievous machinations, and restrain the wicked practices of these men: And it is the opinion of this Congress, that they ought to be disarmed, and the more dangerous among them, either kept in safe custody, or bound with sufficient sureties to their good behaviour.

And, in order that the said assemblies, conventions, committees or councils of safety, may be enabled, with greater ease and facility to carry this resolution into execution,

Resolved, That they be authorized to call to their aid, whatever continental troops, stationed in or near their respective colonies, may be conveniently spared from their more immediate duty; and the commanding officers of such troops, are hereby directed to afford the said Assemblies, conventions, committees or councils of safety, all such assistance in executing this resolution, as they may require, and which, consistent with the good of the service, may be supplied.

Resolved, That all detachments of continental troops, which may be ordered on the business in the foregoing resolution mentioned, be, while so employed, under the direction and control of the assemblies, conventions, committees or councils of safety aforesaid.

Resolved, That it be recommended to all the United Colonies, to aid each other (on request from their respective Assemblies, conventions, committees, or councils of safety and county committees) on every emergency, and to cultivate, cherish and increase the present happy and necessary union, by a continual interchange of mutual good offices.

And whereas the execrable barbarity, with which this unhappy war has been conducted on the part of our enemies, such as burning our defenceless towns and villages, exposing their inhabitants, without regard to sex or age, to all the miseries which loss of property, the rigor of the season, and inhuman devastation can inflict, exciting domestic insurrections and murders, bribing the savages to desolate our frontiers, and casting such of us as the fortune of war has put in their power, into gaols, there to languish in irons and in want, compelling the inhabitants of Boston, in violation of the treaty, to remain confined within the town, exposed to the insolence of the soldiery, and other enormities, at the mention of which decency and humanity will ever blush, may justly provoke the inhabitants of these colonies to retaliate.

Resolved, That it be recommended to them, to continue mindful that humanity ought to distinguish the brave, that cruelty should find no admission among a free people, and to take care that no page in the annals of America be stained by a recital of any action which justice or Christianity may condemn, and to rest assured that whenever retaliation may be necessary or tend to their security, this Congress will undertake the disagreeable task.

Resolved, That the Assemblies, conventions, or committees, or councils of safety, be requested forthwith to transmit to this Congress, copies of all the petitions, memorials, and remonstrances, which have been, by the respective colonies, presented to the throne, or either house of parliament, since the year 1762, and that they also inform the Congress, whether any and what answers were given to them.¹

To Majr. Genl Howe

A Declaration by the Representatives of the United colonies in Congress

When necessity compelled us to take arms against Great Britain in defence of our just rights, we thought it a circumstance of some comfort that our enemy was brave and civilized. It is the happiness of modern times that the evils of necessary war are softened by refinement of manners and sentiment, and that an enemy is an object of vengeance in arms and in the field only. It is with pain we hear that Mr Allen and eleven others taken with him while fighting bravely in their country’s cause, are sent to Britain in irons, to be punished for pretended treasons; treasons too created by one of those very laws whose obligation we deny, and mean to contest by the sword. This question is will not be decided by reeking vengeance on a few brave men who unfortunately wretched helpless captives, but by subduing conquering your enemy* in the fields of glory encounters of virtue attaining success in the fields of war, by and gathering there those laurels which grow for the superior brave alone. In this light we view the object between us; in this line we have hitherto conducted ourselves for it’s attainment, to those of your who, bearing your arms, have fallen into our hands, we have extended afforded every comfort for which captivity will admit; and misfortune called for. enlargement upon parole has been admitted this they will do us the justice to testify enlargement and comfortable subsistence have been extended to both officers and men, trusting to the ties of honour and their bondage restraint is a bondage restraint of honour only. Should you think proper in these days to revive antient barbarity of antient ages, barbarism, and again disgrace our nature with the practise of human sacrifice the fortune of war has put into our hands power subjects for multiplied retaliation to them, to you, and to the world we declare they shall not be wretched, unless their imprudence or your example shall oblige us to make them so; but we declare also that their lives shall compel us to respect the rights of nations. We have ordered Brigadier General Prescott to be bound in irons, and to be confined in close jail, there to experience sufferings similar to those corresponding miseries with those which shall be inflicted on Mr. Allen. His life shall answer for that life of Mr. Allen, and the lives of as many others for those sent with him of the brave men captivated with him. We deplore the event which shall oblige us to retaliate shed blood for blood, and shall resort to it retaliation but as the means of stopping the progress of butchery. This it is a duty we owe to those who engaged in support of our cause in their country, to assure them that if any unlucky circumstance, baffling the efforts of their bravery, shall put them in the power of their enemies, their lives shall be warranted from sacrifice by the lives of the prisoners in our hands. We will use the pledges in our hands to warrant their lives from sacrifice. 1

Resolved, That Mr. [Josiah] Bartlett be appointed one of the Committee of Claims, in the room of Mr. Cushing [John] Langdon, and Mr. S[amuel] Adams in the room of Mr. [Thomas] Cushing, who have leave of absence.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1776

A letter from General Washington, dated 25 December, inclosing a letter from General Howe, and accompanied with sundry papers, was laid before Congress, and read. 2

Medicines, surgeons' instruments, lint and bandages, to the amount of £2,000 sterling.

500 sheets of Copper of different sorts.

Resolved, That the Secret Committee be empowered and directed to pursue the most effectual measures for importing the above articles.¹

Resolved, That the farther consideration of this report be postponed.

The Committee of Claims reported, that there is due, To Captain Edward Motte, for expences, &c. in conducting the prisoners taken at St. John's, from Kingston, in the colony of New York, to Lancaster, in the province of Pensylvania, a ballance of £137.17.9 being 367.7 dollars.

To Robert Erwin, wagon-master, for carriage of clothing and medicines to Dobb's ferry and to Cambridge, £83.9.7 being 222.6 dollars.

Ordered, That the above be paid.

The Committee on the state of New York, brought in a farther report, which being taken into consideration, was agreed to as follows:

Whereas a majority of the inhabitants of Queen's County, in the colony of New York, being incapable of resolving to live and die freemen, and being more disposed to quit their liberties than part with the little proportion of their property necessary to defend them, have deserted the American cause, by refusing to send deputies as usual to the convention of that colony; and avowing by a public declaration, an unmanly design of remaining inactive spectators of the present contest, vainly flattering themselves, perhaps, that should Providence declare for our enemies, they may purchase their mercy and favor at an easy rate; and, on the other hand, if the war should terminate to the advantage of America, that then they may enjoy, without expense of blood or treasure, all the blessings resulting from that liberty, which they, in the day of trial, had abandoned, and in defence of which, many of their more virtuous neighbours and countrymen had nobly died:

And although the want of public spirit, observable in these men, rather excites pity than alarm, there being little danger to apprehend either from their prowess or example, yet it being reasonable, that those who refuse to defend their country, should be excluded from its protection, and be prevented from doing it injury:

Resolved, That all such persons in Queen’s county, aforesaid, as voted against sending deputies to the present convention of New York, and named in a list of delinquents in Queen’s county, published by the convention of New York, be put out of the protection of the United Colonies, and that all trade and intercourse with them cease; that none of the inhabitants of that county be permitted to travel or abide in any part of these United Colonies, out of their said county, without a certificate from the convention or committee of safety of the colony of New York, ||setting forth,|| that such inhabitant is a friend to the American cause, and not of the number of those who voted against sending deputies to the said convention; and that such of the said inhabitants as shall be found out of the said county, without such certificate, be apprehended and imprisoned three months.

Resolved, That no attorney or lawyer ought to commence, prosecute, or defend any action at law, of any kind, for any of the said inhabitants of Queen’s county, who voted against sending deputies to the convention, as aforesaid; and such attorneys or lawyers as shall contravene this resolution, are enemies to the American cause, and ought to be treated accordingly.

Resolved. That the convention or committee of safety of the colony of New York be requested to continue publishing, for a month, in all their gazettes or newspapers, the names of all such of the inhabitants of Queen’s county, as voted against sending deputies; and to give certificates, in the manner before recommended, to such others of the said inhabitants, as are friends to American liberty.

And it is recommended to all conventions, committees of safety, and others, to be diligent in executing the above Resolutions.

Resolved, That Colonel Nathaniel Heard, of Woodbridge, in the colony of New Jersey, taking with him five or six hundred minute men, under discreet officers, do march to the western part of Queen’s county, and that Colonel Waterbury, of Stanford, in the colony of Connecticut, with the like number of minute men, march to the eastern side of said county; that they confer together, and endeavour to enter the said county on the same day; that they proceed to disarm every person in the said county, who voted against sending deputies to the said convention, and cause them to deliver up their arms and ammunition on oath, and that they take and confine in safe custody, till further orders, all such as shall refuse compliance.

That they apprehend and secure, till further orders, the persons named as principal men among the disaffected in the said county, in a summons for their appearance before the convention of New York, issued the 12 of December last, viz.

Of Jamaica township, Captain Benjamin Whitehead, Charles Arden, Joseph French, Esq' Johannes Polhemus.

Resolved, That the committee of safety of the colony of Pennsylvania, be requested to furnish Colonel Heard with 200 lbs. of powder.

The Committee of Claims reported, that there is due,

To Henry Dewson, for provisions to Captain Ross’s company, the sum of £11 New York currency = 27 1/2 dollars.

The said committee report that they have had under their consideration an account exhibited by Colonel Turbott Francis, one of the Commissioners for Indian affairs for the northern department, of goods purchased for the treaty held with the Indians, at Albany, of his expences in attending the treaty, &c. amounting to the sum of £2,470 Pennsylvania currency, including the sum of £242.13.4 New York currency, paid to Volkert P. Douw, Esq’ in which account he credits Cash received of the continental treasurers, the sum of 6.666 2/3 dollars,

1 This was printed in the Pennsylvania Gazette, 17 January, 1776.
2 This representation, without date, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 58, folio 205. The signers were: Arthur St. Clair, John Shee, Anthony Wayne, Lambert Cadwalader, William Allen, Jr., Joseph Penrose, Joseph Wood and Henry Bicker.
equal to £2500.0.0, and two horses taken, to himself at cost, £42.15. That there is, therefore, a balance in his hands amounting to £72.15.0 = 194 dollars.

And by the same account it appears that Colonel Francis had left in the hands of Mr. Douw two matrasses, &c. about 15 gallons of wine, and some spirits, to be accounted for by him when sold. It also further appears that there remains on hand part of the goods purchased for the said treaty.

9½ p' strouds
1½ p' french blankets
3½ p' striped do
46 Rose do
2 pieces of white Nap.

It is therefore the opinion of this committee, That there is due to Volkert P. Ordered, That the above sums be paid to Henry Dewson, and Volkert P. Douw, Esq' the debts to them due, the latter through the hands of James Duane, Esq':

The Committee appointed to enquire into the conduct of the officers who are prisoners, and the manner in which they are subsisted at present, brought in their report, which, being taken into consideration, was agreed to as follows:

Resolved, That the conduct of the officers at Trenton, though in other respects unexceptionable, is, as to their manner of living, exceedingly extravagant, they being boarded at taverns, and the inn keepers supplying them in a luxurious manner, on the credit of the Continent:

The Committee therefore are of opinion

That the Congress will, for the future, allow two dollars per week for the board and lodgings of officers, who are prisoners, (for which sum they may have decent lodgings) to be repaid by the officers before they are released from their captivity.

That the accounts of the several Inn keepers against the officers be paid by the Continent, which are also to be repaid by the said officers before their discharge.

That no tavern keeper supply the said officers, for the future, on the credit of the Continent.

That the officers now at Trenton, be directed to remove to some other place at a proper distance from the public post Road.

That the officers at Trenton have liberty consistent with former resolutions of Congress, to chuse the places of their residence.

That a copy of the above resolutions, together with a copy of the resolution granting officers liberty to sell bills for their subsistence, be transmitted to the several committees, where officers who are prisoners reside; and that the said committees be directed to apply to the said officers for their bills to discharge the debts already incurred, and also to inform them, it is expected they will from time to time draw for their future subsistence.

Ordered, That Rachel Stille's account amounting to £158.17.7 equal to 423 6/10 dollars, for subsistence of officers to the 4th of January, 1776, be paid.

a report on this part of the letter, unless I shall see a prospect of justice being done to the colony, till I can receive from you authentic evidence of those companies having been actually employed by the continental officers, as I conceive they have been, in the service of the continent. I wish you would inform me whether the two companies stationed at Chelsea and Malden were paid out of the continent's chest. I suppose they were, and if so, I cannot see reason for any hesitation about the payment of these. I wish also to know how many men our colony is at the expense of maintaining for the defence of its sea-costs. Pray let me have some intelligence from you of the colony which we represent. Resolved, By this Assembly, That Roger Sherman, Oliver Wolcott, Samuel Huntington, Titus Hosmer, and William Williams, Esqrs. be, and they are hereby appointed Delegates to represent this Colony at the General Congress of the United Colonies in America, for the Year ensuing, and until new be Chosen; that is to say, the said Roger Sherman, Oliver Wolcott, and Samuel Huntington, Esqrs. do attend ¹ "A motion was made in Congress the other day, to the following purpose; That, whereas we had been charged with aiming at independency, a committee should be appointed to explain to the people at large, the principles and grounds of our opposition, &c. The motion alarmed me. I thought Congress had already been explicit enough, and was apprehensive that we might get ourselves upon dangerous ground. Some of us prevailed so far as to have the matter postponed, but could not prevent the assigning a day to consider it. I may perhaps have been wrong in opposing this motion; and I ought the rather to suspect it, because the majority of your colony, as well as of the Congress, were of a different opinion.

"I had lately some free conversation with an eminent gentleman, whom you well know, and whom your Portia in one of her letters admired, [Franklin] if I recollect right, for his expressive silence, about a confederation; a matter which our much valued friend Colonel W[ythe], is very solicitous to have completed. We agreed that it must soon be brought on, and that if all the colonies could not come into it, it had better be done by those of them that inclined to it. I told him that I would endeavor to unite the New England colonies in confederating, if none of the rest would join in it. He approved of it, and said, if I succeeded, he would cast in his lot among us." Samuel Adams to John Adams, 15 January, 1776. John Adams, Works, IX, 372.
said Congress, and on the failure of either of the said Gentlemen, by sickness, or otherwise, then the said Titus Hosmer, or William Williams, Esqrs. are to supply the place or places of any or either of the said three Gentlemen first named, in such manner, that three of said Delegates, and three only, do attend said Congress at any one Time; and the said three Delegates, or any or either of them, who shall be present in said Congress, are hereby fully Authorized and Impowered to Represent this Colony in said Congress, to Consult, advise, and Resolve upon Measures necessary to be taken and pursued for the Defence, Security and preservation of the Rights and Liberties of the said United Colonies, and for their common safety; and of such their proceedings and Resolves they do transmit Authentic Copies, from Time to Time, to the General Assembly of this Colony. That the said Delegates now appointed do repair to, and take their Seats in said Congress, by the first Day of January next, in Case said Congress shall be then sitting, or as soon after as said Congress shall be Convened; and that the said Gentlemen, who are now attending said Congress in behalf of this Colony, do continue in their said Office untill the Gentlemen now Chosen, and are directed to attend in manner aforesaid, shall arrive at said Congress.

The Committee to whom the letters from Lancaster were referred, brought in an answer, which being read was approved: 1

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and forwarded.

GENTLEMEN:

The Congress have received your several letters of December 21st, January 3d, and 10th. A multiplicity of important business has retarded their answering them sooner.

Your civility to the officers who are prisoners, in giving them time to make choice of their places of residence, and permitting them to remain with you till their baggage shall arrive, is approved. Their complaint, that a separation from the soldiers is a breach of General Schuyler's solemn engagement, we apprehend not to be well-founded. All the stipulations of a capitulation ought, undoubtedly, to be held sacred, and faithfully fulfilled, because something is then given up or received, as a condition or equivalent; but no such stipulation is to be found in the capitulations upon which those gentlemen surrendered; nor had General Schuyler a right to make fresh terms with his prisoners, after they were in his power, without the consent of the Congress. Nevertheless, we should have paid a respect to his opinion and advice in the matter, had he given it, but we have not heard a word from him on the subject.

We have no objection to your permitting two or more of the officers to come, at proper times, from their places of residence to Lancaster, for the purpose of settling with, and paying their soldiers. Major

1 A letter from Lancaster, signed by J. Yeates, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 89, I, folio 51.
Preston, being applied to, absolutely refuses to supply the soldiers with clothing or blanketing. We must, therefore, desire you will take care that they do not suffer for want of those articles, nor any other that are necessary for their comfortable subsistence in this inclement season. What you have already done of that kind, in furnishing them with firing, bedding, &c., is well approved, and the expenses will be defrayed. The inhabitants are at liberty to purchase bills drawn by the officers for their support and accommodation; but this is to be at the risk of the purchasers, and not to exceed what is, evidently, necessary for these purposes, wherein it is to be considered the Congress advances each officer two dollars a week for his subsistence.

We approve of your regulations for preserving the peace of the Borough, and of your placing a guard and ordering a patrol for that purpose, the expense of which will be paid.

The agent of the Army's Contractor refusal to supply the soldiers' wives and children with any meat or bread, surprises us. We know not the motives of such conduct, but we must approve of those humane sentiments which induced you to provide for them in their distress. The expenses will be allowed in your accounts.

Upon the whole, gentlemen, you have judged rightly in supposing that every measure you have taken, to render the situation of our prisoners as comfortable as possible, would be agreeable to us. As men, they have a claim to all the rights of humanity; as countrymen, though enemies, they claim something more. You have, therefore, the thanks of the Congress; and I am, in their behalf, gentlemen, &c.,

JOHN HANCOCK, President.

To the Committee of Lancaster, Pennsylvania.¹

The Congress took into consideration the report of the Committee on the matter of South Carolina, respecting seamen; Whereupon,

That he offer to each able-bodied seaman the wages of eight dollars per month, and that he pay to them upon inlisting nine dollars bounty, and, upon their arrival in South Carolina, the farther bounty of five dollars.

That Captain Cochran repair immediately to the camp at Cambridge, and take the advice and direction of General Washington on this affair, and proceed to inlist his seamen in such parts of the country as will be the least prejudicial to the continental service.

That the president write to General Washington, acquainting him with the situation of South Carolina, the necessity that colony is in for seamen, and desiring that he will please to forward this service.¹

The Committee of Claims reported, that there is due,

"The colony of South Carolina has been so fortunate as to oblige Lord William Campbell, with the vessels of war, to quit their harbor. Being earnestly desirous of providing for their defence, they have resolved to fit out some armed vessels, but not having seamen among themselves, they have despatched Captain Cochran to the northward, to inlist a number of seamen for the service of that colony. Lest the offers he was empowered to make might prejudice the service, the Congress have chalked out a plan for him to go by, as you will see in the enclosed extracts, and I am directed to desire you will please to forward this service." Resolved, That the American army in Canada be reinforced with all possible despatch, as well for the security and relief of our friends there, as for better securing the rights and liberties not only of that colony, but the other United Colonies.

That an express be sent to the committee of safety of New Jersey, and an application made to that of Pennsylvania, immediately to quicken the officers employed in levying the forces directed to be raised in those colonies, and marched to Canada, and do all in their power to forward the service. And that the committee of inspection of the city and liberties of Philadelphia, be requested forthwith to use their utmost endeavours to aid Mr. James Mease in procuring of the householders therein, such blankets as may be spared from their respective families, for the use of the battalions, destined for this important expedition, at so severe a season; for which the owners shall be allowed the value of such blankets, according to the estimation of the said committee of inspection. And that Colonels Bull and Maxwell, do, without delay, march such of the companies of their battalions as are now ready, to General Schuyler.

That General Washington be requested to detach from the camp at Cambridge, one battalion, if the service there will permit him to spare one, with orders to march with the greatest expedition possible to Canada.

That for the more speedy raising the battalions, ordered on the 8th of January, to be raised in the colonies of New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, and Pensylvania, for the defence of Canada, it be recommended to the general assembly, convention, or council, or committee of safety, of those colonies respectively, to exert their utmost endeavours in raising the said battalions, upon the same pay and subsistence as the army at Cambridge, and to furnish them with provisions, ammunition, and other necessaries, ordered by this Congress, for expediting their march to Canada. And, for farther encouraging the men more cheerfully to enter into the service of their country, to give a bounty of six dollars and two thirds of a dollar, to every able bodied effective man, properly cloathed for the service, and having a good fire lock, with a bayonet, and other accoutrements; and four dollars to every soldier not having the like arms and accoutrements; the arms to be supplied by the colony, and the cost to be deducted out of the soldiers’ pay; and also to provide a blanket and haversack for every enlisted soldier, and, moreover, to advance one month’s pay to every officer and soldier before their march, that they may be able to purchase necessary cloathing.

That the first two companies which shall be compleat of every battallion, directed to be raised for the service in Canada, do march to that country so soon as they shall be ready, and be followed in the same numbers, with like expedition, by the rest of the corps. And that it be recommended to the general assemblies, conventions, and councils or committees of safety, of the colonies in which the battalions are directed to be raised, that they respectively attend to this business.
Resolved, That the remainder of the report be recommitted.

The committee desired leave to sit again, which was granted.

To Thomas Dewees, for supporting several prisoners, the sum of 43 2/10 dollars.

A memorial from Colonel Bull was read setting forth that “an attachment to liberty and a regard for the rights of mankind had induced him to take an active part in the present struggles for the defence of the same and to offer his services as colonel of the first Pensylvania batallion which were accepted,” but that finding himself ill treated by many of the officers in his corps and that continuing in the command might prejudice the service he was

Resolved, That General Washington be desired to despatch a general officer, if he can be spared from the service at Cambridge, to command the army in Canada.

That, it being necessary to procure a large quantity of specie for the operations in Canada, which cannot be successfully carried on without that article, it be recommended to the general assemblies, conventions, and councils or committees of safety, upon the continent, to employ proper persons, within their respective colonies, to collect all the gold and silver coin they can, and inform Congress of the sum collected.

2 “I beg leave to renew my request, that Delegates may be appointed and sent here, as soon as possible, as in my opinion the representation of a Colony, at this important crisis, is too weighty and important to be intrusted to any one person. That you may see the necessity of a larger representation of our Colony, I would inform you, that beside Committees for special purposes, that are frequently chosen, there are four or five standing Committees appointed, some for secrecy, some for despatch; some of which Committees are intrusted with large powers; and that there may be no cause of complaint, those Committees consist of one Delegate from each Colony; sometimes two, sometimes three, of those Committees sit at the same time, so that, though I attend some one of the Committees almost every night and morning, before and after Congress, yet sometimes business of consequence is transacted by them without our Colony being represented, and sometimes the Committees sit while the Congress is sitting, so that our Colony must be unrepresented in one of them, while every other Colony may be represented in both.

The Committee to whom were referred several Letters from General Washington, General Schuyler, Lord Stirling, and Mr. Tucker the President of the Convention of New Jersey, report.

That with respect to the advice transmitted by General Washington to the President of the Congress of his having sent General Lee to the Assistance of New York, it is the opinion of this Committee that the above measure was very judicious and necessary; and that Governor Trumbull be requested, and Lord Sterling directed by the Congress, to give all necessary Aid and Assistance to General Lee in carrying into Execution the Orders of General Washington relative to the said Province; And that the Convention or Committee of Safety of New York be requested earnestly to exert themselves on this important Occasion.

That many prisoners being quartered at Kingston in the Province of New York, the Committee are of opinion that it would be prudent to remove Captain Hewes and Capt Hanstruther from thence to some proper distance in that Neighbourhood; and that the officers from Montreal, now under charge of Col. Wyncoop, be kept at Bound Brook, in the Province of New Jersey.

That the officers now prisoners at Trenton, with their Servants and band of Music, be boarded in Farmer's Houses (not exceeding six miles) west of Trenton, and that the Soldiers there with their wives and children remain at Trenton; the Committee conceiving it improper for the said officers to reside at Bordington, that being a place thro' which the Stage Waggons constantly pass, and a Town much frequented, a circumstance which the Committee at Trenton did probably not consider.

That the officers and soldiers, now at Mr. Van Camp's, be conveyed to Lancaster, and there kept under the same regulations as the rest of the Garrison taken at St. John's.

That Mr. Tucker's request for blank Commissions be complied with, and the Convention or Committee of Safety of New Jersey be supplied with four thousand Dollars, for purchasing Arms for the New Jersey Battalions, to be accounted for by them; and that it appears to this Committee that Lord Stirling has been very active in forwarding the detachment, ordered to Long Island, under the command of Colo. Hurd. ¹

A letter from the committee of Trenton, dated January 23, was read.¹

The secretary brought in an account of the repulse our troops met with in their attempt on Quebec, ||the 31st of December;|| which was read:

An account of the repulse our troops met with in their attempt on Quebec, the 31 December, 1775, published by Congress.

The letters from Canada bring an Account of an unsuccessful attempt made to gain possession of Quebec by storm, on the 31 of December last, between the hours of two and seven in the morning.

The General finding his cannon too light to effect a breach, and that the enemy would not hearken to terms of capitulation, formed a design for carrying the town by escalade. In this he was encouraged by the extensive-ness of the works and the weakness of the garrison. When every thing was prepared while he was waiting the opportunity of a snow storm to carry the design into execution, several men deserted to the enemy. His plan at first was to have attacked the upper and lower town at the same time, depending principally for success against the upper town. But discovering from the motions of the enemy, that they were apprized of his design, he altered his plan; and having divided his little army into four detachments, ordered two feints to be made against the upper town, one by Col. Livingston, at the head of the Canadians against St. John's gate; the other by Captain Brown, at the head of a small detachment against cape Diamond; reserving to himself and Colonel Arnold the two principal attacks against the lower town.

¹This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 68, folio 41.
January, 1776

At five o'clock the hour appointed for the attack, the general, at the head of the New York troops, advanced against the lower town at Aunce de Mere. Being obliged to take a circuit, the signal for the attack was given and the garrison alarmed before he reached the place. However pressing on he passed the first barrier, and was just opening to attempt the second, when by the first fire from the enemy he was unfortunately killed, together with his Aid de camp, Captain John Macpherson, Captain Cheeseman and two or three more. This so dispirited the men that Colonel Campbell, on whom the command devolved found himself under the disagreeable necessity of drawing them off.

In the mean while Colonel Arnold, at the head of about 350 of those brave troops, who with unparalleled fatigue had penetrated Canada under his command, and Capt Lamb's company of Artillery, had passed through St. Roques, and approached near a two gun battery without being discovered. This he attacked and though it was well defended for about an hour, carried it with the loss of a number of men. In this attack Colonel Arnold had the misfortune to have his leg splintered by a shot, and was obliged to be carried to the hospital. After gaining the battery his detachment passed on to a second barrier, which they took possession of. By this time the enemy, relieved from the other attacks by our troops being drawn off, directed their whole force against this detachment, and a party sallying out from Palace gate attacked them in the rear.

These brave men sustained the force of the whole garrison for three hours, but finding themselves hemmed in, and no hopes of relief, they were obliged to yield to numbers and the advantageous situation the garrison had over them.
No regular return is yet come to hand but by the advices received, we learn, that our loss in killed and wounded amounts to about 60, and 300 taken prisoners, who are treated very humanely. Among the slain are Capt. Kendricks and Lieutenant Humphreys, of the riflemen, and lieutenant Cooper.

After this unfortunate repulse the remainder of the army retired about three miles from the city, where they have posted themselves advantageously and are continuing the blockade, waiting for reinforcements which are now on their march to join them:

Every possible mark of distinction was shewn to the corpse of General Montgomery, who was interred in Quebec on the 2 January.

Published by Order of the Congress.¹

Resolved, That such of the soldiers, ordered to Canada, as are married, and are desirous of having part of their pay given to their wives, be indulged; and that the captains ||or pay master|| be directed, in future payment of such soldiers, to deduct such part of their monthly pay.

Resolved, That the president be desired to inform General Schuyler, that the return of cannon mentioned in his letter of December 21, is mislaid, and therefore that he is desired to make a return, to Congress as soon as may be, of all the cannon and artillery at Crown Point and Ticonderoga, exclusive of those, taken by Colonel Knox, for General Washington.

Resolved, That Mr. [John] Bankson be appointed a first lieutenant in the room of Mr. [John] Morgan, who is in the country.

Information being given to Congress that some of the companies soldiers in the first Pensylvania batallion, now ordered to march immediately to Canada, are not supplied with arms:

Resolved, That the commanding officer of the said battalion be directed to make a return of the arms of said battalion, and how many are wanting, to the president of the committee of inspection and observation for the city and liberties of Philadelphia:

That the said committee be desired to use their utmost influence to provide good arms for such of said battalion as may want them.

Resolved, That a committee of 7 be appointed to consider the propriety of establishing a war office, and the powers with which the said office should be vested.

The members, Mr. [Thomas] Lynch, Mr. [Benjamin] Franklin, Mr. E[dward] Rutledge, Mr. [Benjamin] Harrison, Mr. Samuel Ward, Mr. S[amuel] Adams, and Mr. [Robert] Morris.

The committee appointed to prepare a letter to the inhabitants of Canada, reported a draught which being read and considered, was approved, as follows:

The letter to the Inhabitants of the Province of Canada

Friends and Countrymen,

Our former address to you pointed out our rights and grievances, and the means we have in our power, and which we are authorised by the British Constitution to use in the maintenance of the former and to obtain a redress of the latter.

We have also shewn you that your liberty, your honor and your happiness are essentially and necessarily connected with the unhappy contest, which we have been forced into for the defence of our dearest privileges.

We see with inexpressible joy the favourable manner in which you have received the just and equitable remonstrances of your friends and countrymen, who have no other views than those of strengthening and establishing the cause of liberty. The services you have already rendered the common cause deserve our acknowledgments, and we feel the just obligation your conduct has imposed on us to make our services reciprocal.

The best of causes are subject to vicissitudes, and disappointments have ever been inevitable. Such is the lot of human nature. But generous souls enlightened and warmed with the sacred fire of liberty become more resolute, as difficulties increase, and surmount with irresistible ardor every obstacle that stands between them and the favorite object of their wishes.

We will never abandon you to the unrelenting fury of your and our enemies. Two battalions have already received orders to march to Canada, a part of which are now on their route. Six additional battalions are raising in the United States for the same service and will receive orders to proceed to your province as soon as possible. The whole of these troops will probably arrive in Canada before the ministerial army under General Carlton can receive any succours. Exclusive of the forces before mentioned, we have directed that measures be immediately taken to embody two regiments in your country. Your assistance in the support and preservation of American liberty affords us the most sensible satisfaction and we flatter ourselves that you will seize with zeal and eagerness the favourable moment to co-operate in the success of so glorious an enterprise; and if more considerable forces should become requisite, they shall not fail being sent.

At this period you must be convinced that nothing is so essential to guard our interests and liberty, as efficacious measures to combine our mutual forces, in order that by such an Union of succour and councils, we may be able to baffle the endeavours of an enemy, who, to weaken, may attempt to divide us. To this effect we advise and exhort you to establish associations in your different parishes of the same nature with those, which have proved so salutary to the United Colonies; to elect deputies to form a provincial Assembly, and that said assembly be instructed to appoint delegates to represent them in this Congress. We flatter ourselves with the prospect of the happy moment, when the standard of tyranny shall no longer appear in this land, and we live in full hopes that it will never hereafter find shelter in North America.

Signed in the name and by Order of Congress,

John Hancock, president.

Resolved, That an order be drawn on the treasurers, in favour of the committee of Trenton, for the sum of 4000 dollars, for the purchase of arms for Colonel Maxwell’s battalion, the said committee to be accountable.

Resolved, That the president write to the said committee, and to Mr. Lowry, stimulating them to furnish Colonel Maxwell’s battalion with the articles necessary for their march; and that the president write to Colonel Maxwell, and direct him to send forward to Albany, the first company that can be got ready, and that he cause the other companies to march with like expedition, ||one at a time,|| as fast as they can be got ready.

The members ||chosen,|| Mr. [Samuel] Adams, Mr. [Samuel] Ward, and Mr. [Roger] Sherman.

The committee appointed to consider of a proper method of paying a just tribute of gratitude to the memory of General Montgomery, brought in their report, which, being taken into consideration, was agreed to as follows:

It being not only a tribute of gratitude justly due to the memory of those who have peculiarly distinguished themselves in the glorious cause of liberty, to perpetuate their names by the most durable monuments erected to their honour, but also greatly conducive to inspire posterity with an emulation of their illustrious actions:

Resolved, That, to express the veneration of the United Colonies for their late general, Richard Montgomery, and the deep sense they entertain of the many signal and important services of that gallant Officer, who, after a series of successes, amidst the most discouraging difficulties, fell at length in a gallant attack upon Quebec, the capital of Canada; and for transmitting to future ages, as examples truly worthy of imitation, his patriotism, conduct, boldness of enterprize, insuperable perseverance, and contempt of danger and death; a monument be procured from Paris, or any other part of France, with an inscription, sacred to his memory, and expressive of his amiable character and heroic achievements: And that the continental treasurers be directed to advance a sum, not exceeding £300 sterling, to Dr. Benjamin Franklin (who is desired to see this resolution properly executed) for defraying the expense thereof.

That Dr. Smith be desired to prepare and deliver a funeral oration in honor of General Montgomery, and of those officers and soldiers, who so magnanimously fought and fell with him in maintaining the principles of American Liberty.

Resolved, That the direction of the fleet fitted out by the order of Congress, be left to the marine [naval] committee.¹

A letter from General Washington, dated January 14, was laid before Congress and read.²

The Congress being informed that there [are] some circumstances attending the parole given by Mr. Hasen,

The committee returned and reported that upon enquiry they found the parole was given while he was in close custody, that notwithstanding the parole he was still continued in the same confinement, and kept confined till released by General Montgomery after gaining possession of Montreal. Whereupon,

A letter from General Lee, dated 22 January, enclosing a letter from the committee of safety of New York, being received was read.¹

¹This letter and enclosure are in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 158, folios 1, 9.

"The Congress this day received a letter from General Lee, apprising us of his intended march into New York, in obedience to orders from General Washington, favouring us, at the same time, with a copy of your letter to him on this subject.

"As we perceived it was General Lee’s intention immediately to proceed to your city, and that you thought such a measure dangerous to the lives of the inhabitants, and in other respects unseasonable, we thought it our duty to apply for a Committee of Congress to examine into the expediency of the expedition, and to give such directions as, upon consulting you and the General, might appear most prudent and advisable.

"Colonel Harrison, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Allen, are intrusted with this important business, a choice which we approve, having the highest sentiments of their humanity, patriotism, and judgment. "New York Delegates to the New York Committee of Safety, 27 January, 1776. Force, American Archives, 4th Series, IV, 1091.

"Messrs. Harrison, Lynch, and Allen, the Committee of the Continental Congress, attended the Committee, and were introduced. The Committee of Safety informed those gentlemen that their answer to the order of this Committee occasioned this

Resolved, That a committee of 3 be appointed to consider what allowance ought to be made for paying the troops in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and report to Congress.

The members, Mr. [Samuel] Ward, Mr. [Benjamin] Harrison, and Mr. [Andrew] Allen.

Resolved, That an order be drawn on the treasurers, in favour of the Commissioners for Indian affairs in the middle department, for the sum of 1,000 dollars, they to be accountable.

Resolved, That an order be drawn on the treasurers in favour of the Committee of Correspondence, for the sum of 7,000 dollars, they to be accountable.

close conference. The Committee of Safety, on their part, suggested that, as General Lee, by his letter, had informed them that he would delay the main body of his troops on the frontiers of Connecticut until after his arrival; that as those troops are introducing into the Colony, without any particular order of the Continental Congress known to this Committee, and Major General Lee, who was to have preceded those troops, and had the command of them, detained by indisposition, the Committee of Safety conceive that those troops ought not to be introduced into the city on any other condition than under their direction; that the dignity of this Colony in the Continental Union, and their duty to their constituents to preserve their liberties, and prevent any manoeuvre or accident that may endanger the safety of the city, or cause the removal of the inhabitants at this inclement season of the year, in their opinion, forbids the introduction of those troops on any other condition, for the present.

"The gentlemen of the Committee of Continental Congress then informed this Committee that Congress, in consequence of having received a copy of the letter of the Committee of Safety to General Lee, had appointed them a Committee to confer with General Lee and this Committee; that no service or matter whatever should be undertaken by those troops, until such conference had. They then produced their credentials from Congress, whereby the directions of those troops are given to the gentlemen of that Committee. They further assured the Committee that General Lee, knowing that they were here, by his instructions to Colonel Waterbury, had directed those troops to be under their command; that they would, as far as in their power, take care that the troops should be kept under good government and discipline until General Lee's arrival, and for that purpose they had given particular directions to Colonel Waterbury.

"The Committee thereupon were satisfied, and declared they were contented, as those troops are under the command of the Committee of the Continental Congress."

A petition from sundry persons, respecting the inlisting of apprentices, ||was presented and read.||

The Congress taking into consideration the letter from General Lee, with the enclosure:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to repair to New York, to consult and advise with the council of safety of New York and General Lee respecting the immediate defence of the said city; and that General Lee be directed to follow the determination of the said committee thereupon:

That it be an instruction to said committee, in case the city cannot be defended, that they earnestly recommend it to the inhabitants immediately to remove their most valuable effects to a place of safety:

That the said committee be instructed to consult with General Lee and the committee ||of safety|| of New York, about the fortifications on Hudson's river, and about fortifying the pass at Hell gate:

The members appointed, Mr. [Benjamin] Harrison, Mr. [Thomas] Lynch, and Mr. [Andrew] Allen.

"We did not hesitate to determine that common report, often deceitful and always uncertain, ought not to be sufficient to contravene a known and established regulation; but, on a resolve being proposed for the purpose of putting a stop to this growing evil, one of the members informed us that he heard several of the Continental Delegates publickly declare, it was agreed in Congress that no notice should be taken of the sale or use of East India Teas in the Eastern Colonies." A Memorial from Mr. Kirkland was presented to Congress and read.

Ordered, To lie on the table.

The Congress took into consideration the report of the Committee on the second memorial of Sansom, Murray, & Co. &c. Whereupon,

Resolved, That the memorialists be permitted to make sale of their cargo of wheat in Connecticut, or else to proceed on their original voyage to Falmouth, in England, and a market under the office papers, and clearances, which the said vessel sailed with from New York in September last; and also subject to the former restrictions of Congress, respecting the appointment of a commander.¹

Information being given to Congress that a quantity of powder, arms and salt petre was arrived,

Resolved, That the committee appointed on the 13th of last month, to purchase the salt petre then arrived, and have it manufactured, be directed and empowered to take every necessary measure to have the salt petre, now arrived, manufactured into gun powder with all possible expedition.

Resolved, That a copy of the paper relating to signals found among the intercepted letters, be sent to the commander of the fleet, and that the delegates of the several colonies be permitted to send to their respective conventions or committees of safety a copy of the said paper under a strong injunction to keep it secret.

Resolved, That two tons of the powder now arrived, ||belonging to the United Colonies,|| be returned to the committee of safety for Pennsylvania, in part of that borrowed of them:

That the former order of Congress to grant one ton of gun powder to the colony of North Carolina, be answered out of the powder belonging to the continent now arrived.

Ordered, That the committee appointed to manufacture the salt petre into gun powder, be directed to enquire and report to Congress a state of the powder, arms and salt petre arrived.

A memorial from Stacey Hepburn was presented to Congress and read:

Referred to a committee of three:

The members chosen, Mr. [Thomas] M'Kean, Mr. [Thomas] Nelson, and Mr. [John] Penn.

The following incident is described by John Adams, in his Autobiography (Writings, III, p. 25.):

"I soon found there was a whispering among the partisans in opposition to independence, that I was interested; that I held an office under the new government of Massachusetts; that I was afraid of losing it, if we did not declare independence; and that I consequently ought not to be attended to. This they circulated so successfully, that they got it insinuated among the members of the legislature in Maryland, where their friends were powerful enough to give an instruction to their delegates in Congress, warning them against listening to the advice of interested persons, and manifestly pointing me out to the understanding of every one. This instruction was read in Congress. It produced no other effect upon me than a laughing letter to my friend, Mr. Chase, who regarded it no more than I did. These chuckles I was informed of, and witnessed for many weeks, and at length they broke out in a very extraordinary manner. When I had been speaking one day on the subject of independence, or the institution of governments, which I always considered as the same thing, a gentleman of great fortune and high rank arose and said, he should move, that no person who held an office under a new government should be admitted to vote on any such question, as they were interested persons. I wondered at the simplicity of this motion, but knew very well what to do with it. I rose from my seat with great coolness and deliberation; so far from expressing or feeling any resentment, I really felt gay, though as it happened, I preserved an unusual gravity in my countenance and air, and said, 'Mr. President, I will second the gentleman’s motion, and I recommend it to the honorable gentleman to second another which I should make, namely, that no gentleman who holds any office under the old or present government should be admitted to vote on any such question, as they were interested persons.' The moment when this was pronounced, it flew like an electric stroke through every countenance in the room, for the gentleman who made the motion held as high an office under the old government as I did under the new, and many other members present held offices under the royal government. My friends accordingly were delighted with my retaliation, and the friends of my antagonist were mortified at his indiscretion in exposing himself to such a retort. Finding the house in a good disposition to hear me, I added, I would go further, and cheerfully consent to a self-denying ordinance, that every member of Congress, before we proceeded to any question respecting independence, should take a solemn oath never to accept or hold any office of any kind in America after the revolution. Mr. Wythe, of Virginia, rose here, and said Congress had no right to exclude any of their members from voting on these questions; their constituents only had a right to restrain them; and that no member had a right to take, nor Congress to prescribe any engagement not to hold offices after the revolution or before. Again I replied, that whether the gentleman’s opinion was well or ill founded, I had only said that I was willing to consent to such an arrangement. That I knew very well what these things meant. They were personal attacks upon me, and I was glad that at length they had been made publicly where I could defend myself. That I knew very well that they had been made secretly and circulated in whispers, not only in the city of Philadelphia and State of Pennsylvania, but in the neighboring States, particularly Maryland, and very probably in private letters throughout the Union. I now took the opportunity to declare in public, that it was very true, the unmerited and unsolicited, though unanimous good will of the Council of Massachusetts, had appointed me to an important office, that of Chief Justice; that as this office was a very conspicuous station, and consequently a dangerous one, I had not dared to refuse it, because it was a post of danger, though by the acceptance of it, I was obliged to relinquish another office,—meaning my barrister’s office—which was more than four times as profitable. That it was a sense of duty, and a full conviction of an honest cause, and not any motives of ambition, or hopes of honor, or profit, which had drawn me into my present course. That I had seen enough already in the course of my own experience to know that the American cause was not the most promising road to profits, honors, power, or pleasure. That on the contrary, a man must renounce all these and devote himself to labor, danger and death, and very possibly to disgrace and infamy, before he was fit in my judgment, in the present state and future prospects of the country, for a seat in that Congress. This whole scene was a comedy to Charles Thomson, whose composure was in raptures all the time. When all was over, he told me he had been highly delighted with it, because he had been witness to many of their conversations, in which they had endeavored to excite and propagate prejudices against me, on account of my office of Chief Justice. But he said I had cleared and explained the thing in such a manner that he would be bound I should never hear any more reflections on that head. No more, indeed, were made in my presence, but the party did not cease to abuse me in their secret circles on this account, as I was well informed. Not long afterwards, hearing that the Supreme Court in Massachusetts was organized and proceeding very well on the business of their circuits, I wrote my resignation of the office of Chief Justice, to the Council."

Adams was appointed Justice in October, 1776; he was absent from Philadelphia from December 6, 1775 to February 9, 1776, when he again took his seat in Congress.

"I told the gentlemen that I should be much obliged, if they would find me a man who would accept of my office, or by passing the resolution furnish me with a justification for refusing it. In either case, I would subscribe my renunciation of that office before I left the room." John Adams to Samuel Chase, 14 June, 1776. Writings, IX, 396.
Februrary, 1776

On February 10, he wrote his resignation. He describes the discussion as occurring after his return to Congress, but also says that "not long afterwards" he resigned. The instructions of the Maryland Convention were dated January 11, 1776; so that the incident must have occurred on February 9, as no session of Congress was held on the 10th. The paragraph of the instructions referred to was as follows:

"And we further instruct you to move for, and endeavour to obtain, a resolve of Congress, that no person who holds any military command in the Continental, or any Provincial regular forces, or marine service, nor any person who holds or enjoys any office of profit under the Continental Congress, or any Government assumed since the present controversy with Great Britain began, or which shall hereafter be assumed, or who directly or indirectly receives the profits of such command or office, shall, during the time of his holding or receiving the same, be eligible to sit in Congress."

Of the Maryland delegates to the Continental Congress all, except Robert Goldsborough and William Paca, were also members of the Maryland Convention, which sat from December 7, 1775 to January 18, 1776. Paca was at Philadelphia, but returning to Maryland some time in December, the colony was for a time unrepresented in the Congress. On December 9, 1775, the Convention acted, and after unsuccessfully requesting John Hall and Robert Goldsborough to attend, chose Robert Alexander and John Rogers, then members of its own body. The Journals of the Continental Congress show that Rogers received committee appointments on January 19 and 27; that Alexander was named on a committee on January 24; Paca, on January 30, and Chase on February 7 and 9. Chase did not raise the point of the instructions, and it is hardly probable that so important a matter would have rested with Alexander or Rogers. Circumstances thus point to Paca.

FRIENDS AND COUNTRYMEN.

History, we believe, cannot furnish an Example of a Trust, higher and more important than that, which we have received from your Hands. It comprehends in it every Thing that can rouse the Attention and interest the Passions of a People, who will not reflect Disgrace upon their Ancestors nor degrade themselves, nor transmit Infamy to their Descendants. It is committed to us at a Time when every Thing dear and valuable to such a People is in imminent Danger. This Danger arises from those, whom we have been accustomed to consider as our Friends; who really were so, while they continued friendly to themselves; and who will again be so, when they shall return to a just Sense of their own Interests. The Calamities, which threaten us, would be attended with the total Loss of those Constitutions, formed upon the venerable Model of British Liberty, which have been long our Pride and Felicity. To avert those Calamities we are under the disagreeable Necessity of making temporary Deviations from those Constitutions.

Such is the Trust reposed in us. Much does it import you and us, that it be executed with Skill and with Fidelity. That we have discharged it with Fidelity, we enjoy the Testimony of a good Conscience. How far we have discharged it with Skill must be determined by you, who are our Principals and Judges, to whom we esteem it our Duty to render an Account of our Conduct. To enable you to judge of it, as we would wish you to do, it is necessary that you should be made acquainted with the Situation, in which your Affairs have been placed; the Principles, on which we have acted; and the Ends, which we have kept and still keep in View.

That all Power was originally in the People—that all the Powers of Government are derived from them—that all Power, which they have not disposed of, still continues theirs—are Maxims of the English Constitution, which, we presume, will not be disputed. The Share of Power, which the King derives from the People, or, in other Words, the Prerogative of the Crown, is well known and precisely ascertained: It is the same in Great Britain and in the Colonies. The Share of Power, which the House of Commons derives from the People, is likewise well known: The Manner in which it is conveyed is by Election. But the House of Commons is not elected by the Colonists; and therefore, from them that Body can derive no Authority.

Besides; the Powers, which the House of Commons receives from its Constituents, are entrusted by the Colonies to their Assemblies in the several Provinces. Those Assemblies have Authority to propose and assent to Laws for the Government of their Electors, in the same Manner as the House of Commons has Authority to propose and assent to Laws for the Government of the Inhabitants of Great Britain. Now the same collective Body cannot delegate the same Powers to distinct representative Bodies. The undeniable Result is, that the House of Commons neither has nor can have any Power deriv’d from the Inhabitants of these Colonies.

In the Instance of levying imposing Taxes, this Doctrine is clear and familiar: It is true and just in every other Instance. If it would be incongruous and absurd, that the same Property should be liable to be taxed by two Bodies independent of each other; would less Incongruity and Absurdity ensue, if the same Offence were to be subjected to different and perhaps inconsistent Punishments? Suppose the Punishment directed by the Laws of one Body to be Death, and that directed by those of the other Body be Banishment for Life; how could both Punishments be inflicted?

Though the Crown possesses the same Prerogative over the Colonies, which it possesses over the Inhabitants of Great Britain: Though the Colonists delegate to their Assemblies the same Powers which our Fellow Subjects in Britain delegate to the House of Commons: Yet by some inexplicable Mystery in Politics, which is the Foundation of the odious System that we have so much Reason to deplore, additional Powers over you are ascribed to the Crown, as a Branch of the British Legislature: And the House of Commons—a Body which acts solely by derivative Authority—is supposed entitled to exert over you an Authority, which you cannot give, and which it cannot receive.

The Sentence of universal Slavery gone forth against you is; that the British Parliament have Power to make Laws, WITHOUT YOUR CONSENT, binding you in ALL Cases whatever. Your Fortunes, your Liberties, your Reputations, your Lives, every Thing that can render you and your Posterity happy, all are the Objects of the Laws: All must be enjoyed, impaired or destroyed as the Laws direct. And are you the Wretches, who have Nothing that you can or ought to call your own? Were all the rich Blessings of Nature, all the Bounties of indulgent Providence poured upon you, not for your own Use; but for the Use of those, upon whom neither Nature nor Providence hath bestowed Qualities or Advantages superior to yours?

From this Root of Bitterness numerous are the Branches of Oppression that have sprung. Your most undoubted and highest-priz’d Rights have been invaded: Heavy and unnecessary Burthens have been imposed on you: Your Interests have been neglected, and sometimes wantonly sacrificed to the Interests, and even to the Caprice of others.
When you felt, for your Enemies have not yet made any Laws to divest you of feeling, Uneasiness under your Greivances, and expressed it in the natural Tone of Complaint; your Murmurs were considered and treated as the Language of Faction, and your Uneasiness was ascribed to a restive Disposition, impatient of Controll.

In Proportion, however, as your Oppressions were multiplied and increased, your Opposition to them became firm and vigourous.
Remonstrances succeeded Petitions: A Resolution carried into Effect, not to import Goods from Great Britain succeeded both. The Acts of Parliament then complained of were in Part, repealed. Your Good-Humour and unsuspicious Fondness returned. Short—alas! too short—was the Season allowed for indulging them. The former System of Rigour was renewed.

The Colonies, wearied with presenting fruitless Supplications and Petitions separately; or prevented, by arbitrary and abrupt Dissolu-tions of their Assemblies, from using even those fruitless Expedients for Redress, determined to join their Counsels and their Efforts. Many of the Injuries flowing from the unconstitutional and ill-advised Acts of the British Legislature, affected all the Provinces equally; and even in those Cases, in which the Injuries were confined, by the Acts, to one or to a few, the Principles, on which they were made, extended to all. If common Rights, common Interests, common Dangers and common Sufferings are Principles of Union, what could be more natural than the Union of the Colonies?

Delegates authorised by the several Provinces from Nova Scotia to Georgia to represent them and act in their Behalf, met in General Congress.

It has been objected, that this Measure was unknown to the Constitution; that the Congress was, of Consequence, an illegal Body; and that its Proceedings could not, in any Manner, be recognised by the Government of Britain. To those, who offer this Objection, and have attempted to vindicate, by its supposed Validity, the Neglect and Contempt, with which the Petition of that Congress to his Majesty was treated by the Ministry, we beg Leave, in our Turn, to propose, that they would explain the Principles of the Constitution, which warranted the Assembly of the Barons at Runningmeade, when Magna Charta was signed, the Convention-Parliament that recalled Charles 2d, and the Convention of Lords and Commons that placed King William on the Throne. When they shall have done this, we shall perhaps, be able to apply their Principles to prove the Necessity and Propriety of a Congress.

But the Objections of those, who have done so much and aimed so much against the Liberties of America, are not confined to the Meeting and the Authority of the Congress: They are urged with equal Warmth against the Votes and Inclinations of those who composed it. We are told, in the Name of Majesty itself, "that the Authors and Promoters of this desperate Conspiracy", as those who framed his Majesty's Speech are pleased to term our laudable Resistance; "have, in the Conduct of it, derived great Advantage from the Difference of his Majesty's Intentions and theirs. That they meant only to amuse by vague Expressions of Attachment to the Parent State, and the strongest Protestations of Loyalty to the King, whilst they were preparing for a general Revolt. That on the Part of his Majesty and the Parliament, the Wish was rather to reclaim than to subdue." It affords us some Pleasure to find that the Protestations of Loyalty to his Majesty, which have been made, are allowed to be strong; and that Attachment to the Parent State is owned to be expressed. Those Protestations of Loyalty and Expressions of Attachment ought, by every Rule of Candour, to be presumed to be sincere, unless Proofs evincing their Insincerity can be drawn from the Conduct of those who used them.

In examining the Conduct of those who directed the Affairs of the Colonies at the Time when, it is said, they were preparing for a general Revolt, we find it an easy Undertaking to shew, that they merited no Reproach from the British Ministry by making any Preparations for that Purpose. We wish it were as easy to shew, that they merited no Reproach from their Constituents, by neglecting the necessary Provisions for their Security. Has a single Preparation been made, which has not been found requisite for our Defense? Have we not been attacked in Places where fatal Experience taught us, we were not sufficiently prepared for a successful Opposition? On which Side of this unnatural Controversy was the ominous Intimation first given, that it must be decided by Force? Were Arms and Ammunition imported into America, before the Importation of them was prohibited? What Reason can be assigned for this Prohibition, unless it be this, that those who made it had determined upon such a System of Oppression, as they knew, would force the Colonies into Resistance? And yet, they “wished only to reclaim!”

The Sentiments of the Colonies, expressed in the Proceedings of their Delegates assembled in 1774 were far from being disloyal or disrespectful. Was it disloyal to offer a Petition to your Sovereign? Did your still are anxious Impatience for an Answer, which your Hopes, founded only on your Wishes, as you too soon experienced, flattered you would be a gracious one—did this Impatience indicate a Disposition only to amuse? Did the keen Anguish, with which the Fate of the Petition filled your Breasts, betray an Inclination to avail yourselves of the Indignity with which you were treated, for forwarding favourite Designs of Revolt?

Was the Agreement not to import Merchandise from Great Britain or Ireland; nor after the tenth Day of September last, to export our Produce to those Kingdoms and the West Indies—was this a disrespectful or an hostile Measure? Surely we have a Right to withdraw or to continue our own Commerce. Though the British Parliament have exercised a Power of directing and restraining our Trade; yet, among all their extraordinary Pretensions, we recollect no Instance of their attempting to force it contrary to our Inclinations. It was well known, before this Measure was adopted, that it would be detrimental to our own Interest, as well as to that of our fellow-Subjects. We
February, 1776

We deplored it on both Accounts. We deplored the Necessity that produced it. But we were willing to sacrifice our Interest to any probable Method of regaining the Enjoyment of those Rights, which, by Violence and Injustice, had been infringed.

Yet even this peaceful Expedient, which Faction surely never suggested, has been represented, and by high Authority too, as a seditious and unwarrantable Combination. We are, we presume, the first Rebels and Conspirators, who commenced their Conspiracy and Rebellion with a System of Conduct, immediately and directly frustrating every Aim, which Ambition or Rapaciousness could propose: Those, whose Fortunes are desperate, may upon slighted Evidence be charged with desperate Designs: But how improbable is it, that the Colonists, who have been happy, and have known their Happiness in the quiet Possession of their Liberties; who see no Situation more to be desired, than that, in which, till lately, they have been placed; and whose warmest Wish is to be re-instaled in the Enjoyment of that Freedom, which they claim and are entitled to as Men and as British Subjects—how improbable is it that such would, without any Motives that could tempt even the most profligate Minds to Crimes, plunge themselves headlong into all the Guilt and Danger and Distress with which those that endeavour to overturn the Constitution of their Country are always surrounded and frequently overwhelmed?

The humble unaspiring Colonists asked only for "Peace, Liberty and Safety". This, we think, was a reasonable Request: Reasonable as it was, it has been refused. Our ministerial Foes, dreading the Effects, which our commercial Opposition might have upon their favourite Plan of reducing the Colonies to Slavery, were determined not to hazard it upon that Issue. They employed military Force to carry it into Execution. Opposition of Force by Force, or unlimited Subjection was now our only Alternative. Which of them did it become Freemen determined never to surrender that Character, to choose? The Choice was worthily made. We wish for Peace—we wish for Safety: But we will not, to obtain either or both of them, part with our Liberty. The sacred Gift descended to us from our Ancestors: We cannot dispose of it: We are bound by the strongest Ties to transmit it, as we have received it, pure and inviolate to our Posterity.

We have taken up Arms in the best of Causes. We have adhered to the virtuous Principles of our Ancestors, who expressly stipulated, in their Favour, and in ours, a Right to resist every Attempt upon their Liberties. We have complied with our Engagements to our Sovereign. He should be the Ruler of a free People: We will not, as far as his Character depends upon us, permit him to be degraded into a Tyrant over Slaves.

Our Troops are animated with the Love of Freedom. They have fought and bled and conquered in the Discharge of their Duty as good Citizens as well as brave Soldiers. Regardless of the Inclemency of the Seasons, and of the Length and Fatigue of the March, they go, with Cheerfulness, wherever the Cause of Liberty and their Country requires their Service. We confess that they have not the Advantages arising from Experience and Discipline: But Facts have shewn, that native Courage warmed with Patriotism, is sufficient to counterbalance these Advantages. The Experience and Discipline of our Troops will daily increase: Their Patriotism will receive no Diminution: The longer those, who have forced us into this War, oblige us to continue it, the more formidable we shall become.¹

The Strength and Resources of America are not confined to Operations by Land. She can exert herself likewise by Sea. Her Sailors are hardy and brave: She has all the Materials for Ship-building; Her Artificers can work them into Form. We pretend not to vie with the Royal Navy of England though that Navy had its Beginnings: But still we may be able in a great Measure to defend our own Coasts, and may intercept, as we have been hitherto successful in doing, Transports and Vessels laden with Stores and Provisions.

Possessed of so many Advantages; favoured with the Prospect of so many more; Threatened with the Destruction of our constitutional Rights; cruelly and illiberally attacked, because we will not subscribe to our own Slavery; ought we to be animated with Vigour, or to sink into Despondency? When the Forms of our Governments are, by those entrusted with the Direction of them, perverted from their original Design; ought we to submit to this Perversion? Ought we to sacrifice the Forms, when the Sacrifice becomes necessary for preserving the Spirit of our Constitution? Or ought we to neglect and neglecting, to lose the Spirit by a superstititious Veneration for the Forms? We regard those Forms, and wish to preserve them as long as we can consistently with higher Objects: But much more do we regard essential Liberty, which, at all Events, we are determined not to lose, but with our Lives. In contending for this Liberty, we are willing to go through good Report, and through evil Report.

February, 1776

In our present Situation, in which we are called to oppose an Attack upon your Liberties, made under bold Pretensions of Authority from that Power, to which the executive Part of Government is, in the ordinary Course of Affairs, committed—in this Situation, every Mode of Resistance, though directed by Necessity and by Prudence, and authorised by the Spirit of the Constitution, will be exposed to plausible Objections drawn from its Forms. Concerning such Objections, and the Weight that may be allowed to them, we are little solicitous. It will not discourage us to find ourselves represented as “labouring to enflame the Minds of the People in America, and openly avowing Revolt, Hostility and Rebellion.” We deem it an Honour to “have raised Troops, and collected a naval Force”; and, clothed with the sacred Authority of the People, from whom all legitimate Authority proceeds “to have exercised legislative, executive and judicial Powers.” For what Purposes were those Powers instituted? For your Safety and Happiness. You and the World will judge whether those Purposes have been best promoted by us; or by those who claim the Powers, which they charge us with assuming.

But while we feel no Mortification at being misrepresented with Regard to the Measures employed by us for accomplishing the great Ends, which you have appointed us to pursue; we cannot sit easy under an Accusation, which charges us with laying aside those Ends, and endeavouring to accomplish such as are very different. We are accused of carrying on the War “for the Purpose of establishing an independent Empire”.

We disavow the Intention. We declare, that what we aim at, and what we are entrusted by our Constituents you to pursue, is the Defence and the Re-establishment of the constitutional Rights of the Colonies. Whoever gives impartial Attention to the Facts, we have already stated, and to the Observations we have already made, must be fully convinced that all the Steps, which have been taken by us in this unfortunate Struggle, can be accounted for as rationally and as satisfactorily by supposing that the Defence and Re-establishment of their Rights were the Objects which the Colonists and their Representatives had in View; as by supposing that an independent Empire was their Aim. Nay, we may safely go farther and affirm, without the most distant Apprehension of being refuted, that many of those Steps can be accounted for rationally and satisfactorily only upon the former Supposition, and cannot be accounted for, in that Manner, upon the latter. The numerous Expedients that were tried, though fruitlessly, for avoiding Hostilities: The visible and unfeigned Reluctance and Horrour, with which we entered into them: The Caution and Reserve, with which we have carried them on: The Attempts we have made by petitioning the Throne and by every other Method, which might probably, or could possibly be of any Avail for procuring an Accommodation—These are not surely the usual Characteristics of Ambition.

In what Instance have we been the Aggressors? Did our Troops take the Field before the ministerial Forces began their hostile March to Lexington and Concord? Did we take Possession, or did we form any Plan for taking Possession of Canada, before we knew that it was a Part of the ministerial System to pour the Canadians upon our Frontiers? Did we approach the Canadians, or have we treated them as Enemies? Did we take the Management of the Indian Tribes into our Hands, before we were well assured that the Emissaries of Administration were busy in persuading them to strike us? When we treated with them, did we imitate the barbarous Example? Were not our Views and Persuasions confined to keeping them in a State of Neutrality? Did we seise any Vessel of our Enemies, before our Enemies had seised some of ours? Had we yet seised any, except such as were employed in the Service of Administration, and in supplying those that were in actual Hostilities against us? Cannot our whole Conduct be reconciled to Principles and Views of Self-Defence? Whence then the uncandid Imputation of aiming at an independent Empire?

Is no regard to be had to the Professions and Protestations made by us, on so many different Occasions, of Attachment to Great Britain of Allegiance to his Majesty; and of Submission to his Government upon the Terms, on which the Constitution points it out as a Duty, and on which alone a British Sovereign has a Right to demand it?

When the Hostilities commenced by the ministerial Forces in Massachusetts Bay, and the imminent Dangers threatening the other Colonies rendered it absolutely necessary that they should be put into a State of Defence—even on that Occasion, we did not forget our Duty to his Majesty, and our Regard for our fellow Subjects in Britain. Our Words are these: “But as we most ardently wish for a Restoration of the Harmony formerly subsisting between our Mother-Country and these Colonies, the Interruption of which must at all Events, be exceedingly injurious to both Countries: Resolved, that with a sincere Design of contributing, by all Means in our Power, not incompatible with a just Regard for the undoubted Rights and true

Interests of these Colonies, to the Promotion of this most desirable Reconciliation, an humble and dutiful Address be presented to his Majesty.

If Purposes of establishing an independent Empire has lurked in our Breasts, no fitter Occasion could have been found for giving Intimations of them, than in our Declaration setting forth the Causes and Necessity of our taking up Arms. Yet even there no Pretence can be found for fixing such an Imputation on us. “Lest this Declaration should disquiet the Minds of our Friends and fellow Subjects in any Part of the Empire, we assure them that we mean not to dissolve that Union, which has so long and so happily subsisted between us, and which we sincerely wish to see restored. Necessity has not yet driven us into that desperate Measure, or induced us to excite any other Nation to war against them. We have not raised Armies with the ambitious Designs of separating from Great Britain, and establishing independent States.” Our Petition to the King has the following Asseveration: “By such Arrangements as your Majesty’s Wisdom can form for collecting the united Sense of your American People, we are convinced your Majesty would receive such satisfactory Proofs of the Disposition of the Colonists towards their Sovereign and the Parent State, that the wished for Opportunity would be soon restored to them, of evincing the Sincerity of their Professions by every Testimony of Devotion becoming the most dutiful Subjects and the most affectionate Colonists.” In our Address to the Inhabitants of Great Britain, we say: “We are accused of aiming at Independence: But how is this Accusation supported? By the Allegations of your Ministers, not by our Actions. Give us Leave, most solemnly to assure you, that we have not yet lost Sight of the Object we have ever had in View, a Reconciliation with you on constitutional Principles, and a Restoration of that friendly Intercourse, which to the Advantage of both we till lately maintained.”

If we wished to detach you from your Allegiance to his Majesty, and to wean your Affections from a Connexion with your fellow-Subjects in Great Britain, is it likely that we would take so much Pains, upon every proper Occasion, to place those Objects before you in the most agreeable Points of View?

If any equitable Terms of Accommodation had been offered us, and we had rejected them, there would have been some Foundation for the Charge that we endeavoured to establish an independent Empire. But no Means have been used either by Parliament or by Administration for the Purpose of bringing this Contest to a Conclusion besides Penalties directed by Statutes, or Devastations occasioned by War. Alas! how long will Britons forget that Kindred-Blood flows in your Veins? How long will they strive, with hostile Fury to sluice it out from Bosoms that have already bled in their Cause; and, in their Cause, would still be willing to pour out what remains, to the last precious Drop?

We are far from being insensible of the Advantages, which have resulted to the Colonies as well as to Britain from the Connexion which has hitherto subsisted between them: We are far from denying them, or wishing to lessen the Ideas of their Importance. But the Nature of this Connexion, and the Principles, on which it was originally formed and on which alone it can be maintained, seem unhappily to have been misunderstood or disregarded by those, who laid and conducted the late destructive Plan of Colony-Administration. It is a Connexion founded upon mutual Benefits; upon Religion, Laws, Manners, Customs and Habits common to both Countries. Arbitrary Exertions of Power on the Part of Britain, and servile Submission on the [part of the] Colonies, if the Colonies should ever become degenerate enough to [accept] it, would immediately rend every generous Bond asunder. An intimate Connexion between Freemen and Slaves cannot be continued without Danger and, at last, Destruction to the former. Should your Enemies be able to reduce you to Slavery, the baneful Contagion would spread over the whole Empire. We verily believe that the Freedom, Happiness, and Glory of Great Britain, and the Prosperity of his Majesty and his Family depend upon the Success of your Resistance. You are now expending your Blood, and your Treasure in promoting the Welfare and true Interests of your Sovereign and your fellow-Subjects in Britain, in Opposition to the most dangerous Attacks that have been ever made against them.

The Ideas of deriving Emolument to the Mother Country by taxing you, and depriving you of your Constitutions and Liberties were not introduced till lately. The Experiments, to which those Ideas have given Birth, have proved disastrous: The Voice of Wisdom calls loudly that they should be laid aside. Let them not, however, be removed from View. They may serve as Beacons to prevent future Shipwrecks.

Britain and these Colonies have been Blessings to each other. Sure we are, that they might continue to be so. Some salutary System might certainly be devised, which would remove from both Sides, Jealousies that are ill-founded, and the Causes of Jealousies that are well-founded; which would restore to both Countries those important Benefits that Nature seems to have intended them reciprocally to confer and to receive; and which would secure the Continuance and the Encrease of those Benefits to numerous succeeding Generations. That such a System may be formed is our ardent Wish.

But as such a System must affect the Interest of the Colonies as much as that of the Mother-Country, why should the Colonies be excluded from a Voice in it? Should not, to say the least upon this Subject, their Consent be asked and obtained as to the general Ends, which it ought to be calculated to answer? Why should not its Validity depend upon us as well as upon the Inhabitants of Great Britain? No Disadvantage will result to them: An important Advantage will result to [us]. We shall be affected by no Laws, the Authority of which, as far as they regard us, is not founded on our own Consent. This Consent may be expressed as well by a solemn Compact, as if the Colonists, by their Representatives, had an immediate Voice in passing the Laws. In a Compact we would concede liberally to Parliament: For the Bounds of our Concessions would be known.

We are too much attached to the English Laws and Constitution, and know too well their happy Tendency to diffuse Freedom, Prosperity and Peace wherever they prevail, to desire an independent Empire. If one Part of the Constitution be pulled down, it is impossible to foretell whether the other Parts of it may not be shaken, and, perhaps overthrown. It is a Part of our Constitution to be under Allegiance to the Crown, Limited and ascertained as the Prerogative is, the Position—that a King can do no wrong—may be founded in Fact as well as in Law, if you are not wanting to yourselves.

We trace your Calamities to the House of Commons. They have undertaken to give and grant your Money. From a supposed virtual Representation in their House it is argued, that you ought to be bound by the Acts of the British Parliament in all Cases whatever. This is no Part of the Constitution. This is the Doctrine, to which we will never subscribe our Assent: This is the Claim, to which we adjure you, as you tender your own Freedom and Happiness, and the Freedom and Happiness of your Posterity, never to submit. The same Principles, which directed your Ancestors to oppose the exorbitant and dangerous Pretensions of the Crown, should direct you to oppose the no less exorbitant and dangerous Claims of the House of Commons.
Let all Communication of despotic Power through that Channel be cut off, and your Liberties will be safe.

Let neither our Enemies nor our Friends make improper Inferences from the Solicitude, which we have discovered to remove the Imputation of aiming to establish an independent Empire. Though an independent Empire is not our Wish; it may—let your Oppressors attend—it may be the Fate of our Countrymen and ourselves. It is in the Power of your Enemies to render Independency or Slavery your and our Alternative. Should we—will you, in such an Event, hesitate a Moment about the Choice! Let those, who drive us to it, answer to their King and to their Country for the Consequences. We are desirous to continue Subjects: But we are determined to continue Freeman. We shall deem ourselves bound to renounce; and, we hope, you will follow our Example in renouncing the former Character whenever it shall become incompatible with the latter.

While we shall be continued by you in the very important Trust, which you have committed to us, we shall keep our Eyes constantly and steadily fixed upon the Grand Object of the Union of the Colonies—the Re-establishment and Security of their Constitutional Rights. Every Measure that we employ shall be directed to the Attainment of this great End: No Measure, necessary, in our Opinion, for attaining it, shall be declined. If any such Measure should, against our principal Intention, draw the Colonies into Engagements that may suspend or dissolve their Union with their fellow-Subjects in Great Britain, we shall lament the Effect; but shall hold ourselves justified in adopting the Measure. That the Colonies may continue connected, as they have been, with Britain, is our second Wish: Our first is—that America may be free.

Resolved, That Captain Gordon, upon giving his parole, be permitted, while he remains in Town, to visit General Prescott at proper seasons.

1 This report, in the writing of James Wilson, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 24, folios 217–222.

“This address was drawn by Mr. Wilson who informed the transcriber that it was meant to lead the public mind into the idea of Independence, of which the necessity was plainly foreseen by Congress: but that before it could be carried through Congress, the language became evidently short of the subsisting maturity for that measure, and the address was in consequence dropped.” Note by James Madison to a copy of this paper in his Note Book, No. 1.

Application being made by some of the master carpenters employed in building the continental frigates, to some members of this house, informing, that about fifty of their journeymen and apprentices had engaged as volunteers to to march with the battalion of associators for New York, and that their zeal for the public service is such, that they cannot be persuaded to desist by any arguments or influence of said builders:

Resolved, That the spirit and zeal of the said journeymen and apprentices is highly approved of by Congress; but, nevertheless, it is the opinion of this Congress, that the public will be more essentially served by the said associators continuing at their work on the said continental frigates; and that, therefore, all the carpenters, journeymen, and apprentices, employed as aforesaid, be requested to remain in that service, as there is no doubt but other associators will compleat the number wanted.

The Congress resolved itself into a committee of the whole, to take into consideration the report of the committee on the regulations and restrictions under which the ports shall be opened after the first of March next; and, after some time spent thereon, the president resumed the chair, and Mr. [Samuel] Ward reported, that the Committee had taken into consideration the matter referred to them, but not having come to a conclusion, desired leave to sit again.

Resolved, That this Congress will, to Morrow, resolve itself into a committee of the whole, to take into farther consideration, the report of the committee on the regulations and restrictions of trade after the first of March next.

The Committee of Correspondence, who were ordered to confer with the gentleman from Canada, brought in their report, which was read:

The Committee of secret Correspondence report that they have conferred with the Person just arriv'd from Canada, and find that he was furnish'd with a Passport from Gen. Wooster, containing Orders for his Travelling at the Publick Expence; with another Pass from Gen. Schuyler to the same Purpose, and one from the Committee of Kings- ton, who sent a Guide with him hither. That he has been engag'd in the American Service ever since the Appearance of our Forces in that Country, of which he is a Native; and being as he says well acquainted with the Sentiments and way of Thinking of his Countrymen, his Intention in undertaking this Journey was to give the Congress true Information on that Subject. He says that when the Canadians first heard of the Dispute they were generally on the American side; but that by the Influence of the Clergy and the Noblesse, who have been continually preaching and persuading them against us, they are now brought into a State of Suspence or Uncertainty which Side to follow. That Papers printed by the Tories at New York have been read to them by the Priests, assuring them that our Design was to deprive them of their Religion as well as their Possessions. That the Letters we have address’d to them have made little Impression, the common People being generally unable to read, and the Priests and Gentry who read them to others, explain them in such a Manner as best answers their own purpose of prejudicing the People against us. That he therefore thinks it would be of great Service if some Persons from the Congress were to appear in sent to Canada, to explain viva voce to the People there the Nature of our Dispute with England, which they do not well understand, and to satisfy the Gentry and Clergy that we have no Intention against their Interests, but mean to leave put Canada in full Possession of Liberty, desiring only their Friendship and Union with us as good Neighbours and Brethren. That the Clergy and Gentry might, he thinks, by this means be brought over, and would be follow’d by all Canada. And unless some such Measure is taken, he is of Opinion our Affairs there will meet with continual Difficulty and Obstruction.

He left Montreal the 20th past; says our Troops continued to invest Quebec; that he had heard of no Sally made by the Garrison; but was inform’d by an Ecclesiastick who came out of that Town 15 Days before, that the Inhabitants were in great Distress for Fewel, and reduc’d to one Fire for 6 or 7 Families. That Flesh and Flour was also scarce; but they had plenty of Corn, which not having Means to grind they boil’d to subsist on. That on his Route he met several Parties of our Reinforcements marching towards Canada. That Lake Champlain is frozen and passable, but Lake George not yet. He adds that there is great Jealousy in Canada, of our Paper Money.

He offers to carry safely any Despatches the Congress may have to send into that Country.¹

Resolved, That the consideration of it be referred till to Morrow.

¹This report, in the writing of Benjamin Franklin, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 22, folio 211. It bears an endorsement, apparently of a later date, "Monsr. Prudenc la Jeunesse and Danermond;" and from copies of the passports, in the same volume, folios 213 and 215, the names are derived, viz: Prudent La Jeunesse and John Danermond.
The committee appointed to consider the best method of subsisting the troops in New York, laid their report on the table.
Adjourned to 10 o’Clock to Morrow.

¹ "This measure of opening the ports, &c. labored exceedingly, because it was considered as a bold step to independence. Indeed, I urged it expressly with that view, and as connected with the institution of government in all the States, and a declaration of national independence. The party against me had art and influence as yet, to evade, retard, and delay every motion that we made. Many motions were made, and argued at great length, and with great spirit on both sides, which are not to be found in the Journals. When motions were made and debates ensued in a committee of the Whole House, no record of them was made by the secretary, unless the motion prevailed and was reported to Congress, and there adopted. This arrangement was convenient for the party in opposition to us, who by this means evaded the appearance, on the Journals, of any subject they disliked." ¹“As New York was thought to be in a critical state, and no recommendation had appeared from our Committee of Safety or the officers of the four battalions, it occasioned much surprise and uneasiness, and the only apology I was able to make, viz., the expectation of a meeting of the Convention, and the utility of their advice, (which, indeed, depended on my own conjecture,) did not prove satisfactory. It was said that, while everything was done for New York at the publick expense that could be wished or asked, they neglected their own defence, &c. The Committee appointed to consider the Petition of "the Committee appointed by those who suffered by the late inhuman burning of the Town of Falmouth," beg Leave to report

That the late Inhabitants of the said Town, by their spirited and patriotic Refusal to comply with the Terms insisted upon by Henry Mowat Commander of his Majesty's Ship Canceau to destroy the said Town unless they would deliver up their Arms and Ammunition and send him four hostages in performance thereof, (in consequence of which Refusal most of their houses and other Buildings were by him entirely destroyed, and part of their Effects together with every Vessel in the harbour except two which were carried off by the Enemy) are reduced to great Distress, and entitled to the Charitable Relief of their Brethren of America engaged in the same common Cause.

Your Committee is of opinion that their Distress may be alleviated either by the Congress recommending to the several Conventions and Committees a Subscription for their Relief, or by ordering a competent sum for that purpose out of the continental Treasury, but conceiving the first to be an unequal Tax upon the more generous and humane, and too slow in its Execution for the immediate Redress of the Sufferers; and the latter productive of a dangerous Precedent, Do therefore submit it to Congress to adopt such mode of Relief as shall appear to them attended with the least Inconvenience.²

Ordered, That the above be published.

¹This resolve was framed, debated and passed in consequence of a letter of General Charles Lee, dated March 5, received and debated this day. The resolution was printed in the Pennsylvania Gazette, 13 March, 1776.

General Lee informed Congress, by letter, that he had imposed a Test upon the inhabitants of our Colony, in order to ascertain their political principles. However salutary such a measure might be, when grounded on a legal and constitutional basis, we were much alarmed that it should owe its authority to any military officer, however distinguished for his zeal, his rank, his accomplishments, and services. We considered it as one of the most solemn and important acts of legislation, and a high encroachment upon your rights as the Representatives of a free people. We could not, therefore, be silent upon so momentous a point, though we were not favoured with your sentiments or instructions, nor informed of what, or whether anything had passed between you and the General respecting the disaffected inhabitants. We took up the subject on general principles. There can be no liberty where the military is not subordinate to the civil power in everything not immediately connected with their operations. Your House, the natural and proper tribunal for all civil matters within the circle of your own jurisdiction, was assembled, and Congress itself within the General’s reach, ready to enforce every reasonable proposition for the publick safety. To one or other be ought to have applied. A similar effort in Rhode Island had passed over unnoticed; reiterated precedents must become dangerous; we therefore conceived it to be our unquestionable duty to assert the independence and superiority of the civil power, and to call the attention of Congress to this unwarrantable invasion of its rights by one of their officers. A resolution passed in consequence, on the 8th [9th] of March, that no oath, by way of test, be imposed upon, exacted, or required of any inhabitant of these Colonies by any military officer; and it was ordered to be immediately published. We flatter ourselves that our conduct on this occasion will meet with your approbation.” New York Delegates to the New York Committee of Safety, 1 March, 1776. Force, American Archives, Fourth Series, V, 1392.
Resolved, That the Secret Committee be directed to deliver one ton of powder to the delegates of Maryland, for the public service in that colony.

The Committee to whom the letter from Colonel Moses Hazen, and the report of persons appointed to state the account of losses and damages sustained by him in Canada, were referred, brought in their report, which being taken into consideration was agreed to as follows:

It appears to your committee that the loss and damage sustained by Colonel Hazen in Canada, have not been estimated with sufficient accuracy; that some of the articles enumerated in the inventory are presumed to be over rated, the quantities of several others reducible to exactness in number, weight, or measure, are not ascertained, and the reasons for the knowledge or belief of any of them by the witnesses are not explicit enough in their examinations; that, although the grain, grass and hay mentioned in the account are admitted by Colonel Hazen, in his letter, to have been partly destroyed by the ministerial troops, the whole value is extended; that the estimates of the crops are so general, it cannot be discovered by what rule they were formed, or to what standard adjusted; that the damages done to the dwelling house, stone house, out-houses, barn, and farms, are not particularized or specified; that a considerable part of what a reimbursement is claimed for, is household furniture, wearing apparel, tools, utensils, cables, and anchors, suggested to have been plundered by the troops of the United Colonies, and the Canadians who joined them; and your committee believe no reparation of the like kind hath yet been made by Congress; and that the profits which might have been made of the mills and houses, if the owner had not been deprived of the use of them, being merely contingent and conjectural, are such as have not usually been made good in similar cases: Whereupon,

Resolved, That the commissioners who are going to Canada be desired to appoint proper persons to examine, state and settle an account of the loss and damage Colonel Hazen hath sustained in his property and possessions in Canada, by the forces of the United Colonies, and report the same, with any special matters they may think fit, to Congress; annexing to their report the estimates, examinations of witnesses, and other papers relative thereto.¹

Resolved, That if any of the gentlemen appointed field officers in the four battalions raising in New York, for the defence of that colony, are provided for in Canada, they be directed to continue there, exercising the offices to which they are appointed, and that others be elected in their room, in the four battalions aforesaid; and that such of them as are not provided for in Canada, be directed immediately to repair to their respective battalions.

The committee appointed to confer with General Lee respecting the defence of New York, brought in their report, ||which was read: Whereupon,||

The command of the passage of the Sound must be ours. this I imagine is already effected by the works thrown up at Horne Hook; but as a farther security, batteries and a redoubt must be erected on the other side, either in 1 Island or on the Continent of Long Island, as the Engineer and succeeding General shall determine. these additional works are not solely meant to shut up to the Enemy the passage through the sound, but to secure a free open and easy communication to our own Troops betwixt the Continent of New York and Long Island. As the City of New York is almost environ’d by navigable waters it is undoubtedly very difficult to fortify it against a powerful sea armament; but still I am of opinion that although Troops cannot easily be prevented landing under the Guns of their shipping, they may be prevented lodging themselves in it, or converting it into a great place of arms as they have done Boston. the East River, I am almost persuaded, may be secure’d in such a manner that their Ships will scarcely venture into it, or at least they cannot keep their stations when in. a Battery for this purpose is plan’d and in some forwardness at the foot of the Jews burying ground, to protect this Battery from the near approach of Ships (which when close are always supposed to be an over match for Batteries level with the water and in a low situation) Guns in barbet placed on the heights of the Jews burying ground, with when in correspondence with a Battery I have ordered on an opposite commanding knoll in Long Island, will certainly be sufficient. these two fires will likewise be cross’d by a third of very considerable range from a work in the front of our trench’d Camp in Long Island, which work is likewise answered by a Battery sunk in a celler on the opposite Wharfe. such is our plan with respect to the east River, having attentively examined the Fort and great Batteries under it and consider’d whether they cou’d be of any possible use to us. I am of opinion that as Ships of great Burthen can approach so near the latter it will be dangerous if not impracticable to support them.

The Fort cannot for the same reason be defended, but as it is not possible in our hands to render it a fortification of offence against the Enimy, it might in their possession be converted into a Citadel to keep the Town in subjection. These considerations have induc’d me to throw down the north East and North West Bastions, with the communicating Curtain, so that being entirely open behind, and a commanding Traverse thrown across the Broad Way with three Guns mounted, renders it it is impossible for the Enimy to lodge themselves in and repair the Fort. The north River is so extremely wide and deep that it is in vain to think of any means to prevent the men of war commanding the navigation of it, but it does not appear to me, that they have it in their power to annoy a great deal dangerously the Town, much less to destroy it. It is true an accidental shell may do great mischief, but the effects of their Cannon are not I think much to be apprehended for there is a most fortunate ridge of Eminence which not only serves as a screen of protection for the Town but on which any number of Batteries may be erected to keep the Ships at a distance. I must observe once for all that New York from its circumstances can with difficulty be made a regular tenable fortification, but it may be made a most advantageous field of Battle, so advantageous indeed, that if our people behave with common spirit, and the Commanders are men of discretion, it must cost the Enemy many thousands of men to get possession of it. The Streets must be traversed and barricadoed, so as to prevent their coming on our Flanks. three Redoubts thrown up on the three eminences Judge Jones, Bayards Hill, and either Lispenards or Halderman's house on Hudson's River, but these measures are not to be confin'd to the Town, the whole Island is to be redoubled in certain regular steps (if I may so express it) quite to Kings Bridge, these redoubts redans or Fiches are easily thrown up and are no expence. the leading roads from Hudson's River whence the Enemy can alone approach must be obstructed to artillery. Kings Bridge must be strongly fortified to preserve the communication free and open with Connecticut, on which Province you can alone depend for succours of men, for the Breadth and depth of the north River renders the Communication with Jersey too precarious. The possession and security of Long Island is certainly of still greater importance than New York. I have accordingly marked out a Camp fortified by a Chain of Redoubts mutually supporting each other, and which also corresponding with the Batteries on the New York side will prevent the Enemies entering or remaining in the east River. This Camp is intended to contain four or five thousand men; upon the whole for the defence of Long Island and New York eight thousand, at least, regular Troops will be necessary. With respect to the Fort on Hudson's River in the high Land I must refer the Congress to the report of Capt. Smith who was sent up to examine and who is extremely capable to judge and advise. I have now in a military capacity to the best of my recollection mentioned every circumstance relative to the Defence and security of New York and Long Island, but think it my duty to observe that all these measures will be totally fruitless unless some precautions are taken with respect to the profess'd Enemies of American Liberty nested in the very spots where they can do the greatest mischief Queens County and Staten Island. The Bonds they have given are too ridiculous to be mentioned, the association they have signed they consider as forced upon 'em, and consequently null. When our own Troops are obliged to remain inactive from want of arms, when from this deficiency the Canada Expedition is at a stand, New York and Long Island left open to the invasions of the Enimy, is it not a most dangerous neglect, omission, or rather unaccountable infatuation, to suffer considerable Bodies of avowed Foes to be possessed of arms for your destruction? what possible advantage can result from such a false delicacy? I wou’d therefore humbly propose that the Inhabitants of Staten Island shou’d be without loss of time be disarm’d and their arms delivered to some Regiment already raised but unfurnished with muskets. I do not imagine that the disarming the Tories will incapacitate them Forces from acting against us, as they can easily be supplied by the Ships. I shou’d therefore think it prudent to take secure their Children as Hostages if a measure of this kind (hard as it may appear) is not adopted, the Childrens Children of america may be rue the fatal omission

Resolved, That eight thousand men be ordered for the defence of the colony of New York.

Resolved, That orders issue to Colonel Irvine, immediately to march with his batallion to New York, and put himself under the command of the officer commanding there.

That Colonel Dayton be like wise ordered with his batallion to march to New York, and join the forces there.

A letter from General Prescot of 14th, was laid before Congress, and read:

1 The original, in the writing of William Whipple (?), with a few words inserted by General Lee, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 21, folio 11.

General Lee sent to Washington the following account of earlier conferences held with a Committee of the Congress:

"The Congress Committee, a certain number of the Committee of Safety, and your humble servant, have had two Conferences. The result of these conferences is such as will agreeably surprise you. It is in the first place, agreed, and justly, that to fortify the town against shipping is impracticable; but we are to fortify lodgements, in some commanding part of the City, for two thousand men. We are to erect enclosed batteries on both sides the water, near Hellgate, which will answer, the double purpose of securing the town against piracies through the Sound, and secure our communication with Long Island, now become a more capital point than ever, as it is determined to form a strong fortified camp of three thousand men in that island, immediately opposite to New York. The pass in the Highlands is to be made as respectable as possible, and guarded by a battalion. In short I think the plan judicious and complete." Lee to Washington, 5 February, 1776.

Resolved, That the committee on prisoners be directed to confer with General Prescot on the subject of his letter, and report to Congress.

Mr. W[illiam] Livingston, pursuant to leave granted, brought in a resolution for appointing a fast, which ||being taken into consideration,|| was agreed to as follows:

In times of impending calamity and distress; when the liberties of America are imminenty endangered by the secret machinations and open assaults of an insidious and vindictive administration, it becomes the indispensable duty of these hitherto free and happy colonies, with true penitence of heart, and the most reverent devotion, publicly to acknowledge the over ruling providence of God; to confess and deplore our offences against him; and to supplicate his interposition for averting the threatened danger, and prospering our strenuous efforts in the cause of freedom, virtue, and posterity.

The Congress, therefore, considering the warlike preparations of the British Ministry to subvert our invaluable rights and privileges, and to reduce us by fire and sword, by the savages of the wilderness, and our own domestics, to the most abject and ignominious bondage: Desirous, at the same time, to have people of all ranks and degrees duly impressed with a solemn sense of God's superintending providence, and of their duty, devoutly to rely, in all their lawful enterprizes, on his aid and direction, Do earnestly recommend, that Friday, the Seventeenth day of May next, be observed by the said colonies as a day of humiliation, fasting, and prayer; that we may, with united hearts, confess and bewail our manifold sins and transgressions, and, by a sincere repentance and amendment of life, appease his righteous displeasure, and, through the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ, obtain his pardon and forgiveness; humbly imploring his assistance to frustrate the cruel purposes of our unnatural enemies; and by inclining their hearts to justice and benevolence, prevent the further effusion of kindred blood. But if, continuing deaf to the voice of reason and humanity, and inflexibly bent on desolation and war, they constrain us to repel their hostile invasions by open resistance, that it may please the Lord of Hosts, the God of Armies, to animate our officers and soldiers with invincible fortitude, to guard and protect them in the day of battle, and to crown the continental arms, by sea and land, with victory and success: Earnestly beseeching him to bless our civil rulers, and the representatives of the people, in their several assemblies and conventions; to preserve and strengthen their union, to inspire them with an ardent, disinterested love of their country; to give wisdom and stability to their counsels; and direct them to the most efficacious measures for establishing the rights of America on the most honourable and permanent basis—That he would be graciously pleased to bless all his people in these colonies with health and plenty, and grant that a spirit of incorruptible patriotism, and of pure unde-filed religion, may universally prevail; and this continent be speedily restored to the blessings of peace and liberty, and enabled to transmit them inviolate to the latest posterity. And it is recommended to Christians of all denominations, to assemble for public worship, and abstain from servile labour on the said day.

The members chosen, Mr. [James] Duane, Mr. R[ichard] H[enry] Lee, and Mr. [Thomas] Johnson.

Resolved, That the sum of 3,000 dollars be advanced to Colonel Magaw, for the purpose of purchasing fire arms for his battalion,  he to be accountable.

Resolved, That Colonel Magaw be directed to have a pike or spear made, and to lay the same before Congress, with an account of the cost.

The Congress resumed the consideration of the instructions and commission to the commissioners appointed to go to Canada, which being debated by paragraphs, were agreed to, as follows:

Instructions, &c.

Gentlemen,

You are, with all convenient despatch, to repair to Canada, and make known to the people of that country, the wishes and intentions of the Congress with respect to them.

Represent to them, that the arms of the United Colonies, having been carried into that province for the purpose of frustrating the designs of the British court against our common liberties, we expect not only to defeat the hostile machinations of Governor Carleton against us, but that we shall put it into the power of our Canadian brethren, to pursue such measures for securing their own freedom and happiness, as a generous love of liberty and sound policy shall dictate to them.

Inform them, that in our judgment, their interests and ours are inseparably united; That it is impossible we can be reduced to a servile submission to Great Britain without their sharing our fate: And, on the other hand, if we shall obtain, as we doubt not we shall, a full establishment of our rights, it depends wholly on their choice, whether they will participate with us in those blessings, or still remain subject to every act of tyranny, which British ministers shall please to exercise over them. Urge all such arguments as your prudence shall suggest, to enforce our opinion concerning the mutual interest of the two countries, and to convince them of the impossibility of the war being concluded to the disadvantage of these colonies, if we wisely and vigorously co-operate with each other.

To convince them of the uprightness of our intentions towards them, you are to declare, that it is our inclination, that the people of Canada may set up such a form of government, as will be most likely, in their judgment, to produce their happiness: And you are, in the strongest terms, to assure them, that it is our earnest desire to adopt them into our union, as a sister colony, and to secure the same general system of mild and equal laws for them and for ourselves, with only such local differences as may be agreeable to each colony respectively.

Assure the people of Canada, that we have no apprehension that the French will take any part with Great Britain; but, that it is their interest, and we have reason to believe their inclination, to cultivate a friendly intercourse with these colonies.

You are from this, and such other reasons as may appear most proper, to urge the necessity the people are under of immediately taking some decisive step, to put themselves under the protection of the United Colonies. For expediting such a measure, you are to explain to them our method of collecting the sense of the people, and conducting our affairs regularly by committees of observation and inspection in the several districts, and by conventions and committees of safety in the several colonies. Recommend these modes to them. Explain to them the nature and principles of government among freemen; developing, in contrast to those, the base, cruel, and insidious designs involved in the late act of parliament, for making a more effectual provision for the government of the province of Quebec. Endeavour to stimulate them by motives of glory, as well as interest, to assume a part in a contest, by which they must be deeply affected; And to aspire to a portion of that power, by which they are ruled; and not to remain the mere spoils and prey of conquerors and lords.

You are further to declare, that we hold sacred the rights of conscience, and may promise to the whole people, solemnly in our name, the free and undisturbed exercise of their religion; and, to the clergy, the full, perfect, and peaceable possession and enjoyment of all their estates; that the government of every thing relating to their religion and clergy, shall be left entirely in the hands of the good people of that province, and such legislature as they shall constitute; Provided, however, that all other denominations of Christians be equally entitled to hold offices, and enjoy civil privileges, and the free exercise of their religion, and be totally exempt from the payment of any tythes or taxes for the support of any religion.

Inform them, that you are vested, by this Congress, with full powers to effect these purposes; and, therefore, press them to have a complete representation of the people assembled in convention, with all possible expedition, to deliberate concerning the establish-ment of a form of government, and a union with the United Colonies. As to the terms of the union, insist on the propriety of their being similar to those on which the other colonies unite. Should they object to this, report to this Congress those objections, and the terms on which alone they will come into our Union. Should they agree to our terms, you are to promise in the names of the United Colonies, that we will defend and protect the people of Canada against all enemies, in the same manner as we will defend and protect any of the United Colonies.

You are to establish a free press, and to give directions for the frequent publication of such pieces as may be of service to the cause of the United Colonies.

You are to settle all disputes between the Canadians and the continental troops, and to make such regulations relating thereto, as you shall judge proper.

You are to make a strict and impartial enquiry into the cause of the imprisonment of Colonel Du Fee, Lieutenant Colonel Nefeu, Major
St. George Du Pres, and Major Gray, officers of the militia, and of John Frazer, Esq. late a judge of the police at Montreal, and take such orders concerning them as you shall judge most proper.

In reforming any abuses you may observe in Canada, establishing and enforcing regulations for preservation of peace and good order there, and composing differences between the troops of the United Colonies and the Canadians, all officers and soldiers are required to yield obedience to you; and, to enforce the decisions that you or any two of you may make, you are empowered to suspend any military officer from the exercise of his commission, till the pleasure of the Congress shall be known, if you, or any two of you, shall think it expedient.

You are also empowered to sit and vote as members of councils of war, in directing fortifications and defences to be made, or to be demolished, by land or water; and to draw orders upon the president for any sums of money, not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars in the whole, to defray the expense of the works.

Lastly, you are by all the means you can use, to promote the execution of the resolutions now made, or hereafter to be made, in Congress.¹

On motion made, Resolved, That the following additional Instructions be given to the commissioners aforesaid:

You are empowered and directed to promote and encourage the trade of Canada with the Indian Nations, and to grant passports for carrying it on as far as it may consist with the safety of the troops, and the public good.

You are also directed and authorized to assure the inhabitants of Canada, that their commerce with foreign nations shall, in all respects, be put on an equal footing with, and encouraged and protected in the same manner, as the trade of the United Colonies.

You are also directed to use every wise and prudent measure to introduce and give credit and circulation to the continental money in Canada.

In case the former resolution of Congress respecting the English American troops in Canada, has not been carried into effect, you are directed to use your best endeavours to form a battalion of the New York troops in that country, and to appoint the field and other officers out of the gentlemen who have continued there during the campaign, according to their respective ranks and merit. And, if it should be found impracticable, you are to direct such of them as are provided for in the four battalions now raising in New York, to repair to their respective corps. To enable you to carry this resolution into effect, you are furnished with blank commissions, signed by the president.

Resolved, That the memorial from the Indian traders, residing at Montreal, be delivered to the Commissioners going to Canada.

The draught of the commission being taken into consideration, and debated by paragraphs, was agreed to as follows:

The delegates of the United Colonies of New Hampshire, &c. to Benjamin Franklin, LL. D. member of the royal Academy of sciences at Paris, F. R. S. &c. &c. one of the delegates of the colony of Pennsylvania; Samuel Chase, Esq. one of the delegates of the colony of Maryland, and Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, in the said colony of Maryland, Esq. greeting: Know ye, that we, reproving especial trust and confidence in your zeal, fidelity, abilities, and assiduity, do, by these presents, constitute and appoint you, or any two of you, commissioners for and on behalf of us, and all the people of the United Colonies, whom we represent, to promote, or to form an union between the said colonies and the people of Canada, according to the instructions herewith delivered you, and such as you may hereafter receive; and to execute all such matters and things as you are or shall be directed by your said instructions. And we do require all officers, soldiers, and others, who may facilitate your negotiation, or promote the success thereof, to aid and assist you therein; and you are from time to time, to transmit and report your proceedings to Congress. This commission to continue in force until revoked by this or a future Congress.

A letter from General Schuyler of the 7, with a return of the forces before Quebec, was ||laid before Congress, and|| read:²

¹ "The act of Parliament prohibiting all Trade & Commerce between Great Britain and the Colonies has been lately brought here by a Mr. Temple from London, it makes all American property found on the Sea liable to Seizure & confiscation and I fear it will make the Breach between the two Countries so wide as never more to be reconciled, we have heard much talk of Commissioners to be sent to treat with us, I do not expect any, the act of Parliament empowers the Navy to appoint Commissioners to receive submissions and grant pardons but no further. Doctor Franklin told me last evening he had a Letter from London dated the 25th December, no Commissioners were then appointed, parliament was prorogued to 25th of January, I see no prospect of a reconciliation, nothing is left now but to fight it out, and for this we are not well provided, having but little ammunition, no Armes no money, nor are we unanimous in our Councils, we do not treat each other with that decency and respect that was observed heretofore, Jealousies, ill natured observations and recriminations take place of reason and Argument, our Tempers are soured, some among us urge strongly for Independency and eternal separation, others wish to wait a little longer and to have the opinion of their Constituents on that subject, you must give us the sentiment of your province when your Convention meets. Several Merchants and others have petitioned the Congress for leave to fit out privatiors to Cruize against British Vessels, it was granted yesterday, the Restrictions are not yet completed or I would have sent you a copy of them."  Joseph Hewes to Samuel Johnston, Philadelphia, 20 March, 1776.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the several assemblies, conventions, councils or committees of safety, and committees of correspondence and inspection, that they exert their utmost endeavours to promote the culture of hemp, flax, and cotton, and the growth of wool in these United Colonies.

The Congress resumed the consideration of the declaration, which was agreed to as follows:

Whereas the petitions of the United Colonies to the King, for the redress of great and manifest grievances, have not only been rejected, but treated with scorn and contempt, and the opposition to designs evidently formed to reduce them to a state of servile subjection, and their necessary defence against hostile forces actually employed to subdue them, declared rebellion; And whereas an unjust war hath been commenced against them, which the commanders of the British fleets and armies have prosecuted, and still continue to prosecute, with their utmost vigour, and in a cruel manner; wasting, spoiling, and destroying the country, burning houses and defenceless towns, and exposing the helpless inhabitants to every misery, from the inclemency of the winter; and not only urging savages to invade the country, but instigating negroes to murder their masters; And whereas the parliament of Great Britain hath lately passed an Act, affirming these colonies to be in open rebellion, forbidding all trade and commerce with the inhabitants thereof, until they shall accept pardons, and submit to despotic rule, declaring their property, wherever found upon the water, liable to seizure and confiscation; and enacting, that what had been done there by virtue of the royal authority, were just and lawful acts, and shall be so deemed; from all which it is manifest, that the iniquitous scheme, concerted to deprive them of the liberty they have a right to by the laws of nature and the English constitution, will be pertinaciously pursued. It being therefore necessary to provide for their defence and security, and justifiable to make reprisals upon their enemies, and otherwise to annoy them, according to the laws and usages of Nations, the Congress, trusting that such of their friends in Great Britain (of whom it is confessed there are many entitled to applause and gratitude for their patriotism and benevolence, and in whose favour a discrimination of property cannot be made) as shall suffer by captures, will impute it to the authors of our common calamities, Do Declare and Resolve, as followeth, to wit:¹

Resolved, That the inhabitants of these colonies be permitted to fit out armed vessels to cruise on the enemies of these United Colonies.

Resolved, That all ships and other vessels, their tackle, apparel, and furniture, and all goods, wares, and merchandizes, belonging to any inhabitant or inhabitants of

"Whereas the British Nation, through great Corruption of Manners, and extream Dissipation and Profusion both private and publick, have found all honest Resources insufficient to supply their excessive Luxury and Prodigality, and thereby have been driven to the practice of every Injustice which Avarice could dictate or rapacity execute, and whereas, not satisfied with the immense plunder of the East, obtained by sacrificing Millions of the human Species, they have lately turned their Eyes to the West, and grudging us the peaceable enjoyment of the Fruits of our hard Labour and virtuous Industry, have for Years past been endeavouring to extort the same from us under Colour of Laws regulating trade; and have thereby actually succeeded in draining us of large sums to our great Loss and detriment, and whereas impatient

Resolved, That all ships or vessels, with their tackle, apparel, and furniture, goods, wares, and merchandizes, belonging to any inhabitant of Great Britain as aforesaid, which shall be taken by any of the vessels of war of these United Colonies, shall be deemed forfeited; one third, to seize the whole they have at length proceeded to open Robbery, declaring by a solemn Act of Parliament that all our Estates are theirs and all our Property found upon the Sea divisible among such of their armed plunderers as shall take the same; and have even dared in the same Act to declare that all the the Spoilings, Thefts, burnings of Houses and Towns, and murders of innocent People perpetrated by their wicked and inhuman Corsairs on our Coasts, previous to any War declared against us were just Actions, and shall be so deemed, contrary to several of the Commandments of God, which by this Act they presume to repeal, and to all the Principles of Right and all the Ideas of Justice entertained heretofore by every other Nation Savage as well as Civilized thereby manifesting themselves to be hostes humani generis: And whereas it is not possible for the People of America to subsist under such continual Ravages without making some Reprisals; therefore mariners as aforesaid, to the officers and men on board, and two thirds to the use of the United Colonies.

Resolved, That all ships or vessels, with their tackle, apparel, and furniture, goods, wares, and merchandises, belonging to any inhabitants of Great Britain as aforesaid, which shall be taken by any vessel of war fitted out by and at the expense of any of the United Colonies, shall be deemed forfeited, and divided, after deducting and paying the wages of seamen and mariners, as aforesaid, in such manner and proportions as the assembly or convention of such colony shall direct.

Resolved, That all vessels, with their tackle, apparel, and furniture, and cargoes, belonging to the inhabitants of Great Britain, as aforesaid, and all vessels which may be employed in carrying supplies to the ministerial armies, which shall happen to be taken near the shores of any of these colonies, by the people of the country, or detach-expences which may attend the capture and trial, be first the said prize. Provided, that where any detachments of the army shall have been employed as aforesaid, their part of the prize money shall be distributed among them

The committee appointed to take into consideration the state of the colonies in the southern department, brought in their report, which was read as follows:

That it appears highly probable that a very considerable force will be exerted in that department by our enemies early this spring; that the continental forces employed in South Carolina, and Virginia, respectively, cannot prudently be solely relied on, for the defence of those colonies; that notwithstanding South Carolina and Virginia are at a very great separate expence in armed vessels, rendered absolutely necessary by the situation and circumstances of those countries; the militia of South Carolina are obliged to perform a very laborious duty, which, from the smallness of their number, and the consequent quick rotation, is excessively burthensome; and that the colony of Virginia, in addition to the six continental battalions already there, have resolved to raise, and are now embodying, three other battalions: Whereupon, the Congress came to the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the convention or council of safety of South Carolina be permitted to raise and embody two other battalions, and that they be on the pay and at the expence of the continent, as soon as they shall be armed fit for service, and accordingly mustered:

That the three colonial battalions of Virginia be also on the pay and at the expence of the continent, as soon as they shall be armed fit for service, and accordingly mustered:

The committee aforesaid farther reported, that the council of safety of Virginia hath contracted for the subsistence of the third battalion in that colony, at 6½ pence per ration; the fifth at 8 pence, the second, fourth, seventh, eighth, and ninth, at 7½ pence per ration; Whereupon, to your Countrymen to reflect, that, as a peculiar Greatness of Mind induced you to decline any Compensation for serving them, except the Pleasure of promoting their Happiness; they may, without your Permission, bestow upon you the largest Share of their Affections and Esteem.

Resolved, That those contracts be confirmed.

Those Pages in the Annals of America, will record your Title to a conspicuous Place in the Temple of Fame, which shall inform Posterity, that under your Directions, an undisciplined Band of Husbandmen, in the Course of a few Months, became Soldiers; and that the Desolation meditated against the Country, by a brave Army of Veterans, commanded by the most experienced Generals, but employ’d by bad Men in the worst of Causes, was, by the Fortitude of your Troops, and the Address of their officers, next to the kind Interposition of Providence, confined for near a Year, within such narrow Limits, as scarcely to admit more Room than was necessary for the Encampments and Fortifications, they lately abandoned.

Accept, therefore, Sir, the Thanks of the United Colonies, unanimously declared by their Delegates, to be due to you, and the brave Officers and Troops under your Command; and be pleased to communicate to them, this distinguished Mark of the Approbation of their Country.

The Congress have ordered a Golden Medal, adapted to the Occasion, to be struck, and when finished, to be presented to you.

Instructions to the commanders of private ships or vessels of war, which shall have commissions or letters of marque and reprisal, authorizing them to make captures of British vessels and cargoes.

1. You may, by force of arms, attack, subdue, and take all ships and other vessels belonging to the inhabitants of Great Britain, on the high seas, or between high water and low water mark, except ships and vessels bringing persons who intend to settle and reside in the United Colonies; or bringing arms, ammunition, or war-like stores, to the said colonies, for the use of such inhabitants thereof as are friends to the American cause, which you shall suffer to pass unmolested, the commanders thereof permitting a peaceable search, and giving satisfactory information of the contents of the lading, and destinations of the voyages.

2. You may, by force of arms, attack, subdue, and take all ships and other vessels whatsoever, carrying soldiers, arms, gunpowder, ammunition, provisions, or any other contraband goods, to any of the British armies or ships of war employed against these colonies.

3. You shall bring such ships and vessels, as you shall take, with their guns, rigging, tackle, apparel, furniture, and lading, to some convenient port or ports of the United Colonies, that proceedings may thereupon be had, in due form, before the courts, which are or shall be there appointed to hear and determine causes civil and maritime.

4. You, or one of your chief officers, shall bring or send the master and pilot, and one or more principal person or persons of the company of every ship or vessel by you taken, as soon after the capture as may be, to the judge or judges of such court as aforesaid, to be examined upon oath, and make answer to the interrogatories which may be propounded, touching the interest or property of the ship or vessel, and her lading; and, at the same time, you shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the judge or judges, all passes, sea-briefs, charter-parties, bills of lading, cockets, letters, and other documents and writings found on board, proving the said papers, by the affidavit of yourself, or of some other person present at the capture, to be produced as they were received, without fraud, addition, subduction or embezzlement.

5. You shall keep and preserve every ship or vessel, and cargo, by you taken, until they shall, by a sentence of a court properly authorized, be adjudged lawful prizes; not selling, spoiling, wasting, or diminishing the same, or breaking the bulk thereof, nor suffering any such thing to be done.

6. If you, or any of your officers or crew, shall, in cold blood, kill or maim, or by torture or otherwise, cruelly, inhumanly, and, contrary to common usage, and the practice of civilized nations in war, treat any person or persons surprized in the ship or vessel you shall take, the offender shall be severely punished.

7. You shall, by all convenient opportunities, send to Congress written accounts of the captures you shall make, with the number and names of the captives, copies of your journal from time to time, and intelligence of what may occur or be discovered concerning the designs of the enemy, and the destination, motions, and operations of their fleets and armies.

8. One-third, at least, of your whole company shall be landsmen.

9. You shall not ransom any prisoners or captives, but shall dispose of them in such manner, as the Congress, or, if that be not sitting, in the colony whither they shall be brought, as the general assembly, convention, or council, or committee of safety, of such colony shall direct.

10. You shall observe all such further instructions as Congress shall hereafter give in the premises, when you shall have notice thereof.

11. If you shall do any thing contrary to these instructions, or to others hereafter to be given, or willingly suffer such thing to be done, you shall not only forfeit your commission, and be liable to an action for breach of the condition of your bond, but be responsible to the party grieved for damages sustained by such malversation.¹

abating their rage, has had the effect constantly produced by disappointed passions. It has roused them to make new exertions of power against us; and we now behold American property, by a late act of Parliament, made legal plunder. Such a strain of rapine and violence, can be equalled only by the spirit with which it is likely to be executed.

“Having authorized the seizure of vessels belonging to these colonies, wherever found upon the high seas, there is too much reason to apprehend the execution of the edict (which we may expect in its greatest extent), will, for a time, prove a severe clog to the trade of America.

“Under these circumstances, the Congress, in hopes of checking, in some degree, an evil which they cannot, at present, remove; and acting upon the same principles of self-preservation and retaliation which they have hitherto adopted, have been induced to come into sundry resolutions relative to the fitting out letters of marque and reprisal. The trade of America is an object of so much consequence, and the protection of it so necessary, that I make no doubt of your giving all the encouragement in your power, to any measures that may be deemed expedient, for its security and existence.” John Hancock to the Assembly of Rhode Island, 12 April, 1776. The Committee for Prisoners brought in a report, which was read:

The Committee for the Prisoners further report, that they have maturely considered the Letters from Brigadier General Richard Prescott, Esquire, Lieutenant Colonel John Connolly, Captain Thomas Gamble, Captain Duncan Campble, Lieutenant Allan Cameron, Surgeon John Smith and Mr. Allan McDonnell. That they have conferred with the former on the subject matter of his said Letter, in which conference, he urged that the capitulation entered into by him with Major Brown off La Valtrie, was infringed in his person and property, but descended to no particulars, nor mentioned what part of his property, of what value, or by whom the same was imbezled, which he alleged, was owing to his confinement. The Committee informed him of his cruel treatment of Captain Allen, and Mr. Walker, by putting them in irons, and burning and destroying the House and effects of the latter to a great value; he did not deny the facts, but resolved the whole into the orders of General Carlton, his commanding officer, to which he said he made no addition. They then proposed to furnish him with a copy of Thomas Walker, Esquire, his memorial to the Congress, and to wait his answer; and also let him know, that as well the officers and soldiers, as the sailors and other inhabitants of the Thirteen United Colonies, who were so unfortunate as to fall into the hands of the British forces both by land and sea, were treated with unprecedented severities, which would probably compel the Colonists to retaliate, and that if he chose to write, anything respecting this information to General Howe, or to any person in Great Britain, his Letters should be safely and speedily forwarded.

¹ The letter of Washington is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 152, I, folio 583. It was referred to a Committee of the Whole House. That of Heath, dated New York, April 3, is in No. 157, folio 3.
He replied, that he did not choose to see Mr. Walker's memorial nor himself, that he was not accustomed to writing, it was out of his way, and in his present state of mind inconvenient, and absolutely refused declined to write to General Howe &c., or to state any thing whatsoever to the Committee or Congress in writing.

Upon the whole, The Committee came to the following Resolutions:

First, That General Presett, John Connolly, Moses Kirkland, Allan Cameron and John Smith, be removed without delay to the old Goal in the city of Philadelphia, and there closely confined in separate apartments.¹

Second, That Captain Thomas Gamble be not exchanged at present, there being no cartel settled.²

Third, That Captain Duncan Campble be permitted to reside with his wife and family in the city of Burlington, in the Western Division of New Jersey. And that Mr. Allan McDonell be permitted to remove his wife and family from John's town, in Tryon county, in the province of New York, into the province of New Jersey of Pennsylvania, and that the expense of such removal be defrayed by the Public.

Fourth, That a List of the Prisoners of war in each Colony be made out and transmitted to the House of Assembly, Council or Committee of Safety of such Colonies respectively, and that they be authorized and requested to cause a strict observance of the terms on which such prisoners have been enlarged, and also to take especial care that none of those confined by order of the Congress be suffered to escape; and also that the allowance to each prisoner be punctually paid by the Presidents of the Convention or of the Council or Committee of Safety of the colony in which he resides; and where there are no Conventions by the Speakers of Assembly; which said Presidents or Speakers are hereby authorized from time to time to draw for the sums advanced in pursuance of this resolution upon the President of the Congress.³

dollars for defraying the expence thereof.
Resolved, That the following speech be delivered to Captain White Eyes to morrow morning.

Brother Captain White Eyes,

We have not been unmindful of our promises made to you and your nation, the 16 of December. We now thank you for your speech to us of the 2d of last month.

Brothers, the Delawares,

At the council fire, at Pittsburg, last fall, and since by our brother Captain White Eyes, who hath been all the winter with us, you requested our assistance to promote peace and useful knowledge among you, particularly the knowledge of the Christian religion. We rejoice, brothers, to find you thus disposed, and will, as early as we can, provide a suitable minister, and schoolmaster, and a sober man to instruct you in agriculture. These things we agree to do, brothers, at your request, and to convince you that we wish to advance your happiness, and that there may be a lasting union between us, and that, as you express it, we may become one people. The introduction of useful arts among you will be effected, we apprehend, by encouraging handicraft men to settle and reside in your country. The method of doing this, must be left to your own discretion.

Brothers,

We desire that you will make it known among all the Indian nations to the westward, that we are determined to cultivate peace and friendship with them, and that we will endeavour, by making the best regulations in our power, to prevent any of our people wronging them in any manner, or taking their lands; and that we will strive to put the trade between us on such a footing, as will secure the peace, and promote the interest of all parties; and we expect, that all the wise men of every Indian nation, will use their influence for the same purpose.

Brothers,

We have named George Morgan, Esq; as agent under our commissioners for Indian affairs in the middle department, and we desire you will confer with him on whatever business you may have with us. We hope you will inform him of all public matters. We recommend him to your friendship.

Brothers,

You tell us, that your uncles, our brothers, the Wiandots, have given your nation a large tract of country, comprehended between the river Ohio on the south, the west branch of the river Muskingham and Sandusky on the west, Lake Erie on the north, and Presque Isle on the west [east]:

BROTHERS,

Hearken to our advice. As we are informed that your uncles, our brothers, the Six Nations, claim most of those lands, we recommend it to you to obtain their approbation of this grant to you from the Wiandots in public council, and have it put on record. Such a step will prevent uneasiness and jealousy on their part, and continue the confidence and friendship which subsists between you and them. We wish to promote the lasting peace and happiness of all our brothers, the Indian nations, who live with us on this great island. As far as your settlement and security may depend upon us, you may be assured of our protection. We shall take all the care in our power, that no interruption or disturbance be given you by our people, nor shall any of them be suffered, by force or fraud, to deprive you of any of your lands, or to settle them without a fair purchase from you, and your free consent. If, contrary to our intention, any injury should be offered to you by any of our people, inform us of it, and we shall always be ready to procure you satisfaction and redress.

BROTHER CAPTAIN WHITE EYES,

We desire you will inform your nation, your uncles the Six Nations, and Wiandots, your grandchildren the Shawanees, and all the other nations, what you have seen and heard among us, and exhort them to keep fast hold of the covenant chain of friendship, which we have so lately repaired and strengthened. As you are now about to depart, we present you with some money to buy cloaths and necessaries, and pay your expenses, and we wish you a good journey, and bid you farewell.¹

A petition from the committees of the townships of Wallpack, Sandystone, and Montague, in the county of Sussex, in New Jersey, was presented to Congress and read:
Resolved, That the same be referred to the Commissioners for Indian affairs, who are members of Congress.
The committee appointed to prepare a resolution for the sale and consumption of the teas now in these colonies, brought in their report, which was read ||and agreed to as follows:||

Whereas, by the third article of the association entered into by the late Continental Congress, at Philadelphia, on the 24th day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1774, it was agreed, that, from that day, the inhabitants of the United Colonies "would not purchase or use any tea imported on Account of the East India company, or any on which a duty had been or should be paid, and from and after the first day of March then next following, they would not purchase or use any East India tea whatever:"
And whereas, it has been represented to this Congress, that the time, as aforesaid limited for the consumption of the tea then on hand, was too short; whereby many zealous friends to the American cause, who had imported large quantities of that commodity, with design not merely to advance their fortunes, but to counteract the plan then pursued by the ministry, and India company, to introduce and sell in these colonies tea subject to duty, are likely to become great sufferers; the greater part of the estates of many of them being vested in that article, and they, by that means, rendered incapable not only of paying their debts and maintaining their families, but also of vigourously exerting themselves in the service of their country:
And whereas, it was originally the design of Congress, that all India tea, which had been imported agreeable to the tenor of the said association, might be sold and consumed, but the time limited for that purpose proving too short;
Resolved, That all India tea, importea as aforesaid, expressly excepting all teas imported by or on Account of the East India company, now remaining on hand in these colonies, be sold and used:

And whereas, from the future importation of tea being prohibited, some tea-holders may be tempted to avail themselves of the scarcity which will be occasioned by it, and exact exorbitant prices for an article of little real value in itself, and which owes its worth to an habit, in many respects, pernicious to the inhabitants of these colonies,

Resolved, therefore, That Bohea tea ought not to be sold by retail in the smallest quantities, at a higher price, in any colony, than at the rate of three-fourths parts of a dollar per pound; and other teas at such a price as shall be regulated by the committees of the town or county where the tea is sold; and that all persons who shall either give or take a greater price for it, ought to be considered as enemies to the American cause, and treated accordingly. And it is earnestly recommended to all committees of inspection and observation, as well to be vigilant in carrying this resolve into execution, as those which prohibit the importation of India tea from any part of the world. It being the desire of Congress to exclude all teas, except such as may make part of the cargoes of prizes taken by the ships of war or privateers belonging to these colonies.¹

¹“Immediately upon the receipt of your letter we applied to Congress for permission to order the East-India tea now in your stores to be sold, and to direct the produce thereof to be carried into the Colony Treasury, to be appropriated in such manner as your Assembly should judge right. In consequence of this application, a debate of some length ensued, in which the House indicated a strong inclination to lay their hands upon the profits which should arise from the sale, either for the use of the Continent at large, or to be carried into a fund to reimburse those Colonies whose property should be seized in England. There appeared neither reason nor justice in these measures, and we endeavoured to obviate the objections which were made to

Resolved, That the Secret Committee be directed to deliver to Lieutenant Colonel Hartley one quarter cask of powder, to repay so much by him borrowed for the use of the continent.

The committee appointed to prepare a letter to the committee of safety of New Jersey, brought in a draught, which being read, was agreed to:

Ordered, That the same be transcribed, signed by the president, and transmitted.

The committee appointed to consider the representation and queries of Mr. J[ames] Mease, respecting the sixth the application, and to answer the arguments which had been advanced against it. We observed that this property should be looked upon as belonging to the King of Great Britain, and not to the East-India Company, as the latter had been divested of it both by the seizure which the custom-house officers had made of it and by the indemnification of the Parliament; that the Congress had therefore no more right to apply this tea to the use of the Continent at large, than they had to dispose of the cannon in our forts or the Crown lands within the limits of the Colony; but that if it was the East-India Company's property, they had occasioned such an expense to the State of Carolina as to justify them fully in the seizures; that it would be repugnant to the principles of justice to insist that this tea should be sold for the benefit of those whose property had been or might be seized in England, in exclusion of those whose property had been seized in America, and that it would be impracticable to bring every species of loss into one common account; that the seizure of property had been a common misfortune, of which, as well as of publick expenses, we have had our full proportion, and that, therefore, it would be injurious to our State not to be permitted to make use of the advantage in this instance which the possession of the tea had given. It was confessed that we had a right to sell it if we chose, and apply the profits as we pleased; but we had asked the opinion of the House upon the subject, we should now be governed by the disposition which they should think proper to make, and that they should take time to consider of it. The Delegates being by this time fully convinced that there were many in the House who wished to dispose of it in a manner injurious to the interest and the right of our State, agreed to withdraw the motion, for which they obtained the leave of Congress; and we now, with one voice, advise you to recommend to your Assembly immediately to sell the same and apply the profits thereof to Colonial purposes. Indeed, we were not a little surprised at your requesting us to lay the same before Congress, and we hope that you will determine for yourselves in future in all cases where the concern is of a Provincial and not of a Continental nature.” The Delegates of the State of South Carolina in Congress to John Rutledge, 25 July 1776. That the supernumerary privates that have been inlisted, and are armed and cloathed, be continued and paid:

That the officers in said battalion be paid for their subsistence since the recruiting service has been over, at the rates used in other battalions:

That the claim of the ensign in Captain Wilson's company to pay and subsistence from the time of his entering into actual service, be allowed.

Resolved, That the Committee for casting cannon be directed to contract for the casting forty howitzers, with a sufficient quantity of shells.

The committee appointed to take into consideration the application of Mr. James Hughes, late town major of Montreal, and one of the prisoners of the thirteen United Colonies, brought in their report, wherein they represent, "That it appears to them that Mrs. Hughes, the wife of the said James Hughes, on or about the 5th of February last, bargained with a certain Jabez West, for divers goods and merchandise, in her possession, at Montreal, for which the said West, (as said J. Hughes alleges,) agreed to pay £905 11 9½, sterling money of Great Britain, and £151 1 9, Hallifax currency, in gold and silver, to said Hughes, within eighteen days from that time; upon which payment being made, the goods were to be delivered at Albany, to the said West, by a certain Mr. John Stevenson, of Albany, to whom they were to be sent at the expense of said West: That the said West paid to the said Hughes 240 dollars, in part; but it was, as said Hughes alleged, agreed, that if the residue of the money was not paid within the time limited, then the 240 dollars were to be forfeited, and the goods not to be delivered; that the goods arrived at Albany, and were in the possession of Mr. Stevenson, who, on the 11th of March last, by some means or other, was induced to deliver the goods to West, though he paid no money; that the said West gave a bond to said Stevenson, payable to said Hughes, for £1609 18 8, continental currency, on the 9th of April, instant, without any authority from said Hughes, as he alleged; that the said West proceeded with the goods, immediately on the receipt of them, to some of the eastern colonies, and, it is apprehended, to Connecticut. Upon the whole, the committee are of opinion, that the said Hughes may probably lose his debt from West, without the interposition of Congress, or their permission to him to go in pursuit of the said West:” Whereupon,

Resolved, That Governor Trumbull, of the colony of Connecticut, be desired to direct the most effectual method, according to law, to be taken, for securing the person of Jabez West, or his effects, to the value of the debt due to James Hughes, if either can be found in his government; and to see that justice be done in the premises.

||The Congress, taking into consideration the letter from the committee of Baltimore, and the papers enclosed, came to the following resolutions:||

Whereas information has been this day laid before Congress, from which there is great reason to believe, that Robert Eden, Esq' governor of the colony of Maryland, has lately carried on a correspondence with the British ministry, highly dangerous to the liberties of America;

Resolved, therefore, That the council of safety of Maryland be earnestly requested, immediately to cause the person and papers of Governor Eden to be seized and ¹"Yesterday morning, just before the meeting of Congress, the letters from Baltimore, which occasioned the resolution of yesterday, came to the hands of the President. By the same express, and, as I believe, under the same cover, came an anonymous letter, referring to a copy therein enclosed from General Lee to Mr. Samuel Purviance. I saw and read the copy, which was in Purviance’s handwriting. Lee strongly urged the immediate seizing and securing of the Governor.

"After the minutes of the preceding day were read, the President began reading the anonymous letter; but he had not proceeded far before he came to a part desiring that it might not be made known to the Congress, but, as I think, to such only as the President might think proper to trust with the contents. The President hesitated; for he had not before read the letter, and seemed desirous of running his eye over it; but, on being desired to read out, he did so. * * *

"As soon as the letter was read, a motion was made to send the original, or a copy of it, to you; which was warmly supported. But it was put off till to-day, to make way for the consideration of the subject of the express; and in the meantime, all was ordered to be secret. Messrs. Stone and Alexander who had been delayed in writing letters by the post, came into the Congress in this stage of the affair, and are, as well as myself, privy to the after transactions.” Thomas Johnson, Jun. to Maryland Council of Safety, 17 April, 1776. Force, American Archives, Fourth Series, V. 965.

"We moved yesterday in Congress, that the letter referred to by Mr. Johnson should be immediately transmitted to you, that you might have an opportunity of vindicating your honour against the malicious charges made by the writer. This produced a warm debate, which lasted for several hours. We insisted (and were supported by several gentlemen) that the letter, containing the most severe reflections upon you, as a publick body, ought not to be concealed; that it was absolutely necessary, in the present state of our affairs, that the dignity of the Executives of every endeavour, to the utmost of your power, to convince them of the good wishes and good intentions of the Congress for and towards them, and to cultivate harmony and friendship between them and the white people; and to give Congress the most early intelligence of any interruption thereof, or of any disturbance which shall arise, and which you cannot quiet.

Acquaint the Indians that Congress have formed the best plan they could devise to import foreign goods for their use, and have neglected no probable means to procure them in time; and if they should not be supplied so soon as they may be wanted, the misfortune is to be ascribed to the common enemies of them and us, who, by obstructing our trade, as well as in numberless other instances, are daily injuring and distressing both; but that we have well grounded hopes of speedy relief, in expectation of which, and of greater advantages in prospect, the present inconveniences are borne more patiently.

All differences and disputes that shall happen between the Indians and the white people, you will have adjusted and determined in the mode prescribed by a resolve of Congress, of which you have a copy:
and you are directed, in a particular manner, to prevent, as much as you are able, any impositions upon the former by those who deal with them. Treat all those people, whom you may meet with, kindly and hospitably. Inspire them with sentiments of Justice and humanity, and dispose them to introduce the arts of civil and social life, and to encourage the residence of husbandmen and handicrafts men among them. Advise the Congress, from time to time, of all occurrences that may, in your opinion, deserve their attention.

¹“Mr. John Rutledge acquainted the Congress that it was with the utmost concern he found himself obliged to request that they would dispense with his attendance in the Continental Congress in future; that he had many weighty reasons which rendered his request proper; but above all, that, as the American dispute was now agitated by arms, he was certain he could be of more service to his country, and the common cause at home than abroad; and that, therefore, he earnestly desired they would grant his request. He also acquainted the Congress that his brother (Edward Rutledge, Esquire) from very urgent motives, requested to be recalled.” 16 February, 1776.

²The Honourable Arthur Middleton arose, declared his sensibility of, and thankfulness for, the honour that had been conferred upon him, in his appointment as a Delegate from this Colony to the Continental Congress; and that no man had better wishes, or would go greater lengths to serve his country, than himself; but that, as the infirmities of age which were creeping on, deprived him of the ability of rendering so much service to the publick as in his earlier days he might have done; so he requested that the Congress would not again appoint him as a Delegate to the Continental Congress, in the choice now to be made.” Minutes of Proceedings, South Carolina Provincial Congress, 16 February, 1776. Resolved, That the farther consideration of the report be referred till to morrow.

Congress then took into consideration the report of the committee on the petition of Colonel James Easton: Whereupon,

Resolved, That the claims of the persons concerned in the surprize and reduction of the fortress of Ticonderoga, having already been submitted by Congress to the committee of Albany, the petitioner being referred to the said committee of Albany for a settlement of his demand on that account.

As from the testimonials produced by the petitioner, it appears—that he and his battalion behaved with great diligence, activity, and spirit in the successful enterprize against General Prescott, and the vessels and troops under his command, in the river Sorel, in which important service they were joined by Colonel Bedel and a part of his regiment—that to encourage the party employed in that important service, the late Major General Montgomery promised them all the public stores which should be taken in the vessels under General Prescott's command, excepting ammunition and provisions; And, as the petitioner alleged that no part of those stores was delivered, nor any composition made to the troops concerned in the acquisition; Therefore,

Resolved, That it be recommended to the general commanding in Canada, to appoint commissioners to estimate all the public stores taken with General Prescott, (except ammunition and provisions) and pay the value thereof among the officers and men employed in that service, in such proportions as the commissioners shall determine.

As the petitioner's account of monies received, and disbursements made by him for the use of his regiment, on which he claims a balance, can, for want of proper vouchers and information here, only be adjusted in Canada, where the business was transacted,

Resolved, That the same be referred for settlement in such mode as the Commissioners from Congress, in that province, shall direct; But, as the petitioner is in want of money,

Resolved, That 200 dollars be advanced to him in part of his demand against the United Colonies.

With regard to the petitioner's request, that a court of enquiry may be called respecting the charge against him and Major Brown, for plundering the effects of the prisoners:—As Brigadier General Arnold in his letter of the 1st of February last alleged, that the petitioner and Major Brown had been publickly accused of plundering the officers' baggage, taken at Sorel, contrary to the articles of Capitulation, and to the great scandal of the American arms; for which reason, he declared it to be his opinion, that it would give great disgust to the army in general, if either of them should be promoted until these matters were cleared up; and, as the petitioner asserts his innocence, declaring that he neither plundered, nor directed, nor was privy to the plundering of any prisoner or other person whatever: considering, therefore, on the one hand, the aggravated nature of this charge, which is an impediment to the petitioner’s promotion, and, on the other, the great confidence reposed in him by General Montgomery, and the essential service which the petitioner has rendered to his country:

Resolved, That the Commissioners from Congress, in Canada, be instructed to cause enquiry to be made by a court martial, or otherwise, into the charge against the petitioner, giving him an opportunity of making his defence; and that the proceedings thereon be transmitted to Congress, in order that Justice may be done to the petitioner, if he has been accused without sufficient reason.

Resolved, That the ninth article of the association, which enjoined the inhabitants of the United Colonies to sell goods and merchandises at the rates they had respectively been accustomed to do for twelve months then last past, was, in its nature, a temporary regulation respecting the goods then on hand; But as those goods are nearly consumed, and a further supply must be obtained at an extraordinary risk and expence, and it is reasonable that adventurers should be encouraged by a prospect of gain adequate to the danger which may be incurred in the importation, and a free trade being now opened from the United Colonies to all parts of the world except the dominions belonging to the King of Great Britain,

Resolved, That the power of committees of inspection and observation to regulate the prices of goods, (in other instances than the article of green Tea,) ought to cease.

1 "It will be observed how long this trifing business had been depending, but it cannot be known from the Journal how much debate it had occasioned. It was one of those delusive contrivances, by which the party in opposition to us endeavored, by lulling the people with idle hopes of reconciliation into security, to turn their heads and thoughts from independence. They endeavored to insert in the resolution ideas of reconciliation; we carried our point for inserting peace. They wanted powers to be given to the General to receive the commissioners in ceremony; we ordered nothing to be done till we were solicited for passports. Upon the whole, we avoided the snare, and brought the controversy to a close, with some dignity. But it will never be known how much labor it cost us to accomplish it.

¹"Then a committee of the whole, on the state of the colonies. Mr. Harrison reported sundry resolutions, which, as they stand on the Journal, will show the art and skill with which the General's letters, Indian affairs, revenue matters, naval arrangements, and twenty other things, many of them very trivial, were mixed, in those committees of the whole, with the great subjects of government, independence, and commerce. Little things were designedly thrown in the way of great ones, and the time consumed upon trifles which ought to have been consecrated to higher interests. We could only harangue against the misapplication of time, and harangues consumed more time, so that we could only now and then snatch a transient glance at the promised land." The orders given by the Naval Committee to Commodore Hopkins, being laid before Congress, and read,

AMERICA:

To Essek Hopkins, Esquire,

Commander in Chief of the Fleet of the United Colonies.

Sir,

The United Colonies directed by principles of just and necessary preservation against the oppressive and cruel System of the British Administration whose violent and hostile proceedings by Sea and land against these Unoffending Colonies, have rendered it an indispensable duty to God, their Country and Posterity to prevent by all means in their Power the ravage, desolation and ruin that is intended to be fixed on North America. As a part and a most important part of defence, the Continental Congress have judged it necessary to fit out several Armed Vessels which they have put under your Command having the strongest reliance on your Virtuous Attachment to the great cause of America and that by your Valour, Skill and diligence, seconded by the Officers and Men under your Command our unnatural Enemies may meet with all possible distress on the Sea. For that purpose you are instructed with the utmost diligence to proceed with the said Fleet to Sea and if the Winds and Weather will possibly admit of it to proceed directly for Chesapeake Bay in Virginia and when nearly arrived there you will send forward a small swift sailing Vessel to gain intelligence of the Enemies Situation and Strength. If by such Intelligence you find they are not greatly superior to your own you are immediately to Enter the said bay search out and attack, take or destroy all the Naval force of our Enemies that you may find there. If you should be so fortunate as to execute this business successfully in Virginia you are then to proceed immediately to the Southward and make yourself Master of such forces as the Enemy may have both in North and South Carolina in such manner as you may think most prudent from the intelligence you shall receive; either by dividing your Fleet or keeping it together.

Having completed your Business in the Carolina's you are without delay to proceed Northward directly to Rhode Island, and attack, take and destroy all the Enemies Naval force that you may find there. You are also to seize and make prize of all such Transport Ships and other Vessels as may be found carrying Supplies of any kind to or any way aiding or assisting our Enemies.

You will dispose of all the Men you make prisoners in such manner as you may judge most safe for North America and will least Retard the service you are upon. If you should take any Ships or other Vessels that are fit to be Armed and Manned for the Service of the United Colonies you will make use of every method for procuring them to be thus equipped. You will also appoint proper Officers for carrying this Matter into execution and to Command said Ships as soon as they can be made ready for the Sea. For this purpose you will apply to the several Assemblies, Conventions and Committees of Safety and desire them in the name of the Congress to aid and assist you by every way and means in their power for the execution of this whole Service.

Notwithstanding these particular Orders, which 'tis hoped you will be able to execute, if bad Winds, or Stormy Weather, or any other unforeseen accident or disaster disable you so to do You are then to follow such Courses as your best Judgment shall Suggest to you as most useful to the American Cause and to distress the Enemy by all means in your power.

You are to consider these as your instructions until you shall receive further or other Orders from the Continental Congress or Committee of Congress appointed for such purpose.

You are also authorized to draw on the Continental Treasurers wherever you may be for such Sums as are absolutely necessary for the use of the Fleet under your Command, and such drafts shall be duly honored.

Whereas his Britannic Majesty, in conjunction with the lords and commons of Great Britain, has, by a late act of Parliament, excluded the inhabitants of these United Colonies from the protection of his crown; And whereas, no answer, whatever, to the humble petitions of the colonies for redress of grievances and reconciliation with Great Britain, has been or is likely to be given; but, the whole force of that kingdom, aided by foreign mercenaries, is to be exerted for the destruction of the good people of these colonies; And whereas, it appears absolutely irreconcilable to reason and good Conscience, for the people of these colonies now to take the oaths and affirmations necessary for the support of any government under the crown of Great Britain, and it is necessary that the exercise of every kind of authority under the said crown should be totally suppressed, and all the powers of government exerted, under the authority of the people of the colonies, for the preservation of internal peace, virtue, and good order, as well as for the defence of their lives, liberties, and properties, against the hostile invasions and cruel depredations of their enemies; therefore, resolved, &c.

¹ "The truth is, I never opposed the raising of men during the war. I was always willing the General might obtain as many men as he possibly could, to enlist during the war, or during the longest period they could be persuaded to enlist for, and I always declared myself so. But I contended that I knew the number to be obtained in this manner would be very small in New England, from whence almost the whole army was derived. A regiment might possibly be obtained, of the meanest, idlest, most intemperate and worthless, but no more. A regiment was no army to defend this country. We must have tradesmen's sons, and farmers' sons, or we should be without defence; and such men certainly would not enlist during the war, or for long periods, as yet. The service was too new; they had not yet become attached to it by habit. Was it credible that men who could get at home better living, more comfortable lodgings, more than double the wages, in safety, not exposed to the sicknesses of the camp, would bind themselves during the war? I knew it to be impossible. In the Middle States, where they imported, from Ireland and Germany, so many transported convicts and redemptioners, it was possible they might obtain some. Let them try. I had no objection. But I warned them against depending on so improbable a resource for the defence of the country. Congress confessed the unanswerable force of this reasoning. Mr. McKean, I remember, said in Congress, 'Mr. John Adams has convinced me that you will get no army upon such terms. Even in Pennsylvania, the most desperate of imported laborers cannot be obtained in any numbers upon such terms. Farmers and tradesmen give much more encouragement to laborers and journeymen.' Mr. McKean's opinion was well founded, and proved to be true in experience, for Pennsylvania never was able to obtain half the complement of New England in proportion." that purpose.

iences resulting from the present manner of keeping and providing for Prisoners to have a Commissary for Prisoners appointed for each of the three Departments, to superintend and take the Direction and sup-

England having seized so many prisoners before the Declaration of War, that France had no Equivalent to Exchange, or consider’d it as an Act, contrary to the Law of Nations; and would not until Oblig’d by necessity, submit to a Cartel; which, at length was settled by General Conway. Mented to eight; and that the above letters be referred to them:

The committee to whom was referred the consideration of General Lee's letters of the 19 of April and 7th of May, brought in their report, which was agreed to: Whereupon,

Resolved, That General Lee's scheme of sending through the colony of Virginia to purchase rifles, be, and is, approved:

That, as the colony of Virginia is intersected with many navigable rivers, six gallies be built for the protection of the troops in their transportation across the said rivers, at the continental expense, on as cheap terms as the business for which they are intended will admit of; that such other defence of the rivers and bays, as shall be requisite for the colony, be at the particular charge of the inhabitants thereof; And, that General Lee, or the commanding officer in Virginia, transmit to Congress, as early as possible, an account of the expense which shall be incurred in consequence of this resolution:

That General Lee, or the commanding officer in Virginia, be directed to set on foot the raising of two companies of carpenters, to consist of house and ship builders:

That General Lee be permitted to order rations and forage for such volunteers of horse, not exceeding 500, as shall think proper to attend the service of their country in the continental army, agreeable to General Lee's request and proposal:

That Captain D[ohicky] Arundel's journey, to Virginia, be at his own, not continental expense:
That the pay of the assistant engineers be raised to 30 dollars a month, and that they be allowed rations for themselves, and forage for their horses, when in camp, or necessarily absent upon continental duty:

That a continental Hospital be established in Virginia, and a director to the same be immediately appointed by Congress:

That the scheme of adding two subalterns and forty privates to the company of artillery, be adopted:

That the circumstances of affairs in the middle and eastern department will not admit of Mr. Smith's being sent to General Lee:

That Thomas Bullit, Esq' the deputy adjutant general in Virginia, be advanced to the rank of colonel:

That from the uncertainty of the enemy's design, and the number of regiments already sent into Canada, it will be inexpedient, at present, to order any of the troops, raised in Pennsylvania, or the colonies to the eastward thereof, to the southern department; nor, can Congress, at present, supply such troops as are raised in Virginia, with fire arms; but, that General Lee's application, on this subject, be attended to so soon as an importation, sufficiently considerable, will admit of his being supplied; and, that he be assured, the Congress will co-operate and aid him with their power, to render effectual his laudable endeavours to establish the rights and liberties of the good people of this Continent.

The Congress proceeded to the election of a director of the Hospital in Virginia; and, the ballots being taken, William Rickman was elected director and chief physician of the hospital in Virginia.

Resolved, That the hospital in Virginia be on the same establishment, and the pay of the officers thereof, the same, as the hospital established in the eastern department:

That two surgeons, one apothecary, six mates, one clerk, one store keeper, and a nurse to every ten sick, with labourers occasionally, when necessary, be allowed to the hospital in Virginia:

That the director be empowered to nominate the surgeons and apothecary:

That the mates be appointed by the surgeons, and that the number of the mates be diminished as circumstances will admit; for which reason, the pay is fixed by the day, that they may only receive pay for actual service.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the convention of Virginia, to raise a batallion of riflemen, on the same terms as the other batallions raised in that colony; to be taken into the pay of the continent, when armed and accordingly mustered.

That General Washington be directed, if the service will permit, to station a batallion at Amboy.

A petition from Jos. Trumbull, commissary general, was presented to Congress, and read:¹

Resolved, That it be referred to the committee on the treasury.

A motion being made and seconded, for regulating the price of salt,

Resolved, That it be referred to a committee of four.

The members chosen, Mr. [Robert] Morris, Mr. R[obert] R. Livingston, Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry, and Mr. [John] De Hart.

The Secret Committee having informed Congress of the arrival of one of the vessels fitted out at the expence of the continent, with a quantity of cash, ¹This petition is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 42, VII, folio 326.

Resolved, That the Secret Committee be directed to give orders for sending the cash, with all convenient despatch, to the commissioners of Congress in Canada:

¹Among the miscellaneous manuscripts in the Library of Congress is the letter of instructions sent to Lyman Hall. It reads as follows:

"To Archibald Bulloch, John Houstoun, Lyman Hall, Button Gwinnett and George Walton, Esquires, or to such of them, who shall repair to and join the Congress at Philadelphia.

Gentlemen,

"Our remote Situation from both the Seat of Power and Arms, keep us so very ignorant of the Counsels and ultimate designs of the Congress, and of the Transactions in the Field, that we shall decline giving you any particular instructions, other than strongly to recommend it to you, that you never lose sight of the peculiar situation in the Province you are appointed to represent. The Indians both South and North-westwardly upon our backs, the fortified Town of Saint Augustine made a continual Rendezvous for Soldiers in our very Neighbourhood, together with our blacks and tories within us. Let these weighty truths be the powerful Arguments for support. At the same time we also recommend it to you, always to keep in view the general Utility, remembering that the Great and Righteous Cause in which we are engaged is not Provincial but Continental.

"We therefore, Gentlemen, shall rely upon your Patriotism, Abilities, Firmness and Integrity, to propose, join and concur in all such measures as you shall think calculated for the common good, and to oppose such as shall appear destructive.

"By Order of the Congress,

"ARCH'D BULLOCH, President.

And whereas the said bills, having been issued at the full value therein credit, credit of the said bills, as current money ought to be supported by the inhabitants of these colonies, for whose benefit they were issued at the full value therein expressed, and who stand bound to redeem the same, according to the like value; And the pernicious Artifices of the Enemies of American Liberty to impair the Credit of the said Bills by raising the nominal Value of Gold and Silver ought to be guarded against and prevented,² Therefore,

The paragraphs numbered B, R 2 and R 3 were placed first in a report presented by Jefferson, without date but probably prepared in the Committee appointed June 16; to digest and arrange the several resolutions agreed to in Committee of the Whole. The first resolution differs in the reward for prisoners, reading: "Engaging on behalf of Congress to pay them 133½ dollars for every prisoner they shall take and bring to head quarters, or to the said Commissioners." Nothing is said about plunder. Against these three paragraphs Harrison, as chairman of the Committee of the Whole, has written "postpon'd."

The next paragraph in this Jefferson paper reads: "Resolved, that it is the opinion of this Committee that there be raised for the service of the United colonies one battalion of Germans." It has been struck out by a pen, and in the margin Harrison has written: "referred to N. J. and P. for the mode," evidently the first form of the resolution printed under May 25th, p. 392, ante, and June 17th, on p. 454, post.

The Jefferson paper then continues with the resolutions printed on June 17th, p. 452, post, with the variations there noted.
St. Johns, as to prevent the enemy's passing to the upper country, should the forces of the United Colonies be compelled to retreat from Dechambeau.

Resolved, That Colonel Turbutt Francis be desired to attend at the next conference with the Indians, and assist in interpreting for them.

The committee, to whom it was referred to consider a mode for regulating the price of salt, brought in their report, which was read: and,

The Committee, to whom was referred the regulation of the price of salt, are humbly of opinion:

That some persons possessed of large quantities of salt imported before the late restrictions on our trade have taken an undue advantage of the recommendation of Congress to the several committees of observation and inspection, to desist from any farther regulation of the prices of merchandize, by demanding an extravagant price for that necessary article.

That tho’ regulations of that nature on trade tend to discourage Commerce and increase the scarcity which they were designed to remove, yet that the same is not applicable to salt, unless it is sold so high as to be very burthensome to the poor, as it can only be imported in large vessels the risk of which is extreamly great.

That in order to remedy this inconvenience without burthening trade it will be proper to fix the price of salt now in the Country, or hereafter to be imported or manufactured, when sold at the place into which the same is imported, or at which it is manufactured, at 2/3 of a dollar per Bushel. If sold at any other place more remote, at the same price, with the addition of so much as will defray the charges of transportation.

That a bounty shd be given by this Congress of 1/3 of a dollar p’r bushel, upon all such salt as shall be imported into or manufactured within either of these colonies, within one year from the first day of July next date hereof, that the same shd be paid by the Continental Treasurer to any person or persons who shall produce to him a certificate from the Convention, Assembly, or Committee of safety of the province in which salt shall have been manufactured, or into which the same shall have been imported, that the said certificate contain the name of the manufacturer or importer, the quantity manufactured or imported, and the time in which the same was applied for.¹

"The delegates of the united colonies of New Hampshire, &c. to the inhabitants of the said colonies.

"There seems no reason now to expect an accommodation of the dispute between Great Britain and these colonies. All overtures towards it on our part have been ineffectual; and on the other hand no terms have been offered to us, but obedience to unconstitutional authority is required. Arms must decide, whether we shall be subject to laws made by men who are not appointed approved of or controllable by us, whose interest it is to oppress us, and whose pride and resentment will be gratified by humbling us; or whether shall be subject to laws made by men we ourselves choose and may change, who bear their just proportions of the burthens they impose upon the community, and whose true glory it is to advance its posterity; in other words, whether we shall resign ourselves to the government of arbitrary rulers, and property of to the disposition of those who are under many temptations, but no restraint, to take it away from us; or shall reserve so much of our natural liberty as permits the doing of every thing but what we ought not, what good men desire not, to do, and may dispose of our property for such public uses, and in such manner and measure as we judge fit. If the enemy conquer, we must be wretched; if not, we may be happy; in either event, our posterity must be involved in our fate. Uniting firmly, resolving wisely, and acting vigorously, it is morally certain, we cannot be subdued. Those among us, if there be any, who will not join with us, it is hoped, are so contemptible for their numbers as for their baseness of soul. This is the season when others may prove that love for their country which they profess themselves to be inspired with, and shew that they are what they would appear to be. There are none of us who cannot do some good service in this great conflict. The aged may supply their want of strength by counsel. The young will probably never meet with another opportunity to signalize an illegible line their valour so much to their honour. Whilst you are asserting the rights of mankind, and delivering your country from bondage, those who fall cannot die in a better cause, nor can those who survive with victory earn a nobler triumph. Vast indeed will be the expense of armaments we must for a time sustain: but what do men who know the value of liberty think too great a price to purchase it with? and what is property worth, or rather can we have property, if we enjoy not liberty. Let us all then."
