PREFATORY NOTE

The two subjects of greatest importance which occupied the attention of Congress in the year 1778 were finance and foreign affairs. The increasing difficulty of paying the expenses of the war with issues of paper currency, Continental and State, obliged Congress to look to other sources of revenue. The lottery had not been a success, and the receipts at the loan offices were insufficient to meet the growing demands for ready money—demands made inordinately large in appearance by the depreciation of the bills of credit. The Treasury was reorganized, requisitions made upon the States, taxation urged, and foreign loans sought.

The treaties with France opened a new prospect; for they gave the States a standing in international affairs, and suggested more certain methods of obtaining money, ammunition, and joint expeditions with France against the common enemy. The want of accord among the American commissioners in Europe produced unfortunate results in France and in Congress. Silas Deane was recalled, under charges of misapplying the aids received from France, and the spirit of faction was aroused in Congress by the attempt of the Lees to discredit and secure the punishment of this first American representative to a foreign court. What was done was not unconnected with the "cabal" against Washington, a plot which came to an end with the proposed expedition into Canada, to be commanded by Lafayette. The resignation of Henry Laurens as President was also caused by these differences among the American commissioners at Paris.

The year was marked by no little discontent expressed by Congress on the military events. Major Generals Charles Lee, Arthur St. Clair, and Philip Schuyler were tried by court-martial, and Lee suffered in reputation beyond any hope of recovery. Against these seeming troubles may be set the reorganization of the Army, carried through by committees of Congress in conferences with Washington and his generals. Various departments were examined into, abuses corrected, and new systems of purchasing and accounting for supplies introduced. The creation of the office of Inspector General marked a decided advance in army discipline. The many reports presented by the Boards of War and Treasury will indicate some of the improvements introduced into the two services. Congress was slowly moving toward executive boards not composed of Members of Congress, and better fitted to perform the important functions essential to maintaining the Army and conducting the war.

The incidents of Thomas Burke's conduct in refusing to obey a call of the House and Timothy Pickering's letter from the Board of War are not without their humorous aspects, while proving the sensitiveness of the House on its dignity.

A memorial from the Chevalier de Villefranche was read, setting forth, that though he received a gratification and money for his return to France, yet, upon reconsideration, he would rather stay in this country, if he could be employed in the corps of engineers, under Brigadier Du Portail, in which case he would return the money and bill of exchange granted him; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the Chevalier de Villefranche be appointed a major of the corps of engineers, under the command of Brigadier General Du Portail.

An extract of a letter from Major General de Kalb, and a memorial from Lewis Casimir, Baron de Holtzendorff, were read:

Resolved, That the said Esek Hopkins, Esq.; be dismissed from the service of the United States.

Three o’Clock, P. M.

Congress took into consideration the resolutions agreed to in a committee of the whole Congress, on the report of the committee.

The first resolution being read the following amendments were agreed to: Dele the words "to be"; after "warranted by" insert "the just construction of"

d[ele] "it betrays a disposition of availing himself of such declaration," and insert instead thereof, "it affords a strong indication of his intention to, and just grounds of fear that he will, avail himself of such pretended breach of the convention."

A division of the resolution was called for;

And the question being put on the first part as amended, Resolved, in the affirmative N. C. D. That the charge made by Lieutenant General Burgoyne in his letter to Major General Gates of the 14 November, of a breach of public faith on the part of these states, is not warranted by the just construction of any article of the convention of Saratoga; that it is a strong indication of his intention, and affords just grounds of fear that he will avail himself of such pretended breach of the convention, in order to disengage himself and the army under him of the obligations they are under to these united states, and that the security which these states have had in his personal honor is hereby destroyed.

It was moved to amend the latter clause
In the second clause dele "hitherto".

The committee to whom the report on the letters that passed betwixt General Heath and General Burgoyne, and the letter from General Burgoyne to General Gates, was recommitted, brought in a report, which was read.

Adjourned to 3 o’Clock.

Three o’Clock p. m.

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee, on the letters that passed betwixt General Heath and General Burgoyne, and the letter from General Burgoyne to General Gates, which was agreed to, as follows:

“That they have considered, with mature attention, the convention entered into at Saratoga betwixt Major General Gates and Lieutenant General Burgoyne, in October last, and find numbers of the cartouch boxes, and several other articles of military accoutrements, annexed to the persons of the non-commissioned officers and soldiers, in General Burgoyne’s army, many of which were not delivered up on the day of the surrender have not been delivered up, and that, agreeably to the spirit of the convention, and the technical interpretation of the word ‘arms,’ they ought to have been delivered up:

“‘This opinion is warranted not only by the judgment of the most approved writers, but by the interpretation and practice of British officers in similar cases in the course of the present war, particularly in the capitulation of St. John’s on the 2 November, 1775:

“Your committee farther report, that there are so many other circumstances attending the delivery of the arms and military stores, which excite strong suspicions, that the convention has not been strictly complied with on the part of General Burgoyne, agreeable to its true spirit and the intention of the contracting parties, and so many instances of former fraud in the conduct of our enemies, as to justify Congress, however cautious, to avoid even the suspicion of want of good faith, in taking every measure for securing the performance of the convention, which did not impose any new condition nor tend to delay its execution. Of this nature your committee consider the resolution of Congress of the 8 November last, directing General Heath ‘to cause to be taken down, the name and rank of every commissioned officer, and the name, former place of abode, occupation, size, age, and description of every non-commissioned officer and private soldier, and all other persons comprehended in the convention of Saratoga.’
"This cannot be considered as imposing any new condition, but as a measure naturally resulting from the articles of convention, which the conquering party has a right to avail itself of, and which is strictly justifiable, had no just suspicion of the want of good faith in the party surrendering presented itself. Your committee are of opinion, that the reasons, which General Burgoyne adduces for refusing a compliance, are inapplicable to the case, and they beg leave to observe, that he is totally mistaken in his appeal to the conduct of Sir Guy Carleton and himself with respect to the prisoners released from Canada in August, 1776: for, notwithstanding his express declaration to the contrary in his letter of the 23 November last to General Heath, it appears from the original list of the prisoners released from Canada, which is here-with presented, that the provinces, counties, and towns, to which the prisoners released belonged, were annexed to their respective names, which, for the greater security of the conquering party, were in the handwriting of the respective prisoners. Your committee, therefore, cannot but consider General Burgoyne's refusal to give descriptive lists of the non-commissioned officers and soldiers belonging to his army, when connected with his former conduct and ill-grounded assertion on this occasion, in an alarming point of view; more especially when they consider, that nine days previous to this refusal, he had, without just cause given, declared in a letter to General Gates, that the public faith, plighted in the convention of Saratoga, was broken on the part of these states:

"This charge of a breach of public faith is of a most serious nature, pregnant with alarming consequences, and deserves greater attention, as it is not dropped in a hasty expression, dictated by sudden passion, but is delivered as a deliberate act of judgment, committed to writing, and sent to the general with whom he made the convention; and if credit is to be given to General Burgoyne’s account of himself in his letter to General Heath of the 23 November, he cannot be considered ‘of so light a character as to have acted in a serious matter of state upon a sudden impression.’

‘The reason on which he grounds this charge is, that the officers included in the convention, have not since their arrival in Massachusetts bay, been accommodated with quarters agreeable to their respective ranks: on which your committee beg leave to observe, that though from the sudden and unexpected arrival of so large a body of troops, the concourse of strangers in and near Boston, the devastation and destruction occasioned by the British army, not long since blocked up in that town, and by the American army which besieged them; and considering that the officers were not to be separated from their men, and that the troops could not be quartered with equal convenience in any other place within the limits pointed out and described in the convention, as there are not a sufficient number of barracks in any other part of that state; though from these, and many other unavoidable circumstances, the accommodation of General Burgoyne and his officers ‘who were not to be separated from their men’ might not be such as the public could wish or he expect, yet, his charge of a breach of the public faith, on this account, is not warranted either by the letter of the preliminary articles agreed on between himself and General Gates, on the 14 of October, or by the spirit of the convention, signed on the 16 of the same month;
since, by an examination of these articles, it will appear, that the stipulation, with respect to the quartering of officers, was not to be construed in that rigorous sense in which General Burgoyne affects to consider it; but, on January, 1778

the contrary, that it was 'agreed to as far as circumstances would admit.'

"Your committee forbear to lay any stress on the attempt of the enemy to alter the place of embarkation from the port of Boston to that of Rhode Island or the sound so contiguous to the port of New York, which, as well as that of Rhode Island, is at present in their possession; on the seemingly inadequate number of vessels (being only 26 transports sent to Rhode Island, as appears in a letter from General Pigot to General Burgoyne, dated the 5 December) for an army consisting of 5,642 men, in a winter's voyage to Europe; or on the improbability of the enemy's being able, on so short a notice, to victual such a fleet and army for a voyage of such length; since these suspicions, however strong, unless accompanied with the express declaration of Lieutenant General Burgoyne to General Gates, as above mentioned, and his subsequent refusal to give descriptive lists of the prisoners, would not in their opinion be a warrantable ground for Congress, justly tenacious of public faith, to delay in any manner whatsoever the execution of the convention. the declaration of Lieutenant General Burgoyne, 'that the public faith is broke,' is of itself sufficient to justify Congress in taking every measure for securing the performance of the convention, which the laws of nations, in consequence of this conduct, will justify.

"These facts and opinions, your committee, in a matter of such high moment to the honor and safety of these states, esteem it their duty to report specially; and considering that General Burgoyne has not fully complied with the convention of Saratoga, particularly in not delivering up the cartouch boxes and accoutrements; that he has expressly, and without just foundation, charged these states with a breach of public faith; that, in consequence of this declaration, whilst in our power, he may deem himself, and the army under him, absolved from their compact, and may, therefore, have refused compliance with a measure naturally resulting from the convention, and which only tended to render his officers and men insecure in case the convention, on their part, was not complied with; considering, farther, that, from the distance between America and Great Britain, there is no opportunity of accommodating this dispute in any reasonable period of time with the sovereign of the state, in behalf of which this convention was made, and that the operations of General Burgoyne’s army in America would not only defeat the main object of the convention, but prove highly prejudicial to the interests of these states; your committee submit the whole to the consideration of Congress, in order that such measures may be adopted as are consistent with the safety and honour of the United States.”

Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolutions:

Resolved, That, as many of the cartouch boxes and several other articles of military accoutrement, annexed to the persons of the non-commissioned officers and soldiers, included in the convention of Saratoga, have not been delivered up, the convention, on the part of the British army, has not been strictly complied with;

Resolved, That the refusal of Lieutenant General Burgoyne to give descriptive lists of the non-commissioned officers and privates belonging to his army, subsequent to his declaration that the public faith was broke, is considered by Congress in an alarming point of view; since a compliance with the resolution of Congress could only have been prejudicial to that army in case of an infraction of the convention on their part.

Resolved, N. C. D That the charge made by Lieutenant General Burgoyne, in his letter to Major General Gates, of the 14 November, of a breach of public faith on the part of these states, is not warranted by the just construction of any article of the convention of Saratoga; that it is a strong indication of his intention, and affords just ground of fear, that he will avail himself of such pretended breach of the convention, in order to disengage himself, and the army under him, of the obligation they are under to these United States; and that the security, which these states have had in his personal honor, is hereby destroyed.

Resolved, therefore, That the embarkation of Lieutenant General Burgoyne, and the troops under his command, be suspended till a distinct and explicit ratification of the convention of Saratoga shall be properly notified by the court of Great Britain to Congress.

The President laid before Congress a packet containing blank papers, which he informed Congress he received yesterday from a John Folger, who says he was sent by the commissioners at Paris, with despatches to Congress:

Ordered, That Mr. [Francis] Dana and the Board of War take the examination of the said John Folger respecting this packet.

Congress proceeded to the election of three members of the Board of War, to join the three members of Congress, and proceed to the camp for the purposes mentioned in the resolution passed on Saturday, and, the ballots being taken, Major General Gates, Major General Mifflin, and Colonel Pickering, were elected.

Resolved, That another member of Congress be added to the foregoing committee.

The member chosen, Mr. [John] Harvie.

A letter, of the 10th, from Samuel and Robert Purvisance, at Baltimore, was read informing among other things that a vessel is arrived there with 2500 bushels of salt.

Adjourned to 3 o'Clock.

THREE O'CLOCK, P. M.

The committee appointed to examine J. Folger respecting the despatches with which he was charged by the commissioners at Paris, laid before Congress his examination, reduced to writing, which was read; Whereupon,
Resolved, That the president inform Governor Caswell, of North Carolina, of the purport of the said examination, and request him to examine the persons who came over in the vessel with J. Folger, and inform Congress of every circumstance that may come to his knowledge respecting the said despatches:

That the Board of War be directed to confine the said John Folger in close prison, till advice can be received from Governor Caswell, or till further orders from Congress.

Resolved, That copies of the report of the committee on the letters that passed between General Heath and General Burgoyne, and General Burgoyne's letter to General Gates, together with resolutions of Congress thereon, signed by the president, and attested by the secretary, be transmitted to the several states, to General Washington, and two copies to Major General Heath, who is directed to furnish Lieutenant General Burgoyne with one copy of the same, and to order the vessels which may have arrived, or which shall arrive, for the transportation of the army under Lieutenant General Burgoyne, to quit, without delay, the port of Boston.

Resolved, That the council of Massachusetts bay be requested to afford to General Heath the necessary assistance for immediately increasing the guards placed over the troops of General Burgoyne, to the number, if they judge proper, of fifteen hundred or more, and that they be not reduced until the transports of the enemy shall have left the port of Boston, and the post at Providence shall be properly reinforced so long afterwards as the council shall judge necessary.

Whereas, Congress have received information that a sloop named the Pennsylvania Farmer is arrived at Baltimore from Curoçoa, with a load of salt, the property of Mr. Gerardus Beekman, a citizen of the State of New York, but now with the enemy in the city of Philadelphia: and whereas, the delegates representing the State of New York have applied for the interposition of Congress, that proper measures might be taken for seizing the salt; and whereas the public service will suffer the most material injury if the most expeditious measures are not adopted for securing this cargo for the use of the United States:

Resolved, That the governor and council of the State of Maryland be desired forthwith to take measures for securing the said salt for the use of the United States, and to cause the same, without delay, to be delivered to the commissary general of purchases, or any of his deputies; and in case the information given to Congress should be ill founded, and that the cargo above-mentioned should be bona fide the property of any faithful citizen of these states, or of any foreigner, that the governor and council of the State of Maryland be desired to seize the same, as well as all other quantities of salt, and to cause the same to be delivered, agreeable to the directions above mentioned.

1777, from General Heath; also, a letter of the 4th January, with a copy of a letter to General Gates ||one of the 4th,|| one of the 5th, and one of the 9th, from General Washington; a letter of the 10th, from Captain Barry, attending at York town, were read: 1

Ordered, That the letter from Mons. de la Balme, the letter and memorial from Colonel Radière, the letter from Colonel Campbell, and the letter of the 9, and that of the 5, from General Washington, be referred to the Board of War:

That the letter from Mr. Mease be referred to the Board of Treasury; the letter from Captain Barry to the Marine Committee.

Whereas, the declaration of Lieutenant General Burgoyne, in his letter of the 14 November last, to Major General Gates, that the public faith is broke on the part of these states, and other reasons set forth in the resolutions of Congress of the 8 January instant compelled Congress to adopt measures for securing the performance of the convention of Saratoga on the part of the court of Great Britain, whereby the embarkation of Lieutenant General Burgoyne's army has been necessarily suspended; and whereas, the subsistence of that army, in the State of Massachusetts bay, is not only extremely burthensome to these states, but tends greatly to distress the inhabitants of the country wherein they are quartered, and it is contrary to the principles of justice, that these states should suffer inconveniences from the conduct of Lieutenant General Burgoyne, which could not be foreseen at the time when the convention of Saratoga was entered into:

1 The letter from La Balme is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 73, VII, folio 149; the letter and memorial of La Radière are in No. 78, XIX, folios 189 and 188; that of Steuben is in No. 19, V, folio 547; that of Campbell is in No. 78, V, folio 125; those of Heath are in No. 157, folios 87 and 61; and those of Washington are in No. 152, V, folios 24, 255, and 287.

Resolved, That General Washington be directed again to require of General Howe proper passports for vessels to transport salted meat, flour, and fuel to Boston, necessary for the subsistence of Lieutenant General Burgoyne’s army, during the time they shall be necessarily detained in the State of Massachusetts-bay, in consequence of the resolutions of Congress of the 8 January instant, and that General Howe be informed, that in case of his refusal to comply with this just request, these states will not deem themselves answerable for subsisting General Burgoyne’s army, agreeable to the terms of the convention of Saratoga; but shall think themselves at liberty to remove or separate the said army, to such parts of the State of Massachusetts bay, as they may be conveniently subsisted in, till the convention of Saratoga shall be rati-ofied by the court of Great Britain, and properly notified

to be deposited, and to pay the hire of the said waggons, at the same rate paid by the quarter master general:

That the Board of War be empowered to limit the prices to be given for the said wheat and flour, and to give such orders and directions to the commissioners as they shall think proper or necessary, from time to time: provided, that no limitation to be made by the Board of War, with respect to price, shall contravene any acts of the legislature of Pensylvania, or any of the regulations which may be made hereafter by the convention of committees which is to meet at New Haven, in Connecticut, on this fifteenth day of January:

That these magazines, being established without the interference of the commissary general, or his officers, shall, when necessary, be ordered under the direction of the issuing commissary general by the Board of War:

That General Washington be directed to support the commissioners in the execution of their duty, with military force, if necessary:

That the Board of War be empowered to direct the said commissioners to purchase any fat cattle and salted meat they meet with in their tours through the country, on the best terms in their power, and deliver the same to the commissary general of issues, or his deputies, taking their accountable receipts for what they so delivered:1

That the Board of War enquire of his Excellency Thomas Wharton, Esq', president of the council of the State of Pensylvania, what measures have been taken by the legislature of that State, for laying up magazines for the army; and if it should appear to the Board, after such enquiry, that measures for that purpose have been taken adequate to the present critical situation of the army with

The Board of War brought in a report, which was taken into consideration; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the Board of War be authorized to direct Colonel Flower to make a contract with Mr. Whitehead Humphreys, on the terms of the former agreement, or such other as Colonel Flower shall deem equitable, for making a quantity of steel, for the supply of the continental artificers and works with that necessary article; and as the iron made at the Andover works only will with certainty answer the purpose of making steel, Colonel Flower be directed to apply to the government of New Jersey to put a proper person in possession of these works, (the same belonging to persons who adhere to the enemies of these states) upon such terms as the government of the State of New Jersey shall think proper; and that Colonel Flower contract with the said person for such quantity of iron as he shall think the service requires.

Resolved, That a letter be written by the Board of War to the governor and council of the State of New Jersey, setting forth the peculiarity of the demand for these works, being the only proper means of securing iron for steel, an article without which the service must irreparably suffer; and that the said governor and council be desired to take such means as they shall think most proper for putting the said works in blast, and obtaining a supply of iron without delay.

Bedell; one, of the same date, from James Duane, Esq', were read:

Ordered, That they be referred to the Board of War.

A letter of the 12, from Major General Schuyler, and one, of the 6th, from Major General Arnold, were read:¹

Ordered, That they be referred to the Board of Treasury.

The Board of War reported,

That having conferred with Mr. Elias Boudinot, commissary of prisoners, on the 21 December, and carefully examined the evidences produced by him, they esteem it their duty to state to Congress the following facts, relating to the American prisoners in the power of the enemy:

That as far as can be collected from the testimony of prisoners and inhabitants, who have left the enemy, there are about 900 privates and 300 officers in the city of New York, and about 500 privates and fifty officers in the city of Philadelphia:

That the privates in New York have been crowded all summer in sugar houses, and the officers boarded on Long Island, except about thirty, who have been confined in the provost guard and in the most loathsome gaols:

That since the beginning of October all these prisoners, both officers and privates, have been confined in prison ships or the provost:

That the privates in the city of Philadelphia have been kept in the two public gaols, and the officers in the state house:

That from the best evidence which the nature of the subject will admit of, it appears that the general allowance of provisions at the most, does not exceed four ounces of meat and the same quantity of bread, (often so damaged as not to be eatable) per man per day, and ofttimes much less; although the professed allowance is from eight to ten ounces; and that the prisoners have been treated in general (officers not excepted,) with a cruelty scarce to be paralleled, and with the most studied and illiberal insult:

That it has been a common practice with the enemy, on a prisoner being first captured, to keep him three, four, and even five days, without a morsel of provisions of any kind, and then to tempt him to inlist with the new levies, in order to save his life:

That there are numerous instances of prisoners of war perishing in all the agonies of hunger from their severe treatment.

That being generally stripped of what cloaths they have when taken, they have suffered greatly for want thereof during their confinement:

That in the beginning of last summer, bills of exchange to the amount of £600 sterling, purchased of David Franks, British commissary of prisoners, residing within the jurisdiction of these states, were sent into New York for the relief of the prisoners; that every obstacle was thrown in the way to prevent the negotiation of these bills, and after a delay of two months, they were returned to Mr. Boudinot, the American commissary of prisoners:

That the American commissary of prisoners had permission to send in provisions from the Hudson’s and Raritan rivers into New York, and to purchase cloathing there for about two months’ past; but, on this condition, that the sloop, carrying the provisions, stop at the man of war stationed in the mouth of Hudson’s river, where the hands are taken on board of the ship, and the agent for American prisoners in New York is obliged to send hands from thence to take the sloop over to the city and return her again to the man of war, which not only renders it very tedious and expensive, but prevents getting sloops for the purpose, as very few owners chuse to trust their vessels in the enemy's hands, and to remain prisoners on board of the man of war till the sloop returns:

That provisions, which have been sent into the city of New York for the subsistence of the American prisoners, have been prevented by a public ordinance from being sold at a higher rate than 45s per c[ ] [hundred] for flour, although the current price of that article was six pounds per c[ ] [hundred], and it actually sold current at that price betwixt individuals, while the flour belonging to these states was sold at the ordinance price:

That the American prisoners' in the power of the enemy have not had any allowance made to them for their subsistence, although the British officers in the power of these states have been allowed, by a resolution of Congress, two dollars a week for their subsistence:

That in consequence of repeated remonstrances from General Washington to General Howe concerning the injurious treatment of prisoners in his power, General Howe, in his letter to General Washington in November last, promised, "that a commissary should be permitted to carry in a supply of cloathing, money and other necessaries for the prisoners in Philadelphia, and to visit the places where they were confined."

That on a conference which passed betwixt Mr. Ferguson, the British comissary of prisoners, and Mr. Boudinot, the comissary of prisoners for these states, who was ordered by General Washington to visit the prisoners, agreeable to General Howe's promise, Mr. Ferguson said, that he was desired by General Howe to let Mr. Boudinot know, "that there could be no necessity for his coming into the city, as he would see that the prisoners were properly dealt by;” and Mr. Boudinot was not suffered to go in:

That, on this conference, Mr. Ferguson, the British commissary of prisoners, complaining of the inattention paid to the supplying of prisoners in their hands with cloaths, said, “that there was plenty of cloathing in Philadelphia, which we were at liberty to purchase for provisions, and to appoint agents for that purpose; that on Mr. Boudinot’s expressing his doubt on this point, Mr. Ferguson shewed great surprize at his unbelief, and assured him repeatedly that full liberty to purchase cloathing would be granted;”

That Mr. Ferguson, in his letter of the 2d December says, “that permission will be given to send in cloathing to our prisoners, but that General Howe does not think fit to allow it to be purchased in Philadelphia.”

Congress taking into consideration the foregoing facts, and considering, that during the whole time in which the American prisoners have suffered such unparalled rigour and insult, and every obstacle has been thrown in the way to obstruct their relief, the prisoners taken from the enemy have been plentifully supplied with provisions, either at the expence of these states or by commissaries in the service of the enemy, permitted to reside, and purchase, without controul, within the jurisdiction of these states; that their officers have been admitted, on their parole, in good quarters, and a weekly allowance made them; that few, even of their privates, have been, for any time, confined in gaol; but, on the contrary, that they have been permitted to work abroad, and to receive the full price of their labour; thereupon,

Resolved, That the allowance of two dollars a week to officers, who are prisoners of war to these United States, do cease, unless to those officers who may be entitled thereto by any contract made on or before their captivity or surrender:¹

That neither David Franks, nor any other agent or person whatsoever, be permitted to negotiate bills within these United States for the supply of prisoners taken from the enemy, or to purchase provisions, or other necessaries for such purpose, within the jurisdiction of these states, except in the manner herein-after provided:¹

That every British commissary, or any other persons or agents, employed to supply prisoners taken from the enemy, with provisions, shall make returns of the prisoners under his or their respective care to the purchasing commissary of the district, wherein such prisoners are confined, who shall deliver a sufficient number of rations for their weekly or monthly subsistence, as circumstances shall render necessary, taking duplicate promissory receipts for the same, payable in thirty days after date, one of which receipts shall be forthwith transmitted to the commissary general of purchases, or to the deputy commissary general of the department in which the provisions are supplied:

That the provisions so received shall be paid for in the manner prescribed by the resolution of Congress of the 19 December last; and, in case the same shall be accounted for in gold and silver, the commissary general or deputy commissary of purchases receiving the same, shall remit it, without delay, to the Board of Treasury, in order that the same may be applied as a fund for relieving the distresses of the prisoners in the power of the enemy:

That, in case failure shall be made by any person signing such receipt, in discharging the amount, when it shall become due, no farther provisions shall be issued for the

That, in return for the permission hereby given to purchase provisions of the American commissaries, for the use of the enemy’s prisoners, General Washington be directed to demand of General Howe, liberty to purchase cloathing in such places as may be under his power, for the use of the American prisoners; the cloathing so furnished to be paid for either in gold or silver, or in provision, to be sent in and sold at the market price: and that,

In case General Howe should chuse to order provision and other necessaries to be sent out for the supply of the prisoners in our power, instead of the mode proposed by the former resolutions, he be permitted to send what supplies may, from time to time, be necessary, to such post as the American commissary of prisoners shall direct, which provision when sent out, shall be issued to the prisoners by persons appointed by General Howe for that purpose, provided that permits be granted by General Howe for transporting provisions either by land or water, as shall be most convenient, from the states of New York, New Jersey, Pensylvania, Maryland, and Virginia, for the use of the American prisoners in the cities of New York, and Philadelphia, and in the town of Newport, in Rhode Island; and the provisions so sent in, be issued out by commissaries or by other persons appointed for such purpose, by these states, who shall be permitted to reside at the places where the prisoners are confined:

That, in return for the permission given by the resolution of Congress of the 21 May, 1776, for a commissioned officer from the British army to visit monthly the prisoners in the power of these states, “in order to count their numbers and certify their rolls,” General Washington be directed to demand peremptorily of General Howe, a like permission, or to agree upon any other equal mode, for ascertaining the situation of the American prisoners, which shall be deemed most expedient; and in case of General Howe's refusal to give satisfaction on this point, that General Washington regulate his future conduct by the conduct of General Howe:

That General Washington be directed to require of General Howe the reasons why several officers in the service of these states, and other citizens, now in his power, have been so long confined either in the provost-guard or loathsome gaols, and treated with such unparalleled rigor; and if General Howe shall refuse to make any answer to his requisition, within the space of five days, or give such reasons for the treatment of these unfortunate persons as shall not be justifiable by the laws of nations, General Washington be directed immediately to order a number of the enemy's officers, as nearly equal in rank and condition of life as possible, to the persons so confined without just cause, forthwith to be imprisoned, subsisted, and treated in the same manner as the persons above alluded to are imprisoned, subsisted, and treated; and that he be informed, that it is the expectation, and express order of Congress, that this mode of treatment, in general, be continued, changed, or suspended, as the conduct of the enemy, with respect to the American prisoners, shall, from time to time, render just and necessary, without waiting for any special order from Congress for such purpose:

That the commissary general of prisoners, and his respective deputies, be forthwith directed to call in all the officers and privates belonging to the enemy, and to confine them in such places, and order them to be subsisted and treated in such manner, as shall render their situation similar in all respects to that of the officers and privates who are prisoners with the enemy; and that they continue this mode of treatment, till such time as a change of conduct, on the part of the enemy, shall induce Congress, or the commander in chief of the armies of these states, to give directions for a different line of conduct on their part:

That it be recommended to the government of the respective states, where prisoners of war are confined, to give every assistance in their power to the commissary general of prisoners or his deputies, by putting them in possession of gaols or other proper buildings, and by furnishing them with guards, in order to enable them to execute the foregoing resolution.

And whereas, General Howe, by his letter to General Washington in November last, affects to make a distinction in the treatment of persons taken in arms, and of the faithful citizens of these states subjected to his power, in a manner not only contrary to reason and the principles of humanity, but inconsistent with the sentiments expressed by General Howe himself, in his letter to General Washington, dated Staten Island, 1 August, 1776:

Resolved, That General Washington be directed to require of General Howe an explanation of those parts of his letter of November, 1777, which imply this distinction, and the line of conduct which he means to observe for the future, with respect to such of the faithful citizens of these states as may be subjected to his power.1

Resolved, That a committee of four be appointed to prepare a manifesto on the injurious treatment our prisoners and faithful citizens receive from the enemy: the members chosen, Mr. [John] Witherspoon, Mr. J[onathan]

The Board of War brought in another report on Indian affairs, which was read:

AT A BOARD OF WAR, Feb. 1st, 1778

Present General Gates and Mr Peters.
The Board taking into consideration the letters on Indian affairs, Agreed to Report:

That it is impossible for this Board, to determine the language which ought, with propriety, to be held out to the Indians at the intended Treaty at Johnstown, in the State of New York, as the addresses to them should be adapted to such as are received upon the occasion from their side, and as exigencies point out. Soothing them, will certainly produce contempt, and inspire them with an idea of our unimportance. They therefore would humbly suggest, that the Commissioners be instructed to speak to them, in a tone becoming the representatives of free and independent states, and such as will convince them, that we feel that we are so. Every species of insult or threat, should be retaliated; but the Commissioners are or will be, the best judges whether, from the temper they find among the Indians supposed to be disaffected, it will be right to insist upon their taking an active part in our favor, as, according to their representation, it seems doubtful against whom they will act, when they are permitted to embody.

The Expedition now on foot, will, according to its success have great operation upon Indian affairs; therefore the Board are of opinion, that at this time a solid judgement cannot be formed, concerning future proceedings; and that therefore the Commissioners should be strengthened as to Number; and invested with discretionary Powers to Speak, or Act, as Occasion may require; and they should be assured that Congress will support them in any Measures they think proper to adopt.

That the Commissioners be informed, how impossible it is to procure Blankets for Covering our Troops, and therefore their Request of 5, or 600 for the Indians, cannot be complied with, unless they can purchase them; which they should be Authorized to do, or wait the Event of the Expedition; unless they can be procured out of the Public Stores to the Eastward; in which case the Commissioners be invested with Power to order the Number required to be sent to Johnstown.

That the Commissioners be Authorized, and directed, to Comply with Mr Wheelock's request, as to the Maintenance and Education of the Indian Children.

That they be acquainted, that the Hard Money in the Chest at Albany, is ordered up to Co'os for the intended Expedition.

The Board beg Leave to Suggest the Necessity of Genl. Schuyler's Presence at the Treaty.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to a committee of three.

The members chosen, Mr. [Thomas] M'Kean, Mr. [William] Ellery, and Mr. [Abraham] Clark.

That it is not, however, the intention of Congress that the Marquis should be detained till General McDougal’s intention can be known, as the success of the expedition depends upon its being executed without loss of time.

That in compliance with the request of the Marquis de la Fayette, commissions be granted to the following French gentlemen, who have produced to the Board of War credentials of their rank and military merit in the French service, and are moreover recommended by the Marquis to be employed under him, agreeable to their respective ranks in the intended incursion into Canada; [the said officers to be appointed to the command only of such Canadians as may be embodied in Canada,]¹ viz:

On the back of the Treasury report (No. 136, II, folio 55), Charles Thomson has noted:

"I have examined the journals, and see no reason why the bills reported on the 13 November last, as due to the two Fouquets for the balance of pay should not be paid; especially as Mr. Lovel reported that when they entered into the new contract with the board of war, they mentioned that they expected to have those bills to send home to their family; and as it appears that the younger Fouquet received no gratification before he left France and that it was omitted by mistake upon the settlement with le Brun, that also should be paid, viz. 600 livres.

"But the 900 livres allowed for their passage and the 100 dollars allowed to carry each of them to the port of embarkation should be stopped, as they have entered into the service of the states."

For the better regulating the hospitals of the United States,

Dr. William Brown was elected.

The committee to whom was referred the report of the committee appointed to consider the proposals contained in a letter to General Washington from the committee sent to camp, brought in a report; Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolutions:

Whereas, it has been found by experience, that the mode adopted by a resolution of Congress of the 29 April, 1777, for calling to account such officers as have been intrusted with public money, for recruiting continental battalions, has not had the desired effect; and it is essential to the liberties of the United States that due attention should be paid to the expenditure of their public monies, to enable them to support the war, and avoid that system of corruption and tyranny which prevails in the government of their unnatural enemies:

Resolved, That the resolution aforesaid, excepting that part thereof that empowers the commissioners of claims and accounts to administer oaths and affirmations, be repealed.

That a suitable number of auditors of accounts be appointed by Congress [for the armies of the United States:]¹

That it shall be the duty of each auditor to reside in the army to which he is appointed, and not to be absent without the leave of the commanding officer; to call to account the several Regimental Paymasters and recruiting officers thereof [all regimental officers] for public money, which they shall have received and have not accounted for; to receive, from time to time, the pay rolls and abstracts of the army from the pay master or deputy pay master general, who shall previously examine and certify thereon the sums that are due; to settle all other accounts of the army, excepting those in the departments of the quarter master, pay master, director, cloathier, or barrack master general, and of the commissaries general of provisions, prisoners and military stores; to certify the sums

That the auditor general, commissioners of accounts, pay master and deputy pay masters general, and such other continental officers as may have monies charged in their offices to persons who are to account with the respective auditors, be directed to send, on or before the first day of May next, and afterwards quarterly, to the respective auditors of the army, duplicate accounts of such charges, and to furnish them with the necessary papers and information, when required, for executing their office: and the said auditors are severally directed to observe the same rule with respect to each other, and also once a quarter to transmit, to each of the officers aforesaid, duplicate lists of the regiments, whose accounts they are to audit, and to the Board of Treasury, a list of accounts received from the several officers aforesaid, together with the names of such of the said officers as shall have neglected to comply with this resolve,¹ [in order that the Board may have the

That the auditors shall keep fair and regular books constantly posted, and shall charge therein all accounts referred to them for settlement by the preceding article, and all warrants drawn in favour of persons who are accountable to them for the same: they shall also keep a fair record of all accounts disallowed by them, and of such as are allowed, but not stated in the said books, in order to which, and that the pay rolls, abstracts and accounts settled by the auditors may be filed in their respective offices, no warrant whatever shall be paid by the pay master or deputy pay master general, until the respective auditor shall have certified thereon that it has passed his inspection, and that the accounts and vouchers thereto belonging are lodged in his office:

That each recruiting officer shall produce certificates from the muster master or deputy muster master general, specifying the number of non-commissioned officers and soldiers, and if officers of the light horse, the number of horses, arms and equipage belonging to their respective regiments, companies or troops, together with such vouchers as shall be necessary to prove the sums expended for these articles, the subsistance of the troops before their joining the army, the loss of money by death, desertions of non-commissioned officers or soldiers before muster, or other necessary expences, [agreeable to the resolves of Congress in such case provided:]²

The committee on the state of Georgia brought in a report which was read:

¹Passed February 18, post.
²This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 77. The last was an amendment, in the writing of Francis Lightfoot Lee.
The Committee appointed to take into Consideration the Situation of the State of Georgia, beg leave to Report as follows, viz:

Whereas the State of Georgia has laboured under many and great difficulties in throwing off the Yoke of British Tyranny and acceding to the Continental Union, and being but a weak State, and almost surrounded by Enemies, it will be necessary for their Protection and Assistance to maintain on the Continental Establishment, at least two thousand Men. And whereas there are now in the State of Georgia four Battalions of Infantry, one of Horse, three Companies of Artillery, and six Row Gallies, which will be a considerable Expenditure in Officers, while there are but few Privates under their Command, and as there is great Need of retrenching all superfluous Charges;¹

Resolved, That there shall be from this time only two Battalions of Infantry to be composed out of the four old Battalions, the first, new Battalion to be under the Command of Colonel ——— Lieutenant Colonel ——— and Major ——— the Captains, Lieutenants, Ensigns, Surgeons, and other Officers to be chosen by a Majority of the Field Officers above mentioned, out of the first and second old Battalions. The second new Battalion to be commanded by Colonel ——— Lieut. Colonel ——— and Major ———, the Captains, Ensigns, Surgeons, and other Officers to be chosen by a majority of the above field Officers, out of the third and fourth old Battalions: the Privates of the three artillery Companies to be incorporated into two: the first under Captain Thomas Lee and his officers to remain in and about Savannah; and the other under Captain Thomas Morris and his officers in and about Sunbury. The Battalion of Horse to be reduced to four Independent Companies, of fifty Privates each, under the Command of Capt: ———.²

¹ In the margin is written "Agreed to allow 2,000 R[ank] and F[ile] for protection of Georgia." The writing is that of Henry Laurens.

² On folio 433 is the draft of a motion or amendment, in the writing of Abraham Clark, which may have given rise to this paragraph. The motion is as follows: "Resolved, That the Forces at present stationed in Georgia be reduced to two battalions of Infantry under the present Establishment; and 2 Unregimented Companies of Artillery; and 4 Unregimented Companies of Horse. The officers of the said battalions and companies to be selected by the Legislative Authority of that State, out of the Officers at present on that Station, as nearly agreeable to the Rank they now hold as the public Service in their opinion will admit, dismissing from the Continental Service all such officers as may not be retained and employed in manner above said."
February, 1778

There shall be two Row Gallies, with the usual Officers and fifty Privates each, together with one large or two small armed Sea Vessels, to cruize constantly on the coast and protect the Trade. These Vessels to be instead of the Gallies already built there, which shall be sold, and the Money appropriated for the use of the Sea Vessels aforesaid.

Resolved, That the sum of eight hundred thousand Dollars be allowed for the Support of the abovementioned Establishment, and if at any-time the Number of Troops as aforesaid is not or cannot be procured in Georgia, and there should be any Attacks made on the said State, either by the British Troops, or the Indians, and the Legislative or Executive Authority shall find it necessary to call out the Militia, that the pay and subsistence of the said Militia shall be added to the pay and subsistence of such continental Troops, as shall be raised as far as to the Amount of the above-mentioned 800,000 Dollars. And if from the Necessity of the Circumstance, it shall amount to more, the said State shall make Application to Congress for the Overplus Money.

Resolved, That for the pay and subsistence of the above said Troops, the Money to be raised by Tax, as recommended by Congress, shall be in part, as also what Money shall arise upon the Sale of the United States Lottery Tickets, and also the Monies put into the Loan Office of the said State. And the State is hereby impowered to apply the Money of these Funds for the Purposes aforesaid, the Ballance if any to be remitted to the Treasury of Georgia every six months, or the State to draw Bills for the same on the Continental Treasury at their Option.

No. 9

The State of Georgia having appropriated 100,000 Dollars for a fund and appointed Commissioners to import and purchase Arms, Artillery, Ammunition, Cloathing, &c. for what Troops May be stationed in the said States.

Resolved, That all Supplies of Cloathing, Arms, Ammunition, &c., wanting for the Continental Troops be imported and purchased as aforesaid, under the Care and Direction of the Legislative and Executive Authority, and that the same be delivered to the Order of the Commanding Officer residing in the said State.

Resolved, That the Pay, Subsistence and contingent Expenses for the Troops shall be drawn for on the Regimental Pay Master as usual, by the Commanding Officer, who shall be accountable, if there be any wrong Charges.

Resolved, That all Provisions for the Troops in Georgia, shall be supplied by Contract, or in such other way as shall appear to the Government of the said State, to be the surest Supply and the least prejudicial to the said State and the United States.

Whereas it appears that the State of Georgia, has advanced a very considerable Sum for the Continent in support of the Continental Troops there, for almost two years past, which has obliged them to make large Emissions of paper Currency, as well as to borrow near one hundred thousand Pounds Sterling for the same Purpose for which they have pledged the Faith of the State, that those Debts shall be redeemed with Continental Currency.

Resolved, That out of the money formerly granted to Georgia, That the Sum of 500,000 Dollars be immediately remitted to the said State, to enable them to take up the Bills of Credit, and Treasury Certificates, issued for the Purposes aforesaid, and that the further Sum of 300,000 Dollars be remitted to the said State on or before the first Day of May next, for the Purposes aforesaid, or the State to draw for the same, as shall be most for their Convenience.

Whereas, It appears by a Report from the Auditors appointed to settle the Accounts presented by the State of Georgia, that large Sums of Money have been supplied by that State, on Account of the Continent, the Expenditure of which is not in any satisfactory Manner accounted for by the several Persons, that have been entrusted therewith, and who are mostly Continental Officers.

Resolved, That all Officers that now hold or have held a Continental Commission, and have received or shall hereafter receive any money on the public Account in the said State, and have not, or cannot account satisfactorily for the same, shall be liable to Military Arrest from the Commanding Officer in Georgia, altho' in any other State; and shall be subject to be removed from either of the States, with the Consent of the Executive Authority of the same, into Georgia, in order to be tried by a Court Martial, according to such Resolves of Congress that now are, or shall be hereafter made for compelling delinquents to account for the public Money, notwithstanding the said Officer may desire to resign, or has offered the resignation of his Commission, and that no Resignation shall be accepted of, until all public Accounts are settled and paid. And the Commanding Officer is hereby required to use his best Endeavours to assist the said State in compelling all Continental Officers to account for the money entrusted to their Care.¹

Resolved, That whenever the Legislative or Executive Authority of the State of Georgia shall recommend a particular Place or Post to be garrisoned or guarded, or the Removal of any Part of the Troops from any post or place, it shall be the duty of the Commanding Officer to comply therewith immediately, and when any Officer shall so far misbehave, as to induce the Legislative or Executive Authority to think he deserves to be removed from his Command they shall have power to suspend him, until the Sense of Congress shall be known, and for this purpose, they shall send the Suspension with the reasons thereof to Congress as soon as may be.

Resolved, That Major General Howe and three of the eldest field Officers in South Carolina shall immediately repair to Georgia and consult with the Commanding officer there and the field Officers of the said State, on a Plan for reducing the Province of East Florida, and when the said Plan shall be agreed on it shall be at the Option of General Howe either to carry it on in person, or to commit the Execution thereof to Colonel Samuel Elbert, and that General Howe shall order of the Continental Troops in South Carolina, to be employed in conjunction with the Troops now in Georgia to carry on the said Expedition, and that General Howe be empowered and required to send on the said Expedition, such Continental Artillery, Arms, Stores, &c, either in South Carolina or Georgia, that may be found necessary. And further that General Howe, or the Officer Commanding on the said Expedition, be empowered to borrow of the states of South Carolina and Georgia, all such Artillery, Arms or any other Military Stores necessary for the forwarding this Expedition, and that the Continent will make good the loss or damage.

And that an experienced Engineer be sent on the said Expedition either from the Army or Elsewhere.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the States of Virginia and North Carolina, to permit the State of Georgia to recruit the Compliment of men heretofore granted by the said State, being two Battalions, and that the states of Virginia, North and South Carolina, be requested to give all possible assistance to the State of Georgia, in apprehending deserters from the Continental Troops stationed there, and to cause them when apprehended to be conveyed to Georgia.
Whereas at the first of the Dispute with England, the Planters and Lumber Makers in the State of Georgia had large Quantities of Rice and Lumber by them, the greater part of which has perished for want of Exportation; And also now the Planters have a large share of two Crops of Rice on hand which must soon be good for little, and the Lumber Makers are entirely without any Sale or demand for their Labour, as there is little or no Exportation, but by Strangers who are mostly French, and seldom take any thing but Indigo. The mercantile part of the State being in general inimical to Independence, many of them have left the State of themselves, others have been sent away, and the few remaining have declined all Trade. And whereas the Continent is in want of remittances to France, and the Islands, and it being well known that nothing makes a surer remittance, than Rice, Deer Skins and Lumber, and also that the Ports of Georgia are less disturbed by the Enemy than most other Ports in America, The Delegates of Georgia hope that some mode may be adopted, in the Continental Commerce to take off the Produce of that State, whereby the distresses of the Inhabitants may be much lessened, and they be enabled, as readily as they are willing, to pay the Taxes necessary for the support of Government.

Resolved, Therefore that the Continental Agents, in France, be ordered immediately to purchase a Number of Prizes sent in there, especially Vessels from one hundred and fifty to three hundred Tons Burthen, and send them to Georgia with Cargoes, suitable for the Inhabitants, or Soldiery, consigned to one or more Agents to be chosen by the State, who shall give security for their Conduct which Agents Shall load the said Vessels back to France, &c, or the Islands, as they shall be ordered by your Agents in France. And also if the State can procure Vessels themselves and will load them with Rice, Indigo, and Deer Skins to France, and consign them to the continental Agents, or to the West Indies, with Rice, Corn or Lumber, consigned to the Continental Agents there, that on the Vessels sailing so loaded, and a Bill of Lading from the Captain, and an Invoice of the Cargoes being sent to the Commercial Committee, the said State Shall be entitled to draw on the said Committee for the amount of the Cargo and necessary Charges. A Duplicate of the Bill or Bills for the said Amount coming with the Invoice and Bill of Lading, on the receipt of which the said Committee shall be empowered to pay the said Bill, and the Cargo as aforesaid shall be deemed Continental, and be at the Risque of the Continent from the time of Shipping.

Resolved, That when Prizes are taken by any Continental Vessel in the West Indies that some of them be ordered into Georgia for sale and the proceeds to be shipped in the produce of the Country to such ports as may be ordered.

The Commercial and Marine Committee having lodged a sum of Money in Georgia for the purpose of Importing Arms Ammunition, Cloathing &c, for the use of the Troops: And whereas the State has likewise established a fund for that purpose, and appointed Commissioners to carry on the same, and the State has ordered their Delegates to apply to Congress, that whatever Money, goods &c may be in Georgia belonging to the Continent be put under the Management of the State in order that justice may be done in the Transacting thereof, and no Interference happen between the State and the Continent.

Resolved, That all money's goods, wares, and Merchandize, belonging to the Continent and sent to Georgia by the Marine or Commercial Committee, be delivered over to the order of that State, the said State to be accountable, and that the Marine and Commercial Committee be desired to give Orders accordingly.¹

Ordered, That the consideration thereof be postponed till to morrow.

Adjourned to 10 o'Clock to Morrow.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1778

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to revise the rules and orders for regulating the conduct of Congress in transacting business, and report such farther rules and regulations as they judge proper:

The members chosen, Mr. [James] Lovell, Mr. [John] Witherspoon and Mr. [Thomas] M'Kean.

¹These reports, numbered 1 to 4, in a writing not identified, are in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 20, II, folios 429-438. They apparently formed one report.
The committee to whom the letter from the Board of War was referred, reported, that they have prepared sundry resolutions for forwarding the laying up magazines for the supply of the army, and preventing any interference between the commissioners appointed for that purpose by an act of the general assembly of Pennsylvania and the superintendents appointed by the Board of War, and that it is their desire that these resolutions, if agreed to by Congress, should be substituted in the place of the report of the committee to whom the letter of the 3 from the executive council of Pennsylvania, and the proceedings of the Board of War on the resolution of the 15 January were referred, and the resolutions passed by Congress thereon, except the granting 300,000 dollars, to the president of the State of Pennsylvania:

The resolutions being read, were agreed to as follows:

Whereas it is expedient and necessary to lay up magazines of provisions for the support of the army, and, for that purpose, Congress have directed 12,000 barrels of flour to be deposited at or near Lancaster, 8,000 barrels at or near Reading, 6,000 barrels at or near Bethlehem, 2,000 barrels at Downings town, and 2,000 barrels at Pottsgrove; and, whereas, in consequence of the recommendation of Congress, the general assembly of Pennsylvania have, by a law, appointed commissioners in each county within their State, to purchase or seize wheat, flour and other provisions, &c. for the supply of the army, pursuant to such orders as they shall receive from Congress;

Resolved, That the president and executive council of the State of Pennsylvania be desired to issue the money, with which they have been or shall be furnished by Congress, to the said commissioners, in such proportions as they shall think fit; that they instruct the commissioners on the east side of Susquehanna, to proceed without delay, in the execution of the trust reposed in them; and that they instruct them to which of the above-mentioned places they shall convey the flour and other provisions which they shall purchase or seize, in order to form the magazines aforesaid:

That the said executive council be authorized and requested to appoint a suitable person at each of the above places, with such a salary as they shall judge reasonable, to inspect, receive, store and take care of the provisions aforesaid, and to issue the same upon the orders of the Board of War, until Congress shall appoint other storekeepers in their stead:

That the president and council aforesaid be requested to cause a weekly return to be made to the Board of War of the quantity of provisions stored at each of the places above-mentioned:

That the Board of War give directions and orders to the commissioners appointed by the aforesaid law, in the several counties on the west side of Susquehanna, respecting the quantity of provisions to be purchased or collected by them, and the places to which the same shall be conveyed; and that the said Board appoint a suitable person at each of the places they shall fix on, with such a salary as they shall judge reasonable, to inspect, receive, store and take care of the said provisions, and to issue the same upon the orders of the Board of War:

That the commissioners aforesaid be authorized to purchase every kind of provision and forage wanted for the army, not confining themselves to the article of flour; that the said commissioners deliver the live stock, by them purchased, to the order of the deputy commissary general of purchases, or his assistants, and the forage, to the order of the commissary of forage, or his assistants, to whom severally they are directed to send immediate notice, when such purchases are made, and to take duplicate receipts upon the delivery, one of which they shall transmit to the Board of War:

That the Board of War be directed to correspond, from time to time, with the president and council of Pennsylvania, respecting the business aforesaid, and if, from the circumstances or situation of affairs, they shall judge it proper or necessary to lessen the quantity of provisions to be laid up between Susquehanna and Delaware rivers, or to change the places of the magazines, that they communicate the same to the president and council, who are requested to attend thereto, and to issue orders to the commissioners to govern themselves accordingly.

And, whereas, the Board of War have judged it expedient and necessary, that a greater quantity of flour and other provisions, than was directed by the resolution of Congress of the 15 January, should be purchased, and other magazines formed, besides those above mentioned; and have, agreeably to the powers vested in them by the said resolution of the 15th January, employed superintendents for the purchase of flour, &c.

Resolved, That the Board of War proceed in that business, and that they direct their superintendents, to purchase such farther quantities of flour and provisions, and have them conveyed to, and secured in, such places as the Board shall direct; and that they instruct such of their superintendents as may purchase in Pennsylvania, to avoid clashing with the commissioners appointed by the law of that State, in the execution of their duty:

That the said Board be empowered to appoint a suitable person at each of the new magazines, which they shall establish, with such a salary as they shall judge reasonable, to inspect, receive, store and take care of the provisions purchased and conveyed thither by the said superintendents, and to issue the same upon the orders of the Board of War:

That the superintendents, appointed by the Board of War, be allowed a commission, not exceeding $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on all purchases by them made, in full for their trouble and expenses therein; and that, in purchasing, they do not exceed the prices established by the laws of the states in which the purchases are made.

While this last was under debate, it was moved, and, by a vote, carried, that a vote should be first taken on the following resolution to be added: viz.

And that the president and council of Pensylvania be empowered to settle the pay, or allowance, to be made to the commissioners appointed by the law of their State, for their trouble and expense in purchasing, seizing and collecting provisions and forage, not exceeding $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on the provisions and forage by them so purchased, or seized, for the army:

Mr. [Oliver] Wolcott and Mr. [Samuel] Huntington, 2 delegates from Connecticut, attended, and produced the credentials of their appointment, ||which were read as follows:||

(L. S.) At a general assembly of the governor and company of the state of Connecticut, holden at Hartford, by adjournment on the 11th of October, Anno Domini 1777:

Whereas, it appears to Congress, by the copy of a letter from General Washington to General Howe, of the 10 of this month, that he has consented to the propositions of General Howe, to the following effect: "that an exchange of all prisoners now in our possession, officer for officer, soldier for soldier, and citizen for citizen, so far as number and rank will apply, be carried into execution as expeditiously as the nature of the case will admit, and without regard to any controverted point, which might prove an impediment to so desirable an end;"

And, whereas, by a resolution of Congress of the 19 December last, a release of prisoners in the power of these states cannot take place before the account of all provisions, and other necessaries, which have been supplied by the public to such prisoners, are liquidated and discharged:
And, whereas, it is the wish of Congress to accomplish the desirable purpose of exchanging the prisoners without unnecessary delay:

Whereas, the well being and safety of these states require that a powerful army be early brought into the field, effectually to oppose and defeat the public enemies thereof:³ and whereas by the actual invasion of some of the said states, and the local circumstances of others, it would be inexpedient and unreasonable to draw forth from all of them their full proportion of the continental battalions, according to the establishment heretofore settled and apportioned in Congress:

¹This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 106.
²In the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, 1, folio 543, is a report of the Board of War, as follows:

The members present were [Josiah] Root, Pickering and Peters. It is without date.
³The original report added: "and as experience hath fully proved the impracticability of recruiting an army in due season by voluntary enlistments, and it has therefore become indispensably necessary to accomplish the same by drafts from the militia of the several States;"

That it be recommended to the several states to appoint officers to superintend the making and forwarding the said drafts, and to direct such superintendents to procure complete lists of the men drafted, with a description of their persons, their age, stature, the places of their abode, and the regiment and company from which they shall have been drafted, and to forward the same to the commissioners hereafter mentioned, who shall transmit an exact copy thereof to the Commander in Chief.

That it be recommended to each of the said states to appoint one or more commissioners, to reside at the said places of rendezvous, for the purpose of receiving the drafts of their respective states, and delivering them over to the continental officers, who may be appointed by the Commander in Chief, there to receive them; and further, to direct their respective commissioners to give receipts for such drafted men as shall be delivered to them, and make out such descriptive lists, as aforesaid, of the men by them, from time to time, delivered over to such continental officers, and take receipts thereon from them, and transmit copies of such lists and receipts to the Commander in Chief:

That it be recommended to the several states to make provision for their drafted men upon their march to the said places of rendezvous, and that the states be allowed, for such subsistence, one twenty-fourth part of a dollar per mile for each man actually marching to the said places of rendezvous, and no more.

Resolved, That all the drafts from the New England states shall rendezvous at Fish Kill, on Hudson's river; those of New York, at Easton, in the State of Pennsylvania; those of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland, at camp; those of Virginia, at Alexandria and

And in case any of the said articles shall be lost or rendered useless in the service, without the negligence or fault of the proprietor, he shall be paid the value thereof.

Resolved, That it be earnestly recommended to the several States to forbear giving any public bounty whatever to the men who shall be drafted from the respective militia in pursuance of the foregoing resolutions.

Resolved, That on the First Day of October next, an exact return shall be made to Congress of the deficiencies of men in the Continental army, to the end, that such deficiencies may be supplied (by an equitable draft from the militia of the several States) according to the proportions heretofore established in Congress, and such other circumstances as may arise in the course of the campaign.

Resolved, That all persons, in whatever way procured, for supplying the deficiencies in the continental battalions, unless enlisted for three years, or during the war, be considered as drafts; and that it be recommended to the several states to exert themselves to procure recruits for their respective continental battalions by enlistments for three years, or during the war, and that the drafts from the respective states be discharged in proportion as such recruits from the said states shall join the army.

And, whereas, experience hath proved that no confidence can be placed in prisoners of war or deserters from the enemy, who inlist into the continental army; but many losses and great mischiefs have frequently happened by them; therefore,

Resolved, That no prisoners of war or deserters from the enemy be inlisted, drafted, or returned to serve in the continental army.¹

Ordered, That the Board of War instruct and direct the commissary general of prisoners to appoint proper persons to examine all officers and any of the privates of the United States, that shall be hereafter exchanged, and take such of their depositions as may be necessary to ascertain the treatment our prisoners in the hands of the enemy have received during their captivity, and report the same to Congress.

General Heath, brought in a report, which was read; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the president write to General Heath, and inform him that it was by no means the intention of Congress that General Burgoyne should be prevented from communicating to Lord Howe, or the commanding officer of the British ships in the harbour of Newport, the intelligence of the act of Congress detaining the troops of the convention of Saratoga, until it shall be ratified by the court of Great Britain:

That General Heath be directed to permit Lieutenant Colonel Anstruther, of the 62 British regiment, and Lord Napier, lieutenant of the 21 regiment to go on his parole to Rhode Island, in order to negotiate an exchange for himself; provided, that if Colonel Ethan Allen shall not have been exchanged for Lieutenant Colonel Campbell, no exchange but Colonel Ethan Allen shall be accepted for Colonel Anstruther. ¹

Whereas, it is essential to the operations of the army during the next campaign, that the most vigorous measures should forthwith be adopted for forming a body of horse, upon such principles as are most likely to advance the public interest and the honor of the officers and men who compose the same; and whereas, in times of public danger, when the lives, liberties, and property of a free people are threatened by a foreign and barbarous enemy, it is the duty of those, who enjoy in a peculiar degree the gifts of fortune, and of a cultivated understanding, to stand forth in a disinterested manner in defence of their country, and by a laudable example to rouse and animate their countrymen to deeds worthy of their brave ancestors, and of the sacred cause of freedom:

¹ This report, in the writing of Oliver Wolcott, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, III, folio 113.
Resolved, That it be earnestly recommended to the young gentlemen of property and spirit, in the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pensylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina, forthwith to constitute, within their respective states, a troop or troops of light cavalry, to serve at their own expense (except in the article of provisions for themselves and forage for their horses,) until the 31 December next:

That each troop, so to be raised, consist of not less than twenty, nor more than 60 rank and file; that they have a right to choose their own officers, who shall receive continental commissions; and that they rendezvous at the main army on the first day of May next, or at an earlier period if possible:

That, in order to excite a proper spirit of emulation in these troops, and to give them an opportunity of appropriating that fame which their respective merits may entitle them to, during the campaign, each troop shall bear the name of the State in which it is raised:

That these troops, when raised, shall not serve as expresses, except in time of action, nor as escorts to the persons of any general, except that of the commander of the army with whom they serve. unless with their own choice:

That Whenever any Vacancies shall happen in any of the Battalions of Horse rais'd on the Continental Establishment which cannot be supplied by the Commissioned Officers of such Battalion, where the Vacancy shall happen, the same shall be supplied from one of the Troops above mentioned by such Person, as shall be nominated by the Troop, to whom the Offer of such vacancy shall be given; and to prevent all Suspicion of Partiality in this Respect, the Offer of [the first] Vacant Commission shall be given to the Troops which shall first arrive at the Place of Rendezvous, of the second to the next, and so Progressively.
Resolved, That it be recommended to the Government of the respective States to Countenance and Encourage this Design. That every horse which shall be killed and every horse and accoutrements which shall be taken by the Enemy in action shall be paid for by the United States, the value to be ascertained under the direction of the Commander in chief, and that all booty taken from the Enemy shall belong to the troop by whom it shall be taken in equal share and divided and that the Board of War transmit to them forthwith Copies of the foregoing Resolutions, together with a descriptive List of the Accoutrements necessary for Man, and Horse.

That every horse which shall be killed, and every horse and all arms and accoutrements, which shall be taken by the enemy in action, shall be paid for by the United States; the value to be ascertained under the direction of the Commander in Chief; and all booty taken from the enemy shall belong to the troop by whom it shall be taken.

The Proposer of this Plan can assure Congress from his own Knowledge that the State of Pensilvania, and one or two other States will immediately adopt it and from the Spirit of Emulation, which the different States have always shewn in Matters that tended to bring their Public Spirit to a Test, there is no Room to doubt but it will meet with general Success.

Feb'y 20th, 1777. [17781]

P. S. Should Congress adopt this Plan the sooner it is published in the Papers the better, as Numbers of Young Men of Spirit will immediately set about Equipping themselves in the different States.¹

Resolved, That it be recommended to the governments of the respective states to countenance and encourage this design; and that the Board of War transmit to them forthwith, copies of the foregoing resolutions, together with a descriptive list of the accoutrements necessary for man and horse.

The committee to whom the letter from Lieutenant General Burgoyne to the president of Congress, dated the 11 February, with the papers enclosed, was referred, report,

Resolved, That Congress agree to the said report.

That they have taken into particular Consideration the new Proposition that the Officers of the Army under General Burgoyne should join their Signature to his for a further Pledge of Faith; and, without calling the Honor of the said General or his Officers in Question, your Committee are of Opinion that the present Situation of Himself and his Officers operates so strongly against a Reliance upon the Proposition made, that Congress cannot safely close with it; especially considering the Light in which the Court of Great Britain affects to view the good People of the United States of America.¹

The committee to whom the letters from General Heath were referred, brought in a report; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the Board of War instruct the Marquis de la Fayette to suspend for the present the intended irruption, and at the same time, inform him that Congress entertain a high sense of his prudence, activity and zeal, and that they are fully persuaded nothing has, or would have been wanting on his part, or on the part of the officers who accompanied him, to give the expedition the utmost possible effect.

Present: M. Gen' Gates, Mr' Peters, Col' Pickering

Agreed to report to Congress:

The Board have considered the representation of the Honbl' Committee of Congress at Camp, respecting the employing 400 Indians with the grand army. Altho' the Board would have doubted the expediency of the measure, from the great difficulty and expense which will attend the raising them, and still greater in employing them to advantage, and satisfying their demands, Yet seeing those Gentle- men have fully discussed the matter with General Washington, and upon the maturest deliberation recommend it: As Gen' Washington too, who is perfectly acquainted with the manners of the Indians, and the embarrassments they create in an army, yet judges these will be outweighed by their services, and appears very desirous that the measure should be adopted by Congress, the Board cannot but concur therein.

Resolved, That the other parts of the report be referred back to the Board of War, that they may give such orders thereon as they judge necessary and proper respecting the plans of the forts and batteries, and other matters incidental thereto; and also give such directions to Colonel Radière as the good of the service requires, agreeable to the rules established in the army.

MARCH 6, 1778.

Sir: You, being designated by his excellency General Washington, to go with a talk to the Indian nations, on the borders of Virginia and the Carolinas, with a view to secure them in the interest of these states, are hereby authorized and empowered to proceed therewith, and to engage in the service of these states, for the next campaign, any number of Indians, not exceeding two hundred, also fifty of the inhabitants of the countries bordering on the Indian settlements, to serve with them, under officers whom they shall choose with your approbation; selecting for this service, as far as possible, such men as understand the Indian languages: but besides these, you are to engage so many interpreters as you shall judge necessary, not exceeding one to every fifty Indians; these interpreters should be men proper to go with the Indians upon any military services in which they shall be employed; and engaged on the best terms in your power, to serve as long as the Indians remain in service. As an encouragement to the inhabitants to enlist, and to enable them to equip themselves for the campaign, you are to give each non-commissioned officer and soldier, a bounty of twenty dollars: they are to be enlisted to serve six months after their arrival in camp; and during their time of service, which is to commence five days before they march from home, the officers and soldiers shall receive the same pay and rations as officers of the like ranks and soldiers in the continental army. And you are authorized to engage to the Indians, who shall enter into the service of these states, a proper supply of provisions, and such allowances, in goods and necessaries, as shall be in the power of the states to furnish, and their bravery and services shall merit.

To enable you to conduct this business with more despatch and advantage, and in order to supply the Indians and others whom you shall engage, with provisions and other necessaries, you are to get an assistant on the best terms you can. That you may accomplish this business with the greater ease and certainty, the agents from the different states, residing in the Indian countries for the managing of Indian affairs, are desired and directed to give you all possible assistance.

In order to fulfil your promises to, and satisfy the reasonable expectations of the seventeen Indians employed last summer on the eastern shore of Maryland, you are hereby empowered to purchase and deliver to each of them, such articles of clothing, &c. as you shall judge indispensably necessary.

You will receive herewith five thousand dollars, for defraying the expenses which you shall necessarily incur in the prosecution of the business above committed to you. You are to keep an account of your expenditures of money, and as far as may be, get proper vouchers for the same.

Resolved, That Congress agree to the said instructions.

The committee appointed to prepare a recommendation to the several states, for setting apart a day of fasting, humiliation, and prayer, brought in the same; which was read and agreed to as follows:

Whereas, Almighty God, in the righteous dispensation of his providence, hath permitted the continuation of a cruel and desolating war in our land; and it being at all times the duty of a people to acknowledge God in all his ways, and more especially to humble themselves before him when evident tokens of his displeasure are manifested; to acknowledge his righteous government; confess, and forsake their evil ways; and implore his mercy:

Resolved, That it be recommended to the United States of America to set apart Wednesday, the 23d day of April next, to be observed as a day of fasting, humiliation, and prayer; that at one time, and with one voice, the inhabitants may acknowledge the righteous dispensations of Divine Providence, and confess their iniquities and transgressions, for which the land mourneth; that they may implore the mercy and forgiveness of God; and beseech him that vice, prophaneness, extortion, and every evil, may be done away; and that we may be a reformed and happy people; that they may unite in humble and earnest supplication, that it may please Almighty God, to guard and defend us against our enemies, and give vigour and success to our military operations by sea and land; that it may please him to bless the civil rulers and people, strengthen and perpetuate our union, and, in his own good time, establish us in the peaceable enjoyment of our rights and liberties; that it may please him to bless our schools and seminaries of learning, and make them nurseries of true piety, virtue and useful knowledge; that it may please him to cause the earth to yield its increase, and to crown the year with his goodness.

And it is recommended to the inhabitants of the United States to abstain, on that day, from labour and recreations.

Resolved, That the Commander in Chief, or commander of a department, shall have full power and authority to suspend or limit the power of granting furloughs or leave of absence, and to reserve it wholly to himself, or impart it to such officer or officers, under him, as he thinks fit, according as he shall judge the good of the service requires; and that no officer, under colour or pretence of authority, to him granted, by the 2d article of the 4th section, or any other article, in the rules and articles of war, presume to grant any furlough, or leave of absence, contrary to the orders of the Commander in Chief, or commander of a department, on pain of being punished for disobedience.

The Medical Committee report, "That they have carefully examined and considered the several allegations and testimonies for, and against, Dr. William Rickman, deputy director general in the southern department; that, notwithstanding, it appears the North Carolina and Virginia troops, inoculated by the said Dr. Rickman at Alexandria, suffered, in general, more in the course of the disease than is usual, and that a number of them did die; yet, as the committee are convinced that it was impracticable for the director to obtain, in season, a variety of articles for their due accommodation in the hospitals, as many of them were badly cloathed, and all had, immediately before the operation, undergone a long and fatiguing march at a season of the year when putrid diseases generally prevail most; as from a regular return it appears that most of those who were lost, died of a putrid fever; as the director really had not sufficient assistance, and lastly, as one of the assistants, of the name of Parker, who was employed from the necessity of the case, appears to have greatly abused the confidence and trust reposed in him by the director; whence a great part of the evils complained of by the patients may have arisen; the committee are of opinion, that Dr. Rickman ought to be acquitted of the charges exhibited against him; that the resolution of the 20th day of December last, for his suspension, be repealed, and that Dr. Rickman be directed to repair immediately to his department, and resume the exercise of his duty there:” Whereupon,

Resolved, That Congress agree to the report of the committee.

The Committee on the Treasury brought in a report; Whereupon,

That a warrant issue on the treasurer in favour of the president, Henry Laurens, Esq. for 2,147 60/ 90 dollars, being the balance of his account of money advanced to a number of expresses, and a further sum of 2,000 dollars, advanced for the pay of expresses and other contingent expenses; for which sum he is to be accountable.

The Board of Treasury report, that they have considered the memorial of Thomas Leaming referred to them, and are of opinion, that the said memorial be referred to his excellency the governor and supreme executive council of the State of New Jersey, and that they be requested to ascertain the quantity of salt taken by the assistant commissary of the United States, or lost in consequence of the seizure, and the sum that ought to be allowed for the same; and that Ephraim Blaine, Esq. deputy commissary general of purchases, be directed to pay Mr. Leaming the amount of the said salt, upon his producing a certificate from the governor and council aforesaid, specifying the sum to be paid:1

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee on General Washington's letter of the 7 and 8, continued to the 14, which, being amended, is as follows:

Whereas, by the express resolutions of Congress of the 19 of December and 26 of February last, no exchange of prisoners can take place until all accounts for support of the prisoners in our hands are liquidated, and the balance due thereon discharged: and, whereas, the time allowed to several of the states to adjust and exhibit their claims will occasion great delay; and as an exchange of prisoners hath been agreed upon between General Washington and General Howe, and it being the earnest wish of Congress to relieve, as soon as possible, the unhappy sufferers now labouring under a cruel captivity, and it appearing, by the late returns from the commissary of prisoners, that, if the present intended exchange shall take place, a sufficient number of the enemy, now in the power of the United States, will still remain to secure the payment of any balance that may be due on account of their support, and the views of Congress in the resolutions aforesaid be fully answered; therefore,

Resolved, That Gen. Washington be authorized and empowered to proceed to the exchange of such prisoners as are now in the power of the enemy, without waiting for the settlement of the accounts aforesaid; and take measures for settling a general cartel for the exchange of prisoners in future, upon such principles as may appear to him most advantageous to the United States, and agreeable to the aforementioned resolutions:

to the twenty-sixth inst., do, after the clearest and most satisfactory tes-monies, wholly acquit the said Colonel George Morgan of the charges against him, of infidelity to his public trust, and disaffection to the American cause; and we testify that we are possessed of the knowledge of various facts and circumstances, evincing not only his attachment to that cause, but also an uncommon degree of diligence in discharging the duties of his employment, and of attention to the interests of the United States; and therefore are of opinion he ought to be restored to the fullest confidence of his country.

Congress resumed the report of the committee of the whole, when the following contract or instrument was agreed to:

¹This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 203.
To all whom it may concern. Whereas, Roderique Hortales & Co. of Paris, have shipped, or caused to be shipped or laden, on board sundry ships or vessels, considerable quantities of cannon, arms, ammunition, clothing and other stores, most of which have been safely landed in America, and delivered to the agents of the United States, for the use and service thereof; and whereas, the said Roderique Hortales & Co. are willing and desirous to continue supplying these states with cannon, mortars, bombs, arms, ammunition, clothing, and every sort of stores, that may be wanted or required, and also with specie, provided satisfactory assumption be made and assurance given for the payment in France of the first cost, charges and freight of the cargoes already shipped, as well as those to be hereafter shipped, and of specie to be advanced: and whereas, some cargoes of American produce have already been shipped to the address of the said Roderique Hortales & Co. or their assigns, for sale on account of the United States of America, the net proceeds whereof are to be applied in part discharge of their claims. Now know ye, that John Baptiste Lazarus Theveneau de Francey, agent of Peter Augustin Caron de Beaumarchais, as representative of the house of the said Roderique Hortales & Co. by him especially appointed and empowered to act fully and effectually in all things on his behalf, as appears by a certain letter of attorney or instrument of writing, bearing date the tenth day of September, anno one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, copy whereof is hereunto annexed, doth, for and on behalf of the said Roderique Hortales & Co. represented by Mr. Beaumarchais as aforesaid, in virtue of the powers in him vested, contract, agree and engage to and with a committee of commerce, properly appointed and authorized by the delegates of the United States of America in Congress assembled, to enter into, execute, ratify and confirm this contract for and on behalf of the said United States, as follows:

First. That the costs and charges of the several cargoes already shipped by the said Roderique Hortales & Co. shall be fairly stated at the current prices and usual mercantile charges in France, of the dates at which they were shipped:

Second. That the freight of the said cargoes shall be charged agreeably to the contract made by and between Mr. Beaumarchais and Mr. Silas Deane and Mr. Montieu:
April, 1778

Third. That all orders for cannon, mortars, bombs, arms, ammunition, cloathing or other stores, which may hereafter be transmitted to Messrs. Roderique Hortales & Co. or delivered to their agent in America by the said committee, or any other persons properly authorized by Congress to transmit or deliver such lists or orders, shall be executed and shipped with all possible despatch:

Fourth. That all articles to be hereafter shipped for America, in virtue of this contract, shall be provided as nearly to the orders as possible, at not higher than the current prices, and attended with the most moderate charges, not higher than the usual mercantile charges of the place from whence they are exported:

Fifth. That good ships shall be chartered or bought on the most moderate terms for transporting the stores to America, and carrying back such cargoes as the committees shall chuse to ship in them:

Sixth. That agents appointed under the authority of Congress shall have free liberty to inspect the quality and require the prices of all articles to be shipped for the account of the United States, with power to reject such as they judge unfit or too high charged; they shall also be party in the charters and purchases of ships to be employed in this service:

Seventh. That bills on the house of Roderique Hortales & Co. aforesaid, for twenty-four millions of livres tournois annually, shall be duly honored and paid, the bills to be drawn at double usance, and at the following periods, viz. in the months of May, July, September, November, January, and March, for four million each two months.

In consideration whereof, the said commercial committee of Congress, by virtue of the powers and authorities to them delegated by the Congress, do, for and on behalf of the said United States, covenant, agree, and engage with the said Roderique Hortales & Co. by their agent, as follows:

First. That remittances shall be made by exports of American produce and otherways to the said Roderique Hortales & Co. or their agent, for the express purpose of discharging the debt already justly due or hereafter to become justly due in consequence of this agreement:

Second. That all cargoes of merchandise shipped on account of the United States for France, and appropriated towards the discharge of the said debt, shall be addressed to the house of Roderique Hortales & Co. or their assigns, for sale; subject, however, to the inspection and control of an agent appointed under the authority of Congress, who shall have liberty to inspect the quality of such merchandise, assent to or reject the prices offered, postpone the sales, and do every thing for the interest of his constituents:

Third. That the customary interest of France, not exceeding six per centum per annum, shall be allowed on the debt already due, or that, from time to time, may be due to the said Roderique Hortales & Co. in virtue of this agreement, computing the interest on money from the time of its being paid, and on goods by them exported, from the usual periods of commercial credits on such goods:

Fourth. That any payments of continental currency in America, required by the said Roderique Hortales & Co. or their agent, and agreed to by Congress, shall be computed at the current or equitable course of exchange at the date of the payment, and interest be discounted on the amount from that date:

Fifth. That the remittances to be made for the purpose of extinguishing the debt now due or to become due to the said Roderique Hortales & Co. shall be made at such times and seasons as shall be most safe and convenient for the American interest, but are to continue until the entire debt, principal and interest, shall be fully and fairly discharged:

Sixth. That a commission of 2½ per centum shall be allowed to the said Roderique Hortales & Co. on the amount of the invoices, freight or other charges and moneys paid and disbursed by them for account of the United States:

Seventh. That the customary commissions in France shall be also allowed the said Roderique Hortales & Co. on the amount of all payments made to them on account of the United States:

Provided, always, That the seventh article of this agreement, respecting the annual supply of twenty-four millions of livres, shall not be considered as absolutely binding upon either of the parties to this contract, unless the same shall be ratified by Roderique Hortales & Co. and the commissioners of the United States at Paris; for which purpose it is agreed to be submitted to them, any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding; but it is nevertheless to be understood, that the United States may and shall have liberty to draw in the course of five or six months from the date hereof, upon the said Roderique Hortales & Co. for the sum of one hundred thousand pounds sterling, equal to two millions three hundred thousand livres tournois, which shall be duly paid.

Resolved, That the Committee of Commerce be, and they are hereby empowered to execute the foregoing contract or instrument, on behalf of the United States of America, and that they make report, from time to time, of their proceedings therein.

In debating the foregoing contract, a motion was made to strike out "twenty-four," and insert "forty-eight," and the yeas and nays being required,

The Committee on the Treasury brought in a report; Whereupon,

Ordered, That a warrant issue on Joseph Borden, Esq. commissioner of the loan office in the State of New Jersey, in favour of that State, for 70,000 dollars, advanced for the purpose of paying their militia; the said State to be accountable:

That a warrant issue on the treasurer in favour of the delegates of the State of Virginia, for 33,333 1/3 dollars, to be by them transmitted to his excellency Patrick Henry, to reimburse £10,000, Virginia currency, which he advanced for purchasing provisions for the grand army; the said State to be accountable:

That a warrant issue on the treasurer in favour of Moses Young, assistant pay master to the Board of War and Ordnance, for 15,000 dollars; 10,000 of which is for the purpose of defraying the expences of building boats on the Susquehanna, and 5,000 towards paying off Colonel Rawling’s old regiment, to be charged to Joseph Nourse, pay master, who is to account for the same:

The committee appointed to prepare a letter in answer to General Washington’s letter of the 4th, brought in a draught, which was read.

Sir: In Obedience to the Directions of Congress, I am to acknowledge the Receipt of your Letter of the 4th Instant.

Congress with great Concern perceive that your Sensibility is wounded by their Resolutions. Placing the firmest Confidence in your Prudence, Abilities and Integrity, they wish to preserve that Harmony with you, which is essential to the general Weal: You may rest assured that far from any Intention to give you Pain, their Resolutions have no other Motives or End, but the public Good; they, therefore hope that you will not in future be distrest by Apprehensions, as injurious to their Honor, as they are to your own Feelings.

However different the Views of Congress may seem to you now from what you supposed them to be, when you entered into your late 1This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 211.

Engagements with General Howe; yet by strictly attending to their Resolutions, you will find they are founded in Humanity as well as Policy, and invariably regard the Dignity, Safety and Independence of these States. Congress certainly had nothing in View but a proper Respect to the Dignity, Safety and Independence of these States.¹

The Duplicity of General Howe, and authentic Information that the Gentlemen appointed by you to negotiate the Cartel, held Opinions repugnant to the Sense of Congress, constrained them in a Matter of such high Moment as forming a General Cartel, to express their Sentiments in an Explicit Manner: lest they might have only to lament, when it was out of their Power to remedy, a Misapprehension on Points, deeply affecting, in their Judgement, the Safety and Honor of these States.

Congress expected that you would consider their Resolutions of the 30th ultimo in the Light of private Instructions, calculated to show their Sense with respect to the general Outlines of the propos'd Cartel: a Practise usual with the Supreme Power of every State in similar Cases.

You observe that a strict Adherence to all the Resolutions of Congress must of Necessity destroy all Idea of a Cartel—but as a Distinction can easily be made betwixt such of the Resolutions of Congress respecting Prisoners, as flow from general Principles of Policy, and those which arise from Circumstances, which have rendered a Variation from Time to Time necessary, it is conceived that an Attention to this Discrimination, will [remove the difficulties with which you seem to be embarrassed] rid you of those Embarrassments, which you may, at first View, think yourself entangled with.²

The Resolution of Congress of the 19th December, respecting the Mode of Settlement for Supplies to the enemy's Prisoners, seems not to have been, sufficiently attended to. It is left at the Option of the Enemy to pay either in Coin, Dollar for Dollar, or in Provisions &c, equal in Quantity and Kind to what is furnished. Whatever Objections may be made against the first mode, there surely cannot be a more just and Equal Ratio, than the latter. General Burgoyne lately made the same Objections on this Point which occurred to you: but on being reminded of the Alternative offered by the Resolution, he acquiesced, and the victualling Ships are now actually delivering Provisions, in Payment for what they have received. [The Commissaries of Prisoners on each side may pass Receipts for the Rations received, expressing the Quantum of each Article received for the Subsistence of the Prisoners in the Power of the Contracting Parties, and the Balance may be paid in Provisions, or in Coin at the Option of either Party]. The Mode suggested by you is liable to this strong Objection, that it would lay us under the Necessity of furnishing the Enemy's Prisoners with us, as well as ours with theirs, with Provisions, which certainly would be a Capital Advantage to them, if we consider the Distance whence they must derive their Supplies. Congress however do not wish that a general Cartel should break off for want of a strict Compliance with this Resolution; provided the Mode is adopted for subsisting Prisoners upon a Principle of Equality to the Contracting Parties, and are therefore willing to confide in your Prudence to settle finally this Matter.

On the question to strike out [this last sentence].

The Resolution of the 30th December was a Measure naturally flowing from the Treason Acts, which the respective States have past in consequence of the Express Recommendation of Congress. On a Mature Deliberation, they are convinced that a Deviation from it would be subsersive of our Character as an Independent People, and inconsistent with Sound Policy. No Act of Congress can suspend the Operation of the Laws of the different States, and therefore they cannot consent that any Measure should be adopted in the propos'd Cartel, which may contravene this Resolution.

It does not however appear to Congress that any Embarrassment will arise in this Matter, unless the Enemy should insist upon an Article in the Article, "that Americans taken in Arms shall be entitled to the Benefit of an Exchange." Under the Terms of Officer for Officer, Soldier for Soldier &c which are generally used in Cartels, Traitors would no more be included by the Laws of Nations than Deserters. The carrying this Resolution into Practice can depend only on the Will of the several States, who in this respect must be presumed to be governed by Principles of Policy, of which they must necessarily be competent Judges.

Congress are concerned to find that an Absolute Exchange is agreed on for Lieutenant Colonel Campbell and Lieutenant Colonel Allen; and that General Lee is only permitted to come out on Parole. They will however suspend their Judgement in this Matter, till they are informed whether your Commissioners were acquainted with the Resolution of Congress of the 30th ulto, previous to such Agreement.

The Intention of Congress in that Resolution was, that no Exchange (general or partial, absolute or Parole) should take Place without the Order of Congress, till the Exchange of General Lee for General Prescott had been first made. Since General Howe's Propositions for a General Exchange, they deem this Preliminary not only due in Justice, to that unfortunate and deserving Officer, but essential to the Honor of these States.—I am therefore directed to inform you that it is the Unalterable Determination of Congress, that unless this Point is acceded to, all further Negotiation, whether for a general or Partial Exchange, (except in cases to be submitted to the opinion of Congress) should cease, it being in their Opinion more eligible that no Cartel should take Place, than that the Honor of these States should be sullied, and their Wisdom impeached by releasing those Officers, whom it is well known, the Enemy have been long anxious to procure, and leaving General Lee and others, whom they wish to detain, and whose Services their Country requires, at the Disposal of a Merciless Enemy.

Congress cannot but think that the Exchange of General Lee should precede (not follow) the Release of Colonel Campbell and the Hessian Field Officers; especially that of the latter who were made Prisoners subsequent to General Lee's Capture; and it is their Expectation, if the Exchange of Colonel Campbell is not so far concluded as to oblige you to comply with it, it may not take Place till General Lee is absolutely Exchanged for General Prescott.

With Respect to the Resolution concerning General Lee, Congress, at his Request, are willing that you should waive his Exchange for

I am further directed, Sir, by Congress to inform you, that in their opinion, the late Conduct and Correspondence of General Howe, render a strict Attention to the Support of the Dignity of these Free and Independent States, at this time peculiarly necessary; and that they esteem that Dignity Injured by permitting the Enemy's Officers, Prisoners with us, to go in on Parole, before ours are sent out: a Practice admitting an Imputation of a want of good Faith on our Part, and a Perfect Confidence in an enemy whom we cannot trust; and on that Account studiously to be avoided: they therefore doubt not from your Zeal for the Honor of these States, that you will pay a strict Attention to this Matter, as nothing can tend to sink us both in our Estimation and in that of all the World, than a patient Submission to that Insolent Superiority, which our Enemies affect in carrying on this War.

Journals of Congress

FOUR O'CLOCK, P. M.

Congress took into consideration the draught of a letter in answer to General Washington's letter of the 4th, and some progress being made therein,

A motion was made to adjourn, it being 10 o'clock.

Question put, nine states being present.

While the states were calling, Mr. [Thomas] Burke, representing the State of North Carolina, after voting in the affirmative, declared the states might vote as they pleased, he would upon his honor adjourn himself; and thereupon he immediately withdrew, by which means Congress could not proceed to business.

Mr. [Edward] Langworthy, the delegate representing Georgia, having also withdrawn, Ordered, That the messenger wait on the members, and desire them to attend Congress.

The messenger returned, and reported, That he had delivered the message of Congress to the members. That Mr. [Edward] Langworthy replied he would return presently. That Mr. [Thomas] Burke replied, "Devil take him if he would come; it was too late and too unreasonable."

Mr. [Edward] Langworthy attended, and declared that when he withdrew, he thought Congress was adjourned; and under that opinion he withdrew.

Resolved, That a warrant issue on the Treasurer in favour of Elias Boudinot, Esq. late Commissary General of Prisoners, for four thousand seven hundred and seventeen and 14/90 Dollars in specie, and for seven thousand nine hundred and ninety eight and 32/90 Dollars Continental Currency, he to be accountable.¹

SATURDAY, APRIL 11, 1778

A letter, of the 2, from Governor Henry, of Virginia, was read, enclosing instructions to Mr. Hawkins, whom he has appointed to purchase live stock and meat for the army:

Ordered, That the same be referred to a committee of three:

The members chosen, Mr. [Francis Lightfoot] Lee, Mr. [William Henry] Drayton and Mr. [Nathaniel] Scudder.

Ordered, That Mr. [Joseph] Reed have leave of absence for a few days, to remove his family to a place of security.

Ordered, That Colonel Cox, assistant quarter master general, employ a deputy to attend Congress, and procure good stables and provender for their horses, and proper persons to take care of the same; and that he receive from each member his just proportion of the expence.

A motion was made, that the minute made by the Secretary last evening, relative to the manner in which Congress was prevented from proceeding on business, be entered on the journal as of last evening.

Whereupon it was moved, that the consideration of this matter be postponed to Monday next. And the yeas and nays being required:

journal as of last evening.

Ordered, That Mr. [Thomas] Burke be furnished with a copy of the minute relative to the manner in which Congress was last evening prevented from proceeding on business; and that he be allowed till Monday next to answer.

Mr. [Thomas] Burke having, in the course of the debate this morning, upon his conduct last evening, declared, "That he will not submit to a tyranny of a majority of this Congress, which would keep him here at unreasonable hours; that he wished to know the power of Congress over their members; that he will attend at times he thinks reasonable, but will not attend at times he thinks unreasonable, unless by force on his person." He admitted the answer reported by the messenger; but, that on his absence last evening, the memers ceased to be a body, and therefore he was guilty of no rudeness to Congress; and if he was guilty of an affront, it was to individual members, and required another kind of an apology; that he was not convinced he had done any wrong; was not disposed to make any kind of apology; and if he had been guilty of improper behaviour, he will answer to his State. That he was yesterday evening unwell, and not able to attend without prejudice to his health.

1This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 217.

2This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 215. Against the last paragraph Laurens wrote: "Postponed by desire of the Marine Committee, 11 April."
The member from North Carolina [Thomas Burke] having offered a paper to Congress, as his answer to the charge against him, a debate thereon ensued, in which the same member, having made use of expressions which were deemed exceptional, as charging Congress with a combination against him, he was called to order; whereupon he said, "I do believe, that that gentleman from New York and others, are in a combination against me in this business." These words being taken down, and read by the President, the member from North Carolina acknowledged they were truly taken down.

Mr. President: I received the proceedings of the house with respect, and (protesting that until the laws of the State I represent shall expressly declare the contrary, I shall hold myself accountable for my conduct in Congress to that State, and no other power on earth,) I shall use the freedom which according to my idea belongs to a Republican, and a representative of a Sovereign people in the answers I shall make. I consider the minutes of the 10th of April as a charge of a breach of order in the thing, and a contempt in the manner. I admit that withdrawing without the permission of Congress is a breach of order, and I hold that no member can deny his personal attendance at reasonable hours or even his sentiments on any question debated before him, except by special leave of the house, without incurring the penalties on misbehavior in office, and I have only to allege in excuse that I had so uniformly observed the members of Congress withdraw themselves at pleasure from attendance on Congress, and without reprehension, that I thought it not improper to use a liberty which had been denied, as I conceived, to no other member, when I deemed the subject of too much importance to be debated and determined, at a time when the faculties of the members were tired by the attendance of a whole day, and when my own particular indisposition rendered me incapable of giving that attention which I thought my duty to my constituents required.

As to the manner, I am not conscious of having intended a contempt. I did not, nor do I now admit that less than nine States can make a Congress. I understood not that the message came from the President, but deemed that it came from Colonel Duer, whose name the messenger particularly mentioned, from whom he delivered a private message to the delegate from Georgia, requesting his company as a favor, and to whom I intended my words should be conveyed. Before my departure, I heard Mr. Lovell from Massachusetts say to the House, "there is no further occasion to call the states, this declaration is decisive;" in which I thought the House acquiesced, and that the adjournment was compleat. The Delegates from Georgia, who always answered the last in order, accompanied me under the same persuasion. With respect to the minutes of the eleventh, protesting that as a delegate representing a free and sovereign people, I am entitled to entire freedom of debate, I say that the expressions minute were accompanied with and explained by other expressions not minute, which declared my sense to be, that Congress have a power so far as to enforce the attendance of the members, that if the hours of attendance were ascertained by Congress I would punctually attend but if not I must use my own judgment at the risk of any consequent punishments as to the time being reasonable when my presence is required; that I am at all times ready and willing to submit my conduct and opinions to my constituents, in whose justice I have the firmest confidence, and to whom I owe as a duty, to prevent, if I can, the decision of important matters, when members cannot duly attend them, that conviction of error always did, and always shall precede concession with me.

That (abstracts [apart] from the breach of order under consideration which I meant not to justify, but excuse) my general political opinions were, that undue or unreasonable exercise of any power tho' lawful power, is Tyrannical, and that no freeman is bound to submit to it. That every freeman must use his own judgment on it before he determines to disobey, for until he does disobey there can be no subject for any other judgment and it remains for his Country to decide whether he is mistaken or not, and if he is, he incurs the penalties provided by Law.

That it is Criminal in members of Congress to withhold their attendance when the public safety requires it, but that they are to be judged and punished by the Laws of the State they represent, and no other power.

These sentiments however expressed, I avow, and as to the language, I know no obligation I am under to use a courtly Stile. My expressions are usually what first occur and in this instance were not intended to offend.

I shall only add that I mean not by any thing I have here said to submit myself to any Jurisdiction, but that of the State I represent, such submission being in my Idea injurious to the majesty thereof; nor do I mean to forego any of my own rights as a citizen entitled to the benefit of the Laws and Constitution of the free State of North Carolina.

THOMAS BURKE.

tains the express words spoken or read by him in Congress. Witness

Sir: Congress are acquainted by General Smallwood, that their late order to him to secure the Persons of Tho' White, and Cha' Gordon, and others of your State whose going at large he might deem dangerous, and to send them to a Place of security, has given some disgust to your Government, and that an Habeas Corpus is granted to procure their Discharge. I am directed to inform You of the Grounds of the above order, and doubt not of an Acquiescence in a Measure whose only Motive was the object, of which were the security of your State, and a proper Attention to the safety of the other States. Mr. Thomas Adams, a delegate from Virginia, attended, and took his seat in Congress.

An amendment was moved in lieu of the whole report as follows:

Congress, however desirous of giving every reasonable encouragement to officers of the army who bravely hazard their lives in defence of their country, and however anxious to make an honorable provision for them after the close of the war, being apprehensive of the consequence of a military establishment, especially without knowing the sense of their constituents on a subject of such high importance:

Resolved, That the proposed plan for a military establishment be postponed, and that a letter be addressed to the several states, and that they be requested to take into their most serious consideration, and give their opinion on the following questions:

1. Whether some provision ought not to be made for the officers of the continental army after the conclusion of the war?

2. Whether that provision should be for life, or for a term of years?

3. Whether any provision should be made for the widows of such as have fallen, or shall fall in battle, or die in captivity, or in the service?

4. Whether some farther compensation or reward ought not to be granted to the privates who continue in the continental army till the close of the war?

A previous question being moved, whether that question be now put, and the yeas and nays required, a member declined to answer, alleging he was warranted so to do by the practice of the house;

Whereupon, the resolution of the 26 August last, was called for and read; and thereupon,

Resolved, That when a member is called upon to answer ay or no, he may not of right withhold his voice.

The yeas and nays being then taken on the previous question:

Congress may sit, and that the said courts report their

The committee appointed to prepare instructions to General Gates, brought in a draught, which was taken into consideration, and sundry amendments being made, was agreed to:

Sir: In appointing you to the Command of the several Posts on Hudson's River and in the Northern Department, Congress repose themselves with Confidence in your Abilities and expect that you will prevent if possible the Enemy from possessing themselves of that River which they consider the Key of America and protect the Frontiers against Incursions of the Savages and others from Canada and the Northern and western Parts of the State of New York. As it is impossible to foresee what Circumstances may arise, you are by our Resolutions empowered to call for such Numbers of Militia as you may think proper. But you are to consider that the Militia are very expensive, that the Country always suffers by taking off the Husbandmen from their Labour, and that calling out the Militia will greatly impede the Completion of the Continental Regiments, which is an Object of the utmost Importance. You will therefore use caution in the Exercise of the Power committed to you as aforesaid.

There is Reason to apprehend that the main Army will not be subsisted during the ensuing Campaign without great Difficulty. And as the Supplies of Flesh must be brought chiefly from the Eastern Side of Hudson's river, the Possession of that River becomes on that Account the more important. You are therefore not on any Account to stop the Supplies which may be from Time to Time sent forward for the main Army, since by so doing, the Arrangements of the Commissary General may be destroyed [to the Distress of the main Army] and the great Detriment of the public Service.

As it may facilitate General Washington's Operations to make a Diversion on the Side of New York, so also the getting together a great Number of Men for that Purpose may disable him from, or impede his acting, by consuming the necessary Supplies of Provisions, military Stores and the like, you are not therefore to undertake any Expedition against New York without previously consulting the Commander in Chief.

And as Circumstances may call for considerable Reinforcements to the main Army, so you are from Time to Time to send forward such of the Continental Troops as may be ordered by General Washington, and on the other Hand should you want a Reinforcement of Continental Troops, you are to apply to the General, who will send them if they can be spared with Propriety from his Army.

Congress having required General Washington to call a Council of War to consist of the Major Generals and Chief Engineer now in this State, and with their Advice to form a Plan of Operations for the ensuing Campaign, you are at Liberty to govern yourself according to such Plan, notwithstanding any thing in the foregoing Instructions, and are to conform to the same as far as your Circumstances and Situation may admit.

You will during your Command [when convenient], confer with Governor Clinton from Time to Time and take his Advice and Assistance in the Business recommended to you.¹

Ordered, That the same be transcribed and signed by the President and transmitted to General Gates, and that a copy be sent to General Washington.

Adjourned to 10 o’Clock to Morrow.

sideration, and the same being debated by paragraphs and amended, and each paragraph, on a question put, being agreed to,

A motion was made, that a question be put on the whole:

Resolved, That Congress approve of the conduct of Colonel Grayson, Lieutenant Colonel Harrison, and Lieutenant Colonel Hamilton, and Elias Boudinot, Esqr. "commissioners appointed by General Washington to meet the commissioners appointed by General Sir William Howe, and with them to confer, determine and agree upon a treaty and convention for the exchange of prisoners of war, and for all matters whatsoever which may be properly contained therein," in the several meetings held at Germantown and Newton, with the commissioners of General Howe.
April, 1778

Resolved, That Congress are sincerely desirous of settling a cartel for the exchange of prisoners, on principles of justice, humanity, and mutual advantage, and agreeable to the customary rules and practice of war among civilized nations; and that they lament the obstacles raised by General Howe and his commissioners during the negotiations held for this desirable purpose.

Ordered, That the letters and papers received from the General, relating to the said cartel, be published, together with these resolutions.

Ordered, That the committee have leave to sit again.¹

Congress having received repeated information, that various abuses prevail in the department of the commissary of hides: for securing the hides and tallow belonging to the public,

Resolved, That the Board of War be directed to make such regulations for conducting that department as they shall deem best calculated to answer the end of its institution; that they be authorized to dismiss, if they shall judge necessary, the persons who have been hitherto employed to conduct the same, and to appoint others in their stead, till the pleasure of Congress can be known, reporting to Congress the names of the principal persons by them appointed to conduct that business.

Resolved, That the members of the Board of War, or any one of them, be authorized, in conjunction with any two or more of the present commissioners, to manage the business of that department, till an additional number of commissioners shall be appointed by Congress to the Board of War, and shall be ready to attend that business.²

Resolved, That Congress will, on Monday next, take into consideration the state of our affairs with foreign courts, and the instructions to the commissioners of Congress at such courts.

Ordered, That the quarter master in Yorktown provide a room for the clerk of the United States' lottery, to serve him for an office to transact his business in with convenience and security.

The Committee on the Treasury brought in a report;
Whereupon,

Ordered, That 7,939 dollars be paid to Samuel Ewing, Esq. in discharge of an order of Thomas Reed, assistant pay master general, in his favor, dated 18 inst.; William Palfrey, Esq. pay master general, to be accountable.

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee of the whole; Whereupon, the motion made on Friday last was read, and an amendment moved:

A motion was then made to take the sense of the House, whether it is in order that the resolution of Friday, which was entered on the minutes and then determined to be in order, should now be subject to any further amendment:

Adjoined to 5 o’clock P. M. to Morrow.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1778—P. M.

Mr. [John] Mathews, a delegate from South Carolina, attended, and took his seat in Congress.

The committee to whom was referred the letter of 18, from General Washington, containing a certain printed paper sent from Philadelphia, purporting to be the draught of a bill for declaring the intention of the parliament of Great Britain as to the exercise of what they are pleased to term their right of imposing taxes within these United States: and also the draught of a bill to enable the king of Great Britain to appoint commissioners with powers to treat, consult and agree upon the means of quieting certain disorders within the said states, brought in a report; wherein they beg leave to observe,

That the said paper being industriously circulated by the emissaries of the enemy in a partial and secret manner, the same ought to be forthwith printed for the public information.

The committee cannot ascertain whether the contents of the said paper have been framed in Philadelphia or in Great Britain, much less whether the same are really and truly intended to be brought into the parliament of that kingdom, or whether the said parliament will confer thereon the usual solemnities of their laws; but are inclined to believe this will happen for the following reasons:

1. Because their general hath made divers feeble efforts to set on foot some kind of treaty, during the last winter; though, either from a mistaken idea of his own dignity and importance, the want of information, or some other cause, he hath not made application to those who are invested with a proper authority.

2. Because they suppose that the fallacious idea of a cessation of hostilities will render these states remiss in their preparations for war.

3. Because, believing the Americans wearied with war, they suppose we will accede to their terms for the sake of peace.

4. Because they suppose that our negotiations may be subject to a like corrupt influence with their debates.

5. Because they expect from this step the same effects they did from what one of their ministers thought proper to call his conciliatory motion, viz. That it will prevent foreign powers from giving aid to these states; that it will lead their own subjects to continue a little longer the present war; and that it will detach some weak men in America from the cause of freedom and virtue.

6. Because the king, from his own shewing, hath reason to apprehend, that his fleets and armies, instead of being employed against the territories of these states, will be necessary for the defence of his own dominions; and,

7. Because the impracticability of subjugating this country being every day more and more manifest, it is their interest to extricate themselves from the war upon any terms.
The committee beg leave farther to observe,

That, upon a supposition the matters contained in the said paper will really go into the British statute book, they serve to shew, in a clear point of view, the weakness and wickedness of the enemy. Their weakness,

1. Because they formerly declared not only that they had a right to bind the inhabitants of these states in all cases whatsoever, but also that the said inhabitants should absolutely and unconditionally submit to the exercise of that right: and this submission they have endeavored to exact by the sword. Receding from their claim, therefore, under the present circumstances, shews their inability to enforce it.

2. Because their prince hath heretofore rejected the humblest petition of the representatives of America, praying to be considered as subjects, and protected in the enjoyment of peace, liberty and safety; and hath waged a most cruel war against them, and employed the savages to butcher innocent women and children. But, now the same prince pretends to treat with those very representatives, and grant to the arms of America what he refused to her prayers.

3. Because they have uniformly laboured to conquer this continent, rejecting every idea of accommodation proposed to them, from a confidence in their own strength: wherefore it is evident, from the change in their mode of attack, that they have lost this confidence.
And,

4. Because the constant language spoken, not only by their ministers, but by the most public and authentic acts of the nation, hath been, that it is incompatible with their dignity to treat with the Americans, while they have arms in their hands; notwithstanding which, an offer is now about to be made for treaty.
April, 1778

The wickedness and insincerity of the enemy appear from the following considerations:

1. Either the bills, now to be passed, contain a direct or indirect cession of a part of their former claims, or they do not. If they do, then it is acknowledged that they have sacrificed many brave men in an unjust quarrel. If they do not, then they are calculated to deceive America into terms, to which neither argument before the war, nor force since, could procure assent.

2. The first of these bills, appears from the title, to be a declaration of the intentions of the British parliament, concerning the exercise of the right of imposing taxes within these states: wherefore should these states treat under the said bill, they would indirectly acknowledge that right, to obtain which acknowledgment the present war hath been avowedly undertaken and prosecuted on the part of Great Britain.

3. Should such pretended right be so acquiesced in, then, of consequence, the same might be exercised whenever the British parliament should find themselves in a different temper and disposition, since it must depend upon those, and such like contingencies, how far men will act according to their former intentions.

4. The said bill, in the body thereof, containeth no new matter; but is precisely the same with the motion before mentioned, and liable to all the objections which lay against the said motion, excepting the following particular, viz. that by the motion, actual taxation was to be suspended so long as America should give as much as the said parliament might think proper; whereas by the proposed bill, it is to be suspended as long as future parliaments continue of the same mind with the present.

5. From the second bill it appears, that the British king may, if he pleases, appoint commissioners to treat and agree with those whom they please about a variety of things therein mentioned: but such treaties and agreements are to be of no validity without the concurrence of the said parliament, except so far as they relate to the suspension of hostilities, and of certain of their acts, the granting of pardons, and the appointing of governors to these sovereign, free and independent states: wherefore the said parliament have reserved to themselves, in express words, the power of setting aside any such treaty, and taking the advantage of any circumstances which may arise, to subject this continent to their usurpations.

6. The said bill, by holding forth a tender of pardon, implies a criminality in our justifiable resistance; and, consequently, to treat under it, would be an implied acknowledgment that the inhabitants of these states were what Britain hath declared them to be, rebels.

7. The inhabitants of these states being claimed by them as subjects, they may infer from the nature of the negotiation now pretended to be set on foot, that the said inhabitants would of right be afterwards bound by such laws as they should make; wherefore any agreement entered into on such negotiation, might at any future time be repealed; and

8. Because the said bill purports that the commissioners therein mentioned may treat with private individuals, a measure highly derogatory to the dignity of national character.

From all which it appears evident to your committee, that the said bills are intended to operate upon the hopes and fears of the good people of these states, so as to create divisions among them, and a defection from the common cause, now, by the blessing of Divine Providence, drawing near to a favorable issue; that they are the sequel of that insidious plan, which, from the days of the stamp act down to the present time, hath involved this country in contention and bloodshed; and that, as in other cases, so in this, although circumstances may force them, at times, to recede from their unjustifiable claims, there can be no doubt but they will, as heretofore, upon the first favorable occasion, again display that lust of domination which hath rent in twain the mighty empire of Britain.

Upon the whole matter, the committee beg leave to report it as their opinion, that, as the Americans, united in this arduous contest upon principles of common interest, for the defence of common rights and privileges; which union hath been cemented by common calamities, and by mutual good offices and affection; so the great cause for which they contend, and in which all mankind are interested, must derive its success from the continuance of that union; wherefore any men, or body of men, who should presume to make any separate or partial convention or agreement with commissioners under the crown of Great Britain, or any of them, ought to be considered and treated as open and avowed enemies of these United States.

And further, the committee beg leave to report it as their opinion, that these United States cannot, with propriety, hold any conference or treaty with any commissioners on the part of Great Britain, unless they shall, as a preliminary thereto, either withdraw their fleets and armies, or else, in positive and express terms, acknowledge the independence of the said states.

And, inasmuch as it appears to be the design of the enemies of these states to lull them into a fatal security, to the end that they may act with a becoming weight and importance, it is the opinion of your committee that the several states be called upon to use the most strenuous exertions to have their respective quotas of continental troops in the field as soon as possible, and that all the militia of the said states may be held in readiness to act as occasion may require.

The report being read, and debated by paragraphs,

Resolved, unanimously, That Congress approve and confirm the said report.

Ordered, That the same be published.

Adjourned to 9 o’Clock to Morrow.

On the question put, Whether it is the right of the member to return his answer in the manner demanded, and whether it shall be entered on the journal,
Resolved in the negative.

Resolved, That Mr. [Thomas] Burke be heard in his place.

Mr. [Thomas] Burke being heard, and sundry witnesses examined relative to the sending the messenger, and the delivery of the message, &c. which passed out of Congress,

A motion was made on the conduct and expressions of Mr. [Thomas] Burke:

Resolved, That the same be referred to a committee of three.

The members chosen, Mr. [Samuel] Chase, Mr. [Francis] Dana, and Mr. [William Henry] Drayton.

In Congress, April 24, 1778.

Mr. Burke member for North Carolina, moved as his right to return an answer in writing to the charges against him for his conduct and expressions which gave offence to the house, and that his answer be entered on the Journal.

Whereupon a question was put, whether it is the right of the member to return his answer in the manner demanded and whether it shall be entered on the Journal.

Resolved in the negative.

Resolved, That Mr. Burke be heard in his place.

Mr. Burke having finished,

The messenger of Congress was called in, and being sworn by the president says:

"That on or about the 10th of this month, the secretary desired him to go and summon Mr. Burke and Mr. Langworthy to attend. That he went to Mrs. Moore's where he found both the gentlemen together, and addressed them in these words:

"Gentlemen, your attendance is desired in Congress."

Mr. Burke replied, "Devil a foot will I go to night."
April, 1778

He then addressed Mr. Langworthy in particular.
Mr. Langworthy said, "I do not know whether I will go. Who sent you." To which the messenger replied, "The Secretary."
Mr. Burke then said, "It is too late and too unreasonable."

QUESTIONS

Q. Did you go a second time? A. Yes.
Q. Who sent you? A. I am not certain whether Mr. Duer and the secretary were together, but I think I was sent, at the desire of a particular member; I think Mr. Duer to Mr. Langworthy.
Q. Did Mr. Duer deliver any message to you the first time to carry to Mr. Burke? A. I do not remember.
Q. Did the secretary go out and call you into this room? A. No.
Q. Did the president deliver any message to you? A. No.
Q. Did you return an answer to the president? A. Yes.
Q. When you went to Mr. Burke, did he ask you who were in Congress? A. I am not certain.
Q. Did you understand that the message delivered to you by the secretary to be a message from Congress? A. Yes.
Q. Did you think that the gentlemen received the message as from Congress? A. I did.

QUESTION BY MR. BURKE

Q. Do you recollect saying, "They are all there, Mr. Duer in particular?" A. I am not positive.
What message did you bring to Mr. Langworthy the second time? Ordered that the messenger withdraw.
Resolved, That the last question is not proper.
The messenger called in.
His deposition with the questions and answers were read to him, to which he assented. Ordered to withdraw.
Mr. Burke desired that Mr. Langworthy be called on to give evidence.

Mr. Langworthy sworn, says, When Mr. Patton, the messenger opened the door, he said the gentlemen desired our attendance. Being apprehensive Congress was adjourned, I asked, What Gentlemen? Who sent you? He said, "The Secretary." And, if I remember right, he added, "Mr. Duer." I also said, Surely the Congress cant be sitting now. I do not know whether I shall go, or no. I asked him if there was a Congress. He said he did not know. He believed there might. On which I told him, I will come presently. The other circumstances are nearly the same as the messenger related. I must confess I did not receive it as a message from Congress. I had no conception of it.

QUESTIONS

Q. Did the messenger come twice to you that evening? A. Yes.

Q. When you asked whether there was a Congress, was it in the hearing of Mr. Burke? A. He was in the same room and I apprehend he might have heard it.

Q. From whom was the second message delivered? A. The messenger called me out and delivered it in private as from Mr. Duer. I apprehended it to be a private message from Mr. Duer.

QUESTIONS BY MR. BURKE

Q. Did you understand the first message as coming directly or indirectly from the president? A. I did not.

Q. From whom did you suppose the message came? A. I really thought it some news or some private business after Congress adjourned.

Q. At whose instance did you suppose the messenger came? A. At Mr. Duer's and some other gentlemen.

Q. by another member. What induced you to think Congress adjourned? A. I had a cold and did not hear well. But thought that the question for adjournment was put to every state, and that all answered, and that Congress was adjourned. And under that apprehension I went out.

Q. Did you not know that when Mr. Burke and you were absent there were not nine states left? A. Yes.

Mr. Duer was called upon by a member from Massachusetts bay to give evidence.

Mr. Duer sworn. Questions. Did you on the evening of the 10, send a message to Mr. Burke and Mr. Langworthy or either of them? A. I sent a private message to Mr. Langworthy after the messenger returned and delivered the answer from the gentlemen and desired him particularly to come. I also think I mentioned something to the secretary the first time. I do not particularly remember it. I suppose the secretary can recollect it. I delivered the message myself to the messenger when he went the second time.
April, 1778

The secretary, sworn, says
When the order passed I went out to send the messenger for the members. Mr. Duer followed me and at the door desired me to send a message in his name to Mr. Langworthy and desire him to come. I delivered the order of the house to the messenger.
As he was going down the steps, I told him he might tell Mr. Langworthy that Mr. Duer desired him to come. I did not know that the messenger was sent a second time.
After the witnesses were examined, and a question called for on the whole business.
Mr. Burke arose and said, I protest against submitting to any jurisdiction but that of the state I represent.
A motion being made that the words be taken down,
Mr. Burke arose and again repeated the words with this addition, "except so far as the power of Congress to compel my attendance at reasonable hours."
A motion was then made on the conduct and expressions of Mr. Burke:
Resolved, That it be referred to a committee of three.
The members chosen, Mr. Chase, Mr. Dana and Mr. Drayton.¹

Adjourned to 9 o’Clock to Morrow.

Saturday, April 25, 1778

Mr. [Roger] Sherman, a delegate from Connecticut, attended, and took his seat in Congress.
A letter, of 23, from General Washington, with sundry papers enclosed, was read:
Ordered, That the same be referred to a committee of three:
The members chosen, Mr. [William Henry] Drayton, Mr. G[ouverneur] Morris, and Mr. [Francis] Dana.

¹This account, in the writing of Charles Thomson, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 78, II, folio 477.
A letter, of the 6, and one of the 9th, from General Heath, enclosing a copy of the parole given by Lieutenant General Burgoyne, and a copy of an agreement between Lieutenant General Burgoyne and Major General Heath, respecting the payment for provisions, fuel, &c.¹

Ordered, That the letters from Major General Heath, with the copy of the agreement, be referred to the Board of Treasury, and the copy of the parole to the Board of War.

A letter, of the 2d, from the council of Massachusetts Bay, and one, of the 19th, from Brigadier Winds, were read:

Ordered, That the letter from the council of Massachusetts Bay, be referred to the Board of War.

The committee to whom was referred the motion made yesterday, respecting the conduct and expressions of Mr. [Thomas] Burke, brought in a report, which was agreed to as follows:

Congress taking into consideration the minutes of the behaviour of Mr. [Thomas] Burke in the house, on the evening of the tenth of April instant, of his answer that evening by their messenger, and of his conduct in the house the next day; and the said minutes being read, Mr. [Thomas] Burke being heard in his place, and witnesses examined, it appears to Congress, and they accordingly,

Resolve, That the manner in which Mr. [Thomas] Burke withdrew, on the evening of the said tenth instant, was disorderly and contemptuous; and that the answer then returned by him was indecent. That the principle upon which he has attempted to justify his withdrawing from the house is dangerous, because it strikes at the very existence of the house, and, as in the present case actually happened, would enable a single member to put an instant stop to the most important proceedings of Congress. That his charge against the member from New York and others, of a combination against him, not having been even attempted by him to be supported by evidence; therefore, appears to be affrontive and groundless.

Ordered, That a copy of the minutes, and of the proceedings respecting Mr. [Thomas] Burke, be transmitted to the assembly of North Carolina.

The Committee on the Treasury brought in a report; Whereupon,

Ordered, That 1,000 dollars be paid Major William West, in discharge of a draught of William Palfrey, Esq. pay master general, in his favour, on the President of Congress, dated at camp, 24 March last, and for which the said William Palfrey is to be accountable.¹

A certificate of Brigadier Smallwood, in favour of the Rev. Mr. Joseph Montgomery, was laid before Congress:

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of Treasury.

The committee appointed to prepare and report terms to be offered to such foreign officers and soldiers in the service of the king of Great Britain, as shall quit that service, and choose to become citizens of any of the United States of America, brought in a report, which was read.

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee of the whole, respecting an allowance to officers after the war:

Another amendment was moved, to strike out "one half of their present pay," and insert "a sum of money appropriated to the officers according to their rank, and payable to them or their representatives after the conclusion of the war:"²

After debate, the determination of this question, at the request of a State, was postponed to another day.³

Adjourned to 3 o’Clock P. M. to Morrow.

¹In the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 21, I, folio 181, are two memoranda in the writing of Francis Dana. The first reads: "Be the one half part of their pay on the first establishment made in the year 1775." The second reads: "The question was moved and put that such provision of the officers be one half of their present pay." Then follows a memorandum in the writing of Charles Thomson: "Strike out "the one half of their present pay" and insert, "be the sum of ______ to each colonel; to each lieutenant colonel; sum of ______ to each major; sum of ______ to each captain."

³This amendment, in the writing of Samuel Chase, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 21, I, folio 187.

"A Question was made in the House whether the officers in the army should be entitled to half pay or not. Whereupon a member from Rhode Island desired that the decision of that question might be postponed in behalf of that State."

On the back Laurens has written:

"Whether the question now moved to take the opinion of the House on a part of a resolution heretofore debated is of such a nature to come within the meaning of the rule that no question shall be determined &c."

The committee appointed to prepare proposals to such foreign officers and soldiers as incline to become citizens of America, brought in a report, which being read and amended, was agreed to as follows:

To the officers and soldiers in the service of the King of Great Britain, not subjects of the said King:

The citizens of the United States of America are engaged in a just and necessary war—a war in which they are not the only persons interested. They contend for the rights of human nature, and therefore merit the patronage and assistance of all mankind. Their success will secure a refuge from persecution and tyranny to those who wish to pursue the dictates of their own consciences, and to reap the fruits of their own industry.

¹This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, II, folio 283.
That kind Providence, who from seeming evil often produces real good, in permitting us to be involved in this cruel war, and you to be compelled to aid our enemies in their vain attempts to enslave us, doubtless hath in view to establish perfect freedom in this new world, for those who are borne down by the oppression and tyranny of the old.

Considering, therefore, that you are reluctantly compelled to be the instruments of avarice and ambition, we not only forgive the injuries which you have been constrained to offer us, but we hold out to your acceptance a participation of the privileges of free and independent states. Large and fertile tracts of country invite and will amply reward your industry.

Townships, from twenty to thirty thousand acres of land, shall be laid out and appropriated to such of you as will come over to us, in the following manner.¹

[Every captain who shall bring with himself forty men from the service of the enemy, before the first day of September, 1778, shall receive eight hundred acres of good woodland; also four oxen, one bull, three cows, and four hogs.² If this captain is accompanied with his lieutenant, the lieutenant shall receive four hundred acres of woodland, also two oxen, two cows, and four hogs.

[Every sergeant who shall accompany his captain shall receive two hundred acres of land, two oxen, one bull, one cow, and three hogs.

[Every soldier who shall accompany his captain shall receive fifty acres of land, one ox, one cow, and two hogs.

¹ This paragraph reads in the original report: "Townships containing from twenty to sixty thousand acres shall be laid out for you, and divided into farms of one hundred acres each; and every non-commissioned officer and soldier, who shall leave the enemy, and come over to us, shall be entitled to one such farm; every ensign to two; every lieutenant to three; every captain to four, and so on, in progression, according to their rank."

² The original also promised eight axes, ten shovels, and ten spades.
April, 1778

[If a lieutenant, or other commissioned officer under the rank of a captain, shall bring off from his company twenty five men, he shall receive six hundred acres of land, two oxen, two cows, and four hogs.]

[Every sergeant, or non-commissioned officer who shall bring off parties of men, shall receive an additional bounty of twenty acres of land for every man so brought off. And every soldier, who shall come off without a commissioned or non-commissioned officer, shall receive fifty acres of land; and if he brings off his arms and accoutrements, an additional bounty of twenty dollars.

Both Officers and Soldiers who shall come off together, shall be at Liberty either to separate themselves, or to unite for the purpose of affording to each other Mutual Succour in the Establishments they make, and to form themselves into Townships after the Model of many German Settlements in various Parts of these States, which Exhibit an Example of that Happiness which is now offered to those who are wise Enough to accept of it.

Such officers and soldiers shall be at liberty immediately to employ themselves in the settlement of their farms, without being obliged to do any military duty; and they shall receive rations in proportion to their rank for the space of six weeks.

The stock hereby offered shall be given to such officers and soldiers as shall actually settle on the lands respectively granted to them.

Such of the officers and non-commissioned officers as choose to enter into the military line, shall receive an additional rank in detached corps, which shall be formed of native Germans of those who now reside in America;

1 The original promised in addition: “Double the quantity of stock and instruments of husbandry from what has been proposed to him in case he comes off with his captain.”

2 The original added: “during the present war.”

3 The original added: “From the time of their desertion.”

4 Paragraph preceded by a [ were in the nature of a substitute for the original proposition, and are in the writing of William Duer.
which corps shall not be employed but with their own consent in any other service than that of guards at a distance from the enemy, or in garrison upon the western frontiers."

Such of you as are skilled in manufactures, over and above these lands and other articles, will find riches in prosecuting your occupations, the necessaries of life being very cheap in proportion to the price of manufactures, and the demand for them is so great, that every mechanick will find full employment. Some of you have had an opportunity of observing the truth of these assertions, and will doubtless inform their countrymen and acquaintance of these facts.

We have hitherto met you in the field of battle, with hostile minds, urged on by the great principle of self-defence; yet in those instances, where the fortune of war hath delivered any of your countrymen into our hands, we appeal to them that our enmity hath ceased the moment they were disarmed; and we have treated them more like citizens than prisoners of war. We now address you as part of the great family of mankind, whose freedom and happiness we most earnestly wish to promote and establish.

Disdain, then, to continue the instruments of frantick ambition and lawless power. Feel the dignity and importance of your nature. Rise into the rank of free citizens of free states. Desist from the vain attempt to ravage and depopulate a country you cannot subdue, and accept from our munificence what can never be obtained from our fears. We are willing to receive you with open arms into the bosom of our country. Come, then, and partake of the blessings we tender you in sincerity of heart.

The original added: "to defend the Frontiers against the Incursions of the Indians. The Term of Enlistment shall be for three Years or during the present War, at the Expiration of which they, if they think proper, shall receive the Lands which have been promised them."
April, 1778

In the name of these sovereign, free, and independent states we promise and engage to you that great privilege of man, the free and uninterrupted exercise of your religion, complete protection of your persons from injury, the peaceable possession of the fruits of your honest industry, the absolute property in the soil granted to you to defend, unless you shall otherwise dispose of it, to your children and your children's children for ever.'

Resolved, That it be recommended to the several states, who have vacant lands, to lay off with as much expedition as possible, a sufficient quantity of lands to answer the purposes expressed in the foregoing address; for which lands no charge is to be made against the United States.'
