SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1779

Congress being informed that Mr. W[illiam] H[enry] Drayton, one of the delegates for the State of South Carolina, died last night, and that circumstances required that his remains be interred this evening:

Resolved, That Congress will, in a body, attend the funeral this evening, at six o'clock, as mourners, with a crape round the left arm, and will continue in mourning for the space of one month.

The Board of War, to whom was referred the letter of Major General Gates, report, that they have conversed with the gentleman stiling himself le Baron de Benyowsky, mentioned in General Gates's letter; that they know nothing from any testimonials he produces except his having a letter directed to General Pulaski, who he says is his half brother, and to whom he now desires only the means of going; Whereupon,
September, 1779.

It should seem that if he was an Impostor, he would not wish to go where he can be so easily detected. We leave the determination, as it is our duty, to Congress, and if they are satisfied on the subject, we take the liberty of reporting:

Resolved, That Mons. le Baron de Benyowsky be supplied with an horse and one thousand dollars, to enable him to proceed to General Pulaski, now with the southern army.¹

A letter, of this day, from Lieutenant Colonel Knobelauch, was read: ²

Ordered, That the same be referred to a committee of three:
The members chosen, Mr. [Frederick A.] Muhlenberg, Mr. [Henry] Marchant, and Mr. [Meriwether] Smith.

A letter, of this day, from S. Deane, was read.

Ordered, That copies of the resolutions of Congress relative to the capture of the snow Nostra Senhora del Carmel et St. Antonio, Captain Duarti, be sent by the Committee for Foreign Affairs by different conveyances, to the Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at the court of France, to be by him communicated to the court of Lisbon.

The committee, to whom was referred the letter from William Bingham, Esq. dated July the 6, 1779, report,

That the two cases mentioned in the said letter appear as follows:

First. Elisha Gaine, a native and citizen of the State of Connecticut, on the fifth day of October last, sailed from Matchepungo inlet in the State of Virginia, as master of the sloop Kitty, belonging to Mess. Edward Custis, Isaac and Thoroughgood Smith & Co. inhabitants and citizens of Virginia, aforesaid; The sloop was cleared out for St Domingo, but the owners ordered him to proceed to Bermuda to procure a load of salt. A master and part of a crew embarked on board the said sloop for Bermuda, to take charge of a vessel which his owners had built there. Bad weather and contrary winds induced him to bear away for St. Eustatia, and in that course, on the 22d day of November, he fell in with an armed sloop of eight guns which gave him chase under English colours, and which he believed to be a British privateer. This induced him to throw over board a letter he had from his owners directed to a merchant in Bermuda, which he had orders to do, if closely pursued: When the privateer came up with him, she fired under French colours, upon which he immediately hove to, thinking her to belong to subjects of his most Christian Majesty. He was brought on board the privateer with his mate, a mariner and a passenger; and carried to Basse terre in Guadaloupe; and there he and all his crew were thrown into goal, kept in the closest confinement, and his sloop was tried and condemned as lawful prize in the court of admiralty, and the vessel and cargo sold for the benefit of the captors.

William Bingham, Esq. agent for the United States at Martinique, complained of this proceeding to the Count D'Arbault, governor general of Basse terre, Guadaloupe, in a letter, dated, 8 December, 1778. The Governor in his answer, of the 18 of the same month, justifies the sentence of the court of admiralty, and alleges that the reasons on which the same was grounded, to wit, the throwing papers over board and having two blank passports, were sufficient.

Secondly. Mr. Benjamin Putnam, a native and citizen of the State of Massachusetts bay, embarked on board an American privateer, which was captured by the enemy and carried into Antigua, where he and the rest of the crew were

1 The original report continued: "where they were treated with great indignity and pillaged of all their money and wearing apparel."

2 The original report contained the following: "He signed several papers in the French language, which he did not understand, being terrified thereto (as he alleged on oath) by threats of imprisonment, not knowing what he signed."
confined as prisoners of war. He made his escape from prison, and lay some time concealed in the town of St. John’s, and at length, cut a sloop out of the harbour and in her arrived, with another American prisoner and thirteen negroes and sundry articles of cargo, at Point à Petre, Guadaloupe. A few days after his arrival there, the Governor of Antigua sent a flag of truce to reclaim the vessel, negroes, &c. in virtue of an agreement entered into between some of the French and British governors of the West India islands, stipulating that no privateer or armed vessel belonging to either government, committed to their care, should make any incursion or descent for the purposes of robbing, burning, plundering, or carrying off negro slaves, or other property, on pain that such vessel should have her commission vacated, the plundered effects restored and the penalty bond prosecuted. The Count d’Arbaud accordingly restored the prize and confined Mr. Putnam in close prison two weeks; but afterwards, upon the remonstrance of William Bingham, Esq. he sent Mr. Putnam and three of the negroes to him at Martinique. It appears that Mr. Putnam has addressed the Count d’Estaing on this transaction, who, in a letter to Mr. Putnam, dated on board the Languedoc, June 8, 1779, politely promises him that if he will solicit the King for restitution, he the Count will with great pleasure join in endeavouring to obtain it.

Upon the first case, as above stated, the committee are of opinion, that by a resolve of Congress the subjects of any of the United States have a right to trade with the inhabitants of Bermuda, and that by throwing any paper overboard, other than passports, bills of lading, invoices or other ship’s papers, no forfeiture of vessel or cargo can legally ensue; and upon the whole, that there appears to them no sufficient grounds for the condemnation of the sloop Kitty and her cargo in the court of admiralty of Guadaloupe.
Upon the second case, as above stated, the committee are of opinion "that by the resolves of Congress, and the law of nations, Benjamin Putnam and the other persons, who cut the vessel out of the harbour of St Johns in Antigua, and carried her and the negro slaves on board to Basse terre in Guadaloupe, had a right to them, and that no agreement between the governors of the French and British islands in such case as this could affect any other persons than the subjects of the contracting parties; which will appear evidently to be the meaning of the recited agreement itself, which is restrained to vessels belonging to either government committed to their care, and the penalty is the having their commissions vacated, the plundered effects restored and the penalty bond prosecuted, which is totally inapplicable to Americans or persons not belonging to their governments, and who had not obtained commissions from them or under their respective sovereigns; and of course that the releasing of this vessel and the negroes by the governor of Guadaloupe, and causing them to be delivered up to the governor of Antigua, was unwarrantable and inconsistent with treaties subsisting between his most Christian Majesty and these United States;" Whereupon,

Resolved, That a representation of the before mentioned cases be made to the Minister Plenipotentiary of his most Christian Majesty to these states, in order that redress and restitution may be made to the parties aggrieved, in such manner as may be consistent with justice and the laws of Nations.¹

The committee to whom were referred letters from General Washington and Colonel Simms, brought in a report; Whereupon,

¹ The last paragraph is a substitute, in the writing of John Jay, the original deferring the question entirely to the "wisdom and justice" of the King. The report, in the writing of Thomas McKean, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, I, folio 341.
Resolved, That leave of absence from his regiment be given to Lieutenant Colonel Simms till the 20th day of November next:

That copies of his applications to Congress and General Washington's letter, be transmitted to the governor of the State of Virginia, and that it be signified to him, that as Lieutenant Colonel Simms's application has been complied with at a time when his absence is with the greatest reluctance dispensed with, it is the wish of Congress that he may be enabled to rejoin his regiment as speedily as possible; and that such measures may be taken respecting claims similar to that of Lieutenant Colonel Simms, as may prevent other officers of the Virginia line making application for the like indulgence of absence, which must in the midst of a campaign, be utterly inadmissible; and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor of Virginia.¹

The Committee on the Treasury brought in a report; Whereupon,

TREASURY Office, August 28th, 1779.

A Letter, of the 26th instant, from James Wilkinson, Esq', Clothier General, referred to the Board of War for their opinion and a Return from the said Board being read:

Ordered, That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of James Wilkinson, Esq. clothier general, for twenty thousand dollars, to enable him to defray the contingent expences of the department; for which the said J. Wilkinson is to be accountable.²

That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of Resolve Smith, Esq. one of the commissioners of accounts at the Treasury, on his application, for three thousand dollars; for which he is to be accountable.

² This report, dated August 28, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, III, folio 591.
That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of Cornelius Comegys, one of the clerks in the chamber of accounts, on his application, for fifteen hundred dollars; for which he is to be accountable.

That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of Jeremiah Wadsworth, Esq. commissary general of purchases, on the application of Chaloner and White, his agents, for five millions six hundred thousand dollars, for the use of his department; for which sum the said commissary general is to be accountable.

That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of Mr. H[enry] Marchant, one of the delegates for the State of Rhode Island, on his application, for three thousand dollars; for which the said State is to be accountable.

Treasury Office, August 30th, 1779.

The Committee on the Treasury, having taken into consideration an Estimate of the monthly pay and subsistence of the Army of the United States, calculated by Wm Palfrey Esq', Pay Master General, for 35,000 Privates, and a full complement of Commissioned and non-commissioned Officers in order to enable them to report precisely a warrant for the payment of the army, agreeable to an act of Congress of the 18th instant: but the Committee, observing that there is no provision made in the said Act for the subsistence of the Cornets of Horse in the service of the United States, beg leave to offer the following resolution

Resolved, That until the further order of Congress, every cornet of horse be entitled to receive monthly for his subsistence, 100 dollars, to commence agreeable to an act of Congress of the 18th of August last.

That there is due to William Trickett, for stationary supplied the treasury and the pay master general’s office, the sum of nine hundred and ten dollars and 30/90.¹

That they find it impracticable, without taking them from the supplies provided for the army which are yet vastly deficient, to furnish the blankets requested for the ranging companies raised in this State and that every blanket given to them will oblige one of the soldiers in the army to go without one.

We therefore cannot without the express direction of Congress agree to supply them. But we take the liberty of reporting that,

It be recommended to the supreme Executive Council of the State of Pennsylvania to provide blankets for the ranging companies raised for the defence of the frontiers of that State and charge the expense of procuring such blankets to the United States.¹

Resolved, That it be recommended to the Respective States whose Citizens have been taken by the Enemy, not in arms and are now held by them as prisoners of war, or may be hereafter so taken and held, to make such provision for their Relief and comfortable subsistence as they shall judge necessary and Expedient, and to keep an Account of such Expenditures [in order that the same may be adjusted and paid at the final settlement of accounts with the enemy respecting prisoners.]²

The Board of War, to whom was referred the letter of the 5th from General Washington, relative to the arrangement of the Massachusetts line of officers, brought in a report; Whereupon,

War Office, September 4, 1779.

The Board having considered General Washington’s letter of the 5th ulto, referred to them by Congress, relative to the arrangement of the Massachusetts line of officers, beg leave to observe, That the arrangement of Officers in every other line serving in the Northern States has been made upon the same principles, and by the same authority, as that of the Massachusetts line now presented; that the final settlement of it was postponed merely from the numerous embarrassments attending it: that if the present arrangement be set aside and the making a new one referred to the State, the whole affair must be again involved in confusion, and occasion infinite delays and discontents; not to remark, that in case of disputes (and those now settled will of course all be revived) they must be adjusted by the same rules, and by the same modes as have been pursued by the Commander in Chief in fixing that he has transmitted: that the Officers of the Massachusetts line expect the present will be a final settlement of the ranks they are now entitled to; having giving in their returns and claims under the same orders, and to be determined by the same rules, with the ranks of officers of those States whose arrangements were fixed before the 28th of June last. The Board are also humbly of opinion that Congress by the Resolution of that date, did not intend to control the primary arrangements to be made pursuant to the acts of May 27, 1778, and November 24, 1778, and other subsequent acts directing the arrangements to be made agreeably to the rules established in the Acts of May 27th and November 24th. We therefore beg leave to report:

Resolved, That the arrangement of the officers in the Massachusetts line, as now fixed by the Commander in Chief, be confirmed, and their commissions issued accordingly.1

A letter, of 30th August. from Admiral Arbuthnot, was read:¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the Marine Committee.

Mr. James Mercer, a delegate for the State of Virginia, attended and took his seat in Congress.

A letter, of 8th, from the Board of War, was read:

Sir: The Board have been sundry times made accountable for the monies granted by warrants from Congress for the purposes of purchasing necessaries for the army. They have complained of this to the Treasury Board, but the form of the warrants continues the same. It is most distressingly hard that we should not only be obliged to continue in the clothing business contrary to our request made long ago to Congress, and we fear also, owing to our other engagements, contrary to the public interest, but also that we should be made accountable for monies of which we never touch a dollar, and have neither profit or pleasure to indemnify us for any losses. Congress will be pleased to excuse this representation; but we are constrained to make it as we cannot think of making our persons or the small remainder of the property the war has left us liable for deficiencies (if any should arise) which we can neither prevent or remedy. If Congress will be pleased to alter the late warrant for one million of dollars making it payable to our paymaster who alone receives the money, and should be accountable, we will be answerable for the propriety of our warrants on him, and we are humbly of opinion we ought not to be further responsible.

We beg leave further to represent to Congress, that we find it impossible to procure a sufficient quantity of clothing for the Troops under the present circumstances of our Finances. We have most industriously endeavored to procure sufficient supplies, but we find it out of our power, and we beg to be permitted to add, that unless some measures are taken, beyond the common mode of dealing, the Troops will experience the greatest distress. The articles of shirts, shoes, blankets and hats are the most scarce, and without the speedy and indefatigable exertions of the States, no quantities of these necessaries, adequate in any considerable degree to the wants of the Troops will be procured. We have directed the Clothier General to write most pressingly to the Governments of the several states requesting their assistance, and at our desire General Washington has also written circular letters on the subject.

Our feelings for our private characters require us to declare that it will be only our deference to the positive orders of Congress which will induce us to give any farther direction about purchases. When we began the direction of the purchases of clothing, the advance on the sterling cost of the articles was at an average about 15 for 1. It proceeded gradually up to forty for one, till within these 3 months, since which period the depreciation has been so rapid as that at this time, one hundred pounds currency are demanded and given by private persons, and some State purchasers in the price of Dry Goods for the original cost of one pound sterling. Considerable quantities may be procured—the Army will want more than can be had, but we have not yet given this price. Yet our purchases must cease unless we come nearly if not entirely up to it. We therefore desire the favor of explicit directions as to our conduct. But if Congress will be pleased totally to take out of our hands this disagreeable business we shall acknowledge ourselves personally obliged to them, and we believe the public will be better served. In our opinions it would be most expedient either for every State to provide for its own quota of Troops, or that some person be appointed to superintend the purchases who had no other business. What should be done we leave to the wisdom of Congress, with the melancholy remark, that whoever undertakes this business, will find but a choice of difficulties as the money is not an object with many Proprietors of Goods, and we hope we are not too much under the influence of our fears, when we declare that we believe in a very short period, unless some extraordinary event takes place, the present currency will cease to be a medium of commerce.
Our more immediate connexion with purchases drew from us this latter observation. If it is improper or out of the line of our duty we beg that our anxiety for the public good may be our excuse. We have the honor to be &c.¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the Committee on the Treasury, who are directed to report on Monday next.

Resolved, That Mr. [Cyrus] Griffin, at his request, be discharged from the Committee on the Treasury, on account of his ill state of health.

That the said minister be instructed to endeavour by all means in his power to procure the assurance of the said countries and navigation to these states; but if his Catholick Majesty shall positively insist upon the Floridas being ceded to him, and upon the exclusive navigation of the Mississippi from that part thereof which lies in latitude thirty-one degrees north from the equator to its mouth; in such cases, the said minister be instructed to agree to such propositions, to assent to mutual guarantees, to wit, of the Floridas and the navigation aforesaid to the king of Spain; and of Canada, Nova Scotia, Bermudas and the fisheries aforesaid to these states; and to procure, if possible, the establishment of a free commerce for the inhabitants of these states with some port or ports on the said river below the said degree of latitude, except for such articles as may be in the treaty particularly enumerated. That the said minister be instructed, that it is not the desire of Congress

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolutions:

It appearing from the representation of the Board of War, that for the more comfortable accommodation of the troops of the United States, it is expedient that each State should provide cloathing for its own quota of those troops, in addition to that which has been imported or already procured by the agents appointed by the said Board:

Resolved, That it be earnestly recommended to the governments of the several states, immediately to provide large quantities of cloathing for their respective quotas of troops:

That particular attention be paid to the articles of hats, hose, shirts, blankets, and shoes, which are indispensably necessary and immediately wanted, and without which the troops must severely suffer:

That the cloathing so purchased or procured by the states respectively be delivered to the sub or State clothiers, agreeably to the ordinance of the 23d of March last:

That the sub or State clothiers make regular monthly returns to the cloathier general of all cloathing received from their respective states:

That the executive powers of the several states be requested to correspond with the Board of War, from time to time, informing them of their proceedings and prospects in the cloathing business; that every assistance may be given, where necessary, by the said Board, when the continental stock will admit thereof, and continental purchasers be stopped when a sufficiency of cloathing is provided:

That it be also recommended to the governments of the respective states, to take measures for preventing any competition of prices among the purchasers, whether on account of the continent or particular states:

That the said governments be informed that the principal supplies of cloathing for the troops of their respective quotas are expected from them; and to this end they are earnestly requested now diligently to exert themselves, and in future to make timely provision, either by purchase, manufacture, or importation:

That the Board of War be directed to inform the executive powers of the several states, from time to time, of any considerable additions to the stock of cloathing provided by the United States, by importation or otherwise, that whencesoever all or any considerable part of the cloathing for the troops is or shall be provided by the United States, the governments of the several states may cease further provision.¹

On motion of Mr. [Henry] Marchant, seconded by Mr. [Nathaniel] Scudder, ²This resolution was entered only in the manuscript Secret Domestic Journal.

Resolved, That the further consideration of the propositions moved yesterday be postponed.

A motion was then made by Mr. [Samuel] Huntington, seconded by Mr. [Meriwether] Smith, as follows:

Whereas by the treaties subsisting between his most Christian Majesty and the United States of America, a power is reserved to his Catholick Majesty "to accede to the said treaties, and to participate in their stipulations, at such time as he shall judge proper; it being well understood, nevertheless, that, if any of the stipulations of the said treaties are not agreeable to the king of Spain, his Catholick Majesty may propose other conditions analagous to the principal aim of the alliance, and conformable to the rules of equality, reciprocity and friendship:" And whereas, should his Catholick Majesty accede to the said treaties without any alteration, he must be under the necessity of renouncing forever all claims to the possession of the Floridas, of the utmost consequence to his kingdom, and more particularly to his American dominions: In order, therefore, that nothing may be wanting on the part of these states to further a treaty of alliance and of amity and commerce with his Catholick Majesty, consistent with the engagements of the said states, and agreeable to his most Christian Majesty their ally,

Resolved, That if his Catholick Majesty shall accede to the said treaties, and in concurrence with France and the United States of America, continue the present war with Great Britain, for the purposes expressed in the treaties aforesaid, he shall not thereby be precluded from securing to himself the Floridas: On the contrary, if he shall [think proper to attack them, these United States will aid and assist his Catholick Majesty in such enterprise with such provisions and naval stores as shall be required by his Catholic Majesty, and can be furnished by these states; and if his Catholic Majesty shall] obtain the Floridas from Great Britain [by cession, or by war, with or without the assistance of the allies,] these United States will guaranty the same to his Catholic Majesty: Provided always, that his Catholic Majesty shall grant to the United States the free navigation of the river Mississippi, into the sea, and establish on the said river, at or somewhere southward of the thirty-first degree north latitude, a free port or ports, under such regulations and restrictions as shall be agreed on between the ministers plenipotentiary of his Catholic Majesty and the United States: and provided, also, that his Catholic Majesty shall pay to the United States, as a subsidy, a present sum not less than and a further annual sum of during the continuance of the present war, and for the term of years.

Whereas it is necessary that the several States, should raise by Taxes and Loans their Quotas of the money which may hereafter be wanted for supporting the War,

Resolved, That in addition to the sums required by the resolutions of Congress of the 22d November, 1777, and 2d January, and 21st May, 1779, the several States be called on to pay into the Continental Treasury in March next, and every month after during the war, their respective proportions of fifteen million dollars, viz,

¹The Washington letters are in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 152, VII, folios 723, 743; that of Lafayette, in No. 156, folio 89; that of Rhode Island, in No. 64, folio 454.
3d That the encouragement offered by a resolution of Congress of the 29th June last, for promoting Loans, be extended to all sums which may be paid into the Continental Loan Offices on or before the first of March next, to the amount of the blank loan office certificates which are already ordered to be struck by Congress; that any person subscribing ten thousand dollars or upwards, shall be allowed to pay one half thereof within fourteen days after the subscription, and the residue at the end of two months after the first payment, the whole to bear interest from the time of the first payment, if the other is punctually made; and that no domestic loans be afterwards made by Congress unless from the several States.

4th. That a Committee be appointed to prepare an estimate of the public expenses, and report a plan for retrenching the same; that for this purpose they be authorized to repair to Camp, and confer with the Commander in Chief on the subject; and that it be an instruction to the said Committee to consult the General on the expediency of supplying by contract, the departments of the quarter master and Commissary General; and to suggest to him the necessity of discharging supernumerary officers of every kind, and introducing strict economy into every department.

5. That to prevent disappointments in supplies of money, the plan reported by a committee on the 20th July last be completed, and sent to the Minister of these United States in France, to be by him communicated to his most Christian Majesty, with the request of Congress, that he will give his assurance that the Bills of Exchange mentioned in the plan, shall be answered, and the annual interest previously arising on the Bills be regularly paid, should Congress judge it indispensably necessary to make sale of the said Bills for supporting the war.

And whereas, there is great reason to expect that an appreciation of the current money will immediately follow the exertions of the several States to provide their quotas of supplies as aforesaid,

6. Resolved, That if the sums to be paid by the several States should exceed the expenses of the war, the surplus shall be applied as a Sinking Fund for discharging the public debt.1

The president laid before Congress a draught of a circular letter from Congress of the United States of America, to 1 This report, in the writing of Elbridge Gerry, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 26, folio 61. See October 6, et seq., post.

their constituents, which was read twice and unanimously agreed to:

Friends and Fellow-Citizens!—In governments raised on the generous principles of equal liberty, where the rulers of the state are the servants of the people, and not the masters of those from whom they derive authority; it is their duty to inform their fellow-citizens of the state of their affairs, and by evincing the propriety of public measures, lead them to unite the influence of inclination to the force of legal obligation in rendering them successful. This duty ceases not, even in times of the most perfect peace, order and tranquillity, when the safety of the commonwealth is neither endangered by force or seduction from abroad, or by faction, treachery or misguided ambition from within. At this season, therefore, we find ourselves in a particular manner impressed with a sense of it, and can no longer forbear calling your attention to a subject much misrepresented, and respecting which, dangerous, as well as erroneous opinions have been held and propagated:—we mean your finances.

The ungrateful despotism and inordinate lust of domination, which marked the unnatural designs of the British king and his venal parliament, to enslave the people of America, reduced you to the necessity of either asserting your rights by arms, or ingloriously passing under the yoke. You nobly preferred war. Armies were then to be raised, paid and supplied: money became necessary for these purposes. Of your own there was but little; and of no nation in the world could you then borrow. The little that was spread among you could be collected only by taxes, and to this end regular governments were essential; of these you were also destitute. So circumstanced, you had no other resource but the natural value and wealth of your fertile country. Bills were issued on the credit of this bank, and your faith was pledged for their redemption. After a considerable number of these had circulated, loans were solicited, and offices for the purpose established. Thus a national debt was unavoidably created, and the amount of it is as follows:

Bills emitted and circulating, 159,948,880 dollars; monies borrowed before the 1st of March, 1778, the interest of which is payable in France, 7,545,196 67-90ths; monies borrowed since the first of March, 1778, the interest of which is payable here, 26,188,909; money due abroad, not exactly known, the balances not having been transmitted, supposed to be about 4,000,000 dollars.
For your further satisfaction we shall order a particular account of the several emissions, with the times limited for their redemption, and also of the several loans, the interest allowed on each, and the terms assigned for their payment, to be prepared and published.

The taxes have as yet brought into the treasury no more than 3,027,560, so that all the monies supplied to Congress by the people of America, amount to no more than 36,761,665 67-90 dollars, that being the sum of the loans and taxes received. Judge, then, of the necessity of emissions, and learn from whom and from whence that necessity arose.

We are also to inform you, that on the first day of September inst.
we resolved "that we would, on no account whatever, emit more bills of credit than to make the whole amount of such bills 200,000,000 of dollars," and as the sum emitted and in circulation amounted to 159,948,880 dollars, and the sum of 40,051,120 dollars remained to complete the 200,000,000 abovementioned, we on the 3d day of September, inst. further resolved, "that we would emit such part only of the said sum of 40,051,120 dollars as should be absolutely necessary for public exigencies before adequate supplies could otherwise be obtained, relying for such supplies on the exertions of the several states."

Exclusive of the great and ordinary expenses incident to the war, the depreciation of the currency has so swelled the prices of every necessary article, and of consequence made such additions to the usual amount of expenditures, that very considerable supplies must be immediately provided by loans and taxes; and we unanimously declare it to be essential to the welfare of these states, that the taxes already called for be paid into the continental treasury by the time recom-manded for that purpose. It is also highly proper that you should extend your views beyond that period, and prepare in season, as well for bringing your respective quotas of troops into the field early the next campaign, as for providing the supplies necessary in the course of it. We shall take care to apprise you, from time to time, of the state of the treasury, and to recommend the proper measures for supplying it.
To keep your battalions full, to encourage loans, and to assess your taxes with prudence, collect them with firmness, and pay them with punctuality, is all that will be requisite on your part. Further ways and means of providing for the public exigencies are now under consideration, and will soon be laid before you.

Having thus given you a short and plain state of your debt, and pointed out the necessity of punctuality in furnishing the supplies already required, we shall proceed to make a few remarks on the depreciation of the currency, to which we entreat your attention.

The depreciation of bills of credit is always either natural or artificial, or both. The latter is our case. The moment the sum in circulation exceeded what was necessary as a medium in commerce, it began and continued to depreciate in proportion as the amount of the surplus increased; and that proportion would hold good until the sum emitted should become so great as nearly to equal the value of the capital or stock, on the credit of which the bills were issued. Supposing, therefore, that 30,000,000 was necessary for a circulating medium, and that 160,000,000 had issued, the natural depreciation is but little more than as five to one: but the actual depreciation exceeds that proportion, and that excess is artificial. The natural depreciation is to be removed only by lessening the quantity of money in circulation. It will regain its primitive value whenever it shall be reduced to the sum necessary for a medium of commerce. This is only to be effected by loans and taxes.

The artificial depreciation is a more serious subject, and merits minute investigation. A distrust (however occasioned) entertained by the mass of the people, either in the ability or inclination of the United States to redeem their bills, is the cause of it. Let us enquire how far reason will justify a distrust in the ability of the United States.

The ability of the United States must depend on two things; first, the success of the present revolution; and secondly, on the sufficiency of the natural wealth, value and resources of the country.

That the time has been when honest men might, without being chargeable with timidity, have doubted the success of the present revolution, we admit: but that period is passed. The independence of America is now as fixed as fate, and the petulant efforts of Britain to break it down are as vain and fruitless as the raging of the waves which beat against their cliffs. Let those who are still afflicted with these doubts consider the character and condition of our enemies.
Let them remember that we are contending against a kingdom crumbling into pieces; a nation without public virtue; and a people sold to, and betrayed by, their own representatives; against a prince governed by his passions, and a ministry without confidence or wisdom; against armies half paid and generals half trusted; against a government equal only to plans of plunder, conflagration and murder; a government, by the most impious violations of the rights of religion, justice, humanity, and mankind, courting the vengeance of Heaven and revolting from the protection of Providence. Against the fury of these enemies you made successful resistance, when single, alone and friendless, in the days of weakness and infancy, before your hands had been taught to war or your fingers to fight. And can there be any reason to apprehend that the divine disposer of human events, after having separated us from the house of bondage, and led us safe through a sea of blood, towards the land of liberty and promise, will leave the work of our political redemption unfinished, and either permit us to perish in a wilderness of difficulties, or suffer us to be carried back in chains to that country of oppression, from whose tyranny he hath mercifully delivered us with a stretched out arm?

In close alliance with one of the most powerful nations in Europe which has generously made our cause her own, in amity with many others, and enjoying the good will of all, what danger have we to fear from Britain? Instead of acquiring accessions of territory by conquest, the limits of her empire daily contract: her fleets no longer rule the ocean, nor are her armies invincible by land. How many of her standards, wrested from the hands of her champions, are among your trophies, and have graced the triumphs of your troops? and how great is the number of those, who, sent to bind you in fetters, have become your captives, and received their lives from your hands? In short, whoever considers that these states are daily increasing in power; that their armies have become veteran; that their governments, founded in freedom, are established; that their fertile country and their affectionate ally furnish them with ample supplies; that the Spanish monarch, well prepared for war, with fleets and armies ready for combat, and a treasury overflowing with wealth, has entered the lists against Britain; that the other European nations, often insulted by her pride, and alarmed by the strides of her ambition, have left her to her fate; that Ireland, wearied with her oppressions, is panting for liberty, and even Scotland displeased and uneasy at her edicts: whoever considers these things, instead of doubting the issue of the war, will rejoice in the glorious, the sure and certain prospect of success.

This point being established, the next question is, whether the natural wealth, value and resources of the country, will be equal to the payment of the debt?

Let us suppose for the sake of argument, that at the conclusion of the war, the emissions should amount to 200,000,000; that exclusive of supplies from taxes, which will not be inconsiderable, the loans should amount to 100,000,000, then the whole national debt of the United States would be 300,000,000. There are at present 3,000,000 of inhabitants in the 13 states: 300,000,000 of dollars, divided among 3,000,000 of people, would give to each person 100 dollars; and is there an individual in America unable, in the course of 18 or 20 years, to pay it again? Suppose the whole debt assessed, as it ought to be, on the inhabitants in proportion to their respective estates, what would then be the share of the poorer people? Perhaps not 10 dollars. Besides, as this debt will not be payable immediately, but probably 20 years allotted for it, the number of inhabitants by that time in America will be far more than double their present amount. It is well known that the inhabitants of this country increased almost in the ratio of compound interest. By natural population they doubled every 20 years, and how great may be the host of emigrants from other countries cannot be ascertained. We have the highest reason to believe the number will be immense. Suppose that only 10,000 should arrive the first year after the war, what will those 10,000 with their families count in 20 years time?—probably double the number. This observation applies with proportionable force to the emigrants of every successive year. Thus you see great part of your debt will be payable not merely by the present number of inhabitants, but by that number swelled and increased by the natural population of the present inhabitants, by multitudes of emigrants daily arriving from other countries, and by the natural population of those successive emigrants, so that every person's share of the debt will be constantly diminishing by others coming in to pay a proportion of it.

These are advantages which none but young countries enjoy. The number of inhabitants in every country in Europe remains nearly the same from one century to another. No country will produce more people than it can subsist, and every country, if free and cultivated, will produce as many as it can maintain. Hence we may form some idea of the future population of these states. Extensive wildernesses, now scarcely known or explored, remain yet to be cultivated, and vast lakes and rivers, whose waters have for ages rolled in silence and obscurity to the ocean, are yet to hear the din of industry, become subservient to commerce, and boast delightful villas, gilded spires, and spacious cities rising on their banks.

Thus much for the number of persons to pay the debt. The next point is their ability. They who enquire how many millions of acres are contained only in the settled part of North America, and how much each acre is worth, will acquire very enlarged, and yet very inadequate ideas of the value of this country. But those who will carry their enquiries further, and learn that we heretofore paid an annual tax to Britain of 3,000,000 sterling in the way of trade, and still grew rich; that our commerce was then confined to her; that we were obliged to carry our commodities to her market, and consequently to sell them at her price; that we were compelled to purchase foreign commodities at her stores, and on her terms, and were forbid to establish any manufactories incompatible with her views of gain; that in future the whole world will be open to us, and we shall be at liberty to purchase from those who will sell on the best terms, and to sell to those who will give the best prices; that as the country increases in number of inhabitants and cultivation, the productions of the earth will be proportionably increased, and the riches of the whole proportionably greater. Whoever examines the force of these and similar observations, must smile at the ignorance of those who doubt the ability of the United States to redeem their bills.

Let it also be remembered that paper money is the only kind of money which cannot "make unto itself wings and fly away." It remains with us, it will not forsake us, it is always ready and at hand for the purpose of commerce or taxes, and every industrious man can find it. On the contrary, should Great Britain, like Nineveh (and for the same reason) yet find mercy and escape the storm ready to burst upon her, she will find her national debt in a very different situation; her territory diminished, her people wasted, her commerce ruined, her monopolies gone, she must provide for the discharge of her immense debt by taxes to be paid in specie, in gold or silver perhaps now buried in the mines of Mexico or Peru, or still concealed in the brooks and rivulets of Africa or Indostan.

Having shewn that there is no reason to doubt the ability of the United States to pay their debt, let us next enquire whether as much can be said for their inclination.

Under this head three things are to be attended to:

1st. Whether and in what manner the faith of the United States has been pledged for the redemption of their bills:

2d. Whether they have put themselves in a political capacity to redeem them; and,

3d. Whether, admitting the two former propositions, there is any reason to apprehend a wanton violation of the public faith.
1st. It must be evident to every man who reads the journals of Congress, or looks at the face of one of their bills, that Congress have pledged the faith of their constituents for the redemption of them. And it must be equally evident, not only that they had authority to do so, but that their constituents have actually ratified their acts by receiving their bills, passing laws establishing their currency, and punishing those who counterfeit them. So that it may with truth be said that the people have pledged their faith for the redemption of them, not only collectively by their representatives, but individually.

2d. Whether the United States have put themselves in a political capacity to redeem their bills, is a question which calls for more full discussion.

Our enemies, as well foreign as domestic, have labored to raise doubts on this head. They argue that the confederation of the states remains yet to be perfected; that the union may be dissolved, Congress be abolished, and each state, resuming its delegated powers, proceed in future to hold and exercise all the rights of sovereignty appertaining to an independent state. In such an event, say they, the continental bills of credit, created and supported by the union, would die with it. This position being assumed, they next proceed to assert this event to be probable, and in proof of it, urge our divisions, our parties, our separate interests, distinct manners, former prejudices, and many other arguments equally plausible and equally fallacious. Examine this matter.

For every purpose essential to the defence of these states in the progress of the present war, and necessary to the attainment of the objects of it, these states now are as fully, legally, and absolutely confederated as it is possible for them to be. Read the credentials of the different delegates who composed the Congress in 1774, 1775, and part of 1776. You will find that they establish an union for the express purpose of opposing the oppressions of Britain, and obtaining redress of grievances. On the 4th of July, 1776, your representatives in Congress, perceiving that nothing less than unconditional submission would satisfy our enemies, did, in the name of the people of the thirteen United Colonies, declare them to be free and independent states, and “for the support of that declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, did mutually pledge to each other their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.” Was ever confederation more formal, more solemn, or explicit? It has been expressly assented to and ratified by every state in the union. Accordingly, for the direct support of this declaration, that is, for the support of the independence of these states, armies have been raised, and bills of credit emitted and loans made to pay and supply them. The redemption, therefore, of these bills, the payment of these debts, and the settlement of the accounts of the several states for expenditures or services for the common benefit, and in this common cause, are among the objects of this confederation; and consequently, while all or any of its objects remain unattained, it cannot, so far as it may respect such objects, be dissolved, consistent with the laws of God or man.

But we are persuaded, and our enemies will find that our union is not to end here. They are mistaken when they suppose us kept together only by a sense of present danger. It is a fact which they only will dispute, that the people of these states were never so cordially united as at this day. By having been obliged to mix with each other, former prejudices have worn off, and their several manners become blended. A sense of common permanent interest, mutual affection (having been brethren in affliction,) the ties of consanguinity daily extending, constant reciprocity of good offices, similarity in language, in governments, and therefore in manners, the importance, weight and splendor of the union, all conspire in forming a strong chain of connexion, which must forever bind us together. The United Provinces of the Netherlands and the United Cantons of Switzerland became free and independent under circumstances very like ours: their independence has been long established, and yet their confederacies continue in full vigor. What reason can be assigned why our union should be less lasting? or why should the people of these states be supposed less wise than the inhabitants of those? You are not uninformed that a plan for a perpetual confederation has been prepared and that twelve of the thirteen states have already acceded to it. But enough has been said to shew that for every purpose of the present war, and all things incident to it, there does at present exist a perfect solemn confederation, and therefore that the states now are and always will be in political capacity to redeem their bills, pay their debts and settle their accounts.

3d. Whether, admitting the ability and political capacity of the United States to redeem their bills, there is any reason to apprehend a wanton violation of the public faith?
It is with great regret and reluctance that we can prevail upon ourselves to take the least notice of a question which involves in it a doubt so injurious to the honor and dignity of America.

The enemy, aware that the strength of America lay in the union of her citizens, and the wisdom and integrity of those to whom they committed the direction of their affairs, have taken unwearied pains to disunite and alarm the people, to depreciate the abilities and virtue of their rulers, and to impair the confidence reposed in them by their constituents. To this end, repeated attempts have been made to draw an absurd and fanciful line of distinction between the Congress and the people, and to create an opinion and a belief that their interests and views were different and opposed. Hence the ridiculous tales, the invidious insinuations, and the whimsical suspicions that have been forged and propagated by disguised emissaries and traitors in the garb of patriots. Hence has proceeded the notable discovery that as the Congress made the money they also can destroy it; and that it will exist no longer than they find it convenient to permit it. It is not surprising that in a free country, where the tongues and pens of such people are and must be licensed, such political heresies should be inculcated and diffused, but it is really astonishing that the mind of a single virtuous citizen in America should be influenced by them. It certainly cannot be necessary to remind you that your representatives here are chosen from among yourselves; that you are or ought to be acquainted with their several characters; that they are sent here to speak your sentiments, and that it is constantly in your power to remove such as do not. You surely are convinced that it is no more in their power to annihilate your money than your independence, and that any act of theirs for either of those purposes would be null and void.

We should pay an ill compliment to the understanding and honor of every true American, were we to adduce many arguments to shew the baseness or bad policy of violating our national faith, or omitting to pursue the measures necessary to preserve it. A bankrupt faithless republic would be a novelty in the political world, and appear among reputable nations like a common prostitute among chaste and respectable matrons. The pride of America revolts from the idea: her citizens know for what purposes these emissions were made, and have repeatedly plighted their faith for the redemption of them; they are to be found in every man's possession, and every man is interested in their being redeemed: they must therefore entertain a high opinion of American credulity, who suppose the people capable of believing, on due reflection, that all America will, against the faith, the honor and the interest of all America, be ever prevailed upon to countenance, support or permit so ruinous, so disgraceful a measure. We are convinced that the efforts and arts of our enemies will not be wanting to draw us into this humiliating and contemptible situation. Impelled by malice, and the suggestions of chagrin and disappointment, at not being able to bend our necks to their yoke, they will endeavour to force or seduce us to commit this unpardonable sin, in order to subject us to the punishment due to it, and that we may thenceforth be a reproach and a bye word among the nations. Apprized of these consequences, knowing the value of national character, and impressed with a due sense of the immutable laws of justice and honor, it is impossible that America should think without horror of such an execrable deed.

If then neither our ability or inclination to discharge the public debt are justly questionable, let our conduct correspond with this confidence, and let us rescue our credit from its present imputations. Had the attention of America to this object been unremitting, had taxes been seasonably imposed and collected, had proper loans been made, had laws been passed and executed for punishing those who maliciously endeavoured to injure the public credit; had these and many other things equally necessary been done, and had our currency, notwithstanding all these efforts, declined to its present degree of depreciation, our case would indeed have been deplorable. But as these exertions have not been made, we may yet experience the good effects which naturally result from them. Our former negligence therefore should now animate us with hope, and teach us not to despair of removing by vigilance and application the evils which supineness and inattention have produced.

It has been already observed, that in order to prevent the further natural depreciation of our bills, we have resolved to stop the press, and to call upon you for supplies by loans and taxes. You are in capacity to afford them, and are bound by the strongest ties to do it. Leave us not therefore without supplies, nor let in that flood of evils which would follow from such a neglect. It would be an event most grateful to our enemies, and depend upon it they will redouble their artifices and industry to compass it. Be therefore upon your guard, and examine well the policy of every measure and the evidence of every report that may be proposed or mentioned to you before you adopt the one or believe the other. Recollect that it is the price of the liberty, the peace and the safety of yourselves and posterity, that now is required; that peace, liberty and safety, for the attainment and security of which, you have so often and so solemnly declared your readiness to sacrifice your lives and fortunes. The war, though drawing fast to a successful issue, still rages. Disdain to leave the whole business of your defence to your ally. Be mindful that the brightest prospects may be clouded, and that prudence bids us be prepared for every event. Provide, therefore, for continuing your armies in the field till victory and peace shall lead them home, and avoid the reproach of permitting the currency to depreciate in your hands, when by yielding a part to taxes and loans, the whole might have been appreciated and preserved. Humanity as well as justice makes this demand upon you, the complaints of ruined widows, and the cries of fatherless children, whose whole support has been placed in your hands and melted away, have doubtless reached you: take care that they ascend no higher. Rouse, therefore, strive who shall do most for his country; re-kindled that flame of patriotism which at the mention of disgrace and slavery blazed throughout America, and animated all her citizens. Determine to finish the contest as you began it, honestly and gloriously. Let it never be said that America had no sooner become independent than she became insolvent, or that her infant glories and growing fame were obscured and tarnished by broken contracts and violated faith, in the very hour when all the nations of the earth were admiring and almost adoring the splendor of her rising.

By the unanimous order of Congress,               JOHN JAY, President.

PHILADELPHIA, September 13th, 1779.

Ordered, That two hundred copies be printed, in order to be sent to the several states.

Ordered, That the same be translated into German, and two hundred copies in that language struck off.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1779

Mr. [Daniel of St. Thomas] Jenifer, a delegate from the State of Maryland, attended, and took his seat in Congress.

A memorial of the proprietors of a tract of land called Indiana, signed on behalf of the proprietors, and as their agent, by George Morgan, was read, stating

That on the 3d day of November, 1768, at a general congress with the Six Nations and other Indians, held at Fort Stanwix, in consideration of the sum of £85,916 10 8, the amount of the value of the damages sustained by the traders, the said Six United and Independent Nations, the true and absolute owners and proprietors, did grant a tract of land called Indiana, described as follows, viz. Beginning at the southerly side of the mouth of Little Kenhawa creek, where it empties itself into the river Ohio, and running from thence south east to the Laurel Hill, thence along the Laurel Hill until it strikes the river Monongahela, thence down the stream of the said river Monongahela, according to the several courses thereof, to the southern boundary line of the province of Pensylvania, thence westerly along the course of the said province boundary line, as far as the same shall extend, and from thence by the same course to the river Ohio, thence down the said river Ohio, according to the several courses thereof, to the place of beginning: that the said tract of land, thus obtained for so valuable a consideration, and with every circumstance of notoriety and authority that can give validity to any grant, was afterwards (as being included within the bounds of a larger tract of land called Vandalia,) by order of the king of Great Britain in council, before the declaration of the independency of these United States, separated from the dominion which, in right of the crown, Virginia claimed over it. And therefore the memorialists are advised, that the said tract of country cannot remain subject to the jurisdiction of Virginia or any particular state, but of the whole United States in Congress assembled: that some acts of the State of Virginia, directing the sale of the lands in question, to commence in October next, for the particular benefit of that State, seem intended to prevent and defeat the interposition of Congress, and therefore praying this honourable House to take the distressed case of the memorialists into speedy consideration, and that such order may be directed as may be thought proper to stay Virginia in the sale of the lands in question, till Vir-
Virginia, as well as the memorialists, can be heard before this honourable House, and the whole rights of the owners of the tract of land called Vandalia, of which Indiana is a part, shall be ascertained in such a manner as may tend to support the sovereignty of the United States and the just rights of individuals therein.

Also a memorial of William Trent, in behalf of Thomas Walpole and his associates, claiming a right to the tract of land called Vandalia, was read.¹

A motion was made by Mr. [Nathaniel] Scudder, seconded by Mr. [John] Fell, that the first memorial, signed by George Morgan, be referred to a committee.

On which the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [Nathaniel] Scudder, Adjourned to 10 o’Clock to Morrow.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1779

A memorial from Captain William Macpherson was read; Whereupon,

Resolved, That a brevet of major in the army of the United States be granted to William Macpherson, and that, while in actual service, he receive the pay and subsistence of a major.

A letter, of the 15th, from Colonel Knobelauch was read; ¹ Whereupon,

The committee to whom his memorial was referred, brought in a report, which was taken into consideration; and thereupon Congress came to the following resolution:

The Committee to whom was referred the letter from Col. Knobelauch of September 4, 1779, report:

That it appears Colonel Knobelauch was strongly recommended to Congress and General Washington, by Dr. Franklin and William Lee Esqrs. His certificates evincing at the same time, that he is a gallant, skilful and experienced officer.

That Colonel Knobelauch be informed, that although Congress entertain a high opinion of his merit, yet they find it impracticable to employ him in the armies of the United States agreeable to his wishes.

That Col. Knaubelauch receive the thanks of Congress for his zeal in the Cause of America and his Willingness to serve in the army of the U. States.

¹ The memorial of Macpherson is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 41, VI, folio 148; the letter of Knobelauch is in No. 78, XIII, folio 549.
Resolved, That although Colonel Knoblauch brought with him very respectable recommendations to a member of Congress, and to General Washington, yet it is inconsistent with the arrangement of the army to employ him agreeable to his wishes.

Resolved, That Congress entertain a proper sense of Colonel Knoblauch's zeal for the cause of America, and that the sum of 10,000 dollars be paid to Colonel Knoblauch, in order to defray his expenses to Europe, and those incurred during his residence in America.¹

Resolved, That the order of 26 August, in favor of Colonel Knoblauch, be cancelled.

The Board of War, to whom was referred the letter from Major Widdersheim, brought in a report; Whereupon,

War Office, September 15, 1779.

The Board having examined the memorial and credentials there-with referred by Major Widdersheim, beg leave to report,

That it appears he holds the rank set forth in his memorial; but as we are unacquainted with the encouragement given in Europe as he alleges in the year 1776, we cannot pretend to say what operation it should have. But it should seem that the period is too distant for any public offers then made to have effect at this day, so as to operate as an obligation upon the United States to give employment to officers, coming here at this stage of the war. Be this as it may, we are convinced Major Widdersheim cannot be introduced into the line of the army advantageously either to himself or the United States. We therefore propose that it be,

Resolved, That Major Widdersheim be informed that tho' Congress entertain a proper sense of his offer to enter into the service of these States, yet it is impracticable to employ him in the line of the Army consistent with the arrangement thereof.

¹ This report, in the writing of Frederick A. Muhlenberg, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, III, folio 3734. What is printed in large type was an amendment, and is on folio 373, in the writing of John Jay.
September, 1779

On conversing with Major Widdersheim, we find that there is the greatest reason to believe he was induced by the publication he mentions, to think he could obtain employment in this Country. He says he lost his baggage in coming from Holland to S^t Ustatias by shipwreck. He appears to be a modest, sensible man, and so reasonable as to acknowledge, on the circumstances of our army being stated to him, that he ought not to expect rank therein, in violation of the rights of our own officers, many of whom he must of course command if gratified in his wishes of preferment. He is therefore satisfied to return home with the disappointment, but thinks it hard he should have no indemnification for his losses, as his family is large, and they will be injured by his disbursements on his voyage. Nor is it possible for him to get to Europe without the assistance of the United States, as he has little money and no friends. We therefore beg leave to submit to Congress whether it would not be proper that the sum of Dollars be paid to Major Widdersheim to enable him to return to Europe.\(^1\)

A letter, of this day, from William Palfrey, pay master general, was read,\(^2\) informing that John Baynton has resigned the office of pay master for the western district, and that it is necessary another person be appointed to succeed him; Whereupon,

Congress proceeded to an election, and the ballots being taken, John Boreman was elected deputy pay master for the western district, in the room of Mr. John Baynton, resigned.

Ordered, That the letter be referred to the Board of Treasury.

The Committee of Commerce, to whom was referred the letter of P. Pennet, brought in a report,

Ordered, That it be re-committed, and that the committee take order thereon.

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee on further ways and means for supplying the Treasury, and some time being spent thereon,

Adjourned to 10 oClock to Morrow.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1779

A letter, of 12, from General Washington, was read.
A letter, of 7, from Major General Gates, was read:
Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of Treasury.
A letter, of 11, from Major General Baron de Kalb, was read:¹

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of War.
Resolved, That two members be appointed to introduce the Minister to the private audience:
The members chosen, Mr. [Henry] Laurens and Mr. [Daniel of St. Thomas] Jenifer.
The Minister being introduced, took his leave in a speech, of which the following is a translation:

Gentlemen: The King my master, having been pleased to attend to the representations which my ill state of health obliged me to make to him, his Majesty has granted me leave to return. At the same time he has taken care to send a new Minister Plenipotentiary to America, that there may be no interruption in his care to cultivate a mutual friendship. I must leave it to the abilities of Mons‘ the Chevalier de la Luzerne to explain to you his majesty’s sentiments, and confine myself, at this time, in testifying to you, gentlemen, the satisfaction I shall have in rendering him an account of the occurrences which I have been witness of for more than a year during my residence with you. His majesty will thereby perceive the sentiments with which your councils are animated and governed, your wisdom, your firmness, your attachment to the alliance, and your zeal for the prosperity of the common cause and the two nations respectively. He will see with pleasure that that inestimable union, which constitutes the principal force and weight of the confederacy, reigns among the United States; that the citizens are so far from being wanting in zeal and spirit to repel incursions which can have no other object than a barbarous devastation, that there is not an American who is not sensible of the necessity of concurring to humble still further and weaken the common enemy, by efforts proportionate to the importance of happily terminating a glorious revolution, and of securing, as speedily as possible, to the United States of America, by a solid and honourable peace, the inestimable advantages of liberty and independence, which is the essential and fundamental object of the alliance and of the war kindled and rendered necessary by England.

It only remains for me, gentlemen, to offer you as a body and as individuals, the tribute of my thanks for the marks of confidence and esteem, and also of attention which I have received from you; I have always endeavoured to deserve them by the most sincere and zealous attachment to the interests and dignity of the United States, as well as to the principles and sentiments resulting from the alliance. I have not been wanting in zeal for every thing that could have any relation to that object, and that could farther cement the connexions, whether political or personal, between the two nations. The most flattering recompense of all my labours would be the testimony of your satisfaction.

To which the President, in behalf of Congress, returned the following answer:

Sr: We receive with much concern the intimation you have given us, that the bad state of your health obliges you to leave America: though at the same time we are sensible of the continued friendly care of his most Christian Majesty in sending a new Minister Pleni-potentiary to these states.

Great as our regret is in thus parting with you, yet it affords us pleasure to think how well-disposed you are to improve the favourable opportunities you will have on your return to France, of evincing to his Majesty the reality of those sentiments on our part, which may justly be termed the animating principles of the United States.

By such representations the King will be assured, that the citizens of these states observe, with the most lively satisfaction, the repeated instances of his amity for them; that they regard the alliance as an inestimable connexion, endeared to them by the purity of the motives on which it was founded, the advantages derived from it, and the blessings it promises to both nations; that their resolution of securing its essential objects, liberty and independence, is unalterable; that they are determined by all the exertions in their power to advance the common cause, and to demonstrate that while they are attentive to their own interests, they as ardently desire to approve themselves not only faithful but affectionate allies.

By a residence of more than a year near Congress, you are enabled to form a competent judgment of the difficulties we have had to encounter as well as of our efforts to remove them.

Sir, we should be deficient in the respect due to distinguished merit, if we should fail to embrace this opportunity of testifying the high esteem which you have obtained throughout this country by your public and private conduct. You have happily combined a vigilant devotion for the dignity and interest of our most excellent and illustrious ally, with a zealous attachment to the honor and welfare of these states.

Your prudence, integrity, ability and diligence in discharging the eminent trust reposed in you, have secured our entire confidence, and now solicit from us the strongest declarations of our satisfaction in your behaviour.

That you may be blessed with a favourable voyage, the approbation of your sovereign, the perfect recovery of your health, and all happiness, is among the warmest wishes of every member of this body.

The Marine Committee report,

"That it will be for the public benefit that Lieutenant Thomas Simpson, now commander of the ship Ranger, be appointed a captain in the navy of the United States."

On the question to agree to this report, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [James] Mercer,

The Committee on the Treasury, to whom was referred the letter of 8th, from the Board of War, brought in a report; Whereupon,

Resolved, That Congress entertain a just sense of the exertions of the Board of War, in superintending and directing the necessary purchases of cloathing for the army, and of their constant attention to that important business, and that it is necessary the Board should, for the present campaign, and until some more expedient arrangement can be adopted, provide by every means in their power, and upon the best terms they are able, the necessary supplies of cloathing as aforesaid.¹

The Committee on the Treasury brought in another report; Whereupon,

Ordered, That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of Mr. J[oseph] Spencer, one of the delegates for the State of Connecticut, on his application, for three thousand dollars; for which the said State is to be accountable.

their delegates in Congress, and other papers accompanying the same, brought in a report:

The Committee, to whom was referred the petition of the Committees from Cumberland county, together with instructions from the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York to their Delegates in Congress, and other papers accompanying the same, beg leave to report:

That they have perused and maturely considered the several papers aforesaid, and are of opinion, that the propositions and concessions in the same contained on the part of the State of New York, appear to be a sufficient foundation for the mediation of Congress between that State, the States of New Hampshire and Massachusetts Bay, and the inhabitants of the tract of country, known by the name of the New Hampshire Grants, and lately stiling themselves the State of Vermont; and they conceive that the controversy between the several parties is of such a nature as requires the immediate interposition of Congress.

Your Committee further report, That they have not been able to find any Act or Vote of Congress, which countenances the people of the New Hampshire Grants in assuming the rights or name of an independent State; but on the contrary conceive that by certain Resolves of the 30th day of June, 1777, on the subject, every Idea of that sort must be excluded.

Upon the whole therefore, they humbly submit the following Resolves for the consideration of Congress:

That Congress will proceed to hear and determine all matters in variance between the States of New York, New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, and the people claiming to be the State of Vermont, which have been submitted to them, both with respect to jurisdiction and soil, on Monday the day of next; of which notice shall be given to the parties by delivering them respectively a copy hereof on or before the day of October next.

So it was resolved in the affirmative as follows:

Whereas by the treaties subsisting between his most Christian Majesty and the United States of America, a power is reserved to his Catholic Majesty to accede to the said treaties, and to participate in their stipulations at such time as he shall judge proper; it being well understood, nevertheless, that if any of the stipulations of the said treaties are not agreeable to the King of Spain, his Catholic Majesty may propose other conditions analogous to the principal aim of the alliance, and conformable to the rules of equality, reciprocity and friendship.

[Congress is sensible of the friendly regard to these states manifested by his most Christian Majesty in reserving a power to his Catholic Majesty of acceding to the alliance entered into between his Most Christian Majesty and these United States]\(^1\)

And whereas, should his Catholic majesty accede to the said treaties without any alteration, he must be under the necessity of renouncing forever all claims to the possession of the Floridas, of the utmost consequence to his kingdom, and more particularly to his American dominions. In order, therefore, that nothing may be wanting on the part of these states to further a treaty of alliance, and of amity and commerce with his Catholic Majesty consistent with the engagements of the said states, and agreeable to his most Christian Majesty their ally:

Resolved, That if his Cathlick Majesty shall accede to the said treaties, and in concurrence with France and the United States of America, continue the present war with Great Britain for the purpose expressed in the treaties aforesaid, he shall not thereby be precluded from securing to himself the Floridas: On the contrary, if he shall obtain the Floridas from Great Britain, these United States will guaranty the same to his Cathlick Majesty: Provided always, that the United States shall enjoy the free navigation of the river Mississippi into and from the sea.

You are therefore to communicate to his Most Christian Majesty the desire of Congress to enter into a Treaty of Alliance and of amity and Commerce with his Catholic Majesty, and to request his favorable interposition for that purpose. At the same time, you are to make such proposals to his Catholic Majesty as in your Judgment from circumstances will be proper for obtaining for the United States of America equal advantages with those which are secured to them by the Treaties with his Most Christian Majesty; observing always the resolution aforesaid as the Ultimatum of these United States. You are particularly to endeavor to obtain some convenient port or ports below the 31st Degree of North Latitude on the River Mississippi, free for all merchant vessels, goods, wares and merchandizes, belonging to the Inhabitants of these States. But this you are not to insist on.

The distressed State of our Finances, and the great depreciation of our paper Money incline Congress to hope that his Catholic Majesty, if he shall conclude a Treaty with these States, will be induced to lend them money. You are therefore to Represent to him, the great distress of these States on that account, and to solicit a Loan of 5,000,000 of Dollars upon the best terms in your power, not exceeding an interest of 6 per. cent., effectually to enable them to cooperate with the Allies against the Common Enemy.¹

¹These instructions, in the writing of Meriwether Smith, are in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 25, I, folio 325. They are endorsed "Agreed to September 20, 1779."
Resolved, That a committee be appointed to prepare instructions conformable to the foregoing resolution.

The members chosen—Mr. [Meriwether] Smith, Mr. [John] Mathews, Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry.

The honourable sieur Gérard, minister plenipotentiary of France, having on the 15th desired an audience in the course of this week, in order that he might take his leave; and Congress having assigned this day for granting him a private audience, but in full Congress, for the purpose, the minister was introduced by Mr. [Henry] Laurens and Mr. [Daniel of St Thomas] Jenifer, and took his leave in a speech of which the following is a translation.1

Congress also agreed, unanimously, to the following letter to his most christian majesty.

Great faithful and beloved Friend and Ally: The conduct of your Majesty's Minister, the Sieur Gérard, during his Residence in America, has been in every respect so commendable, that we cannot forbear testifying to your Majesty our sense of his merit, without feeling that uneasiness which arises from a neglect of the obligations of Justice.

His behavior appears to us to have been uniformly regulated by a devotion to your Majesty's Dignity and Interest, and an adherence to the terms and principles of the Alliance, while at the same time he demonstrated his attachment to the honor and prosperity of these States.

Thus, serving his Sovereign, he acquired our entire confidence and esteem, and has evinced your royal wisdom in selecting a person so properly qualified to be the first Minister sent to the United States of America.

1 This paragraph is not in the manuscript, but is taken from the printed journal. The speech is printed on p. 1072 ante.
That the Supreme Ruler of the Universe may bestow all happiness on your Majesty is the prayer of your faithful and affectionate friends and allies.

A letter, of this day, signed John Bull and Charles Willson Peale, was read, asserting the charge against them contained in a letter from Edward Langworthy, of the 25th July, to be “groundless, erroneous and unjust”, and that “their conduct respecting that affair had been fully investigated before the honble chief justice of this State, and they believed, appeared deserving the approbation of every good man rather than the censure of any.” ²

That a Naval force within the Harbor of Charles Town, in South Carolina, is essential to the safety of that Capital in particular, and would in a great measure preserve the most valuable parts of the Sea Coast of the State; and by judicious movements from the said harbor may greatly contribute to the recovery of the State of Georgia in the present weak condition of the Enemy in that quarter.

Congress took into consideration the resolutions reported from the committee of the whole, which were agreed to as follows:

Whereas, on the first day of June last, Congress, by a certain resolution, reciting "that whereas divers applications had been made to Congress on the part of the State of New York, and of the State of New Hampshire, relative to disturbances and animosities among inhabitants of a certain district known by the name of the New Hampshire Grants," praying their interference for quieting thereof, did resolve, "that a committee be appointed to repair to the New Hampshire Grants and enquire into the reasons why they refuse to continue citizens of the respective states which heretofore exercised jurisdiction over the said district; for that, as Congress are in duty bound, on the one hand, to preserve inviolate the rights of the several states, so, on the other, they will always be careful to provide that the justice due to the states does not interfere with the justice which may be due to individuals: that the said committee confer with the said inhabitants, and that they take every prudent measure to promote an amicable settlement of all differences, and prevent divisions and animosities so prejudicial to the United States:"

and did farther resolve, "that the farther consideration of this subject be postponed until the said committee shall have made report."
And whereas it so happened that a majority of the committee appointed in pursuance of the afore-mentioned resolution, did not meet in the said district, and therefore have never executed the business committed to them, or made a regular report thereupon to Congress:

And whereas the animosities aforesaid have lately proceeded so far, and risen so high as to endanger the internal peace of the United States, which renders it indispensably necessary for Congress to interpose for the restoration of quiet and good order.

Ordered, That the said committee be discharged.

And whereas one of the great objects of the union of the United States of America is the mutual protection and security of their respective rights; and whereas it is of the last importance to the said union, that all causes of jealousy and discontent between the said states should be removed; and therefore that their several boundaries and jurisdictions be ascertained and settled: and whereas disputes at present subsist between the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, and New York, on the one part, and the people of a district of country called New Hampshire Grants, on the other, which people deny the jurisdiction of each of the said states over the said district, and each of the said states claim the said district against each other as well as against the said people, as appertaining in the whole or in part to them respectively:

Resolved, unanimously, That it be, and hereby is, most earnestly recommended to the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, and New York, forthwith to pass laws expressly authorizing Congress to hear and determine all differences between them relative to their respective boundaries, in the mode prescribed by the articles of confederation, so that Congress may proceed thereon by the first day of February next at the farthest: and further, that the said states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, and New York, do, by express laws for the purpose, refer to the decision of Congress all differences or disputes relative to jurisdiction, which they may respectively have with the people of the district aforesaid, so that Congress may proceed thereon on the said first day of February next, and also to authorize Congress to proceed to hear and determine all disputes subsisting between the grantees of the several states aforesaid, with one another or with either of the said states, respecting title to lands lying in the said district, to be heard and determined in the mode prescribed for such cases by the articles of confederation aforesaid: and further, to provide that no advantage be taken of the non-performance of the conditions of any of the grants of the said lands, but that further reasonable time be allowed for fulfilling such conditions.

Resolved, unanimously, That Congress will, and hereby do, pledge their faith to carry into execution and support their decisions and determinations in the premises, in favour of whichever of the parties the same may be, to the end, that permanent concord and harmony may be established between them, and all cause of uneasiness removed.

Resolved, unanimously, That Congress will, on the said first day of February next, proceed, without delay, to hear and examine into the disputes and differences relative to jurisdiction aforesaid, between the said three states respectively, or such of them as shall pass the laws before-mentioned on the one part, and the people of the district aforesaid who claim to be a separate jurisdiction on the other; and, after a full and fair hearing, will decide and determine the same according to equity; and that neither of the said states shall vote on any question relative to the decision thereof. And Congress do hereby pledge their faith to execute and support their decisions and determinations in the premises.
And whereas it is essential to the interest of the whole confederacy, that all intestine dissentions be carefully avoided, and domestic peace and good order maintained:

Resolved, unanimously, That it is the duty of the people of the district aforesaid, who deny the jurisdiction of all the afore-named states, to abstain in the mean time from exercising any power over any of the inhabitants of the said district who profess themselves to be citizens of, or to owe allegiance to, any or either of the said states: but that none of the towns, either on the east or west side of Connecticut river, be considered as included within the said district, but such as have heretofore actually joined in denying the jurisdiction of either of the said states, and have assumed a separate jurisdiction which they call the State of Vermont. And further, that in the opinion of Congress, the said three states aforesaid ought, in the mean time, to suspend executing their laws over any of the inhabitants of the said district, except such of them as shall profess allegiance to, and confess the jurisdiction of, the same respectively. And further, that Congress will consider any violations committed against the tenor, true intent and meaning of this resolution as a breach of the peace of the confederacy, which they are determined at every Hazard and with the whole Power of the United States to keep and maintain. and consequently must and will treat as open enemies all such of the People of the said District as shall violate the same. And to the end, that all such violations and breaches of the public peace may be the better avoided in the said district, it is hereby recommended to all the inhabitants thereof, to cultivate harmony and concord among themselves, to forbear vexing each other at law or otherwise, and to give as little occasion as possible to the interposition of magistrates.

Resolved, That the Commander in Chief be and hereby is authorized to provide that until the Decision of Congress in the Premises, the public Peace be kept in the said District according to the true Intent and Meaning of the above Resolution. And that all officers and soldiers in the service of the United States be particularly cautious not to interfere in any Disputes in the said District without express orders from Congress or the Commander in Chief.

Resolved, unanimously, That in the opinion of Congress, no unappropriated lands or estates which are or may be adjudged forfeited or confiscated, lying in the said district, ought, until the final decision of Congress in the premises, to be granted or sold.

Ordered, That copies of the foregoing resolutions be sent by express to the states of New York, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts Bay, and to the people of the district aforesaid, and that they be respectively desired to lose no time in appointing their agent or agents and otherwise preparing for the hearings aforesaid.¹

The aforesaid resolutions being read over, and a question taken to agree to the whole,

Resolved, unanimously in the affirmative.

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee on the letter of 23 August from General Washington, and the papers therein enclosed; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the thanks of Congress be given to his Excellency General Washington, for ordering, with so much wisdom, the late attack on the enemy’s fort and works at Powles Hook.

Resolved, That the thanks of Congress be given to Major General Lord Stirling, for the judicious measures taken by him to forward the enterprize and to secure the retreat of the party.

Resolved, That the thanks of Congress be given to Major Lee, for the remarkable prudence, address and bravery displayed by him on the occasion; and that they approve the humanity shewn in circumstances prompting to severity, as honourable to the arms of the United States, and correspondent to the noble principles on which they were assumed.

Resolved, That Congress entertain a high sense of the discipline, fortitude and spirit manifested by the officers and soldiers under the command of Major Lee, in the march, action and retreat; and while with singular satisfaction they acknowledge the merit of these gallant men, they feel an additional pleasure by considering them as part of an army, in which very many brave officers and soldiers have proved, by their cheerful performance of every duty under every difficulty, that they ardently wish to give the truly glorious examples they now receive.

Resolved, That Congress commend the conduct of Major Clark, Captains Handy, Forsyth, Reed, McClean, Smith, Crump, Wilmot, Bradford and Rudolph, and of Lieutenants Armstrong and Reed, who properly improved the several opportunities afforded them of serving their country, and acquiring Honor themselves.

Resolved, That Congress justly esteem the military caution so happily combined with daring activity by Lieutenants McCallister and Rudolph, in leading on the forlorn hope.

Resolved, That a brevet of lieutenant colonel be given to Major Lee

AT A BOARD OF WAR, September 19, 1779.

Present: Col. Pickering and Mr. Peters.

The Board beg leave to report,

That the Chevalier de Colombe who holds the rank of Captain in the service of the United States, has served in quality of Aid de Camp first to the Marquis de la Fayette, and the last campaign to the Baron de Kalb. That he has been three campaigns in America and has produced ample testimonies of his good conduct. He was left in America for public purposes by the Marquis, and was not fortunate enough to obtain promotion at the time the others of the Marquis's family received their brevets. He appears to be a worthy man and much in the confidence of the Marquis, who has wrote for him to return to France; previous to which he is desirous of receiving the Brevet of major, and requests Congress will put him on a footing with those Officers who received their promotion on their departure to France.

If Congress shall be of opinion that an exception to the Resolve as to granting of Brevets should be made in his case we take the liberty of reporting,

That Captain le Chevalier de Colombe, having served with reputation in the armies of the United States for three Campaigns, receive the Brevet rank of Major, as a testimony of the good opinion Congress entertain of his Merit and Services.¹

The committee to whom was referred intelligence communicated by the honorable Mr. Gérard, minister plenipotentiary of France, brought in a report; Whereupon,

The Committee, to whom was referred the paper of intelligence communicated by the Honorable the Sieur Gérard, on the 7th Inst., beg leave to report the following draught of a letter in answer to the Said communication:

Sir: The sentiments contained in the paper laid before Congress, on the 7th Inst., have given us great uneasiness, as they admit the possibility of an event which we cannot contemplate without pain and regret. Nevertheless as they demonstrate the anxieties of a faithful friend, Congress are willing again to testify their unalterable attachment to the terms and principles of the Alliance, more especially as we wish you on leaving America, to take with you a solemn assurance of our fixed dispositions.

However great and desireable an object peace may be, we will never purchase it with infamy and reproach, and were every other motive to a persistence in our engagements removed, the treatment we have received from a Nation, who have violated every principle of Justice and humanity would of itself determine us. But we have higher obligations, the interest of our country, affection for our Ally, and above all, our faith solemnly pledged. These assurances we are happy to give not only as individuals, not only as an American assembly, but as Representatives of a virtuous and determined people whose sentiments we express.

Reposing ourselves upon that almighty power whose interposition on our behalf we have so often seen and adored, confident of the unanimity and zeal of our fellow citizens throughout these States, assured of the assistance and support of our Great Ally, relying that the good and brave everywhere regard our cause with interested attention, and in fine decided to oppose to the last the unjust claims of a proud and cruel nation, we firmly repeat what we have already declared, that no offers of advantage, however great and alluring, no extremes of danger however alarming, shall induce us to violate the Faith we have given, and the resolutions we have adopted, for the observance of which we have solemnly pledged our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honour.¹

Resolved, That the President return Mr. Gérard the following answer:

Sir, Congress feel themselves obliged by your communication of the 7th instant, and are happy that Mr. Gérard will be able to contradict, from the fullest evidence, every insinuation which may be made prejudicial to the faith and honor of the United States.

Congress proceeded in the consideration of foreign affairs, and some time being spent thereon,

Congress resumed the consideration of their foreign affairs.

A motion was made by Mr. [John] Mathews, seconded by Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry,

That Congress will not appoint any person, being a member of Congress, to any office under the United States, for which he, or another for him, is to receive any salary, fees, or emolument of any kind.¹

¹This report and draught, in the writing of William Churchill Houston, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 25, I, folio 161. It is endorsed: "After debate another short letter substituted in its place."¹

Congress, No. 47, folio 317.
²The fact that this committee reported, and the two commissions, were not entered

On motion of Mr. [John] Mathews, seconded by Mr. [Jesse] Root,

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to prepare the draft of a commission for the minister plenipotentiary appointed to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce and of alliance between the United States of America and his catholick majesty.

The members—Mr. [William] Paca, Mr. [John] Mathews, and Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry.

Ordered, That the said committee prepare the draft of a commission for each of the secretaries to be appointed.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to report proper salaries for the ministers plenipotentiary and their secretaries, respectively.

The members, Mr. [John] Mathews, Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry, and Mr. [Jesse] Root.

The committee, consisting of Mr. [Meriwether] Smith, Mr. [John] Mathews, Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry, appointed to prepare instructions to the minister for negotiating with the court of Spain, having brought in a draft, the same was agreed to as follows:

Instructions to the minister plenipotentiary for negotiating with the court of Spain

Sr,

By the treaties subsisting between his most christian majesty and the United States of America, a power is reserved to his catholic majesty to accede to the said treaties, and to participate in their stipulations, at such time as he shall judge proper, it being well understood, nevertheless, that if any of the stipulations of the said treaties are not agreeable to the court of Spain, his catholic majesty may propose other conditions analogous to the principal aim of the alliance, and conformable to the rules of equality, reciprocity and friendship. Congress is sensible of the friendly regard to these states manifested by his most christian majesty, in reserving a power to his catholic majesty of acceding to the alliance entered into between his most christian majesty and these United States; and therefore, that nothing may be wanting on their part to facilitate the views of his most christian majesty, and to obtain a treaty of alliance and of amity and commerce with his catholick majesty, have thought proper to anticipate any propositions which his catholick majesty might make on that subject, by yielding up to him those objects which they conclude he may have principally in view; and for that purpose have come to the following resolution:

That if his catholick majesty shall accede to the said treaties, and, in concurrence with France and the United States of America, continue the present war with Great Britain for the purpose expressed in the treaties aforesaid, he shall not thereby be precluded from securing to himself the Floridas: On the contrary, if he shall obtain the Floridas from Great Britain, these United States will guaranty the same to his catholick majesty:
Provided always, that the United States shall enjoy the free navigation of the river Mississippi into and from the sea.

You are therefore to communicate to his most christian majesty, the desire of Congress to enter into a treaty of alliance and of amity and commerce with his catholick majesty, and to request his favourable interposition for that purpose. At the same time, you are to make such proposal to his catholick majesty, as in your judgment, from circumstances, will be proper for obtaining for the United States of America equal advantages with those which are secured to them by the treaties with his most christian majesty; observing always the resolution aforesaid as the ultimatum of the United States.

You are particularly to endeavour to obtain some convenient port or ports below the thirty-first degree of north latitude, on the Mississippi river, for all merchant vessels, goods, wares and merchandises belonging to the inhabitants of these states.

The distressed state of our finances and the great depreciation of our paper money inclined Congress to hope that his catholick majesty, if he shall conclude a treaty with these states, will be induced to lend them money: You are therefore, to represent to him the great distress of these states on that account, and to solicit a loan of five millions of dollars upon the best terms in your power, not exceeding six per centum per annum, effectually to enable them to co-operate with the allies against the common enemy. But before you make any propositions to his catholick majesty for a loan, you are to endeavour to obtain a subsidy in consideration of the guarantee aforesaid.¹

The committee appointed to prepare a commission for the minister plenipotentiary to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce, and of alliance with his catholick majesty, brought in a draft which was agreed to as follows:

the Continental Congress, No. 28, I, folio 329. They are endorsed "Postponed." See Meriwether Smith’s paper, printed under September 17, 1779, p. 1084, ante.

"Instructions for the Minister who is to negotiate the Treaties of Alliance and Commerce with his Most Catholic Majesty.

"Sir, Congress being informed that to promote the treaty of Alliance, which these United States have proposed to enter into with his Most Catholic Majesty, it is necessary so far to deviate from the terms of the Treaty of Alliance which these States have entered into with his Most Christian Majesty as to admit the Territory of East and West Florida, when conquered or otherwise obtained from G. Britain by his Most Ca. M. to be annexed to his jurisdiction and government, have come into the following Resolutions, viz. (Here comes in the Resolution)

"You are therefore to inform his Most Ca. M. of the substance of the Resolution aff for his obtaining the Floridas, and that agreeable to the terms thereof these United States will cheerfully afford him their assistance in conquering the same; But should a cooperation on our part with a military force be expected by his Most Ca. M. you are to inform him of our inability on this Head. You are also to assure his Most C.
M. that when the Floridas shall be conquered or otherwise obtained by him as aff, these States will guaranty the same to his Most Ca. M. to the same extent in which they were held by him before the Treaty of Paris in 1763.

"You are to obtain an assurance in the said Treaty of alliance, on the part of his Most Ca. M. that the United States shall enjoy the free navigation of the River Mississippi into and from the Sea. At the same time you are to inform his Most C. M. that these States find themselves constrained by the most urgent necessity to make this an ultimatum, as the future welfare of a great part of these States essentially depends thereon.

"You are also to use your utmost endeavors that one or more free port or ports on the sd. River Mississippi shall be established below the 31st Degree of N. Lat. under such regulations and restrictions as may be agreed on between the Ministers negotiating the Said Treaties; But this proposition is not to be considered as an Ultimatum.

"You are to represent to his Most Ca. M. the depreciated state of our paper Currency, and that to enable us effectually to cooperate with their Most Christian and Catholic Majesties against the common enemy, it is indispensably necessary we should be supplied with a sum of money in specie. You are therefore to endeavor to procure from His Most C. M. a loan of 5,000,000 of dollars on the best terms the same can be had.

"In all other matters you are to govern yourself by the Treaties subsisting between his Most Christian Majesty and these United States."
FORM OF A COMMISSION, &c.

The Delegates of the United States of New Hampshire, &c. in Congress assembled—To all who shall see these presents, send greeting.

Whereas an intercourse between the subjects of his catholick majesty and the citizens of the United States, founded on the principles of equality, reciprocity and friendship, may be of mutual advantage to both nations: and it being the sincere desire of the United States to enter into a treaty of alliance and of amity and commerce with his catholick majesty: Know ye, therefore, That we, confiding in the integrity, prudence and ability of have nominated and constituted, and by these presents do nominate and constitute him the said our minister plenipotentiary, giving him full power, general and special, to act in that quality, to confer, treat, agree and conclude with the ambassador or plenipotentiary of his catholick majesty vested with equal powers, of and concerning a treaty of amity and commerce, and of alliance; and whatever shall be so agreed and concluded for us and in our names, to sign, and thereupon make such treaty or treaties, conventions or agreements, as he shall judge conformable to the ends we have in view, in as ample form, and with the same effect, as if we were personally present and acted therein; hereby promising in good faith, that we will accept, ratify, fulfil and execute whatever shall be agreed, concluded and signed by our said minister plenipotentiary; and that we will never act nor suffer any person to act contrary to the same, in the whole or in any part.

In witness whereof, we have caused these presents to be given in Congress, at Philadelphia, the day of , in the year of our Lord, , and in the year of the independence of the United States of America.

September, 1779

Congress proceeded to the election of secretaries; and the ballots being taken and counted, Mr. William Carmichael was elected secretary to the minister plenipotentiary to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce and of alliance with the court of Spain.

A letter from the Board of War, dated September 28, on this subject was read on the 29th, and is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, II, folio 501. It is as follows:

"War Office, September 28, 1779.

"Sir, The Board having considered the intelligence from Major Walton and Lieut. Walcott relative to the motions of the enemy at New York; and as it seems to be apprehended by some gentlemen that the large embarkation mentioned may be intended for a descent in Virginia, for the purpose of rescuing the convention Troops; and therefore that it is necessary to separate them: we beg leave to express our sentiments on the subject.

"A letter from Col' Bland, dated May 31st, (having reference to the descent made by the enemy into the State about three weeks before) has the following passage—

‘From the best computation I can make about three thousand militia might on emergency be called into actual service at this post (Charlottesville) in six days, from the adjacent counties allotted to reinforce this garrison if occasion should require, about fifteen hundred of which might be well armed, the others but indifferently.’

"The State having lately detained 5000 muskets, the property of the United States, if they still keep them it will be easy to arm a large body of militia, and it appears from Col. Bland’s information that a competent number of men may in a short time be raised to remove the prisoners to a part of the State still more remote from any practicable landing, or to another State out of the enemy’s reach; those prisoners now amounting only to 2800 men (exclusive of commissioned Officers) and less than half of them British.

"We cannot persuade ourselves that at this time the enemy would hazard a part of their army in Virginia, even if they thought the rescue of the convention prisoners far more practicable than we do.

"To separate them would give opportunities to great numbers to desert, from the want of strong places of confinement: it would also create a very great expense. Indeed we know not where they could be sheltered from the weather for any length of time. Should necessity (in our opinion unlikely to happen) compel us to remove them, it would be for a very short time, as the enemy would soon give over a pursuit they would find to be fruitless.

"Upon the whole we are humbly of opinion, that nothing more is requisite than to apprise the executive of Virginia of the intelligence received relative to the preparations for a large embarkation at New York, and to desire that fifteen hundred of the arms detained in the State may be sent to some convenient depots, for the purpose of arming the militia of those counties adjacent to Albemarle, now actually allotted to reinforce the guards over the Convention prisoners."

A report from the Board of War was read:

AT A BOARD OF WAR, September 28, 1779.

The Board taking into consideration the letter from Lieutenant Colonel Fleury, with the certificate of General Washington enclosed therein, and having conversed with Lieutenant Colonel Fleury on the subject, find that he wishes a Furlough more enlarged. The merit and extraordinary services of this gentleman entitle him to every reasonable mark of attention and indulgence. It is unnecessary for us to say any thing in favor of Mons’ Fleury after the most honorable and ample certificate from General Washington. We are happy however in joining our testimony to the General’s as we are convinced by an intelligence from all quarters of information of the gallantry and great activity of Colonel Fleury. We therefore beg leave to report,

That the Furlough granted to Lieutenant Colonel Fleury who expresses a desire to return to France on business of an interesting nature to his private affairs, be on his application in France for the purpose, extended for so long a time as the Minister Plenipotentiary of these States at the Court of Versailles shall deem proper, Congress being willing to grant every mark of their indulgence and regard to so gallant and meritorious an officer.¹

Ordered, That it be re-committed.

The committee on the departments of the quarter master and commissary general, to whom were referred the letters of 24 August from General Washington, and the 5th September from J. Wadsworth, brought in a report; Whereupon,

The Committee for superintending the Commissary and Quarter Master's Department, to whom was referred the letters of General Washington and the Commissary General respecting bread for the army, beg leave to report:

That your Commissaries have on hand not more than a sufficiency of bread and flour for the Army to subsist upon until the 1st of next month.

That the exertions of the Commissaries aided with all the assistance your Committee could give them, for some time past, have been attended with little success, owing as your Committee suppose to an objection the farmers have to threshing their grain in this busy season, the prospect of getting more for it hereafter, and an idea they entertain that if they part with their wheat, they will be less able to procure salt, sugar, &c. which articles they want.

That the Commissary general, pressed by the necessities of the army, has been induced to promise the people of New York State Salt, sugar, &c. in exchange for wheat and flour. Which mode of purchasing, your committee are of opinion, will have an ill influence on the credit of our money if generally adopted, and can be justified only in cases of extreme necessity.

That the State of New York for more than three years past hath been deprived of all her seaports, by the operations of the enemy, and the Inhabitants been wholly dependant on the other States for supplies of salt and other foreign commodities, whereby they have laboured under many disadvantages peculiarly distressing.

That the United States have been much served by the vigorous and continued efforts of that State in the common cause, and therefore its inhabitants may justly expect Congress should regard their particular situation, and as far as may be consistent with the principles of equality and public good endeavor to alleviate the distresses peculiar to it.

Wherefore, to manifest the sense Congress entertain of their exertions under all their difficulties, and to encourage and enable them to persevere in the same line of conduct, and the better to supply their present wants,

Your Committee submit the following resolutions to the Consideration of Congress—

Resolved, That Mr. J. Bradford, continental agent at Boston, be directed to sell and deliver out of the stores of these States there, to the State of New York, on or before the first day of January next, or to such person or persons as shall be authorized by them for the purpose, any quantity of sugar and rum not exceeding five hundred hogsheads of the former, and fifty hogsheads of the latter, at the current wholesale price of those articles in cash: and that it be recommended to the legislature or the executive powers of the said State, to cause the said rum and sugar to be sold and distributed among the people in such maner, as that all may partake of the benefit intended them, and at no higher price than will raise the amount of the prime cost and charges:

That the Marine Committee be directed to give the ne-necessary orders to enable the commissary general to perform his engagements actually made with the people for sugar, &c.

That the commissary general be informed, that although the necessity of the case may justify his using the expedient in this instance, yet Congress cannot approve of his making any purchases in ordinary cases, otherways than for money:

Resolved, That the Commercial Committee be directed to take care that a sufficient quantity of salt be procured for the army, and for that purpose that they have liberty to export flour as soon as the exigencies of the army of our allies are provided for.¹

Sr: I have the honor to transmit to your excellency sundry resolutions of Congress of the 6th and 7th instant, for supplying the continental treasury, and to request the earliest communication of them to the legislative authority of your State.

The money which Congress are at liberty to emit will probably be expended in the beginning of December next, and subsequent supplies must be furnished by the states. This evinces the necessity of the punctual payments of their respective quotas, on which their public credit, the existence of their army, and the support of their liberties, so greatly depend.

Congress are deeply concerned to find that the sums required are so great; but since the emissions are limited, they doubt not that the operation of taxes and other salutary measures in the course of the year will reduce the prices of articles, and enable them to lessen the quotas required, or apply part thereof to diminish the public debt. To promote so desirable an object, Congress, on their part, will endeavour to observe the strictest economy in the expenditures.

I have only to add that warrants will be issued on the treasurers of the respective states, for the quotas to be furnished on the first of January next, and that I remain with the greatest respect, &c.

Munsey nations, and copies of his conferences with the Delawares, Wyandots, and Maquechees tribe of Shawanese:

Ordered, That the papers enclosed in Colonel Broadhead's letter be referred to the Committee of Intelligence.

The committee, to whom was referred a letter of 21 August last, from the Board of War, respecting their complaint of the general orders issued by Major General Sullivan, on the 21 July last, at Wyoming, brought in a report, which was read:

The Committee to whom were referred a letter, of the 31 of August last, from the Board of War respecting their complaint of the General Orders Issued by General Sullivan, on the 21 July last, at Wyoming, reflecting on that Board. Report:

That they have examined the letters, that passed between General Washington General Sullivan and the Board of War, relative to the supplies to be furnished by that Board, to General Sullivan's army, and find, that the following articles have been supplied by the Board to General Sullivan's Army, Vizt, 8000 p'd Shoes, 3000 Shirts, 3000 p'd Overalls, 2000 hunting shirts, and 500 blankets. And further find that General Sullivan's requisitions have always been indefinite, requiring a large supply, but no certain quantity ever specified by him, previous to the issuing the said General orders, which rendered it impracticable for the Board of War to ascertain what were his wants. The only article that appears to be deficient are blankets. Of this Article the Board had in store no more than 1000, nor were more at that time to be procured; one half of which were sent to General Sullivan's Army, to the detriment of the troops of the grand Army. On the whole your Committee are of opinion that the Board of War, have done as much as in them lay, to comply with General Sullivan's requisitions, and to promote the public service. Nor do they think any engagements made to General Sullivan by the Board of War, are such, as can in any manner, authorize the censure contained in his General orders of the 21 July last. Therefore recommend the following resolution to be come into by Congress:

Resolved that the censure contained in General Sullivan's General orders of the 21 July last, against the Board of War, are without foundation.¹

The Board of War, to whom was referred the representation of Nicholas and Mark Fouquet, brought in a report; Whereupon,

Present, M: Root, M: Atlee, and M: Peters

The Board taking into consideration the representation of Messrs. Fouquet referred to them by Congress beg leave to report:

That the Board have seen the testimonials produced by Messrs. Fouquet of their conduct since their being employed under the contract made at York Town, and have every reason to be satisfied with the proceedings of Messrs. Fouquet, who have in the opinion of the Board been extremely useful in reforming the practice of powder making, and disseminating the knowledge of that art throughout those states, wherein they have had an opportunity of giving instructions to the Manufacturers. That they have been very industrious in their business and open in their communications, having given every necessary instruction without the least reserve. They have written treatises on the subject of Salt petre and powder making, which the Board have procured to be published, and they have left models of a Powder Mill and a Machine to bore Mortars with the Board.

That they were taught to believe that the bills of Exchange for the 900 livres would be redelivered them at the expiration of the period mentioned in the contract, as well as the sum therein specified. The bills were actually drawn and delivered to Messrs. Fouquet, as they were to the other officers of Mons. Du Coudray's Corps, all of whom (Messrs. That the Revd Mr S. Kirkland, at the beginning of the present contest, was a missionary amongst the Six Nations of Indians, appointed by the Society of Scotland, for the propagation of the Gospel, with an annual salary of one hundred and thirty pounds sterling; That Congress sensible of the Zeal and good services of M' Kirkland did for one year advance him the same sum, For the second year three hundred dollars, and for the third and fourth years four hundred dollars exclusive of three hundred advanced him as a gratuity for extra services; That lately, upon the Western Expedition, while with General Sullivan, by his particular desire, he had several small articles advanced to him by order of General Sullivan and eight dollars a day; That the services of M' Kirkland amongst the Indian Nations since the commencement of this war, his attendance on treaties with them and the various long and tedious journies he has made at the risk of his health and life (during the greatest part of which time he hath supported himself and his own horse) in the opinion of this Board justly entitle him to the consideration of Congress, whereupon the Committee further beg leave to report:

Resolved, That a warrant issue on the treasurer, in favour of the Rev. Mr. S. Kirkland, for six thousand dollars, and that the clothier general be instructed to provide him with a suit of cloaths, a hatt, linnen, sufficient for four shirts, two pair of stockings, and a pair of shoes, to be in full for his past services and expences.

That the Reverend Mr. S. Kirkland be appointed chaplain to the garrison of Fort Schuyler, and the other posts established in that quarter, with the pay and subsistence of a brigade chaplain, continuing at the same time to pay as great attention to the Oneidas, and other Indians contiguous to them, as may be consistent with the above-mentioned appointment.¹

October, 1779

At a Board of War, October 16, 1779.

Present, Col. Pickering, Col. Atlee, Mr. Root and Mr. Peters

That the reason for stationing the Troops of Convention in Virginia was that they might draw supplies which could not be useful from their distance to our army. That the difficulties attending the procuring these supplies will be rendered nearly insurmountable, if they are too much interfered with by demands for other troops than those of our army and for the fleet of our ally. That if either party is put to inconvenience, it should be our enemies, and tho' we would not wish to imitate them in all things, we look upon it but a small retaliation, if any, to oblige their prisoners to eat wholesome Indian Bread, instead of that made from wheat flour; and as Indian corn is plenty in Virginia, tho' their crops of winter grain have in some degree failed, we conceive that bread may be delivered to the convention troops made of Indian corn, and if they do not choose to eat it, and the enemy wish to send them flour, they may be at full liberty to do it.

The board beg leave to report.

Resolved, That the governor of Virginia be informed, that in the opinion of Congress the deficiency of flour for the convention troops, which cannot be obtained from wheat in Virginia, ought to be supplied with meal made of Indian corn, which is equally wholesome:

That his excellency the governor of Virginia be requested to inform the commanding officer of those troops, that if the commander in chief of the British forces will order supplies of flour to be sent to Virginia from parts in possession of the British army, passports will be ordered for the purpose when applied for.¹

Resolved, That the Board of War be directed to give the necessary orders to the commissary general of purchases and the commissary general of issues, for supplying the convention troops with rations of Indian meal, in lieu of flour, agreeably to the foregoing resolutions.

nent with danger, because any State in the union undertaking to be its own Carver must consequently lay a foundation for anarchy and confusion, And shows an unreasonable want of confidence in Congress as must greatly tend to lessen them in the opinion of the other States and of the whole world, and render their determinations of little effect. Your committee conceive the proper mode for the State of Virginia to have adopted on this occasion ought to have been: to apply to Congress for the Arms they wanted for the use of that State,
And whether there had or had not been Arms due from the United States to the State of Virginia, yet Congress, from the disposition they have ever manifested to render every assistance to the several States in the Union, would have been willing on the present occasion to gratify the State of Virginia. Provided such request could have been complied with, without manifest injury to the U. S. Therefore Resolved, That the 5000 stand of Arms detained by the Board of War of the State of Virginia by order and direction of the Lt. Gov't and council of the said State be permitted to remain in said State and that the State of Virginia be charged therewith.

Resolved, That the Governor and Council of the State of Virginia be informed that Congress find themselves constrained on this first instance of such a proceeding, to signify their disapprobation of the same, least it should be drawn into a precedent that might hereafter operate to the manifest injury of the United States.¹

Ordered, That it be re-committed.

for raising us, their children, from deep distress to be numbered among the nations of the earth; and for arming the hands of just and mighty princes in our deliverance; and especially for that he hath been pleased to grant us the enjoyment of health, and so to order the revolving seasons, that the earth hath produced her increase in abundance, blessing the labors of the husbandmen, and spreading plenty through the land; that he hath prospered our arms and those of our ally; been a shield to our troops in the hour of danger, pointed their swords to victory and led them in triumph over the bulwarks of the foe; that he hath gone with those who went out into the wilderness against the savage tribes; that he hath stayed the hand of the spoiler, and turned back his meditated destruction; that he hath prospered our commerce, and given success to those who sought the enemy on the face of the deep; and above all, that he hath diffused the glorious light of the gospel, whereby, through the merits of our gracious Redeemer, we may become the heirs of his eternal glory: therefore,

Resolved, That it be recommended to the several states, to appoint Thursday, the 9th of December next, to be a day of public and solemn thanksgiving to Almighty God for his mercies, and of prayer for the continuance of his favor and protection to these United States; to beseech him that he would be graciously pleased to influence our public councils, and bless them with wisdom from on high, with unanimity, firmness, and success; that he would go forth with our hosts and crown our arms with victory; that he would grant to his church the plentiful effusions of divine grace, and pour out his holy spirit on all ministers of the gospel; that he would bless and prosper the means of education, and spread the light of christian knowledge through the remotest corners of the earth; that he would smile upon the labours of his people and cause the earth to bring forth her fruits in abundance; that we may with gratitude and gladness enjoy them; that he would take into his holy protection our illustrious ally, give him victory over his enemies, and render him signally great, as the father of his people and the protector of the rights of mankind; that he would graciously be pleased to turn the hearts of our enemies, and to dispense the blessings of peace to contending nations; that he would in mercy look down upon us, pardon our sins and receive us into his favor, and finally, that he would establish the independence of these United States upon the basis of religion and virtue, and support and protect them in the enjoyment of peace, liberty and safety. as long as the sun and moon shall endure, until time shall be no more.

The Committee of Pennsylvania opposed to the decree in the case above said, an Act of their Assembly passed September 9th, 1778, by which, after constituting Courts for the trial of Captures on the high Seas and directing such trials to be by Jury: it is Enacted that the finding of the Jury shall establish the facts without re-examination or appeal.

October, 1779

And in the 7th Section of said Law it is further enacted, that in all causes of Captures, an appeal from the decree of the Judge of Admiralty of this State shall be allowed to the Continental Congress, or such person or persons as they may from time to time appoint for hearing and trying appeals, &c.

And that said cause, both by the resolutions of Congress and said Act of Assembly, came proper before the Court of appeals and that they had competent jurisdiction to hear, try and determine the same agreeable to the resolutions of Congress of 6th day of March last, and that the same ought to be carried into execution.

Your Committee find that Gideon Olmstead, &c, appellants have received the sum of £12,750 in part of the Money raised from the sale of said Sloop and Cargo; that the amount of the neat proceeds of said Sloop and Cargo is £51,000 Pennsylvania currency.

Thursday, October 28, 1779

A letter, of 27, from the Board of War, was read; Whereupon,

The Board find that there will be but a scanty supply of leather for immediate purposes obtained in this quarter, and therefore think it best to draw an addition to the stock from South Carolina, where we are informed it can be obtained in abundance and at reasonable rates. If any is purchased it may at this time be transported by water, and unless some means of this kind are used, the troops will suffer in the articles of shoes and military accoutrements. A great saving might also be made in the Quarter Master's Department from a supply obtained in this way. The Honble Mr. Laurens' going to the Southward affords us an immediate opportunity of Executing our plan and he has been pleased to undertake to give his assistance. We would wish to buy One hundred thousand weight, viz: 60,000 Soal, 20,000 upper and the like quantity of Harness leather. The mode of payment we propose to be by monies from the loans and taxes raised in the State of South Carolina. We therefore beg leave to report:

That the Board of War be authorized to purchase a quantity of leather not exceeding one hundred thousand pounds weight in the State of South Carolina, and that the Commercial Committee be directed to afford the means of transportation for the said leather by water from the said State.

That warrants issue on the Govt. of the State of South Carolina in favor of the Paymaster of the Board of War, or the order of the said Board for the sum of Dollars to enable the Board to comply with their engagements for the purchase of the said leather.

That in case a sufficient sum shall not be in the Loan Office of the Said State to pay for the leather bought by the Board in virtue of the directions aforesaid, the Government of the said State be requested to advance to the order of the Board out of the taxes raised on Continental account such sums as will be necessary for payment of all deficiencies in the purchases of leather which cannot be supplied out of the Loan Office, and that the said State shall be credited on account of taxes with all monies so advanced.¹

Resolved, That the Board of War be authorized to purchase a quantity of leather, not exceeding one hundred thousand pounds weight, in the State of South Carolina:

That the Board of War be authorized to draw upon the governor of the State of South Carolina for such sum or sums as will be necessary to pay for the said leather, and that the governor of the said State of South Carolina be requested to advance out of the taxes raised on the continental account, such sums as shall be drawn for by the Board of War for that purpose.

The committee to whom were referred the memorial of G. Morgan and the petition of W. A motion was made by Mr. [William] Paca, seconded by Mr. [George] Plater, in the following words:

Whereas it appears to Congress that the opening the land office in the State of Virginia, for the purpose of locating lands unappropriated at the time independence was declared, has produced much uneasiness, dispute and controversy, and greatly weakened these United States by the emigrations of their inhabitants to parts remote from defence against the common enemy; Resolved, therefore, that it be earnestly recommended to the State of Virginia to re-consider their late act of assembly for opening their land office; and that it be recommended to the said State, and all other states similarly circumstanced, to forbear settling or issuing warrants for such unappropriated lands, or granting the same during the continuance of the present war:

To this an objection was made as being out of order; and on the question, is the motion in order, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [Gouverneur] Morris,

So it was resolved as follows:

Whereas the appropriation of vacant lands by the several states during the continuance of the war, will, in the opinion of Congress, be attended with great mischiefs; therefore,

The sense of the House being taken, it was agreed and ordered, but no entry made on the journal,

That, when the yeas and nays are called on the commitment or postponing the consideration of any paper under debate, or on recommitment of a report, the paper or report be entered on the journal.

In consequence of this, the report of the committee on the memorial of G. Morgan and petition of W. Trent was entered.¹

Mr. H[enry] Laurens was nominated by Mr. [Henry] Marchant to be appointed a commissioner to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce with the United Provinces of the low countries.

The committee appointed to prepare a commission for the person appointed to negotiate a loan in the United Provinces of the low countries brought in a draft, which, being read and amended, was agreed to, as follows:

The United States of America in Congress assembled:

To the Hon. H. L., Esqr, a delegate from the state of South Carolina, and formerly President of Congress, Greeting:

We, reposing especial Trust and Confidence in your Patriotism, Ability, Conduct and Fidelity, do by these Presents, constitute and appoint you, the said Henry Laurens, Esqr. during our Pleasure, to be our Agent for and on behalf of the said States, to negotiate a Loan with any Person, or Persons, Bodies Politic and Corporate whatever in the United Provinces of the Netherlands on the Terms and Conditions as he and you may think meet contained in the Instructions herewith delivered to you, promising in good Faith, to ratify and confirm whatsoever shall by you be done in the Premises, or relating thereunto.²

on the inside cover of the volume, and dated October 30, 1779. A copy, also in the writing of Thomson, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, I, folio 15.
² This draft, in the writing of Gouverneur Morris, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 47, folio 316. A longer form is in the same volume, folio 329. The proceedings were entered only in the manuscript Secret Journal, Foreign Affairs.
An extract from the proceedings of the general court of Massachusetts bay, with a copy of the letter, of 13 September last, from the hon ble John Adams, Esq. was laid before Congress, and read.

A letter from the Board of War was read; Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolution:

WAR OFFICE, October 30, 1779.

Lt: Col. Connolly has again and again petitioned Congress for permission to be enlarged on his parole, for the benefit of his health. Those petitions have often been referred to this board; but tho' directed to take order thereon, we could yield him no relief, as it was not, nor is yet determined, that he is a prisoner of war; and consequently we could not take his parole. Heretofore the enemy would have exchanged one of our Lieut: Colonels for him: could this still be effected, we humbly conceive it the most eligible measure that can be taken: Whatever danger might formerly have been apprehended from his influence and artifices among the Indians (in case he had been released) we believe that now the grounds of such apprehensions are removed. We therefore beg leave to report

Lieutenant Colonel J. Connolly having made frequent applications to be liberated and exchanged; therefore, in consideration of his long captivity and confinement,\(^1\)

AT A BOARD OF WAR November 3rd, 1779.

Present Mr Peters and Col. Pickering

The Board having considered the Petition of Robert Jewell, Keeper of the New Goal, for additional allowances to him, his assistants and Turnkey, beg leave to observe, That the business of Mr. Jewell demands the utmost vigilance and care, and is attended with much anxiety and no inconsiderable danger. That they have exhibited constant proof of their ability, diligence, fidelity and spirit in executing the trust reposed in them. That the said Robert Jewell in particular is, in our opinion, an exceedingly valuable officer. That he and his assistants for some time past have been suffering greatly, from the smallness of their pay, the keeper having from the beginning of the present year received only eight dollars a day for himself, Turnkey, and occasional clerk, and his assistants but four dollars each. That this pay appears to the Board as inadequate to their services as to their support. We therefore beg leave to report,

That

Dollars per day be allowed to Robert Jewell keeper of the new Goal in Philadelphia; Dollars per day to each of his assistants; and Dollars per day to his Turnkey, until the farther orders of Congress; and that this increased pay commence the day of last

The Board were induced to propose that the increased pay should begin at some time past, from the obvious disproportion of the present allowances to the necessary expences of Mr. Jewell and his assistants, who have been obliged to spend of their own effects and run in debt for their subsistence, in confidence that they should receive an indemnification.

By order of the Board

TIM: PICKERING

WAR OFFICE, Nov. 13, 1779.

The Board are of opinion that there should be allowed to Robert Jewell thirty dollars and one ration per day.

To each of his assistants twenty dollars and one ration per day.

To his Turnkey ten dollars and one ration per day. And that the said Robert provide a clerk occasionally, as he shall have need, at his own expense.

By order of the Board

TIM: PICKERING.

1 Endorsement: "Read November 5. Recommitted, that the Board may report their opinion on the sums and time with which the blanks are to be filled."
The Board are further of opinion that this increased pay should commence the eighteenth day of last August.

By order of the Board

Messieurs,
La sagesse et le courage qui ont fondé votre république, la prudence que préside à vos délibérations, votre fermeté dans l'exécution, l'habilité et la valeur que vos généraux et vos soldats ont déployées dans le cours de cette guerre, ont attiré sur vous l'admiration et les regards du monde entier. Le roi, mon maître, a reconnu le premier une liberté acquise parmi tant de périls et avec autant de gloire. Depuis que des traités dictés par la modération ont établi sur une base inébranlable l'union de la France avec la république Américaine, toute la conduite de S. M. a du vous prouver combien votre prospérité lui est chère, et la ferme resolution où elle est de maintenir votre indépendance par tous les moyens qui sont en son pouvoir. Les événements qui se sont développés successivement ont prouvé la sagesse de ces mesures. Un allié puissant a reconnu la justice des motifs qui ont forcé le Roi a prendre les armes, et l'on peut avec fondement se promettre les succès les plus solides des opérations des deux flottes réunies. Les forces navales de notre ennemi ont été détournées de votre continent.

Gentlemen,
The wisdom and courage which have founded your republic: the prudence which presides over your deliberations; your firmness in execution; the skill and valor displayed by your generals and soldiers, during the course of the war, have attracted the admiration and regard of the whole world. The King, my master, was the first to acknowledge a liberty acquired amidst so many perils and with so much glory. Since treaties dictated by moderation, have fixed upon a permanent base the union of France with the American republic, his majesty's whole conduct must have demonstrated how dearly he tenders your prosperity, and his firm resolution to maintain your independence by every means in his power. The events which have successively unfolded themselves, shew the wisdom of those measures. A powerful ally hath acknowledged the justice of those motives which had compelled the King to take arms, and we may reasonably hope for the most solid success, from the operations of the united fleets. The naval force of the enemy hath been diverted from your continent. Compelled to flee to 1 From this point the entries are in the writing of George Bond.

Contraint d’accourrire à la défense de ses propres possessions tous ses efforts n’ont pu empêcher nos troupes d’en conquérir une partie considérable. Les autres îles Anglaises redoutaient le même sort, lorsque le général français a interrompu le cours de ses succès pour venir chercher parmi vous de nouveaux dangers. En se conformant aux intentions de S. M. il a cédé à son propre penchant, aux désirs des Français et au vœu des Américains, qui l’invitent à joindre ses armes à celles de votre république. Les événements n’ont pas répondu complètement à son courage et à ses efforts, mais son sang et celui de mes compatriotes, repandu pour une cause qui nous est si chère, a cimenté la base sur laquelle l’alliance est fondée, et lui imprime un nouveau caractère aussi inaltérable que tous ceux qui l’ont déjà consacrée.

Cette alliance, Messieurs, devient de jour en jour, plus indissoluble et les avantages que les deux nations en retirent l’ont portée au plus haut point de consistance. Des relations de commerce entre les sujets du Roi mon maître et les habitants des treize États unis se multiplient continuellement, et déjà l’on peut observer, malgré les obstacles qui embarrassent la communication réciproque, combien elle est naturelle; combien elle deviendra the defence of their own possessions, all their efforts have been too feeble to prevent our troops from conquering a considerable part. The other British islands feared the same lot, when the French general stopped the current of his success, to seek new dangers here. In conforming to his Majesty's intentions, he has complied with his own inclinations, the desires of the French and the request of the Americans, which invited him to join his arms to those of your republic. Events have not completely answered his courage and his efforts, but his blood and that of my countrymen, shed in a cause so dear to us, hath cemented the base on which the alliance is founded, and impressed on it a character as indelible as are all those by which it is already consecrated.

That alliance, gentlemen, becomes daily more indissoluble, and the benefits which the two nations derive from it, have given it the most perfect consistence. The relations of commerce between the subjects of the King, my master, and the inhabitants of the thirteen United States continually, multiply; and we may already perceive in spite of those obstacles which embarrass the reciprocal communication, how natural it is, how advantageous it will be to the two profitable aux deux nations et à toutes celles qui y prendront part, et combien les principes exclusifs, l'attention jalouse et les loix prohibitives de l'ennemi de votre liberté ont été préjudiciables à votre bonheur. C'est dans ces conjectures, Messieurs, que le Roi a bien voulu me désigner pour remplir auprès de vous les fonc-tions de son Ministre plénipotent-tiaire, et vous avez trouvé dans la lettre, que je viens d'avoir l’hon-neur de vous remettre de sa part, de nouvelles assurances de l’amitié qu’il a pour vous. J’ai regardé comme la plus heureuse cir-constance de ma vie une mission dans le cour de laquelle je suis sûr de remplir mes devoirs en travaill-ant à votre prospérité, et je me suis félicité d’être envoyé près d’une nation dont les intérêts sont si étroitement liés avec notres, que je ne puis être utile ou à la France ou à la république Américaine sans me rendre agréable à la fois à l’une et à l’autre.

Il eut été sans doute à désirer que les affaires dont je suis chargé fussent restées entre les mains du Ministre éclairé auquel je succède et que sa santé oblige a retourner en France. Je n’ai point ses luières, mais j’ai comme lui un zèle sans bornes pour le bien et le succès de la cause commune. Je suis chargé comme lui de concourir tout ce qui pourra être agréable et utile à votre république. J’ai nations and all who participate in it, and how much the monopoliz-ing spirit, the jealous attention and prohibitory edicts of the enemy to your freedom, have been prejudicial to your happiness.

It is under these circumstances, genlemen, that the King, my master, hath been pleased to appoint me his minister plenipotentiary to you. You have seen in the letter which I had just now the honor to deliver from him, fresh assurances of his friendship.
I consider as the happiest circumstance of my life, a mission in the course of which I am certain of fulfilling my duty when I labour for your prosperity; and I felicitate myself upon being sent to a nation whose interests are so intimately blended with our own, that I can be useful neither to France nor the American republic, without rendering myself agreeable both to the one and to the other.

It was certainly desirable that the affairs with which I am charged, had remained in the hands of that enlightened Minister whom I succeed, and whose health compels him to return to France. I have not his abilities, but like him I have an unbounded zeal for the welfare and success of the common cause; like him I am directed to concur in every thing which can be useful or agree-

LE CHEV. DE LA LUZERNE.

To which the President returned the following answer:

Sir,

The early attention of our good friend and ally to these United States is gratefully felt by all their virtuous citizens; and we should be unfaithful representatives if we did not warmly acknowledge every instance of his regard, and take every opportunity of expressing the attachment of our constituents to treaties formed upon the purest principles.

His most Christian Majesty, in rendering himself protector of the rights of mankind, became entitled to assistance from the friends of man. This title could not but be recognized by a monarch whose diadem is adorned with equity and truth: that monarch, by joining his arms to those of our great ally, hath given a fatal blow to the common enemy; and from the justness of the motives which unite the combined fleets, we expect the most solid benefits will crown their operations; nor can we doubt that other powers will rejoice to see that haughty nation humbled, in proportion as they have been insulted by her presumptuous arrogance.

We well know, and all the world must acknowledge, the moderation and friendship of the most Christian King, in neglecting conquests which courted his acceptance for the benevolent pleasure of succouring his allies. In this, as in every other instance, we perceive his strict adherence to the principles of our defensive alliance. We are sensible of the zeal of the French general, in executing his Majesty's orders. We esteem his courage, we lament his wounds, and we respect that generous valour which hath led your countrymen to contend with ours in the same common cause, in the same field of glory. A noble emulation which hath poured out the blood of the two nations, and mingled it together as a sacred pledge of perpetual union!

The consequences which have followed from the appearance of the French fleet upon our coasts, particularly by disconcerting the enemy's plans of operation, and destroying a considerable part of their naval force, demonstrate the wisdom of the measure. That they have not been still more beneficial, is to be attributed to those incidents which in the hand of Omnipotence determine all human events: but our disappointment is compensated by reflecting on the perfect harmony that subsisted between the generals and the troops of the two nations.

The prosperous course of the campaign gives a pleasing hope that the moment of peace may soon arrive, when the reciprocation of mutual good offices shall amply recompense our mutual labours and cares; and we doubt not but in that moment the commerce between the allied nations, now struggling under great inconveniences, will shoot forth with vigor and advantage, and happily demonstrate the injuries we once suffered from the restraints of our enemies.

While we lament, sir, the loss of your worthy predecessor, we are led from your personal character to the pleasing expectation that you will possess that confidence and esteem which he enjoyed. They are due to the servant of our benefactor: we are happy in his choice, and being thoroughly convinced of the intimate connexion between the interests and views of the allied nations, we cannot but persuade ourselves that the more attentively you shall perform your duty to your sovereign, and the more sedulously you shall guard and promote the welfare of your country, the more agreeable and respectable you will render yourself to the citizens of America.¹

The secretary of Congress delivered to the Minister a copy of the foregoing reply dated in Congress, November 17, 1779, and signed Samuel Huntington, President. Whereupon, the Minister withdrew, and was conducted home in the manner in which he was brought to the House.

The Committee on the Treasury brought in a report; Whereupon,

A report of the Board of War was read, respecting prisoners of war:

WAR OFFICE, November 17, 1779.

We beg leave to lay before Congress sundry letters and paper relative to prisoners of war,¹ which will, if it be necessary, further evidence the necessity of adopting the plan reported a long time ago on the subject. The Board are more and more convinced every day of the endless confusion and injustice arising from State Exchanges and wish they were totally abolished. The individual Sovereignty of the States was consulted in the plan we had the honor to lay before Congress, quite as much from motives of policy as those founded on reason. The Exchanges of prisoners seem in our humble opinion to be most properly the objects of the general authority, and as they are appendages of the power of making peace or war, they ought as we conceive to be solely vested where that power is and ought to be lodged. But we submit this to the better opinion of Congress, taking the liberty of expressing our wish that some determination may be had as we are pressed daily on the subject.²

Ordered, That the same be taken into consideration on Tuesday next.

The committee appointed to devise further ways and means of supplying the Treasury brought in a report, which was read.

Your Committee to whom was referred the ways and means for supplying the Treasury, report:

1. That Bills of Exchange be drawn on Mr. Jay to the amount of £100,000 Sterling and on Mr. Lawrence [Laurens] to the amount of £100,000 Sterling, payable at six months sight, and that the same be sold at the current rate of exchange.³

2. That a loan be opened on the following terms to wit, that for every sum of 8,000 Dollars paid into the Treasury before the 1st day of February, the person paying the same shall be entitled to £100 Sterling payable at the end of ten years, with 6 p. c. interest. The principal and interest to be paid either in Bills of Exchange, specie or current money at the rate of Exchange.

² This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, II, folio 587.
³ See under November 23, 1779, p. 1299, post.
3rd That an annuity office be opened on the following terms to wit: that for every sum of 100,000 Dollars paid into the Treasury, before the 1st day of February, the person paying the same shall be entitled to receive £100 Sterling annually for 22 Years, either in Bills of Exchange, specie or current money at the rate of Exchange.

That a Committee be appointed to report on the manner of carrying the above Resolutions into effect. ¹

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee on the representation of the legislative council and general assembly of New Jersey, and the proceedings of the convention of commissioners from the five eastern states, and thereupon came to the following resolutions: ²

Whereas Congress by their resolution of 1 September last, did determine not to emit any Bills of Credit above the amount in the said resolution limited, relying for the further means of prosecuting the War, on Taxes and Loans, and considering that the ascertainement of the greatest possible sum which could come into circulation, would prevent the depreciation of the said Bills of Credit beyond the degree which the surplus of quantity, and some other causes of less influence, would naturally produce; and

Whereas there is reason to believe that the continued and disproportionate advance of prices is to be attributed, in a considerable measure, to the arts of unprincipled and disaffected people, who still cherish the Hopes of defeating by this means the establishment of the Liberty and Independence of the United States, and to the credulity of such as suffer themselves to be imposed upon by these arts and Management; and,

Whereas the fluctuating state of prices not only causes inequality and injustice in private dealings, and in furnishing the public supplies from the several states, but renders it impracticable to make the proper estimates for future expences, and to fix equitable salaries for those employed in the service of the United States: and whereas the estimates according to which the requisitions for the taxes of the succeeding year have been made by the resolution of the 6th of

² From this point the entries are in the writing of George Bond.
October last, have been formed on the principle that the prices of commodities necessary for the public use would not exceed twenty fold of the former prices, and should they rise above that rate, the taxes must be accordingly increased, but should they fall below it, the surplus of the sum raised may be applied to the sinking fund: therefore

And whereas, although the collection of Taxes and the natural course of trade might, in time, reduce the prices to a proper standard, and remedy the mischiefs which prevail, yet these being too slow in their operation to give that relief which the present exigencies of affairs require, unless aided by proper expedients for fixing prices in some uniformity throughout the various States, and in juster proportion to the effect of the quantity of money emitted, together with that of other natural causes of depreciation;

Resolved, That it be earnestly recommended to the several states forthwith to enact laws for establishing and carrying into execution a general limitation of prices throughout their respective jurisdictions, on the following principles, and to commence in their operation from the first day of February next:

Articles of domestic produce, farming and common labor, the wages of tradesmen and mechanics, water and land carriage, not to exceed twenty fold of the prices current through the various seasons of the year 1774.

Articles imported from foreign parts to be in due proportion with labor and the articles as above stated, making a proper allowance for freight, insurance, and other charges.¹

Salt and military stores, whether of home manufacture or imported from abroad, to be excepted from limitation of price.

Resolved, That it be recommended to the several states to enact strict laws against engrossing and withholding, and to take the necessary measures for having the same carried into full execution.²

¹ This paragraph was postponed, but passed after amendment in language.
² The entries are resumed by Charles Thomson.
November, 1779

Resolved, That the voluntary agreements and associations formed in divers parts of these States by the merchants, traders and other citizens, for adopting, by general consent, and under the authority of the laws, proper expeditious to prevent the advance of prices, and to appreciate the paper currency, are highly laudable.

Resolved, That the proceedings of the commissioners from the eastern states to New York inclusive, at their meeting in Hartford, in Connecticut, on the 20th of October last, discover a generous attention to the public good, and are well calculated to promote the same: it is nevertheless expected that no time will be lost in giving effect to these resolutions, as the same general purpose may thereby be attained, and at an earlier period.

And whereas, it is hereby recommended that the article of Salt be left unlimited in the price, which is of indispensable necessity to all ranks of people, and often difficult to be procured;

Resolved, That it be recommended to the well disposed and public spirited citizens of these States, who are blessed with plenty and affluence, and particularly to those who inhabit in or near to towns, cities and other places of trade, to form voluntary associations for procuring a plentiful supply of the said article, and for reducing the price thereof, that the poor may be furnished therewith on the most reasonable terms.

Resolved, That all officers and agents employed in making purchases for the United States, be directed to conform strictly to all regulations that are or may be established in the several states:

That all such as purchase on commission be allowed the same on such sums only as the articles by them purchased would amount to at the rated prices; and that they be allowed a commission of five per cent on all savings made by purchasing under such prices.

That accounts be kept and returns made by all persons employed to make purchases in behalf of the United States, or to hire vessels, carriages, or men, for the service of the same, of the prices by them respectively given in such states as shall not, before the first day of February, 1780, pass laws for the limitation of prices agreeable to the recommendation contained in the foregoing resolutions; to the intent that such states as shall have neglected to pass laws for the purposes aforesaid, may respectively be charged in the public accounts with the aggregate amount of the difference of prices paid from and after the said first day of February, 1780, in such states and those in which such laws may have been enacted.¹

The last resolution reported by the committee being read, viz.

"That it be recommended to the legislatures of the several states to revise their laws for making the paper currency a tender in the payment of debts, and so to frame them that injustice to creditors or debtors may be prevented;"² and an amendment being moved by Mr. [John] Witherspoon, seconded by Mr. [James] Forbes, by adding the words "and that the injustice which has already taken place may be remedied, as far as may be practicable:"

A motion was made by Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry, seconded by Mr. [John] Mathews, that the consideration of that part of the report and the amendment be postponed;

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolutions:

Whereas Congress, by sundry resolutions, have provided that cloathing be furnished to officers of the line and others at prices proportioned to their pay; but no enumeration of the articles intended to be comprehended in a suit of cloaths, having been made or any rules explicitly laid down for the delivery of, or payment for the same:

Resolved, That the following articles be delivered as a suit of cloaths for the current and every succeeding year of their service, to the officers of the line and staff, entitled by any resolution of Congress to receive the same, viz.

One hat, one watch coat, one body coat, four vests, one for winter and three for summer, four pair of breeches, two for winter and two for summer, four shirts, four stocks, six pair of stockings, three pair thereof worsted and three of thread, four pair of shoes.

For which articles of cloathing the officers shall pay, on receipt thereof, one half more than the prices at which the same were currently sold before the commencement of hostilities in April, 1775; and for this end, the purchasing agents employed on continental account shall transmit to the cloathier general, with the cloathing they shall respectively purchase, the prices marked thereon at the rates aforesaid, and also correct invoices of the same, and copies of such rates and invoices, to the Board of War. And all cloathing purchased on continental account by the respective states shall be valued, marked and invoiced in like manner, and copies of such invoices and rates also transmitted to the Board of War and the cloathier general: the cloathing so purchased shall be distributed to and among the sub or state cloathiers, to be issued by them to the regimental cloathiers, and by the latter to the officers of the regiments and corps; and the said regimental cloathiers shall receive from the officers, on delivery of the cloathing, the prices thereof so fixed; and they shall every three months settle their accounts of monies received for cloathing with the auditors of the army in which they shall serve, and pay the monies which in such settlements shall be found chargeable to them or in their hands, to the pay master general or deputy pay master general of the army or detachment in which such regimental cloathers shall serve. And the said pay master general or deputy pay master general shall make returns of the amount of all such monies so received to the Board of Treasury, that the said pay master general or deputy pay master general may be duly charged with the same. The auditors making such settlements with the regimental cloathers, shall transmit to the pay master or deputy pay master general abstracts of such settlements, specifying the balances due from the regimental cloathers respectively, that in cases of neglect, they may be duly called on for payment of the same: copies of such abstracts shall also be transmitted to the Board of Treasury. Excepting from this rule of distribution all staff officers not taken from the line, who are to receive their cloathing immediately from the cloathier general; or, if attached to the corps of or residing in any State at a distance from the cloathier general’s store, from the sub-cloathier of such State; paying for the same at the rates aforesaid. And all monies so received by the cloathier general or sub or state cloathers, shall be placed to the credit of the United States, and accounts thereof duly transmitted to the Board of Treasury. The cloathier general to be charged in the settlement of his contingent account with the monies so received, and the sub or state cloathers to be accountable for and pay the monies received by them, to the order of the executive of the State appointing them respectively; and the State to be charged in its cloathing account with the amount of such monies. Excepting also all staff officers who receive commissions on their expenditures of public monies, who are not to receive any cloathing provided at continental expense.

That all cloathing issued to non-commissioned officers and soldiers, enlisted artificers and waggoners, beyond that allowed to them as a bounty, shall also be valued and paid for at the rate before mentioned; but no non-commissioned officer, soldier, waggoner or artificer, shall be entitled to purchase in any one year, out of the public store, any other additional articles than those of hats, hose, shirts and shoes, and not more of these than are absolutely necessary, and not exceeding the number of the like articles allowed as their bounty cloathing.

That all the cloathing before-mentioned for officers in the line and soldiers, shall be issued on returns certified by the commanding officer of the corps to which they belong; all cloathing to staff officers on the certificates of their principal with the army or in the district within which they shall serve; to artificers, on the certificate of the commanding officer of their corps; and to waggoners on the certificate of the quarter master general, one of the assistant quarter masters general or of the deputy quarter master general employing them, or of the waggon master general or deputy waggon master general under whom they serve.

That no staff officer, artificer or waggoner, not being engaged for at least one year, shall receive cloathing; and if any such officer, artificer or waggoner, being engaged for one year or more, after receipt of such cloathing, shall quit the service before the expiration of the term for which he or they are or shall be engaged, he or they shall forfeit and pay the full value of such cloathing, and be subject to all other penalties and inconveniences attending his or their breach of contract, or desertion.¹

The Committee appointed to correspond with General Lincoln and to whom was referred the letter of the 20th inst, from General Washington, Report,

That General Washington be informed the North Carolina Brigade alone will by no means be a sufficient reinforcement for the defence of the Southern department; and that unless farther aid can be immediately sent to General Lincoln, the total loss of the two States of South Carolina and Georgia will in all probability follow. It is therefore become indispensably necessary to detach a larger part of the Continental forces to the aid of Southern department.

Therefore, Resolved, That General Washington be directed to order one thousand men in addition to North Carolina troops to proceed immediately to join General Lincoln. And that the Commander in Chief be authorized to order out the militia of the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, (if he shall think it necessary) not exceeding 1500 men to supply the place of the troops ordered to the Southward.¹

The committee appointed to report on the resolutions, of 23, delivered in a report;

The Committee appointed to report the manner in which the resolution of the [23] day of November, instant, relative to the drawing bills of Exchange on M' Jay and M' Lawrence shall be carried into execution, report the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That the bills be prepared under the direction of the Board of Treasury, and with such checks as they may devise to prevent counterfeits, and be signed by the Treasurer of Loans.

2d Resolved, That a proportion of the Bills, to the amount of seventy thousand pounds sterling, be remitted by the Board of Treasury to the Continental Commissioner of Loans at Boston, thirty-five thousand of which to be drawn upon M' Jay, and the remainder upon M' Lawrence.

3d Resolved, That a proportion of the said bills to the amount of thirty thousand pounds sterling, be remitted by the Board of Treasury to the Continental Commissioner of Loans for the State of South Carolina, at Charlestown, fifteen thousand pounds of which to be drawn upon M' Jay, the remainder upon M' Lawrence.

¹ This report, in the writing of John Mathews, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, VI, folio 283. The report was recommitted on the 27th.
4th Resolved, That bills for the residue of the money to be drawn for be placed in the hands of the Treasurer of Loans at Philadelphia.

Postponed

5th Resolved, That the said Treasurer, and the said Commissioners of loans for the States of Massachusetts Bay and South Carolina respectively, shall be empowered to dispose of the said bills at the current price, or at such price as the Board of Treasury shall from time to time direct.

Resolved, That the person or persons disposing of such bills be directed to take a duplicate receipt or certificate from the purchasers, which certificate shall express the marks and numbers of the bills, the amount of the sum mentioned therein, and the consideration for which they were sold, one of which certificates shall be transmitted to the Treasury, and the other retained by the said loan officers respectively.

6. Resolved, That the said several persons report weekly, or by every post, to the Board of Treasury the current rate of exchange at the several places at which they reside.

7th That the Board of Treasury may at their discretion suspend the sale of such bills, or report to Congress their reasons for so doing, that they may receive their directions thereon.

8th That the Committee of Foreign affairs be directed to write to M' Jay and M' Lawrence informing them of the drafts that will be made upon them, and explaining fully the reasons that urge Congress to draw, directing them to keep up a mutual correspondence and to afford each other every assistance in procuring the money to pay the bills.

9th Resolved, That ½ pr cent on monies received in payment for the said bills shall be allowed to the persons intrusted with the sale thereof.¹

Also the committee, to whom was referred the memorial of Mr. Simitière, delivered in a report.

The Committee, to whom was Referred the Memorial of Pierre Eugene du Simitière, of the 22 July last, report:

That they have considered the subject of the said Memorial and have been frequently addressed by the Memorialist, who has given them a full explanation of the design and extent of his work, and of the plan he proposes in the conduct and execution of it, a sketch of which is herewith enclosed for the inspection of Congress.

That they have carefully examined the collections of the Memorialist, in order to determine, as precisely as possible, on the sufficiency of his materials, and find that they have been made with great care and attention, are large and well assorted, and must have been obtained at a very considerable expense.

That the said collections consist of a variety of scarce and curious books, both printed and manuscript, of maps, charts, plans, drawings, of productions, natural and artificial, of extracts from records and other public muniments, of notes, observations, and remarks made by the Memorialist in the course of his reading or while travelling through the different parts of North America, all relating to the subject of his intended work.

That the said work, though designed more especially as Memoirs relative to that part of North America which comprehends the territories of the United States, will extend also to Nova Scotia, Canada and the Northern Counties, and Southward to the Florida’s and Bahama Islands.

On the foregoing state, the Committee beg leave to propose the following resolutions:

Whereas Pierre Eugene du Simitière, of the City of Philadelphia, hath with great industry and at much expense, collected materials for a literary work, to be entitled "Memoirs and observations on the origin and present state of North America" and hath solicited Congress to grant him encouragement in preparing and publishing the same; and whereas Congress are fully satisfied, that a work of this nature will greatly tend to diffuse useful knowledge,

Resolved, That Congress for the encouragement of the said M' Du Simitière, for carrying on and completing his said undertaking, recommend to the several states upon the [an obliterated line] to afford him such assistance as may be most beneficial to him in rendering his said work complete and useful.

Resolved, That the sum of two thousand dollars in Continental bills, or other Currency equivalent be paid yearly to the said M' Du Simitière for three years, the better to enable him to proceed in and finish the same.
The Committee beg leave further to report that as the collections of the said M' Du Simitière under the article of history are particularly ample, and he has paid great attention to the study thereof, and as some honorary distinction, by which he may become more publicly known will much conduce to his better success in the aforementioned work;

Resolved, That the 2d Pierre Eugene du Simitière be appointed Historiographer to the Congress of the United States.¹

The delegates of Pensylvania laid before Congress an extract from the proceedings of the general assembly of Pensylvania, relative to Captain Lee's and Captain Porter's companies in Colonel Lamb's regiment of artillery:

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of War.

Congress proceeded to the election of commissioners for the board of admiralty, and the ballots being taken, Thomas Waring, Esq. and William Whipple, Esq. were elected.²

The reports delivered in being read,
Congress took into consideration the report of the committee on the letter of the 17th October last, from Major-General Schuyler; Whereupon Congress agreed to the following answer to the said letter:

SIR:

Notwithstanding the many injuries committed by the savages, Congress are disposed to peace; the conditions on which they insist are,

First, that it shall be supplicated on the part of the enemy; secondly, that they shall surrender all the Americans in their hands; thirdly, that they shall expel all British agents and emissaries; fourthly, that they shall covenant to deliver up such as shall hereafter go among them; fifthly, that they shall covenant not to take up the hatchet again under penalty of being driven from their country; and sixthly, that they shall give hostages for their strict adherence to the promises to be by them made.

Congress further wish that they make considerable Offers of Territory, which may stand recorded against them, and serve as the most pointed marks of their contrition; but they mean that the Commissioner should decline an acceptance of the Offer to convince them of the superior Generosity of America, compared with their Experience of others. At the same time, if any of the Inhabitants

To which it was moved by Mr. [James] Forbes, seconded by Mr. [William Churchill] Houston, to add “and that Congress are willing to accept of any cession of territory which the said Indians may be inclined to make to the United States, reserving to any particular State their right of a prior claim to the territory aforesaid, or any part thereof.”

An amendment was moved by Mr. [Robert R.] Livingston, seconded by Mr. [Philip] Schuyler, to add, “which cession shall be for the benefit of such State as may have a prior right.”

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee on the letter of 6 October last from Mr. W. Bingham; Whereupon,

Resolved, That Mr. Bingham's letter of the 6 October last, with the papers enclosed therein, and marked No. 1, 2, 3, 4, together with a certified copy of his appointment to the place of continental agent, be transmitted by the President to the legislature of the State of Massachusetts Bay, with the following letter:

Gentlemen, I am directed by Congress to transmit you the enclosed papers from Mr. Bingham. They contain an account of his proceedings relative to a vessel said to be Danish property, captured by the sloop Pilgrim, and carried into Martinique, about which, as he says, a suit is now commenced against him in your superior court. Upon a full examination of the papers, you will judge of the measures which ought to be adopted to prevent, on the one hand, injustice to individuals, and on the other, the embarrassment of agents, who are obliged to conform to the will of the ruling powers at the place of their residence. As courts are now instituted at Martinique for the trial of such causes, Congress submit it to you whether it would not be advisable to stop the suit already commenced till judgment is obtained upon the principal question; after which it will be in Mr. Bingham's power to discharge himself by delivering to the true owners the property placed in his hands for their use. If you should be of a contrary opinion, they request you to furnish Mr. Bingham's agent with the enclosed papers.²

The committee, to whom was referred the memorial of the general officers &c. brought in a report.

The Committee appointed to take into consideration what allowance ought to be made to officers in the different Departments of the army, to whom the provision made by the Resolutions of Congress of the 18th August last doth not extend, and to whom was also referred the Memorial of the general officers, beg leave to report:

Whereas some of the Legislatures of the United States, have already passed laws to extend the half pay which Congress “resolved should be given to the officers in the army of the United States for and during the term of seven years next after the conclusion of the present war,” for and during life to such officers as belong to the Battalions raised in such States respectively; and whereas Congress hath recommended to all the States and some have already entered into measures for making good the deficiency in pay occasioned by the depreciation of the bills of credit; and whereas the principle of equal distributive justice clearly point out, that such officers of the army who in point of such provision do not belong to any State should be provided for by the United States in general in the same manner. It is therefore,

¹This report, dated December 1, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, III, folio 853.
Resolved, That all the General officers and officers of the military and civil staff of the army, now bearing commissions from Congress, or who may hereafter engage to serve in the Army of the United States under such commissions, and who are not by any former resolutions of Congress recommended to the attention of the States in general or any of them in particular, shall have their pay as the same hath heretofore been established made good by a liquidation of the different rates of depreciation from the time of such establishments, and that all monies which such officers may have received as pay, shall be charged to them, and the true value thereof liquidated in manner aforesaid.

That all such officers as aforesaid (general officers excepted) for whom no provision has been made in point of subsistence in lieu of rations withheld shall be allowed at the rate of one hundred dollars per month for every ration so withheld since the 18th day of August last, and a like sum for every ration that shall be withheld in future.

That all such officers as aforesaid, General officers included, who shall continue to serve during the present war, shall from the conclusion thereof be entitled to and receive half pay for life, to be computed on the pay established for such officers next before the 1st day of January, 1777; and that the half pay of such officers who hold or may hold offices established since the said 1st day of January, 1777, shall be computed on the full pay reduced to real value, according to the rate of depreciation, when the office was established and the pay appointed. Provided always, that if less than a majority of the Legislatures of the several United States should only provide half pay for life, that then the provision hereby extended for life shall cease and determine at the end of seven years next after the conclusion of the present war.

And whereas Congress wish to afford a durable testimony of public gratitude to those virtuous Citizens, who braving the danger and distress incident on the military life, generously flew to the banners of freedom to support the just rights and liberties of their Country threatened with destruction by an unfeeling and unrelenting Tyrant, it is resolved:

That provision shall be made to give unto the present, or any future Commander in Chief of the Army of the United States, who shall serve as such before the conclusion of the present war, the quantity of ten thousand acres of land.
December, 1779

To every Major General so serving as aforesaid three thousand acres.

To every Brigadier general so serving as aforesaid 2000 acres, and to every other officer, noncommissioned officer and soldier, in the military and civil Departments of the Army, the quantity of 100 acres for every five dollars of monthly pay reduced to real value at the rate of depreciation when their appointments and pay were respectively established. Provided always that officers holding more than one commission shall only be allowed subsistence money, half pay and land on the Commission they hold in the military line of the army.

That all officers serving in the civil Departments of the army, and who now receive commissions on the money by them paid out, in lieu of pay, and who shall continue to serve during the war, shall be entitled to all the immunities, granted by the foregoing resolutions to officers bearing commissions under Congress, and on the like limitations and restrictions.

That if any of the officers and soldiers to whom lands are to be granted by these resolutions shall die before the conclusion of the war, their heirs or legal representatives respectively shall be entitled to the lands designed for them.

That the heirs or legal representatives of all such officers, as were in the army of the United States on the first of January, 1777, and who have since died whilst in the service, shall be entitled to the lands such officers would have respectively been entitled to if they had lived to the conclusion of the present war.

That the widows of all such officers aforesaid, and all officers of the Line, who have died or may die in the service of the United States, before the conclusion of the war, shall be entitled to the half pay such officers would have been entitled to had they lived to the end of the war.¹

The committee, to whom was referred the letter, of 23 September, from J. Bradford, continental agent at Boston, delivered in their report.

That although it does not appear that M: Bradford had positive orders at the time he begun the sale of the goods taken in the prizes in August last, to retain the Continental part thereof, yet as we presume, he must have been sensible how much those articles were wanted for the army and other publick uses, and it being also in the line of his duty to be sufficiently informed that the prices of those articles were much higher in general, than the regulated prices at Boston were, common prudence, and the least attention to the interest of these States ought to have dictated to him to withhold the disposal of the Continental part thereof.

Therefore, Resolved, That Congress disapprove M: Bradford’s conduct in disposing of the Continental share of the rum and sugar which were in the prizes taken by the Providence, Queen of France, and Ranger, in August last, and carried into Boston.³

Whereas many Officers and soldiers, who have been, and some who now are in the Continental Army, and others who have been at different times detached to reinforce said army, by various inevitable accidents while in the service, have lost their arms, accoutrements, blankets and necessary cloathing: or have been wounded in battle, or have fallen sick on their march, and in consequence thereof, either on the way or at their own homes have incurred great expenses; and as the like losses and expences may frequently be incurred hereafter; and no effectual provision having been made for the sufferers in such cases:

Resolved, That all such Officers, Soldiers and others above mentioned who have lost or shall lose their arms, accoutrements, blankets or necessary cloathing (the same being private property, and not furnished at the expence of the United States) either by being themselves taken captive, or wounded in battle, or by any other inevitable accident, without any fault or negligence of their own, the same so appearing by the certificate of their Commanding Officer then present: shall be allowed for the articles aforesaid so lost what the same were or may be reasonably worth when lost: provided that no allowance shall be made for any of the articles aforesaid which shall be alleged to have been stolen: Such allowances, in the cases of officers and soldiers remaining in the army, to be adjusted by the Auditors of accounts with the army, or any detachments thereof, and paid out of the military chest; and in other cases either by those Auditors, or by the Governments of the respective States to which such sufferers did or shall belong when such losses happened or shall happen, in such manner as the governments shall direct: Such allowances in the former of these two cases to be paid as above directed out of the military chest, and in the latter out of the respective State Treasuries, and charged to the United States.

That all Officers and soldiers, and others as above described who since the commencement of the present war, and during the continuance thereof, have fallen or shall fall sick, on their march to or from Camp, or from one post to another, or on account of sickness contracted or wounds received in the service, have been or shall be permitted to return home, and thereby, either on the way, or at home have incurred or shall incur expences, shall have reasonable allowances for the same, on the presentation of their accounts to any

Deputy Director General of the Hospital, with proper certificates from their commanding officers, or the magistrate living nearest to the place where such expences accrued, or the select men or overseers of the poor of such place; and the several Deputy Directors General are hereby required to examine and pay such accounts accordingly.

And, whereas, neither by the act of the 22d of April, 1777, nor the other act of Congress in addition thereto, passed the 20th of October, 1778, any provision is made for soldiers falling sick on their march when not under the care of their officers:

Resolved, That the Regulations in both those acts be, and they are hereby extended to soldiers falling sick as aforesaid when not under the care of their officers; and the private physicians, Surgeons and others affording them relief, shall be paid their reasonable demands therefor, on producing to the Deputy Director General of the district a certificate of the fact, under the hand of the nearest magistrate, or the select men or overseers of the poor of the place where such expences were incurred: Such physicians, Surgeons and others giving notice of such sick soldiers to the officers of the military hospitals agreeably to the directions of those acts.

And whereas, the Governments of some States have given relief in many of the cases before mentioned and paid and indemnified their Officers, Soldiers and others before described, for their losses and expences incurred as aforesaid:

Resolved, That all monies which have been so paid by any particular State, shall be deemed proper charges against the United States, and allowed in the settlement of the accounts of such State accordingly.

And whereas a successful termination of the present war will be equally advantageous to all the States in the Union: and justice requires that each should bear a proportionate part of the necessary Expenditures in raising men and furnishing supplies for the accomplishment of that event; and whereas it will probably happen that some States in raising men and furnishing supplies will have paid more than their just proportion of the whole necessary expenditures aforesaid:

Resolved, That at the close of the War, Congress will adopt some rule, the most just and equal that from a view of all circumstances can be devised, for reimbursing and indemnifying those States who as aforesaid shall have exceeded their just proportion of the whole necessary expenditures aforesaid, and for charging such excess on those States

So it passed in the affirmative, and the main question was set aside.

Resolved, That J. Wadsworth, Esq. be informed that Congress have agreed to accept of his resignation, and have elected Ephraim Blaine, Esq. to succeed him, but as Mr. Blaine has not yet signified his acceptance, and a failure of supplies may be attended with dangerous consequences, that Mr. Wadsworth, with the deputies under him, be desired to continue in the business of supplying the army, until his successor shall have accepted and shall be in capacity to enter upon and execute the duties of the office.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1779

An appeal from the judgment of the court of admiralty for the State of New Jersey, on the libel Rufus Gardner, &c. vs. the brig Sea Horse, John Lynch, claimant, was lodged with the secretary and referred to the Committee on Appeals.

A letter, of 2, from General Washington, was read;¹ Whereupon,

Resolved, That General Washington be informed that Congress approve of Colonel Baylor's regiment of dragoons, at present commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Washington, being sent to South Carolina, and that the Board of War order them to proceed immediately to join Major General Lincoln.

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

AT A BOARD OF WAR, December 2, 1779.

Present, Col. Pickering and Mr. Peters.

The Board beg leave to report:

That, Whereas, sundry officers holding commissions in the Army of the United States, have neglected when called upon, to join their Regiments; and have refused or neglected to appear before a Court Marshal and submit themselves to trial: and no authority having been heretofore given to Courts Martial, to enable them to proceed against such absentees; and whereas in many cases, unavoidable accidents may prevent absent officers from joining their Corps, of which it is reasonable they should have opportunity to exhibit the proper evidence,

Resolved, That all officers who have been or shall be indulged with furloughs, and who have not joined or shall not join their corps at the expiration of the times limited therein, and all officers absent without leave, shall, when practicable so to do, be personally notified and directed by the commanding officer of the corps, to join their regiment or corps in a reasonable time after receipt of such notification; and in case of neglect or refusal so to do, or to give satisfactory reasons for their remaining absent therefrom, a court martial, on proof made of such notice given and consequent neglect or refusal, shall proceed against such absentees, in the same manner as if they were present, and such absence and neglect or refusal to appear or give satsisfactory reasons for their continuance of absence, shall be sufficient cause for cashiering, by judgment of the court martial, the officers so notified and neglecting or refusing:

That when, from the want of information of the residence of any absent officer or officers, the commanding officer of the corps or regiment shall not have it in his power to send a personal notification, he shall publish in the newspapers of the State, where such absent officer or officers belong and usually reside, an order requiring generally all absent officers belonging to such corps or regiment, to join the same in a specified time; and in case of neglect or refusal to appear within the time limited, or before the sitting of the court martial, if such space of time, in the opinion of the court, be reasonable and proper, such absentee or absentees shall be proceeded against in like manner with those receiving personal notice.

³To this point the report, in the writing of William Churchill Houston, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 19, VI, folio 127.
Resolved, that the following letter be sent to the several States in the Union by the President.

Gen.

While Congress congratulate you on the happy issue of the last campaign and your preservation (by the smiles of Providence) from the open or insidious attempts of a remorseless enemy, they cannot conceal from you the difficulties and embarrassments into which the depreciation of the currency and their attempt to restore its credit by a strict adherence to their resolution of the day of ___ for putting a stop to further emissions have involved them.

The quantity of money in circulation renders the expenditures of the army enormously large; but these expenditures are considerably increased by a general diminution of confidence in the currency, which induces many persons in the Community to lavish it in the purchase of any thing at any price rather than retain it in their hands or lend it to the public.

By these means commodities have already risen far beyond the price which their scarcity and the money in circulation would place them at, nor is there from the best calculations sums sufficient in these States to purchase the saleable articles. This evil must therefore shortly cure itself, if the States will persist in the plan that has been chalked out to them, and enable Congress to restore the public confidence by carrying on the ensuing campaign without further emissions, and at the same time by heavy taxes add to the necessity which every man will then feel himself under of parting with his hoarded commodities. You reflect, Gentlemen, that Congress have no Legislative powers, that the success of their plans must depend upon the support they receive from the States in the Union. You will not be surprized therefore that they most earnestly entreat you, as you value the Independence of your Country, your own freedom, and the happiness of your posterity, to furnish with the utmost expedition, and without deduction the Quota assigned to you of the tax for carrying on the war. The military chest is empty, and the Treasury nearly exhausted. Should you reduce Congress to the necessity of encreasing by new emissions the money in circulation, you will give the most fatal blow to public credit, which one spirited exertion on the part of the respective States would restore. Let us then entreat you to make that exertion and punctually to remit to the public treasury the amount of your tax; Which that you may be the better enabled to do, it is earnestly recommended to you to retrench every expense not absolutely necessary for the welfare of the State, particularly in calling out and stationing militia upon Frontiers not immediately in Danger of attack, since whatever is laid out in their support is so much deducted from what you might otherwise afford to the public treasury, greatly affects the supplies for the army, and lessens the facility of procuring them. These considerations should render every State extremely cautious of Drafting militia except upon the most urgent occasions, especially if we add thereto the mischiefs that result to the community from the loss of their labour.

You will be pleased to inform Congress or the Board of Treasury, what sums of money you have now in your Treasury to answer the demands of Congress, and what you will be able to collect by the first day of February next. I am &c.¹

A letter, of 7, from E. Blaine, was read.¹
A letter, of 7, from the Board of War, was read; Whereupon,

WAR OFFICE, December 7, 1779.

The Board are extremely embarrassed in their attempt to execute the orders of Congress on the subject of the Troops intended to reinforce the southern army. From a want of information of the probability of a convoy to guard the Transports if they could be provided from Chesapeake, and the seeming impracticability of providing Transports in that Bay, we have ordered on the North Carolina Brigade by water to Christeen, thence to the head of Elk by land, and from thence to Petersburg in Virginia by water. The wagons attached to the Brigade are ordered on to Petersburg, as there is a great appearance of impracticability in providing wagons in Virginia. All the information we have collected from Gentlemen having the latest knowledge of the situation of that country tends to evince the opinion we have formed, that it will be next to impossible for the Troops to march by land in any time short enough to be of use in the relief of the country against an invasion in force by the Troops of the Enemy, even if those Troops are yet to be sent from the City of New York. The rapidity of their Transportation and safety of convoy will give them every advantage, and altho' in our circumstances every thing must be attempted, we conceive that little dependence is to be placed in a reinforcement from this quarter, which will lessen every mile of its progress by land if its march can at any rate be accomplished. Whether any troops can be sent from North Carolina time enough to give a check to the Enemy or not, is a subject we are unacquainted with, but if it could be done we humbly conceive it would be advisable.

We cannot undertake to determine in favor of the passage of the Virginia troops by water, uninformed as we are on most points necessary to be taken into consideration. We therefore shall direct their progress from hence to Williamsburg, where they can be best accommodated, and shall direct the quarter master to provide for their proceeding from thence with all the speed circumstances will admit. But we do not yet know how many men will be ordered on, as the Com¹ in Chief means to retain those whose times will expire in or before January; and what proportion of them are under this predicament we know not. It appears that it will take near one month from this time to collect wagons at Williamsburg sufficient for the use of the supposed number of Troops, and it does not appear certain that wagons can even be had in that time to transport the baggage and stores the whole way, as they must be hired, and the people have an utter aversion to the service. The Assistant Q' Master Genl (M' Petit) informs us that there is a great scarcity of forage, and that all the Deputies are out of money to buy it. Whereas magazines should have been timely provided thro' the whole route, and we believe that a single regiment would under present circumstances meet with the greatest difficulties in their march to Charlestown. The distresses therefore of a larger Body must be accumulated in proportion to their numbers.

It therefore appears to us that the Virginia Troops must halt at Williamsburg until the means of their proceeding farther are more safe and certain, and as the North Carolina brigade will exhaust all the present supplies on the road, The wagons now attached to the former, should proceed to Williamsburg, and having their wearied horses replaced proceed the whole way with the troops. Magazines of forage and provision should be laid up at proper places and to effect this the quarter Masters and commissaries departments should be well supplied, and that immediately, with money. When the Commanding Officer of the Troops at Williamsburg is ascertained of the practicability of proceeding, he should march off the Troops by detachments as circumstances render necessary. On the whole we are of opinion that a period of at least three months will have elapsed before the Virginia Troops can possibly arrive in South Carolina, and then they will be much reduced by desertions and other casualties.

We have troubled Congress on this subject that they might be acquainted with our ideas of the embarrassments to be contended with, and that they may be pleased to fall on every possible measure to remedy them. If Congress are possessed of information relative to the safety of water transportation the whole way, the measure will certainly be the most eligible; but the dangers now apparently attending it are in our view so great that we will not undertake to determine it without the positive directions of Congress. Whether if the Convoy is in Chesapeake, transports can be had we know not. The greater gains made by the owners of vessels in private than in public service will create an aversion in the Merchants to hire them as transports.
P. S. The General seems in the postscript of his letter to Congress to be decisively of opinion, "that we cannot attempt to succour Georgia and South Carolina by a land march of Troops."\(^1\)

A motion was made by Mr. [John] Mathews, seconded by Mr. [Cornelius] Harnett,

That the Board of War be directed to use the best means in their power, to forward by land the Virginia troops to join the southern army.

A motion was made by Mr. [William] Ellery, seconded by Mr. [James] Forbes,

That the consideration of the foregoing motion be postponed until the committee who are gone to head quarters, and, among other things, were to confer with General Washington on the state of the southern department, shall have reported the result of their conference.

A division of the last motion was called for, and on the question to postpone the consideration of the first motion, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [John] Mathews,

The election of Mr. [Francis] Lewis, and his acceptance of the office of a commissioner of the Board of Admiralty, having vacated Mr. [William] Floyd’s seat at that Board, both of them being from the same state:

On motion of Mr. [William] Floyd,

¹ "The Committee of Congress, appointed for the purpose, having met the board this morning, after a full consideration of the subject, the following route was agreed on for the march of the Virginia troops to South Carolina, viz: Those troops to embark at Trenton with their baggage, and proceed to Christeen, and cross to the Head of Elk; there to embark again and proceed down the bay to Williamsburg, where they might remain in barracks: The waggons being empty to proceed by land to Petersburg, to which place the troops should proceed from Williamsburg in time to meet them: The Artillery and ammunition to go with the troops, the ammunition waggons by land with the others.

"It has been further agreed, that on account of the great length of the march it will be useless to send any of the Virginia troops whose service will expire by the middle of March next, and to request your Excellency to retain all such at camp." Board of War to Washington, December 10, 1779. Letters to Washington, 94, folio 107."

same, His Excellency was pleased to furnish your Committee with copy of a letter he had the honor to address Congress on the 29th ult.; that they perfectly agree with his Excellency on the propriety of detaching the Virginia line to reinforce the Forces under the command of Major General Lincoln; that the reasons given by his Excellency in the letter referred to, for conveying them thither by water appear to your Committee conclusive. They therefore Intreat permission to recommend that the Commander of the French fleet now in Chesapeake Bay should be pressed to afford sufficient Convoy, and the necessity of it urged on the principles stated in the General’s letter, and on the recommendation of the Minister of France, “that the Attention of Congress should be given to the Overtures made by Don Juan de Miralles;”

Your Committee beg leave further to observe that so capital a detachment from this army, considering the extensive posts to be maintained and the Enemy’s position and force, may induce them to an offensive operation against it, which in the decreased strength of the Army, when the Virginia troops shall be detached, would, they conceive, be attended with at least very disagreeable, if not ruinous consequences: they therefore, humbly recommend that immediate and decisive measures should be adopted to draw from the several States in the Union their respective Quotas to compleat the battalions now on the establishment, as they humbly conceive that the Militia, which the Commander in Chief is impowered by the seventh resolution to call forth into the field, is a resource too precarious to be depended upon in the present situation of affairs.

Your Committee beg leave further to report, that having conferred with the Commander in Chief on the subject matter of the papers transmitted to Congress by the Minister of France, and Don Juan de Miralles, they find his Excellency’s Sentiments perfectly coinciding with theirs on the subject, to wit; That it would be highly imprudent to enter on any offensive operation against any of the Enemy’s fortifications, or forces South of Georgia, previous to the reduction or expulsion of the British Force from that State. It is therefore humbly submitted that it should be proposed to their Most Christian and Catholic Majesty’s Ambassadors, Agents, Governors or Commanders, that a fleet in such force of both or either of said powers, as would in all probability insure a superiority on the Coasts south of South Carolina over any British naval force which may reasonably be expected in that Quarter, should be sent as early as possible to Charles Town, together with five thousand land forces to operate in conjunction with what American force may be in that quarter against the British in Georgia; that after having reduced or expelled the Enemy from that State, the Combined force should proceed to the reduction of the British Garrisons in East or West Florida, as should be deemed most expedient by the contracting parties, and that having accomplished this, or failed in the operations, the American troops should be reconveyed to such of the United States as may be agreed upon.

Your Committee beg leave to observe on that part of the paper delivered by Don Juan de Miralles, which regards a supply of provisions for the Inhabitants of the City of Havana and Isle of Cuba, that it would be improper to make a pointed promise to furnish such supply in part or the whole, until it is put beyond all doubt that there will be a surplus after the Army and Navy of the United States and the fleet of our Ally are amply provided; That nevertheless, as an inducement to procure a Spanish force to cooperate with our troops in Georgia, if they cannot do it without an aid in point of provisions, some risk should be run and a dependance put on extraordinary exertions to procure provisions in this Quarter for our own Army.

All of which is humbly submitted

HY MARCHANT.

One on Joseph Clarke, Esq. treasurer of the State of Rhode Island, for one hundred thousand dollars;

The Board of the Treasury, to whom was referred the petition of Jeremiah Fogg, quarter master to General Poor’s brigade, brought in a report thereon; Whereupon,

Treasury Office, December 14th, 1779.

The Commissioners of Accounts at Albany, having represented to the Board of Treasury, that they had, in consequence of an order of the Board of the 5th of March last, considered the petition of Jeremiah Fogg, Quarter Master to General Poor’s Regiment (which stood referred to the Board from Congress) respecting parts of Rations said to be due to the said Regiment; and that after making the most diligent enquiry, they were not able to investigate the matter; nor obtain any satisfactory Proof they were due: On the contrary as this is the only instance of a demand of the kind from any Regiment serving with them in Canada, they are of opinion an equivalent has been made in the issuing of provisions; Upon this state of the affair the Board beg leave to report it as their opinion, that the petition of the said Jeremiah Fogg be dismissed.

The Board further beg leave to report, That they have taken into consideration the Letter of James Milligan, Esq’ of the 8th instant, to his Excellency the President of Congress,

Recommitted stating his objections to that part of the ordinance establishing the Treasury which says “he is then with his assistant to examine the nature of the Charges and Vouchers”, to them referred, and having conversed with him on the subject of those objections, they find he holds the undertaking to examine the nature of the vouchers of the Accounts to be reported to him from the Chambers of Accounts to be a duty too great to be performed by him and his assistant, and in his opinion impracticable, and, therefore, if that duty is insisted on he cannot undertake the Office of Auditor; and it appears plainly to the Board by the ordinance an examination of the vouchers is enjoined him and his assistant. It therefore rests with Congress to determine whether the examination of the nature of the vouchers is to be dispensed with or not, to determine Mr Milligan’s acceptance of the office.

Ordered, That the said petition be dismissed.

Ordered, That the report of the Board of Treasury on the letter, of 8, from James Milligan, be re-committed.
Ordered, That the report of the committee sent to camp be referred to the committee on the letter from Don. J. Mirailles.

That a member be added to that committee in the room of Mr. [Henry] Marchant:

The member chosen, Mr. Livingston, [John] Mathews.

Resolved, That the Commerical Committee be directed to take immediate measures to procure a supply of gunpowder and cloathing, for the use of the continental army and navy; and that the Treasury Board be directed to supply them for that purpose with bills of exchange on Holland, to the amount of four thousand pounds sterling, when required by the said Committee, in lieu of bills formerly furnished them for that purpose, which are supposed to be destroyed.\(^1\)

Resolved, That to morrow, after the reading the journals and dispatches, Congress proceed to the consideration of the report of the committee on General Washington's letter, of 18 November, last.

A letter, of 13, from Governor Livingston, was read.\(^1\)

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

Since the report of yesterday\(^2\) relative to the Virginia troops, the Board have had an opportunity of conversing with General Muhlenberg, Colonel Laurens, and some Gentlemen of the Virginia line, and upon the whole are of opinion that it will be highly expedient to indulge every man with a furlough till the first of April, whose enlistment will expire by the last day of next March, and who will reenlist to serve during the war; and that those only who refuse to reenlist shall be sent back to camp. This alternative, in the present situation of these troops, we conceive will procure more recruits than if the experiment had been made in camp. Instead therefore of the report of yesterday, we would beg leave to substitute the following;

Resolved, That such of the Virginia troops whose times of service will expire by the last day of March next, and who incline to enlist for the usual bounties, to serve during the war, be permitted to go home on furlough till the first day of April next: [on condition of their reenlisting for the usual bounties to serve during the war.]\(^3\)

\(^1\) Dirck's letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 78, VII, folio 269; that of Livingston is in No. 68, folio 507.

\(^2\) As a BOAD OF WAR, December 13, 1779.

"Sir: The following report will be necessary to enable General Woodford to keep the Troops at Trenton who will not be of service to the southward. As they are moving on we beg the immediate attention of Congress to this, and we will report on the rest of the letter so soon as possible. We wish to have the men whose times expire in December as a guard over a large number of prisoners going to Fort Frederick in Maryland. The numbers of our Troops in this predicament, 213, and the period of their enlistment so short, that if they are sent to Camp they will be of little service, and if sent as guards will be a great saving as we must otherwise get militia who must return.

"That General Woodford be directed to order all such of the Troops of the Virginia line now on their way to Philadelphia, whose times of service expire on or before the last day of March next, to rejoin the main army (except those whose times expire in December who are to be subject to the orders of the Board of War); and that he forward with all expedition those who are enlisted for a longer term or during the War."

This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, II, folio 647.

\(^3\)Words in brackets were in the original report, but were not reported.

That such as do not incline thus to re-inlist, be ordered to rejoin the main army, [there to serve out the terms of their respective inlistments]¹ except those whose times of service will expire by the last day of December instant, who are to be [brought to Philadelphia]² employed during the residue of their service as the Board of War shall direct.

On motion of Mr. [William Churchill] Houston, seconded by Mr. [Elbridge] Gerry,

Resolved, That it be recommended to the legislative, or, where vested with competent authority, to the executive powers of such of the states where embargoes are in force, to continue the same; and where embargoes are not in force, to lay them, to prohibit until the first day of April next, the exportation of the several articles mentioned and described in the resolution of Congress of the 21 August last.

The Committee, to whom was referred the Reports of the Commissioners of Accounts, of the 25 October last, and read in Congress the 27 of the same month, on the accounts of the Honble. John Adams, Esq. late one of the Commissioners of the United States at the Court of Versailles, report:

That they do not find any Vote or Proceeding of Congress, nor are they informed of any general or received Custom, on which the Charge of Monies for the Education of the Accomptant's Son can be admitted; and though the same is inconsiderable, they are of opinion it ought to be rejected, that a Precedent be not established.

That they are of opinion the Charge for Books ought to be admitted on the ground of a Practice which has obtained in different Nations respecting their publick Ministers, and which is mentioned by Mr. Adams in the Explanations attending his Vouchers.

That they find the several Charges in the said Accounts conformable to the strictest Principles of Economy, and that as far as Mr. Adams has been entrusted with publick Money the same has been carefully and frugally expended.³

A report from the Board of Treasury was read; Whereupon,

The committee on the letter, of 18 November, from General Washington, brought in a farther report.

The Committee on the letter from General Washington, of the 18th November last, and sundry other matters relative to recruiting the army beg leave further to report, that,

Whereas in the requisitions of Congress from time to time, for supplies of men to carry on the War, it has been necessary to call on the several States for certain quotas, which however are not to be considered as their just proportions of the said supplies:

And whereas the several States in raising and providing for the Officers and soldiers of their respective battalions, and for the temporary reinforcement of the militia required by Congress, have incurred, and must continue to incur a great expense, which ought to be apportioned and defrayed according to some just rule, to be hereafter adopted by Congress:

Resolved, That at the expiration of the War, an account shall be taken of the number of men furnished by the several States, for common defence, in the course of the War; in which account the numbers furnished by each State shall be rated according to the length of the times of the respective enlistments; and a rule shall be then adopted for ascertaining how many men each State ought to have raised of the number contained in the said account, and for reimbursing to any State which shall have furnished more than its just proportion, the necessary expense of raising and providing for the same, and also of providing for the Officers required by the establishment of the Army for the men so furnished more than its proportion; which expense shall be charged to those States that shall not have furnished their just proportions, according to their respective deficiencies.¹

The Committee, to whom was referred the report of the committee sent to camp, brought in a report.

The committee on the report of the committee sent to camp, brought in a report, which was taken into consideration and agreed to: Whereupon

The Committee to whom were referred a letter of 24th November from Don Juan de Miralles, one of 27th November from the Minister of France, and a Report of a Committee sent to Head Quarters, to confer with the Commander in Chief on the state of the southern department, brought in a report: Whereupon,

Report the following draught of a letter to be written to the Minister of France:

Sir:

I am directed to inform you that Congress in order to testify their attention to the Interests of his Catholic Majesty, appointed a Committee to confer with General Washington on the subject of your letter accompanying the representations of Don Juan de Miralles; and tho' from the result of their conference, they have reason to believe that our grand army cannot be weakened while the enemy retain their present force at New York without considerable danger, yet they have upon mature deliberation determined rather to incur that danger than not comply as far as is consistent with our circumstances, with the views of his Catholic Majesty, to whom

they feel themselves bound by that Union of Interest which a common enemy creates, by the favorable disposition manifested by his Catholic Majesty to these States, and by those pleasing ties, which connect the interest of the illustrious house of Bourbon with the happiness of mankind. Under these impressions they have ordered the North Carolina brigade and the Virginia line, consisting together of about 2300 men, to march to the southward. Having before directed General Scott, with about 800 men, to join General Lincoln; these, together with the Troops already under his command a considerable detachment from the Grand army to join the troops in Carolina, which together with the forces already there, or on the way will amount to about 4000 men, exclusive of the Militia of the Southern States, whom Congress have called for upon this occasion. Congress have also ordered three of their frigates to Charleston, to be put under the direction of the Commanding officer in that Department. This force they conceive will make so powerful a diversion in favor of his Catholic Majesty's arms, as to afford probable hopes of their being crowned with success. You will perceive, Sir, that any other cooperation with the troops of Spain is impossible while Savannah opposes a barrier to a junction of our force. This from its present strength it will not be easy for us to remove, till a more decided Superiority in this quarter enables us to transfer a greater proportion of our army thither. To effect this desirable purpose, and that our force in that part of America may be at Liberty to act against the Common Enemy in such manner as will be most for the Interest of His Catholic Majesty, Congress have directed me to propose to you, and through you, to the gentleman by whom the intentions of his Catholic Majesty are communicated, that a body of about 5000 men, together with six Ships of the Line, should with all expedition rendezvous either at Charleston in South Carolina, or in the River Savannah in the State of Georgia. There to be joined by the whole land and naval force of these States in that quarter, in order that such an attack may be made against the enemy's force there as to promise success. In which event the united forces may then be employed for the reduction of St. Augustine. Unless in the mean time the Governor of the Havana shall think proper to furnish such aid, as when joined to the forces of the United States in that quarter will be sufficient to effect the purposes before mentioned. But as Congress are desirous of extending their views still further, and conceiving the conquest of East Florida to be an object of great importance, as well to his Catholic Majesty, as to these States, they have therefore directed me to inform you, and through you, Don Juan de Miralles, by whom the intentions of his Catholic Majesty are communicated, that they have given full power to their general commanding in the Southern Department, to correspond and concert with the Governor of the Havana, or any other person or persons authorized by his Catholic Majesty for that purpose, such plan as can be agreed upon between them for carrying our views into execution.

I am, Sir, directed further to inform you that the Congress cannot promise any considerable quantity of provisions until the army of the United States is supplied. Yet as soon as this can be done, every means will be used to furnish provisions for his Catholic Majesty's Islands and fleet; but in the mean time they conceive that a large supply of rice may be afforded by the State of South Carolina, which Congress will readily aid the agents of Spain in procuring.

Your Committee therefore beg leave to recommend the following resolution to be passed by Congress:

Resolved, That General Lincoln, or the Commanding Officer for the time being in the Southern Department, be, and he is hereby authorized and empowered, to correspond and concert with the Governour of Havanna, or any other person or persons properly authorized by his Catholic Majesty, such plan as shall in his opinion be best calculated to insure the reduction of the enemy's force in the State of Georgia; and that the State of South Carolina be requested to afford every assistance in their power for carrying the same into effect.¹

In passing this resolution, a division was called for;

The question on the first part, as far as "Georgia" inclusive, passed in the affirmative.

On the second part, "and for the "conquest of East Florida," &c. to the end, the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [James] Forbes;

The Board of Treasury, to whom was re-committed their report on Mr. Milligan’s letter, report,

That after maturely reflecting upon the ordinance for establishing a Board of Treasury, it appears evident to them that Congress intended the auditor general and his assistant should examine the accounts and vouchers reported upon by the chambers of accounts, as a check; which, in the opinion of the Board, is of too much importance to be dispensed with, and in order that the intention of Congress may be fully complied with, the Board beg leave to observe, that the assistant auditor general should not be confined to the posting of the books, as the ordinance directs, but that this duty be performed hereafter by a clerk properly qualified; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the duty of keeping and stating the public books at the treasury be assignable, as often as necessary, to the first clerk in the auditor general’s office, that the assistant auditor general may be the better enabled to attend to other parts of his duty.¹

Whereas it is represented to Congress that the soldiers in the barracks near this city are not properly supplied with wood, and that great injury to the troops and to the citizens may arise therefrom:

Resolved, That the Board of War immediately cause en-quiry to be made into the truth of the above representation, and if it shall appear to them to be well founded, that they cause the barrack master to be arrested and duly tried for his neglect, and in the mean time take effectual measures to provide wood for the troops in or near the city of Philadelphia.

A letter, of this day, from Samuel Hodgdon was read:

Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of War.

A report from the Board of War was read; Whereupon,

War Office, December 16, 1779.

In January, 1777, Colonel Flower received orders from General Washington to raise several companies of artificers for executing the works required in the department of military stores. One of the companies raised under those orders and commanded by Captain Rowe, was sent to serve with the artillery in the field, where it has been very useful. All the Officers originally belonging to this company have quitted the service, one excepted (Lieutenant Preston) who is a prisoner with the Enemy.

In November, 1778, a company of artillery artificers which had served with the Northern army under the command of Captain Noah Nichols, joined Captain Rowe's company, and the whole have since served under Captain Nichols. On the 16th of November, 1776, Captain Nichols was appointed to the command of his company, by a warrant from General Gates. On the first of March last, General Knox filled the vacant offices in the present company, by appointing Thomas Patton, Captain Lieutenant, Bela Nichols, first Lieutenant, and Peter Sears, second Lieutenant. None of them have yet been commissioned. The Officers of Colonel Flower's corps have had commissions giving them rank in their own corps. Captain Nichols and his Officers are entitled to equal privileges; and are anxious to receive their commissions. The dates they ought to bear are certified by General Knox. The strength of the company at present is sixty two rank and file. Upon these grounds we beg leave to report:

Resolved, That commissions be granted to the officers of the company of artillery artificers attached to the artillery in the field, and bear date as follows, viz. that of Noah Nichols, captain, November 16, 1776; Thomas Patten, captain lieutenant, March 1st, 1779; Bela Nichols, first lieutenant, March 1st, 1779; Peter Sears, second lieutenant, March 1st, 1779.

We have proposed to leave no vacancy in the company for Mr Preston, who would be entitled to the Captain Lieutency, as in that case Mr Patten, an Officer indispensably necessary, could not be retained in the service. But a vacancy will be reserved in Colonel Flower's corps for Lieutenant Preston, without injuring his rank, if when released from captivity he should choose to continue in the service.¹

According to order, Congress was resolved into a committee of the whole and after some time, the President resumed the chair, and Mr. [George] Plater reported that the committee have had under their farther consideration the reports to them referred, but not having come to any resolutions thereon, desire leave to sit again.

Resolved, That an express be sent to the State of Delaware, requesting them to procure, in part of their quota, as much flour as can be obtained within their State, the necessities of the army calling for their immediate and most strenuous exertions.

Resolved, That to morrow Congress be resolved into a committee of the whole to consider farther the reports referred to them.

Adjourned to 10 o'Clock to morrow.

The Board of War, to whom was referred the memorial of Baron Benyouski, having reported thereon, Congress took their report into consideration; and thereupon,

AT A BOARD OF WAR, December 20, 1779.

The Board having taken into consideration the memorial of Baron Benoufsky are under their usual embarrassment on the subject of the application. Let the case be as it may in point of personal character, we are convinced that this Gentleman cannot be employed in our service. We therefore beg leave to report:

That Congress have a grateful sense of the offer to serve the United States made by Baron Benoufsky; but as the circumstances of the army will not admit of his being employed, the Board of War be directed to give him a passport to enable him to return to Europe, and to pay him the sum of dollars towards defraying the expence of his passage.¹

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee to whom was referred a letter from the president of the State of Pennsylvania, to the delegates of that State, dated 15 December instant, and thereupon came to the following resolution:

Whereas it appears to Congress, from the representation of the delegates of the State of Pennsylvania, that disputes have arisen between the states of Pennsylvania and Virginia, relative to the extent of their boundaries, which may probably be productive of serious evils to both states, and tend to lessen their exertions in the common cause: therefore,

Resolved, That it be recommended to the contending parties not to grant any part of the disputed land, or to disturb the possession of any persons living thereon, and to avoid every appearance of force until the dispute can be amicably settled by both states, or brought to a just decision by the intervention of Congress: that possessions forcibly taken be restored to the original possessors, and things placed in the situation in which they were at the commencement of the present war, without prejudice to the claims of either party.¹

² The New Hampshire letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 44, folio 191; the Massachusetts proceedings are in No. 65, II, folio 17.
Ordered, That it be referred to the Board of Admiralty, to take order thereon.

A letter, of this day, from Captain Galvan, was read, soliciting the rank of lieutenant colonel in the army of the United States:¹

Resolved, That Captain Galvan be informed his request cannot be complied with.

On motion of Mr. [James] Forbes, seconded by Mr. [John] Fell,

Resolved, That hereafter all applications for promotion in the army of the United States of America be made to the Board of War, and all applications for promotion in the navy to the Board of Admiralty, and that they report to Congress.

The Board of Treasury, to whom was referred a memorial of Captain Joseph Baldesqui, pay master to Brigadier Count Pulaski's legion, report,

That by a certificate of Messrs. Johnson and Howell, auditors of the main army, dated at West Point, the 24 August, 1779, accompanying the said memorial, it appears that Captain Baldesqui has duly and regularly settled his accounts, as pay master to Count Pulaski's legion, to the first day of March last; and that on the whole of the evidence before the Board, they are of opinion he has discharged his duty with strict integrity and honor:

Resolved, That Congress concur in the said report.

Ordered, That the report of the Board on the accounts of Benjamin Randolph, be re-committed.

The Board, having examined the account of Benjamin Randolph against the Honble John Jay, Esq', late President of Congress, referred to them the 24 instant, beg leave further to report:

¹This letter is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 78, X, folio 191.
December, 1779

That Mr. Randolph charges for Liquors and Provisions furnished the President's Table, from the 9 of January to the 23d of March, 1779, £193 7 6
For the use of his house and furniture from the 14th of December, 1778, to the 25 of March, 1779, 1442 17 1
For repairs of damage done to his House and furniture, 851 12 6

Amounting to 2487 17 1
That he credits against said account 25

which deducted leaves 2462 17 1
Equal to 6567 55/90 doll.

That as no contract was made with Mr. Randolph, the Board on the above State submit the following Resolution:

That a warrant issue on the Treasurer in favor of Benjamin Randolph for dollars and 90ths in payment for the use of his House and furniture from the 14 of December, 1778, to the 25 of March, 1779, for Repairs of damage done to the same, and for sundry Liquors and Provisions furnished by him to Mr. Jay, late President of Congress, while the said House was occupied by him. 1

The Committee on the Post office brought in a report, which was read; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the rate of postage, until the further order of Congress, be twenty prices upon the sums paid in the year 1775:

That single letters, directed to any officer of the line, and all letters directed to general officers or to officers commanding in a separate department, [and all letters to and from the ministers, commissioners and secretaries of these United States at foreign courts, be free.] 2

Congress took into consideration the report of the committee to whom was referred the letter of 2d November last, from the governor of Connecticut; and, thereupon,

1 This report, dated December 27, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 136, III, folio 931. The Randolph account was passed by the Board of Treasury, January 7, 1780.
2 The remainder of this day's entries was made by George Bond. The words in brackets were not in the original report, which is, in the writing of Cyrus Griffin, in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 61, folio 453.
Resolved, That Congress entertain a just sense of the great and effectual exertions of the State of Connecticut in the common cause, and of the readiness with which they have executed the measures recommended to them:

That as any alteration in the quotas established by the resolution of the 7 of October last, would probably be productive of confusion and embarrassment, it be recommended to the said State to raise the quota therein assigned to them, confiding that due attention will in future be paid to the circumstances mentioned in Governor Trumbull’s letter of the 2d of November last:

That Congress are earnestly disposed to do full justice to every State in the liquidation and allowance of all regular and necessary expenditures, and have established the means of adjusting and settling all accounts of the respective states with the United States, in order that due attention may be seasonably paid to that object; but cannot in the present critical posture of affairs, assent to the retaining of any part of the taxes raised for general use, as an example of that kind might involve the most fatal consequences:

That it be recommended to the said State, and to every other State similarly circumstanced, to refrain from calling out and stationing Militia, except in Cases of indispensable necessity, in order that every Expense not essential may be retrenched and avoided, and the Community better enabled to furnish the necessary Supplies for carrying on the War.

That continental pay and rations, agreeably to the resolutions of the 2d and 6th of June, 1778, be allowed for the service of the militia which shall appear to have been necessarily employed for the defence of the said state, between the first day of April and first day of November last:

1 This report, in the writing of William Churchill Houston, is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 20, I, folio 285.

A report from the Board of War, on the memorial of Captain Baldesqui, was read;¹ Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolution:

¹ These reports are in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, II, folios 689, 691.
The circumstances of the corps lately commanded by General Count Pulaski not now requiring a pay master, and Captain Joseph Baldesqui, its present pay master, for that reason and from the situation of his private affairs, desiring leave to resign,

Resolved, That his resignation be accepted.

Resolved, That Major General Lincoln be empowered, if he shall think it for the good of the service, to reduce the corps lately commanded by Brigadier Count Pulaski, and to incorporate such of the men as remain, into such of the regiments of horse and infantry under his command, as he shall think proper; the men so incorporated to be, nevertheless, considered as part of the quotas of the states to which they belong.¹

Another report from the Board of War, on the memorial of Brigadier General Muhlenberg, was read: Whereupon, Congress came to the following resolution:

The Board having taken into consideration the memorial of Brigadier General Muhlenberg, complaining of injury done him in the promotion of General Woodford; and it appearing to the Board that the memorialist, from a becoming zeal for the Service, would be satisfied with an explanation of the resolution of Congress, passed on the 19th of March, 1778, on the subject, beg leave to report the following explanatory resolution:

Whereas Congress did, on the 19th day of March, 1778, resolve that General Washington call in and cancel the commissions of Brigadiers General Woodford, Muhlenberg, Scott and Weedon, and that new commissions be granted them, and that they rank in future agreeably to the following arrangement, Woodford, Muhlenberg, Scott, Weedon:

And that Congress being informed that uneasiness has arisen with some of those gentlemen, least the arrangements being so materially altered, may occasion reflexions prejudicial to the characters of those gentlemen who are placed inferior in command,

Resolved, That Congress entertain the most favourable opinion of the merit and characters of the gentlemen mentioned in the resolution before recited.

Resolved, That the arrangement made therein was founded upon principles not affecting the personal characters or comparative merits of those officers.¹

A report from the Board of Treasury, on the petition of Thomas Bentley, was read; Whereupon,

Resolved, That the case of the petitioner doth not differ from that of many others, whose application for compensation of damages have not been allowed, and that his request cannot be granted.

A report from the Board of War on the letter, of 30 November, from Captain Galvan, was read.

AT A BOARD OF WAR, December 27th, 1779.

The Board having considered Mr. Galvan's letter of the 30th ult, beg leave to state his pretensions to the rank and office he requests.

He came to America in 1776, and arriving at Charles Town accepted a second Lieutenancy in one of the Continental Regiments raised in the State of South Carolina. This he says was the only grade then in the Power of that State to confer. After this, at the request of the President of that State, he undertook a voyage to France to procure military stores; which Commission he appears to have executed to the satisfaction of his employers. Upon his return from France he had some expectations of raising an independent Corps; but being disappointed, and not succeeding in his attempts to introduce a reformatio in the exercises used among the Troops at Charles Town, he resigned his commission, and came to the northward to join the main army; which he effected in 1778. From that time he has served as a volunteer, attaching himself at different periods, to the Families of General Gates and General de Kalb. During his whole residence and services in America, he has supported himself without any expence to the United States.

¹ This report is in the Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 147, II, folio 685.
Mr. Galvan's abilities are acknowledged by all who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance; and his long and particular study of tactics, and his industry, render him particularly fit for the duties of the inspectorship. He has exhibited divers specimens of his abilities as a tactician; particularly of late a Plan of Manoeuvres for the Horse, which he caused to be performed much to the satisfaction of the Commander in Chief. Upon a former occasion when we expected the Africain Corps would have been raised, we thought he might be very useful in disciplining them, and accordingly reported that he should be appointed a Sub-inspector with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. Baron Steuben requests he may now be appointed to the Office of Sub-Inspector. But for this purpose he must have the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. The Board, tho' possessing the most favourable opinion of Mr. Galvan, yet knowing in what estimation rank in the Army was now held, and how difficult it was to introduce an officer not in the usual line of promotion, wrote to General Washington on the subject. His answer we do ourselves the honour to inclose. The General seems to be decidedly of opinion that Mr. Galvan cannot be admitted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, at the same time declaring his conviction of his talents and merit, and that his knowledge, application and industry would render him useful: but thinks the rank that may be given him should not exceed that of a Major, as such, to be employed in the inspectorship as circumstances may make it convenient.

If upon the whole Congress should be of opinion that Mr. Galvan's merit and qualifications intitle him to the rank and office he requests, we would beg leave to report:

That Mr. Galvan be appointed a sub-inspector, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the army of the United States, to be employed therein as the Commander in Chief shall direct.

Should Congress not think proper to agree to the above report, we would beg leave to report:

That Mr. Galvan receive the commission of Major in the army of the United States, and be employed in the inspectorship, as the Commander in Chief shall direct.¹

51823—vol. xiii—08—90
And the committee appointed to report a proper allowance for the officers of sundry departments brought in their several reports.¹

Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the committee respecting the commissary and quarter master's departments, and made some progress therein:

On the question to agree to the following proposition:

"That one and three-fourths per cent. be allowed to each of the assistant purchasing commisaries upon all the purchases made within their respective states, out of which they shall pay all inferior deputies, and defray the whole expence attending such purchases: nor shall they or either of their deputies be entitled to rations or forage, except when called by the necessary business of their departments to attend the army, in which case, they shall be permitted to draw rations for themselves and one servant each, and forage for two horses.

"And whereas, the payment of commissions is, on the one hand, necessary, in order to apportion the wages of the officer to the business that passes through his hands, while, on the other, the increased prices at which provisions are sometimes necessarily laid in, may subject them to unjust censure:

"That all commissions on the produce of the country shall be rated in continental bills of credit at twenty for one on the price at which such produce sold in the year 1774, and at thirty for one on all foreign commodities."

A division was called for, and the yeas and nays being required by Mr. [James] McLene, on the first paragraph, for granting commissions, rations and forage in certain cases:

1 This appendix was printed in the original issue of the Journals (1782), but was omitted from the subsequent issues. It is based upon a record kept by Charles Thomson in the first of the so-called “Dispatch Books” (Papers of the Continental Congress, No. 185), in which were entered the letters and papers received by Congress, the disposition made of them, and the composition of the committees. This record was begun on January 1, 1779, and at the end of Volume I is found this financial statement. In the pages following are noted the changes to be made in the printed Journals, but these were already embodied in the text.

"The Engraving of the Plates and correcting the Press, will I am afraid detain me till the middle of April, and as before that time the season will permit the Troops to exercise, I think it would be necessary they should be exercised in detail on the Principles laid down. If your Excellency approves it, I will send Col. Fleurly, who has assisted me in composing the Regulations, to receive your Orders on the Subject. He may carry with him a Copy of that part of the Regulations which is necessary, and each Adjutant take a copy, that the Troops may begin to put them in practise." Steuben to Washington, March 17, 1779. Washington Papers. Letters to Washington, 30, folio 404.

"In my last I had the honor of informing your Excellency that the Regulations would be printed by the middle of April, till which I proposed staying here in order to hurry the work as much as possible. I did not then foresee a thousand little things that retard the progress of the work and which now convince me it will be the last of April before it can be finished. I have therefore prevailed on Col° Pickering to take charge of correcting the sheets as they are printed, and intend by the 15th next month to have the honor of receiving your Excellency's orders for the Execution of the new system." CHAMBER OF ACCOUNTS,

The Commissioners report,
That they have examined the account of David C. Claypoole, and from the best information they have been able to procure from other Printers, as to the different prices charged for Printing done by him; they find that he has overcharged in almost every article, but still they are at a loss how to settle the account, and can only give it as their opinion, that the Public would get their Printing Business done better and at a much cheaper rate, should the Honorable Congress authorize the Committee appointed to superintend the Press, or any other Person or Persons, to receive written proposals from the different Printers every three Months, or any other limited time: and the preference given to the most reasonable. In the meantime they beg leave to recommend that there should be advanced to David C. Claypoole, Twelve thousand Dollars on account, until said proposals shall be given in, from which the Commissioners expect they will be enabled to do justice to the Public and the Claimant.

They have likewise examined the account of Styner & Cist for printing a Circular Letter in German, and finding their charge extravagant beg leave to recommend that two hundred Dollars should be advanced to them on account until some method be fixed on to enable the Commissioners to settle such accounts with certainty.
